STUART R. PADDOCK

A Chicago newspaper Sunday told the story of 114 years of its existence. The eldest member of the Paddock chain of newspapers (first suburban newspaper in Cook county) is approaching its 89th birthday.

It was 62 years last December when the late H. C. Paddock introduced his son, Stuart, to the rigors and joys of newspaper life.

The "Way Back When" column in this paper has for many years carried the life story of communities served.

Some of those communities and their newspapers have not yet reached teenage, but we think our 62 years in one editorial chair is worth mentioning in this week's column.

Some day, if we find the time to actually retire, we would like to publish a book setting forth, not our personal experiences, but the part the Paddock papers have played in the growth and achievements of the various communities which its 14 newspapers have endeavored to serve.

It all started when the newspaper's founder, the late H. C. Paddock, traveled with his horse and buggy to the farms of six townships, leaving yours truly as reporter and director of a mechanical force of three persons. This was before automatic presses and typesetting machines had made their appearance in suburban newspapers.

We know, because in those early years we set the type by hand, operated a printing press by foot and treadle power until the arrival of the FM gasoline engine which was the forerunner of electricity, in the newspaper office as well as on the farm.

Since 1916 when our brother, Charles, took over the responsibility for the mechanical operation we have been able to confine our work to the editor's desk.

In our small way we have mistakenly pulled a few chestnuts out of the fire for others. We fought a few battles on our own, winning some and losing others. Some of those battles were far from being insignificant to us when they happened.

It was easier to publish a newspaper before the urban invasion, when there were little differences in opinion. We were kept so busy saying complimentary things about people, we had little time to expose the faults of others. (Those were the days before the birth of the Fence Post.)

We recall, during World War I, when a prominent resident called us out of our home one night and stuck a gun against our body saying that as a member of the FBI he would be justified in shooting us. It was all because we had been critical of his driving a car on a gasless Sunday.

The ire of a few village officials was directed our way because we had exposed slot machine payoffs. It was rather difficult to take sides when Palatine, Mt. Prospect, and Arlington Heights were engaged in a three way, 10-year school battle.

We hesitate mentioning some of the other "engagements." They would awake unpleasant memories on the part of a few participants who are still living.

Clad in a "rough rider" suit and carrying a lighted torch, we have marched in a GOP campaign parade; we have been elected to public office and we have been defeated. Thirty years ago, we walked through the newly-completed big sewer of Arlington Heights seeking evidence of inferior construction.

Our real growth has been in the last 10 years, when we have had to increase our editorial force from one lone assistant to a 24-member staff today.

As the Chicago paper used a whole page Sunday praising its accomplishments, we are only using this one column to mention a few incidents in our 62 years of editorship, which incidentally is longer than any one editor served in the 114 years of the Chicago daily.

We do not cover the world, but we are doing our best to cover the northwest area.

TOUCHY ISSUES FACE TRUSTEES

'Hot' Agenda Shaping Up

Three of the village's most sensitive problems will confront Arlington Heights trustees Monday.

As the agenda for the regular board meeting shaped up this week, scheduled for consideration were:

—report of a five-man committee appointed to study ramifications of a shopping center being constructed at Kirchoff and Wilke rds.;

—presentation of a case against a $1 million improvement program for the 80-acre Arlington Heights Park Manor subdivision, and —recommendations of a fact-finding committee which has been investigating alleged violations of the comprehensive zoning ordinance.

THE MEETING is expected to draw a capacity crowd of homeowners to the village hall council room, 107 W. Davis st.

In an organizational huddle Monday, residents of southwestern Arlington Heights vowed staunch opposition to a $1,250,000 shopping center proposed for the northeast corner of Kirchoff and Wilke rds. by George Prassas and co., developers.

Robert Sindorf, 1502 W. Grove, told some two dozen listeners the 14-store project would endanger lives of children by increasing traffic on residential streets, depreciate property values, and create a drainage problem.

He urged citizens to report to Monday's meeting to cheer if trustees refuse to approve the center, or scream, cat call and boo "if the thing goes through."

Trustees have rejected, accepted and then reconsidered action on the three-year-old project. A committee was named May 22 and asked to meet with the homeowners and Prassas in an attempt to work out solutions to the problems posed.

OFFICERS OF the Park Manor Homeowners association will attend the meeting to discuss the status of a special assessment program now pending before the board of local improvements.

In a letter to Village President John G. Woods this week, Donald G. Burdick, association president, explained his group and the BOLI "have reached an impasse regarding the extent of improvements necessary for our area at this time."

The 50-home subdivision is located in the southeastern corner of the village and is served by wells and septic tanks.

Homeowners have protested they cannot afford payment for water mains, street paving, and sanitary and storm sewers. They have countered with a proposal for installation of sanitary sewers and water mains only.

BURDICK SAID: "We feel we have no other recourse but to appear before the trustees to refute Mr. Klingner's (Harold Klingner, BOLI president) objections to a partial program and to point out the injustice of forcing a full program on people who simply can't afford it."

(A detailed explanation of the position of four of the association's members appears in a Letter to the Fence Post in this week's Herald).

Also to be taken up Monday is a report of a committee which has investigated a resident's complaint that several zoning violations exist in the 200 and 300 blocks of N. Belmont.

Fred Walters, 415 E. St. James, charged in May that the village has been slow in checking conversion of a residence at 315 N. Belmont from one-family to two-family use.

TRUSTEES Eugene Schlickman and Norval Stephens were asked to examine the situation.

Walters has alleged other homes in the area have been converted to two-family use in violation of single-family zoning, and accuses village officials with "failure to perform their duties."

Named in honor of the fabled Arlington Classic, the new club is to be the showplace of the track already noted as one of the most modern and beautiful in the nation.

THE 1,200 capacity club will be the largest such facility in thoroughbred racing. It is located on the top level of the clubhouse and extends the entire length of the 400-foot section.

UNUSUAL features of the club are the curved cocktail lounge, to be called the Winner's Circle, and the two open terraces seating some 100 persons. Both areas are located at the west end of the club.

Club facilities will be made available to groups for evening use following the races and probably will be developed as a dining room on a year-around basis.

Opening day festivities at the track will include the running of the $15,000 Meadowland Handicap, a five and a half furlong sprint for three-year-olds and up.

BEFORE THE season is ended, Arlington Park will have prsesented four $100,000 races: Arlington Park Futurity (July 29); American Derby (August 5); Washington Park Futurity (September 2), and the traditional Washington Park Handicap on Labor Day.

The Arlington Classic this year will have a value of $75,000 and is scheduled to be run July 8.

87-Acre Tract To Be Annexed

An 87-acre tract of land on the northeast corner of Palatine and Wilke rds. is expected to be annexed to the village Monday by Arlington Heights trustees.

Developers of the tract envision constructing homes, multiple dwelling units, theatre, bowling alley, department store, medical clinic, restaurant and some 30 other stores.

Three unidentified youths destroyed a traffic sign at Miner and Windsor sts. Sunday by throwing a cloth soaked in inflammable liquid over it and igniting the cloth.

Acting on descriptions provided by Richard A. Hagen, 1512 E. Miner, police sought the youths to no avail. The sign was ordered replaced.

Village, Citizens Set Project Talks

Arlington Heights officials and residents will meet three times in the next two weeks to discuss matters of improvements to Oakton st., land annexation, and public benefit in road improvements.

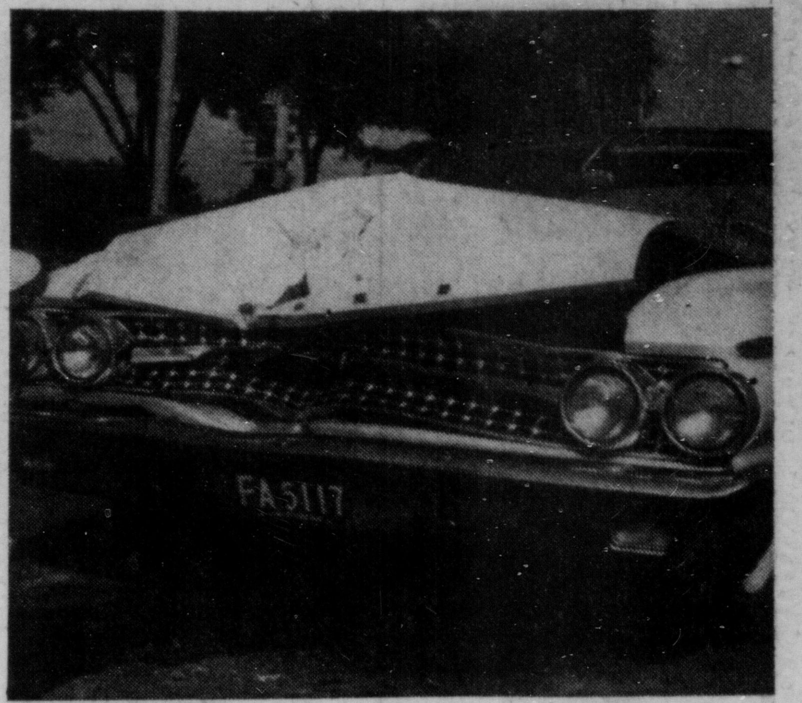
Huddling Wednesday, June 21, in the north side fire station will be village trustees and residents on or near Oakton st. Discussion will center on the need for sidewalks in the Oakton surfacing and widening project.

THURSDAY, June 22, members of a 14-man committee appointed by Village President John G. Woods to study possibilities of annexation of land will meet in the village hall.

The committee, headed by Melvin L. Kurtz, a former village trustee, has been investigating annexation to the south and north. A committee report will be made by July 17.

At a meeting Tuesday, June 27, trustees and members of the board of local improvements will discuss characteristics of a policy for the determination of the amount of public benefit to be allowed in road improvement programs.

Apprehend 2 Men In Stolen Auto



MONDAY COLLISION at Vail ave. and Northwest hwy. caused $250 damage to the front end of a police squad car (above) and $150 damage to auto driven by Martha Allen, 116 W. Euclid. No injuries were reported.

Arlington Heights police Monday apprehended two Chicago men only minutes after they were reported to have stolen an auto in Mt. Prospect.

At 9 a.m., Mt. Prospect police radioed the men were proceeding west on Northwest hwy. in a stolen black car. The auto sped past Officer Louis Kohler who was parked at Kensington rd. and the highway.

Kohler took after the car, curbing it at Belmont. The occupants, Ernest L. Boe, 30, and Harold A. Skaggs, 31, both of Chicago were arrested, photographed, printed and turned over to Mt. Prospect police.

THEY WERE expected to be charged with stealing the vehicle, police said.

While proceding to intercept the stolen auto, Officer Maurie English was involved in a collision at Vail ave. and Northwest hwy. with Miss Martha Allen, 116 W. Euclid.

English was driving an unmarked car. Miss Allen said she heard a siren, but could spot no flashing red light so she continued through a green light bound north on Vail. English was eastbound on Northwest hwy.

Damage to the police squad was estimated at $250. About $150 damage was estimated on Miss Allen's car. No injuries were reported.

Manager Predicts

Slight Hike In Tax Rate

A slight increase in Arlington Heights' tax rate — about six cents for each $100 of assessed valuation — was predicted this week by Village Manager L. A. Hanson.

Despite the increase, the rate will be the village's second lowest in the past 15 years, Hanson said.

"The only lower rate since World War II was the .418 of last year, which was made possible by surplus funds originally intended for construction of a new village hall," he explained.

THE TAX HIKE will be reflected in bills received in 1961, when they are expected to run near 48 cents per $100 of assessed valuation or $48 on a house assessed at $10,000.

The rate was finally pinpointed Monday when village trustees wound up a series of 10 public meetings for discussion of the budget.

Preparations are now being made for a public hearing on the 1961-62 budget document. The hearing is scheduled to be held at 8 p.m. Monday, June 26, in the village hall.

HANSON pointed out that in 1960 he observed last year's tax rate decrease would not be a continuing trend. It was made possible, he noted, by the accumulation of surplus funds over a period of time.

As of Monday, trustees were in agreement on inclusions of the budget's 18 major accounts. The budget calls for a total appropriation of $2,045,013.

Arlington Heights to Host Foreign Pupils

Thirty-two exchange students from all parts of the world will arrive in Alington Heights July 5 for a two-day sightseeing tour of the Chicago area, it was annouced this week by Mrs. Harold Smalley, 1008 N. Highland.

The students, beneficiaries of the American Field Service program, will make the stopover here during a three-week bus tour of the midwest.

"Communities in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio have been asked to host AFS students who have just completed a year's studies in United States high schools," Mrs. Smalley explained.

SHE SAID Arlington and Prospect high schools are working together as sponsors of the students' visit in Arlington Heights.

In addition to Mrs. Smalley, members of the committee in charge include Mrs. Robert Klepper, co-chairman, Bruno Waara, Miss Martha Craig, Mrs. Ivan Quackenbush, Mrs. Dale Hauser and Miss Barbara Legge.

While here, the students will see Marshall Field and co., the Prudential building, McCormick Place, the Museum of Science and Industry, and other points of interest, Mrs. Smalley said.

They will stay with local families and be treated to a picnic in a nearby forest preserve, a dance and a fellowship party.

"The AFS hopes the post-school bus tours will give the students a broader view of American life and enable Americans to meet them personally," Mrs. Smalley pointed out.

SHE SAID the students represent the countries of Brazil, Chile, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Malaya, Norway, Switzerland and Turkey.

After their short stay here, the students will travel to New York and Washington, D. C., before returning to their homelands.

Wounded by Stab Game

A 17-year-old Arlington Heights youth was treated at Northwest Community hospital Sunday for a knife wound received while playing "Russian Stab" with a friend.

Four stitches were required to close a cut on the left thumb of Robert Harstad, 33 S. Vail, who said the accident occurred while playing the knife game with Ken Best, 16, of 1000 N. Wilke rd.

Discover Cache Of Fireworks

Arlington Heights police last week confiscated a supply of fireworks from an Arlington high school student who had been reported selling the illegal products to fellow students.

The youth, a newcomer to Illinois, said he purchased the fireworks in Arkansas where their sale is legal. He was advised of the law here and warned not to break it again.

Suffers Burns

Frank Stratman, 14, of 820 S. Belmont, was treated Monday at Northwest Community hospital for first, second and third degree burns suffered when he attempted to stamp out a gasoline fire.

Assessment Bonds From 1926 Cashed

THURS., JUNE 15, 1961

A Chicago attorney — apparently experiencing a change of heart — last week tendered to the village 24 special assessment bonds for a fraction of their face value.

According to Finance Director Tohmas A. DeRiemer, the 35-year-old bonds were surrendered Friday by A. G. Scheele, a LaSalle st. lawyer, for $2,004 offered by the village.

The bonds, issued in 1926 for water and sewer improvements, represent a face value of about $10,000.

AT A VILLAGE board meeting June 5, Scheele asked trustees to redeem the bonds for their "current worth," meaning the $10,000 figure.

When trustees balked at this proposal, John Hoover, an Arlington Heights attorney representing Scheele, said: "We would like to avoid litigation. Others have gone to the courts, but we would like to give the village a crack at settling this."

Village Attorney Stephen Jurco pointed out a 1959 audit of special assessment funds established the maximum payment of $2,004. He offered to explain the audit in full to both Hoover and Scheele.

"Do you want to make up this deficiency or not?" Hoover asked.

WITH NO affirmative offer forthcoming from trustees, he said: "As long as you're going to offer only $2,004, we might as well go all the way." (This presumably meant he'd take the case to court).

But four days later — last Friday — the bonds were submitted for redemption at the village price.

Late in May, the village redeemed 142 special assessment bonds dating back to 1929. The bonds, once valued at $131,500 plus interest, were surrendered for $16,045 or 12 per cent of their original value.

DeRiemer pointed out that the bonds depreciate in value because of foreclosure suits and other legal action over the years. Some 224 bonds have been redeemed by the village in recent months.

Fight Home Plans On 50-Foot Lot

Residents of the Scarsdale subdivision are expected to continue their opposition next week to a builder's plans to construct a house on a 50-foot lot at 634 S. Newbury pl.

Conflicting opinions will be aired Wednesday, June 21, at a hearing before the zoning board of appeals in the north side fire station.

THE POSITION of home-owners on the 600 block of Newbury is that the village's comprehensive zoning ordinance prohibits construction on lots with frontage widths less than 70 feet.

They say theintent of the the character of established ordinance is to "protect neighborhoods" by upholding zoning standards set by precedent.

Builder Herman Schwinge of Herman Builders, owner of the lot, sees the picture differently.

HE CLAIMS HE has a constitutional and legal right to make use of his property. Village officials have refused to issue the builder a construction permit on the grounds the lot frontage is sub-standard.

In addition to listening to arguments Wednesday, the zoning board will consider a legal opinion to be submitted by Village Attorney Stephen Jurco. The opinion may have bearing upon the board's final decision.

Notices Mailed On Assessments

Final notices to Arlington Heights residents delinquent in payments on special assessment projects are being mailed Friday, village officials announced this week.

According to Finance Director Thomas A. DeRiemer, a total of $7,838 in payments on special assessment projects undertaken since 1951 is delinquent.

HE SAID FRIDAY'S notice will be the second sent out in the past seven months, the first having been mailed with assessment bills in December.

If those in arrears don't respond before the end of June, the village will be forced to initiate foreclosure proceedings by filing statments with the county collector, DeRiemer said.

The office of the finance director is located in the village hall, 107 W. Davis st.

Chest X-Ray Unit Set for Suburbs

The familiar — and very welcome — red, white and blue trailers with the double-barred cross are in the area. They bring to the community the advantage of a chest X-ray at no cost. They provide the opportunity for all members of the community to check up on their lungs and make sure they are free from TB. And if TB is present, early treatment can mean an early cure.

The annual search for unknown cases of tuberculosis is conducted by the Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook County (the Christmas Seal agency) and the Suburban Cook County Tuberculosis Sanitarium District.

A mobile X-ray unit will be stationed at Rexall Drugs, 40 N. Brockway, Palatine, June 19 and 20. X-ray hours, Monday, June 19, are 10:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m. Tuesday's X-ray hours are from 2 p.m.-9 p.m. The Zonta club will be assisting with the survey; Mrs. Irene Wilson, 19 E. Washington st., is chairman.

THE TRAILER will be stationed at 21-27 Prospect avenue, Mt. Prospect, from June 21-23. X-ray hours are from 11 a.m.-6 p.m. on Wednesday, June 21; noon-7 p.m., Thursday, June 22; and from 2 p.m.-9 p.m. Friday, June 23. The Women's club of Mt. Prospect will be assisting at the trailer; Mrs. T. G. Osborn, 100 W. Milburn, is club chairman of the activity.

Rolling Meadows residents will be visited by a mobile unit July 5-7. The unit will be located at Rolling Meadows Shopping Plaza. X-ray hours will be from 10:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m., Wednesday and Thursday, July 5 and 6, and from 2 p.m.-9 p.m., Friday, July 7.

Arlington Heights is scheduled to have an X-ray unit July 6 and 7, at Arlington Market. X-ray hours are from noon-7 p.m., Thursday, July 6, and from 10:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m., Friday, July 7. (B8

"We will explore the many misunderstandings due to the indefiniteness of many words in common use, and develop the greater and more inspiring meanings of such words as 'Faith,' 'Hope,' and 'Salvation' which come about naturally after mankind graduates from mythology," Sweet said.

SWEET HAS spoken to the group before. He has been an active Unitarian since 1935, and has been the president of the Chicago chapter of the American Humanist assn.

Driver Ed Slated In Summer School

Three sessions of summer school driver education have been set up by Arlington-Prospect district 214. The three-week sessions will run consecutively starting Monday, June 19.

Approximately 200 students are expected to participate in the program according to Bruno Waara, Arlington high school assistant principal.

THE SUMMER driver-training program will include both classroom and individual behind-the-wheel training. Six instructors will conduct the summer program.

The program during the 1961 summer session will be on the basis of past programs. Since behind-the-wheel training will be eliminated from the regular curriculum during the 1961-62 school year for sophomores students who will have their sixteenth birthday before January 1 are being encouraged to take the summer course. This has enlarged the summer session.

Juniors and seniors will continue with both classroom struction during 1961-62.

During the summer of 1962 students who take classroom driver training in the 1962-63 year will take their behind-the-wheel training. This approach to the driver-training program was approved by the board in April.

ELIMINATION of the behind-the-wheel program during the school year will save school district taxpayers almost $24,000 each year. The cost of the entire program will be reduced from $64,535.40 to $40,723.40, figured on the basis of the 941 students enrolled in the 1960-61 driver-training program.

Of the total $40,733.40 cost the State of Illinois will reimburse the school district $38,344. These funds come from state gasoline taxes. (ACM

This has enlarged the summer session.

Juniors and seniors will continue with both classroom struction during 1961-62.

During the summer of 1962 students who take classroom driver training in the 1962-63 year will take their behind-the-wheel training. This approach to the driver-training program was approved by the board in April.

ELIMINATION of the behind-the-wheel program during the school year will save school district taxpayers almost $24,000 each year. The cost of the entire program will be reduced from $64,535.40 to $40,723.40, figured on the basis of the 941 students enrolled in the 1960-61 driver-training program.

Of the total $40,733.40 cost the State of Illinois will reimburse the school district $38,344. These funds come from state gasoline taxes. (ACM

State Senate Gives Okay To Election Reform Bills

By JOHNSON KANADY

Sen. W. Russell Arrington (R. - Evanston) and senate Republicans last week succeeded in obtaining upper house approval of Cook county election reform, over stout Democratic opposition. The vote was 30 to 26.

The series of bills would require establishment of a single, bipartisan county election commission for Cook county, replacing the current system of a Chicago election commission and the election machinery vested in the Cook county clerk.

Other features include the training of precinct judges and strict non-political operation of the election process. The proposal, which had the co-sponsorship of Sen. John A. Graham (R. Barrington); Sen. Arthur W. Sprague (R. LaGrange) and Sen. Joseph R. Peterson (R. Princeton), would be mandatory in Cook county, and permissive in other counties of the state.

It now goes to the house, where continued Democratic opposition is expected.

TEMPERS AND time are growing shorter in the General Assembly with an occasional fist fight or incipient wrestling match spicing the proceedings in the house of representatives.

Last week's spontaneous filibuster, which kept the house in oratorical frenzy for more than 22 hours straight was actually another symptom of the confusion and unrest arising from failure of the legislature to move ahead on the many important matters to be completed by June 30. Lack of firm administration leadership early in the session is partially to blame, but most of the trouble hinges on Republican (and some quiet Democratic) opposition to phases of Gov. Kerner's mammoth tax and budget program.

Rep. Marion Burks (R. Evanston) recorded the general theme of the opposition when, as the filibuster began to roll, he termed the Chicago mayor's demand for a full cent city sales tax the "Daley Double."

THE FILIBUSTER actually just grew. It was unplanned and unrehearsed, and rode rough over Speaker Paul Powell's determination to stop such tactics. Powell was set for the usual filibuster method—a demand to read bills in full—but was unable to stop the time honored maneuver of talk, talk, talk, for hour after hour.

Rep. Elmer W. Conti (R. Elmwood Park) sparked the revolt against the Daley tax bill when he set forth in a long, purposely rambling, speech which discussed the bill, which detailed the wording of the bill, listed the cities in Conti's district repeatedly and otherwise consumed time. The Republicans caught the spirit and began to relinquish the 15 minutes of debate each is allowed on a measure to Conti, so long as he could hold up.

Others then took the floor urging with Conti that the bill be delayed until constituents could make known their feeling on the doubled city sales tax.

CONTI AND Rep. John W. Carroll (R. Park Ridge) referred to the flood of mail they are already beginning to receive, and read some of the letters. Rep. Arthur E. Simmons (R. Skokie) who represents the largest house district in matter of population, said he had received more than a thousand letters from "articulate, literate, people," and added that not one letter has condoned an increase in taxes.

"This bill was instigated by the mayor of the city of Chicago, the Democratic party headed by Mayor Daley," Simmons charged.

Rep. Carroll referred specifically to communications from Rolling Meadows and the city of Des Plaines against the proposed tax. "They don't want it and none of our communities want it," Carroll said.

Rep. Claude A. Walker (R. Forest Park) termed the measure a "license to rob the mail trains, a turning loose of a lion in a meat packing plant."

WALKER SAID he has covered as a newspaperman the city council doings of many villages and towns, and "I watched how the boys spent the money. Every time there was a windfall of money they spent it."

Rep. Walter Reum (R. Oak Park) once attempted to halt the filibuster, saying that the Republicans' point had been made and that the issue had been dramatized. (The Democrats after 22 hours passed the bill anyway).

"We should get on in our labors," Reum pleaded, but the spirit was too great. The filibuster rolled on and on.

The revenue reform article approved by Gov. Kerner and M. Peskin (D. Northbrook) was given a favorable vote by a house committee and now is up for house floor action.

The proposal would remove constitutional stipulations and limits on types of taxes the General Assembly could pass, including the graduated income tax now prohibited. The article would also take away the constitutional limit on bonded indebtedness of local governments.

Appearing on behalf of the measure were representatives of the League of Women Voters, the Chicago Teachers Union and the Illinois AFL-CIO.

'Bible Prophecy' Told Witnesses

Members of Bensenville and Palatine congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses have returned home from a 3-day assembly at Carpentersville.

The local delegates Sunday heard the main address on "The 20th Century in Bible Prophecy" by R. L. Anderson, district supervisor for the Witnesses. "Human attempts have failed to predict the future accurately. Would you stake your life on a weatherman's forecast for tomorrow? Then why trust in long-range predictions made by humans?" declared Anderson.

"The time is ripe for mankind to turn to a better source of prophecy than what imperfect humans can offer. That source is God. His book of prophecy is the Holy Bible. Revelation, Chapter 21, foretells the operation of a new heaven and a new earth for the uplifting and blessing of mankind. Not only will all diseases pass away," he pointed out, "but the sting of death will no longer be felt. God promises to make all things new."

Suburbs Gobble Up Rich Farmland

Truck Garden Farms Vanish

by JOHN REDDY

Progress is churning up some of the nation's richest farm land in the country and vegetable fields are disappearing as the metropolitan Chicago perimeter advances outward.

Macadam streets, pampered lawns, modern dwellings, shopping centers and superhighways now weave urban patterns on land once marked by row upon row of cabbages, sweet corn, tomatoes and onions, for Chicago area residents.

And up-rooted truck farmers say the realities of economics prevent them from re-investing money in the vegetable business once their land has passed on to subdividers and developers.

THE PRESENT market price for vegetables is not sufficient to provide for the expense of trucking fresh products the additional distance, according to Edward Koehler, Des Plaines, past president of Arlington Valley Growers' corp.

Most of the truck farms in the area are virtually weed free because they have been worked diligently over the years. Drain tile has been installed in many of the fields.

Koehler, who has farmed 120 acres in the Des Plaines area with his brother Henry since 1930, said the costs of converting grain-growing soil to accommodate vegetables is an additional investment overhead deterring truck farmers from re-establishing themselves.

Where will vegetables for metropolitan residents be grown if truck farmers give up land to increasing urban demands?

ED KOEHLER said "There will be only canned vegetables in the future" if truck farmers cannot sell their produce at a price capable of covering the additional investment required to relocate.

"There are plenty of areas where vegetables can be grown," Koehler stated. "But special soil conditions and certain farming methods are required to grow produce marketable in a non-processed form."

A paradox, Koehler pointed out, occurs occasionally when Chicago area vegetable growers ship their crops out of state while area retailers are importing products.

Chicago area merchants do this "to crack the local market," Koehler explained. "They buy imported produce in the hopes of driving prices down and buying our vegetables cheap, believing we'll accept the lower price rather than permit the crops to rot in the crates."

THIS WAS NOT the case before the advent of large supermarket chains, the Koehlers declared. Then buyers competed, as did the producers.

Now there are only five or six buyers that we can sell to and they set the prices. "Although we can't prove it," they added.

The Koehler brothers and other farmers view the cooperative as the only answer for the future survival of the vegetable growers. It is the cooperative, with its mass-packaging and marketing capabilities, that enables Chicago area vegetable farmers to fight price-reducing tactics of area buyers by shipping their produce out of the state.

Farmers complain the retail price of produce never fluctuates much. "Not even when there is glut," Ed Koehler said.

THE ONLY WAY the vegetable farming industry will draw and keep people is if the industry operates as a solid unit to compete with organized buying, the Koehlers declared. "That is the only way they could demand the price necessary to cover expense of starting operations in grain-oriented soil farther from the market."

"Otherwise, vegetables will be so expensive they will be a luxury or will come only in cans."

The Koehlers now have only 26 acres and grow just oats. Their plans are indefinite, but they are reasonably sure they won't re-enter the vegetable farming business.

In 1950 there were 3201 farms being worked in the Chicago area. This represented 222,257 acres producing vegetables for local consumption.

A 1960 FARM census report shows the number of farms was reduced 1,202 to 1,999. Number of acres being farmed dropped 61,156 to 151,101.

Chicago proper absorbed Calumet, Proviso, and Norwood Park townships during the decade, leaving only 21 for tabulation of this area's farm census figures.

Of the urban expansion, Koehler said one vegetable farmer told him "I hope some developer comes along to get me off the hook." Many others work soil in fields with For Sale signs dotting their hedgerows.

Truck farmers supplement their income by selling fresh vegetables from stands along side the road at prices comparable with retail prices.

In many cases the price of produce at these stands is less than that in stores, but it is more than they receive from wholesale buyers. (B8

There's a husband in town who claims that when he complains about a lousy TV dinner to his wife, she answers

"Well, I'll phone LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, first thing in the morning."

I guess she thinks that the bright, sharp and clear reception that we service into television should divert his attention from the quality of the meal in front of him.

So, ladies, we have another reason why you should phone CLearbrook 5-0700 when you need a TV servicer.

Truck Garden Farms Vanish

by JOHN REDDY

Progress is churning up some of the nation's richest farm land in the country and vegetable fields are disappearing as the metropolitan Chicago perimeter advances outward.

Macadam streets, pampered lawns, modern dwellings, shopping centers and superhighways now weave urban patterns on land once marked by row upon row of cabbages, sweet corn, tomatoes and onions, for Chicago area residents.

And up-rooted truck farmers say the realities of economics prevent them from reinvesting money in the vegetable business once their land has passed on to subdividers and developers.

THE PRESENT market price for vegetables is not sufficient to provide for the expense of trucking fresh products the additional distance, according to Edward Koehler, Des Plaines, past president of Arlington Valley Growers' corp.

Most of the truck farms in the area are virtually weed free because they have been worked diligently over the years. Drain tile has been installed in many of the fields.

Koehler, who has farmed 120 acres in the Des Plaines area with his brother Henry since 1930, said the costs of converting grain-growing soil to accommodate vegetables is an additional investment overhead deterring truck farmers from re-establishing themselves.

Where will vegetables for metropolitan residents be grown if truck farmers give up land to increasing urban demands?

ED KOEHLER said "There will be only canned vegetables in the future" if truck farmers cannot sell their produce at a price capable of covering the additional investment required to relocate.

"There are plenty of areas where vegetables can be grown," Koehler stated. "But special soil conditions and certain farming methods are required to grow produce marketable in a non-processed form."

A paradox, Koehler pointed out, occurs occasionally when Chicago area vegetable growers ship their crops out of state while area retailers are importing products.

Chicago area merchants do this "to crack the local market," Koehler explained. "They buy imported produce in the hopes of driving prices down and buying our vegetables cheap, believing we'll accept the lower price rather than permit the crops to rot in the crates."

THIS WAS NOT the case before the advent of large supermarket chains, the Koehlers declared. Then buyers competed, as did the producers.

Now there are only five or six buyers that we can sell to and they set the prices. "Although we can't prove it," they added.

The Koehler brothers and other farmers view the cooperative as the only answer for the future survival of the vegetable growers. It is the cooperative, with its mass-packaging and marketing capabilities, that enables Chicago area vegetable farmers to fight price-reducing tactics of area buyers by shipping their produce out of the state.

Farmers complain the retail price of produce never fluctuates much. "Not even when there is glut," Ed Koehler said.

THE ONLY WAY the vegetable farming industry will draw and keep people is if the industry operates as a solid unit to compete with organized buying, the Koehlers declared. "That is the only way they could demand the price necessary to cover expense of starting operations in grain-oriented soil farther from the market."

"Otherwise, vegetables will be so expensive they will be a luxury or will come only in cans."

The Koehlers now have only 26 acres and grow just oats. Their plans are indefinite, but they are reasonably sure they won't re-enter the vegetable farming business.

In 1950 there were 3201 farms being worked in the Chicago area. This represented 222,257 acres producing vegetables for local consumption.

A 1960 FARM census report shows the number of farms was reduced 1,202 to 1,999. Number of acres being farmed dropped 61,156 to 151,101.

Chicago proper absorbed Calumet, Proviso, and Norwood Park townships during the decade, leaving only 21 for tabulation of this area's farm census figures.

Of the urban expansion, Koehler said one vegetable farmer told him "I hope some developer comes along to get me off the hook." Many others work soil in fields with For Sale signs dotting their hedgerows.

Truck farmers supplement their income by selling fresh vegetables from stands along side the road at prices comparable with retail prices.

In many cases the price of produce at these stands is less than that in stores, but it is more than they receive from wholesale buyers. (B8

Legislation May Aid School Finance Crisis

Builder's Role Is Controversy

A new bill is pending in the Illinois House of Representatives which its supporters say would dispel the "twilight zone" of misunderstanding that exists between builders and municipalities.

The new legislation, which is a subdivision control measure, would, in effect, declare a one-year moratorium on land designated for public use to allow park and school boards to haggle with the developer over its purchase.

The proposed law, House Bill 1324, has the blessing of the Home Builders Association of Chicagoland, the Illinois Municipal League and the Northeastern Illinois Planning commission.

ERIE JONES, executive vice-president of the Home Builders association and a former teacher, principal and assistant superintendent of Palatine - Rolling Meadows School District 15, said:

"If the same effort were expended toward getting legislation changed as we now spend in trying to get extra-legal money, we could get the mess cleaned up in Illinois."

But the legislation has been denounced by Elk Grove Board Attorney Everett Lewy as "a harmless law that doesn't do anything for anybody."

The measure would give municipalities the authority to require the designation of land for "public purpose" before approval was granted on a plat of subdivision.

ONCE THE plat was approved, the school or park board affected would have a year in which to purchase the property or institute condemnation proceedings to acquire the land.

If the public body did not act within this year's time, the property owner would have the right to use the land in some other manner "consistent with . . . the official map and the zoning ordinance of the municipality."

Kimball Hill, developer of Rolling Meadows and a former president of the Home Builders' association, said: "The real nub of the thing is that some communities have not passed ordinances as to what is expected."

Erie Jones thought the bill would eliminate the "twilight zone" of just where builders and municipalities stand in the buffer zone around villages and cities.

"It is wrong to follow a procedure outside the law," he declared in reference to school districts' requesting donations of land or money from builders. "As educators and people who set this policy, we are teaching children, by our example, the exact opposite of what we say we should teach them."

But Attorney Lewy, who is also counsel for Wheeling-Buffalo Grove School District 21, said that "The builders create these problems (of overcrowded schools). They should help solve them."

HE ADDED that "responsible builders have voluntarily contributed to school districts for their own good." Lewy said that contracts between builders and school districts calling for donation of land or money (usually based on the number of houses being constructed) were enforceable.

He cited the case in which the courts had instructed E. A. Herzog Construction company, developer of Waycinden Park, to pay $95,000 to the Elk Grove school district on the basis of a contract signed by the builder and school board.

A recent Illinois Supreme Court decision upheld a Cook County Circuit court opinion that a developer was not responsible for the overcrowding of schools and parks, in ruling in favor of a developer who had refused to donate land for public use as required by a Mount Prospect village ordinance.

Mount Prospect Builder Salvatore DiMucci had challenged the constitutionality of the ordinance which required builders to donate land for public purposes after the village had withheld approval of a plat of subdivision.

Of the new legislation, Mount Prospect and Elk Grove Village Attorney Edward Hofert said it was the first time that a municipality's authority to withhold plat approval until land was made available for public use was "specifically spelled out."

THE QUESTION which would have to be decided by the courts if the legality of the proposed legislation were tested, he thought, was whether preventing the property owner from using his land for a year constituted "taking it without compensation."

The actual length of time allowed public bodies to negotiate for the property would probably also be challenged in the courts, in Hofert's opinion.

The House measure would also extend the authority of a municipality's master plan a mile-and-a-half beyond its corporate limits. This would be another new feature, Hofert said, for at the present time a municipality has the right to object to zoning a mile-and-a-half beyond its boundaries but does not have the right to actually zone in this area of influence.

In such matters, the courts usually weigh the contributions to the public health, safety and welfare, he observed. (A14

A Dad Ponders 'Why' Of His Father's Day

By BOB CUMMINS

That whispering. And the package of wrapping paper smuggled upstairs. Something's up. Father's Day! That's what it is. Father's day this Sunday. My BIG day. Or is it MY big day? MY big day sounds a little better.

They're getting ready to pay me homage again. Me and the other—and all the others. Okay, okay—I deserve it. I've been working like a mule. I guess that's the main thing we do.

We preside over the household too. Sit at the head of the table. Carve the meat. Mete out punishment. A patriarchal society. I suppose it is better than the other kind. I can't honestly say I would want some old matriarch bossing me around. The bees are even worse. They kill you off if you're a father.

"ALL I EVER am or ever hope to be I owe to my father." No one ever said that. No one ever wrote a song called "Father Machree." I wonder what sort of a guy he was. Probably an alcoholic.

Down South they call us "daddies." "My daddy" this and "my daddy" that. I wonder why? Then there was "Big Daddy" too. I'm glad Elizabeth Taylor didn't die.

Last year I got that statue. "To the world's champion father." They can sure think of ways to flatter you. Or was it? Anyway, sic transit gloria, ashes under Uricon, and all that.

I'm going to have some fun Sunday. Let's see . . .with a couple extension cords I can get the TV out under that box elder tree . . . .The Sox and Minnesota . . hmmm. Oh well, Looey and Landis are worth watching. Killebrew may belt a couple. Sievers too.

I'LL GET A bag of that cracked ice down at the gas station. Pack it in a pail with a lot of beer. Might as well get the best, too. Maybe I'll try that kind that comes from Pennsylvania.

Better mow the lawn tomorrow. Can't relax out there with the TV if I have to look at all that grass.

I know what we'll have for dinner. Boiled beef and horseradish sauce. And boiled potatoes. Wish the kids liked it. Maybe it's just as well they don't . . .might not taste so good if we had it too often. I can get them a watermelon, anyhow. They're down to 69 cents in the ads.

Father's day: How did I ever get involved in it? I mean, to such an extent. Oh, well, the flesh is weak . . .

ANYHOW, they're a lot of fun. Most of the time. And do they ever grow up! That oldest one's almost a young lady now. And the little one learning to walk. Maybe . . .no, that would be crazy. You gotta call it a day sometime.

I wonder what they have hidden in those dresser drawers. Maybe a pair of walking shorts. They're listed in all the ads. Are the Bermuda's the ones that come down to the knees? No, I guess it's the Jamaicas. Why should people in Jamaica wear longer shorts than people in Bermuda? There must be a reason. They never tell us those things. (B8

ROLLING MEADOWS

June 3 was a big day for Brownie troop 633 and its leaders Mrs. Robert Winsell and Mrs. John Little. Fly-up had finally come. Guests were greeted and then Judy Haynes, Georgia Fackler, Debbie Little, and Janice Talik posted the colors. A welcome speech was delivered by Cathi Winsell.

The candle ceremony included the three parts of the promise and the 10 laws. Participating in this part of the program were Janice Booth, Bonnie Buchholz, Peggy Dorwick, Linda Erwin, Sharon Frye, Linda Liszewski, Chris McEvilly, Anita Mueller, Ellyn Placek, Patsy Terrell, Sharon Ulreich, Trina Urban and Jackie Weir.

All 20 of the girls received their wings and pins and were congratulated by Mrs. Ted Werling, neighborhood chairman, who was a guest of honor. Mrs. Daniel Wallner, president of the Women's guild which sponsors the troop, was also a special guest.

ON BEHALF of the troop, Andrea Matthey presented their Brownie flag to Susan Anderson of third grade troop 17.

Girl Scout Grace was said by Linda Ferguson and everyone was invited to refreshments. Mrs. William Weir and Mrs. Walter Matthey hostessed the affair. A cake with the Girl Scout emblem as decoration was the table centerpiece; a gift from troop 17.

Saturday, June 10, the girls held a tea for their mothers.

Mrs. Arthur Mueller was present to give a detailed list of items needed for the overnight cookout set up for September. Cookies were served by the scouts.

PALATINE

Troop 368, under the leadership of Mrs. K. W. Goodpasture, made for their mothers, a centerpiece of an artificial log from a salt box with crepe paper flowers growing from the center. May 16, the troop celebrated its first birthday by having a party to which each girl brought a friend. There were 33 in the group. The troop had a cake appropriately decorated for the occasion. Fifteen girls received their first year star.

The girls had a turn at attending the South Africa booth at the Girl Scout rally, at which they displayed the products of that country. The troop was elated to be told that they took first place in the ninth district American Legion parade in Palatine May 21. Their reward was a trophy and each girl received a pin. The color guard consisted of Sandy Hansen, Debbie Bouffard, Karin Guenther and Patty Sobolik.

THE GIRLS made get-well cards for one of their members, Pamela Gale, a patient at Sydney Forkosh Memorial hospital. Another member, Jean Franklin, has been confined to her home with an injured foot.

At their last meeting of the season, the troop planned for its cookout and swimming party to be held Saturday, June 10. (B9

A Dad Ponders 'Why' Of His Father's Day

By BOB CUMMINS

That whispering. And the package of wrapping paper smuggled upstairs. Something's up. Father's Day! That's what it is. Father's day this Sunday. My BIG day. Or is it MY big day? MY big day sounds a little better.

They're getting ready to pay me homage again. Me and the other—and all the others. Okay, okay—I deserve it. I've been working like a mule. I guess that's the main thing we do.

We preside over the household too. Sit at the head of the table. Carve the meat. Mete out punishment. A patriarchal society. I suppose it is better than the other kind. I can't honestly say I would want some old matriarch bossing me around. The bees are even worse. They kill you off if you're a father.

"ALL I EVER am or ever hope to be I owe to my father." No one ever said that. No one ever wrote a song called "Father Machree." I wonder what sort of a guy he was. Probably an alcoholic.

Down South they call us "daddies." "My daddy" this and "my daddy" that. I wonder why? Then there was "Big Daddy" too. I'm glad Elizabeth Taylor didn't die.

Last year I got that statue. "To the world's champion father." They can sure think of ways to flatter you. Or was it? Anyway, sic transit gloria, ashes under Uricon, and all that.

I'm going to have some fun Sunday. Let's see . . .with a couple extension cords I can get the TV out under that box elder tree . . . .The Sox and Minnesota . . hmmm. Oh well, Looey and Landis are worth watching. Killebrew may belt a couple. Sievers too.

I'LL GET A bag of that cracked ice down at the gas station. Pack it in a pail with a lot of beer. Might as well get the best, too. Maybe I'll try that kind that comes from Pennsylvania.

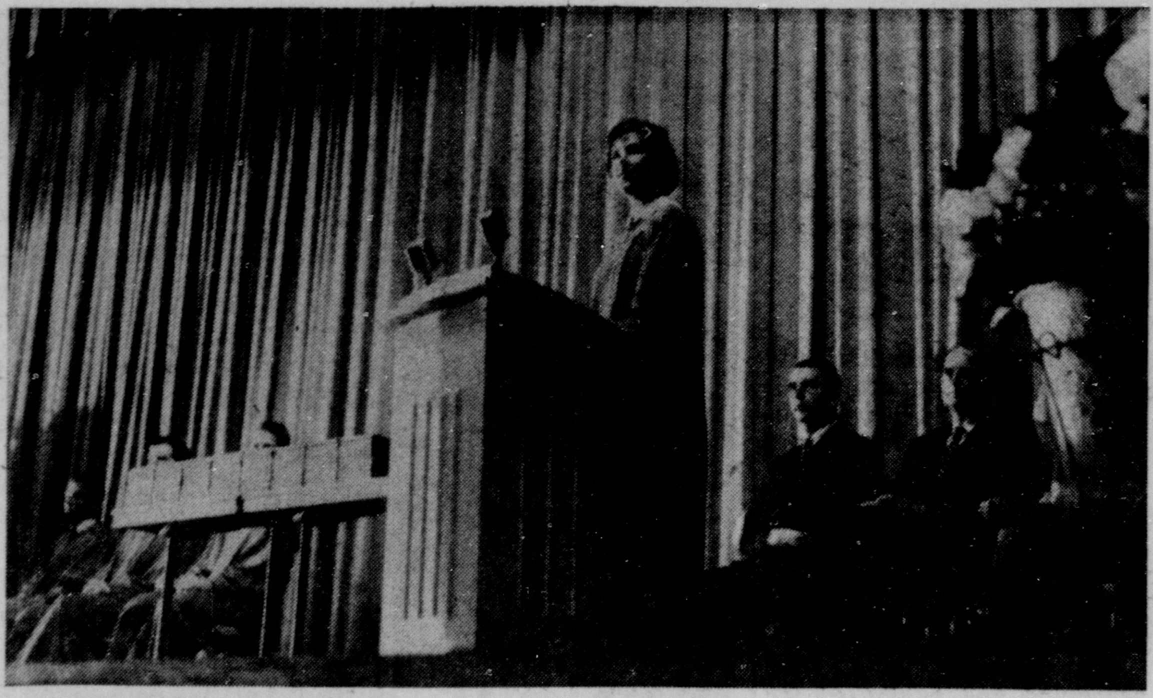
Better mow the lawn tomorrow. Can't relax out there with the TV if I have to look at all that grass.

I know what we'll have for dinner. Boiled beef and horseradish sauce. And boiled potatoes. Wish the kids liked it. Maybe it's just as well they don't . . .might not taste so good if we had it too often. I can get them a watermelon, anyhow. They're down to 69 cents in the ads.

Father's day: How did I ever get involved in it? I mean, to such an extent. Oh, well, the flesh is weak . . .

ANYHOW, they're a lot of fun. Most of the time. And do they ever grow up! That oldest one's almost a young lady now. And the little one learning to walk. Maybe . . .no, that would be crazy. You gotta call it a day sometime.

I wonder what they have hidden in those dresser drawers. Maybe a pair of walking shorts. They're listed in all the ads. Are the Bermuda's the ones that come down to the knees? No, I guess it's the Jamaicas. Why should people in Jamaica wear longer shorts than people in Bermuda? There must be a reason. They never tell us those things. (B8



ARLINGTON HIGH SCHOOL graduation speaker Claudia Griesbach urged her fellow graduates to extend individual creativity and work toward improving the world situation in her presentation "Go To, Boy." Carefully listening to her words were her fellow speakers Michael Gould and Louis Garner Simmons; John A. Haas, district 214 school board secretary; and Harold L. Slichenmyer, school district superintendent. (ACM

HEINOUS; extremely wicked; atrocious. (Pronounce hay-nuss, accent first syllable). "It is difficult to forgive these heinous crimes."

HARRY (verb); to make a raid upon, with destruction or seizure of property; to ravage; despoil; pillage; also, to persecute as by constant ill-treatment or annoyance; to harass. "Why do you harry and worry your teacher all the time?"

Public Is Invited To Finance Meeting

The first public invitation to an Arlington-Prospect high school district 214 board committee meeting has been issued.

A meeting of the school board Finance committee, with the balance of the board in attendance, was held for Wednesday, June 14, at 7:30 p.m. in Arlington high school.

The meeting was first scheduled and publicized for Sunday, June 4, but was called off at the request of committee members.

MAJOR TOPIC of the meeting, as announced by the committee, was a discussion of the "philosophy of where on the teachers' salary schedule emphasis should be placed."

Discussion centered on the feeling of the seven school board members as to how large salary increases for the 1962-63 year may be in the various teaching categories.

Among the major issues before the board is the question of teachers' salaries. A citizens' committee, headed by Dr. Eric Gross, has recently recommended to the school board that teaching salaries be increased 10 per cent for the 1962-63 year. Dr. Gross stressed this increase was needed to bring district 214 up to the salary standards for the balance of the schools in the suburban interim conference.

DR. GROSS had requested permission to attend the June 4 meeting. He was informed by school board president Daryl Oldaker that board committee meetings never were open to the public. After board discussion it was decided to invite the public to this meeting, with the board stressing this was not setting a precedent.

In calling the special Finance committee meeting Chairman William Spomer had emphasized that teachers' salaries account for 70 per cent of the school budget expense. He stated Supt. Harold Slichenmyer had requested the feeling of the board on the teacher-raise question before finishing the final draft of the proposed 1962-63 budget.

Spomer also informed the board as a part of his committee report that no funds were available for additional teacher raises for the 1961-62 year. (ACM

Assistant Principal Larry Jenness, center, was among the first to congratulate the pair. In addition to his valedictory honors Tuttle won the Alfred P. Sloan scholarship to Case Institute of Technology, Cleveland, and the Mt. Suburban Cancer Survey Launched

More than 200 American Cancer Society volunteers throughout the state will participate in a folow-up survey during the month of June to determine the effectiveness of the film showing of "Time and Two Women."

This film of the society, which has been shown to thousands of women throughout Illinois, aims to help eliminate uterine cancer, the second leading cause of cancer deaths in women. The film stresses the importance of the "Pap" or Uterine - Cytology Test as part of the checkup. This simple office procedure detects cancer in its earliest curable stage.

According to announcement by Eugene DiBlasi, chairman of the Northwest Suburban chapter, those participating in the chapter survey include; Mrs. Walter Johnson, 100 N. Russell, Mt. Prospect; Mrs. Gilbert Liebenow, 400 N. Main Mt. Prospect; Mrs. Joseph Vavra, 502 N. Prospect Manor, Mt. Prospect; and Mrs. Rudolph Lippke, 412 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights.

THE SURVEY seeks to determine the number of viewers who have had physical examinations, including the "Pap" test, as a result of seeing the film, shown locally to 2025 women since 1958.

The American Cancer Society, which is conducting its 1961 Crusade for a state goal of $1,760,000, is the only national cancer organization fighting cancer through balanced programs of research, education and service. Results of the survey will be used in promoting the work of the public education department to reach people with life-saving information. The study is being partially supported by funds under the Public Health Service Community Cancer Demonstration Project grants. (B8

Prison Problems To Be Discussed At League Picnic

Prison problems in Cook county will be the subject for study and discussion at the League of Women Voters' annual picnic next Tuesday. Members and guests will bring lunches and gather in the garden of Mrs. John Solon, 614 S. Mitchell, Arlington Heights.

Leading the discussion will be Mrs. John Hoppe, Cook county council representative for the Arlington Heights League, and resource chairman for the study of correctional institutions.

A recording of a radio broadcast made by Sheriff Frank Sain and Attorney Morris Wexler in May is to be the food for thought, while Mrs. Hoppe will outline the areas of study and types of action members will be working on during the year.

AFTER lunch, directors, outgoing officers, and interested members will gather to plan the year's program. Mrs. G.N. Almy, a state director for the League of Women Voters and a member of the Champaign League, will be present at the afternoon meeting to help and advise Arlington Heights board members.

Women interested in attending the picnic or knowing more about the League of Women Voters may call Mrs. Dennis Moore, CL 5-3602 or Mrs. C. M. Carlson, C 3-6836.

board of appeals session has been set June 30 for hearing of the annexation request.

BERNARD B. Shinderman, spokesman for the property owner, said backers hope the store will be operating by Christmas.

The building, to front on Northwest hwy., will have about 130,000 square feet of floor space. The balance of the 40-acre tract may be used for construction of a motel or restaurant, Shinderman noted.

Forest View News

Mr. and Mrs. John Nitz, Linda and Jackie, 1900 Elk Grove rd., recently returned from a Florida vacation, where they enjoyed a week of sightseeing and visits with relatives and friends. Some of the more interesting places were Fort Lauderdale, Sarasota, Cypress Gardens, Seaquarium in Miami and Key West, where they spent some time watching the shrimp boats come in.

The Edward Lauings, Busse rd., recently spent an evening in the Boulevard Room of the Hilton hotel.

Phoebe Jane Garland is home recuperating from an operation.

It is with regret that the children of Forest View school and many friends from the area said goodbye to Mrs. Fred Hubrich, formerly Pat Kirshner, who has moved to Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dahl, Busse rd., were married 20 years June 7. To celebrate, they spent the weekend with daughter, Carole, at Lake Geneva.

Congratulations are also due Mr. and Mrs. A. Hammerstrom, 508 Busse rd., who have been married 18 years this month.

TUESDAY luncheon guests in the Otto Gorgius home were Mrs. R. Becker, Mrs. E. Czosek, Mrs. H. Drengberg Mrs. P. McKay and Mrs. L. Harrison. Dinner guests were Mrs. Carl Craig and sons and Mrs. Craig's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Corr of Pasadena, Cal., who are spending two weeks with their daughter in Chicago. Lorraine Craig and Lorraine Gorgius attended school together in Pasadena.

Thursday Lynne Gorgius was 15 and the family took her to dinner in Franklin Park and then took in a movie.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Hilgeman 606 Busse rd., have had friends and relatives in to help them christen their new pool.

Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hansen, Golf rd., had a graduation party for Randy, a graduate of Higgins junior high. Guests were the James Peace family of Barrington, the Bert Hansen and Joseph Landorf families of Arlington Heights, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brummel Sr. and P. Brummel Jr. of Naperville.

Thursday, Goldy Baldassari and children were dinner guests in the Hansen home.

SATURDAY evening 50 friends and relatives helped Michael Grismer celebrate his graduation from Higgins junior high at a buffet supper given by his parents, the William Grismers, 1225 W. Golf rd.

Jack Fingle 1930 Elk Grove rd., retired this month after 38 years employment at Stewart Warner in Chicago. As a parting gift he was presented with a wrist watch.

A group of friends and relatives were Sunday supper guests in the Roland Koenig home, 507 W. Algonquin, in honor of their son, Michael, upon his graduation from Arlington high school.

Vicki Bartlett of Rolling Meadows was a Saturday evening guest of Lynne Gorgius, 608 Busse rd. (AME

Additional Tract Weighed for Park

An additional tract of land comprising 22 lots along Northwest hwy. from Dale to Waterman, Mt. Prospect, is being considered for inclusion into the new Northwest Meadows park site.

The question as to whether it was best to spend additional money to buy these lots, or better to spend the money for land in other areas was discussed Monday night during the park board meeting.

Commissioner Michael Skuban stated he thought the original 17 acres was sufficient to carry out a proper program, and that the park had an obligation to other areas where there was available land.

RESIDENTS in the Northwest Meadows area have supported the proposal for the park to buy the lots, both as a measure of protecting the area from undesirable commercial enterprises and from the standpoint that a commercial area on the edge of the park would not be good for the park itself.

By buying the additional lots, the park would also pick up an additional amount of land set aside for streets, curbs and gutters. Money for the purchase would come from the recent $1.4 million referendum, passed April 1.

A definite decision on the purchase was held over until the next board meeting. (ACM

Classmate-Speakers Address Graduates

Prospect high school graduates last Thursday were told to work hard, meet the challenges of life and keep high goals by three of their fellow classmates.

The three main speakers at the first graduation of the new high school were Madelaine DeHuszar, Donn S. Smith and G. Nicholas Tuttle.

The three students were introduced by Michael Hogarty, president of the 1961 class.

MISS DeHUSZAR titled her talk "The Beautiful View" and based her remarks on the statement of Commander Alan Shepard, "What a beautiful view!", as he soared 115 miles above the earth in the first American manned space flight. She compared the lofty view of seniors, earned through four years of effort, to that same elated feeling, but warned her classmates they would have to meet the challenges of life and work hard for another glimpse of that "beautiful view."

Choosing his topic as "The Decision," Smith pointed out to the graduates the challenges in the world. He noted Machiavelli's advice "Where the willingness is great, the difficulties cannot be great." He emphasized that the graduating seniors would find "The decision is ours. The future is in our hands."

Tuttle, one of the two class valedictorians, chose "Understanding Infinite in Faculty" as his subject. He told his fellow pupils that they must solve the universal conflicts in the world today "on a personal level." He urged the Prospect graduates to an "awareness which may lead to progress and understanding."

Hope for "focus on our purposes and goals" was one of Tuttle's main points. He listed three major observations for his classmates to keep before them—"We cannot always find the answer to our problems in the quick and easy method; Only after we understand the world within ourselves can we progress toward a greater understanding of the world about us; and we must recognize the challenges that confront us if we are to meet them effectively."

OTHER SPEAKERS during the program included Superintendent Harold L. Slichenmyer and Daryl Oldaker, president of the Arlington-Prospect high school district 214 board of education.

Diplomas for the graduates were distributed by Oldaker and John A Haas, school board secretary. (AC

Forest View News

Mr. and Mrs. John Nitz, Linda and Jackie, 1900 Elk Grove rd., recently returned from a Florida vacation, where they enjoyed a week of sightseeing and visits with relatives and friends. Some of the more interesting places were Fort Lauderdale, Sarasota, Cypress Gardens, Seaquarium in Miami and Key West, where they spent some time watching the shrimp boats come in.

The Edward Lauings, Busse rd., recently spent an evening in the Boulevard Room of the Hilton hotel.

Phoebe Jane Garland is home recuperating from an operation.

It is with regret that the children of Forest View school and many friends from the area said goodbye to Mrs. Fred Hubrich, formerly Pat Kirshner, who has moved to Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dahl, Busse rd., were married 20 years June 7. To celebrate, they spent the weekend with daughter, Carole, at Lake Geneva.

Congratulations are also due Mr. and Mrs. A. Hammerstrom, 508 Busse rd., who have been married 18 years this month.

TUESDAY luncheon guests in the Otto Gorgius home were Mrs. R. Becker, Mrs. E. Czosek, Mrs. H. Drengberg Mrs. P. McKay and Mrs. L. Harrison. Dinner guests were Mrs. Carl Craig and sons and Mrs. Craig's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Corr of Pasadena, Cal., who are spending two weeks with their daughter in Chicago. Lorraine Craig and Lorraine Gorgius attended school together in Pasadena.

Thursday Lynne Gorgius was 15 and the family took her to dinner in Franklin Park and then took in a movie.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Hilgeman 606 Busse rd., have had friends and relatives in to help them christen their new pool.

Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hansen, Golf rd., had a graduation party for Randy, a graduate of Higgins junior high. Guests were the James Peace family of Barrington, the Bert Hansen and Joseph Landorf families of Arlington Heights, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brummel Sr. and P. Brummel Jr. of Naperville.

Thursday, Goldy Baldassari and children were dinner guests in the Hansen home.

SATURDAY evening 50 friends and relatives helped Michael Grismer celebrate his graduation from Higgins junior high at a buffet supper given by his parents, the William Grismers, 1225 W. Golf rd.

Jack Fingle 1930 Elk Grove rd., retired this month after 38 years employment at Stewart Warner in Chicago. As a parting gift he was presented with a wrist watch.

A group of friends and relatives were Sunday supper guests in the Roland Koenig home, 507 W. Algonquin, in honor of their son, Michael, upon his graduation from Arlington high school.

Vicki Bartlett of Rolling Meadows was a Saturday evening guest of Lynne Gorgius, 608 Busse rd. (AME

Additional Tract Weighed for Park

An additional tract of land comprising 22 lots along Northwest hwy. from Dale to Waterman, Mt. Prospect, is being considered for inclusion into the new Northwest Meadows park site.

The question as to whether it was best to spend additional money to buy these lots, or better to spend the money for land in other areas was discussed Monday night during the park board meeting.

Commissioner Michael Skuban stated he thought the original 17 acres was sufficient to carry out a proper program, and that the park had an obligation to other areas where there was available land.

RESIDENTS in the Northwest Meadows area have supported the proposal for the park to buy the lots, both as a measure of protecting the area from undesirable commercial enterprises and from the standpoint that a commercial area on the edge of the park would not be good for the park itself.

By buying the additional lots, the park would also pick up an additional amount of land set aside for streets, curbs and gutters. Money for the purchase would come from the recent $1.4 million referendum, passed April 1.

A definite decision on the purchase was held over until the next board meeting. (ACM

At Prospect High

Classmate-Speakers Address Graduates

Prospect high school graduates last Thursday were told to work hard, meet the challenges of life and keep high goals by three of their fellow classmates.

The three main speakers at the first graduation of the new high school were Madelaine DeHuszar, Donn S. Smith and G. Nicholas Tuttle.

The three students were introduced by Michael Hogarty, president of the 1961 class.

MISS DeHUSZAR titled her talk "The Beautiful View" and based her remarks on the statement of Commander Alan Shepard, "What a beautiful view!", as he soared 115 miles above the earth in the first American manned space flight. She compared the lofty view of seniors, earned through four years of effort, to that same elated feeling, but warned her classmates they would have to meet the challenges of life and work hard for another glimpse of that "beautiful view."

Choosing his topic as "The Decision," Smith pointed out to the graduates the challenges in the world. He noted Machiavelli's advice "Where the willingness is great, the difficulties cannot be great." He emphasized that the graduating seniors would find "The decision is ours. The future is in our hands."

Tuttle, one of the two class valedictorians, chose "Understanding Infinite in Faculty" as his subject. He told his fellow pupils that they must solve the universal conflicts in the world today "on a personal level." He urged the Prospect graduates to an "awareness which may lead to progress and understanding."

Hope for "focus on our purposes and goals" was one of Tuttle's main points. He listed three major observations for his classmates to keep before them—"We cannot always find the answer to our problems in the quick and easy method; Only after we understand the world within ourselves can we progress toward a greater understanding of the world about us; and we must recognize the challenges that confront us if we are to meet them effectively."

OTHER SPEAKERS during the program included Superintendent Harold L. Slichenmyer and Daryl Oldaker, president of the Arlington-Prospect high school district 214 board of education.

Diplomas for the graduates were distributed by Oldaker and John A Haas, school board secretary.

Clarify Rules For Aged Care

Attorney General William G. Clark this week advised the State Department of Public Health that certain of its rules for regulation of nursing and sheltered care homes and homes for the aged are in excess of the department's authority.

One such group of regulations, Clark's opinion advised Leroy L. Fatheree, director of the department, are based on the so-called "grandfather clause" theory which would classify applicants for licenses to operate such homes on a "time" basis.

"IT IS CLEAR," Clark's opinion said, "that the Legislature has in no manner whatsoever attempted to classify by time any of the licensees in such a way as to give them preferred treatment as they from year to year apply for a renewal of their license."

As to authority of the Department by regulations to treat one form of ownership of a home in any manner different from any other form of ownership, Clark's opinion said;

"I must conclude that the Department's attempt to limit or restrict compliance with the regulations by some applicants because of the nature or character of their particular form of ownership is in excess of the statutory authority of the department and is unauthorized."

CLARK'S OPINION further held that revised minimum standards are valid as applied to licensed homes when such homes are sold or transferred, voluntarily or involuntarily.

The Department, Clark's opinion said, would have no authority to set any formal education standard as a prerequisite for ownership of such property or home but could, by regulation, require the manager or administrator of such a home to be a high school graduate. (A14

Suburb School Thefts Admitted by Man, 59

A 59 year-old man this week admitted to thefts of suburban schools in Elk Grove Village, Bensenville, Wheeling, Prospect Heights, Palatine, Medinah, Des Plaines, Ontarioville and 46 other suburban communities.

Vernon Elmer Bloodgood, 59, is now cooling his educated fingers in the Cook County jail.

He was bound over to the Grand jury Monday night by Judge William Carrier, Homewood, after telling a bizarre story of school thievery which has been his major source of income since 1946.

BLOODGOOD was arrested by Homewood police at 3:30 a.m. Saturday June 10 as he was leaving the James Hart school in Homewood. He carried $13 in change which he had stolen from the school petty cash box.

Under questioning the "live - alone - and - like - it" robber confessed to recent school burglaries in Higgins Junior high and Rupley schools, Elk Grove Village; Lake Zurich high school; Sandburg school, Wheeling and other western suburbs.

Bloodgood is a walking burglar. He has never driven a car to the site of any of his thefts.

HE LISTED the Cumberland hotel, 909 Madison st., Chicago as his home address. When he ran out of rent and food money, according to his police confession, he set out on foot - hitch hiking or if he didn't get a ride, walking — to whatever area he thought might be good pickings.

While he was wandering from community to community, school to school, Bloodgood lived in forest preserves. He listed the forest preserve at Higgins and River rds. as one of his favorite overnight stops. (A-14

HENRY C. BAUER, right, manager of the Prudential Insurance company's Palatine district agency, is awarded the firm's President citation by Marion J. Morris, director of agencies for the Chicago region. The award ceremony occurred at Inverness Country club.

Motor Deaths Drop over 1960

Motor vehicle traffic deaths in Illinois during May totaled 1960. The provisional report shows that 30 deaths occurred during the four-day Memorial Day weekend, averaging one every three and one-half hours.

According to the traffic bureau's provisional records, 661 persons have died in highway accidents in Illinois since January 1. This is a 12 per cent increase over the 590 deaths reported for the first five months of 1960. (A14

Diving Show Set For Golf-Mill

A thrill-packed diving exhibition will be presented at Golf-Mill shopping center June 19 to 24.

Olympic diving champion Joaquin Capilla and national champion Ed Cole will give an exhibition of their world-famed diving routines and zany comedy antics from a 30-foot tower.

This spectacular 45 minute show has truly comquered the globe — with an exhibition schedule that reads like a time table for around-the-world — Africa, Bermuda, Brazil, Canada, England, France, Germany, Hawaii, Mexico, Russia and Switzerland.

The show will be held in the South Mall (adjacent Simon's restaurant) with the following schedule: Monday, Thursday and Fruday — 2:30 p.m. and 7 p.m.; Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday — 2:30 p.m.

FAMOUS THE world over, Joaquin Capilla is the greatest professional diver in show business. His flawless perfection has enabled him to collect titles like another hobbyist collects coins or utterflies. In his competitive line, he won more major diving titles than anyone else in the world. He reached the heights when he won Four Pan-American diving titles and the World Olympic championship in 1956 in Melbourne., Australia.

Ed Cole, comedy and rebound tumbling champion, is now heralded as the newest sensation in comedy and high diving. As an amateur, Ed was rated the greatest Trampoline performer the world has ever known and now combines his acrobatic skill and perfect form to match his teammate in perfection and hilarious originality. (Bill

S. S. KRESGE COMPANY

'WAY BACK WHEN'

60 YEARS AGO—
JUNE 8, 1901

Palatine: Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Vogt celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home Saturday, June 1. They were married fifty years ago at the old Vehe farm in Palatine . . . For low down meanness we have found nothing so bad as the taking of flowers and flags from the graves since Decoration Day . . . Mr. H. C. Matthei has been appointed postmaster for another four year term.

Wheeling: Our local hotels are aware that summer is at hand. Tourists and bicyclists are in at all hours of the day and night for meals . . . The roads in and about Wheeling are in the best condition possible. Automobiles pass through every day. They should travel at a lower rate of speed than they do.

Quentin Corners: There was a family reunion at J. Sturm, Jr. last Sunday. Lots of callers. Clay pipes, cigars, games, and comical yarns to kill time . . . Albert Sauer called at the Corners recently. He is now a commercial man and carries a grip for C. H. Henderson's great shoe house, Chicago.

Schaumburg: The first automobile ran through Schaumburg last Sunday. The horseless carriage is a sure thing here at last . . . The wedding of Mr. August Grever and Miss Clara Freise, Thursday, was a grand affair. About 1,000 people celebrated the event.

Mount Prospect: Wm. Kirchhoff has a nice crop of rye. It is headed out and stands five feet tall . . . Geo. Meier, who recently sold his farm to his brother John, has bought the Clark A. Cooley farm of 148 acres at $95 an acre and 8 acres of woodland at $60.00 an acre . . . The farmers about here have been busy this week hauling material for the new Lutheran parochial school house. 40,000 brick have been hauled from Des Plaines; also five cars of dimension and cut stone from here. They have yet to haul 20,000 red face brick from Roselle and 60 loads of Cary sand from here. They cheerfully do all this and contribute nearly $3,000 beside, to build a suitable school house in which to educate their children, according to their religious faith in both the German and English languages.

Arlington Heights: J. A. Kennicott and Geo. Schmidt have completed E. N. Berbecker's barn and have now gone to build a large granary on Mrs. Mary Kennicott's farm . . . Herman Maul has been hauling malt this week at $1.00 a load for Geo. Kirchhoff. He says he can make $4.00 a day. Herman is a hustler when there is big pay in a job. Don't you forget it . . . W. T. Kellogg is painting the roof of G. H. Allison's building, occupied by Emil Taege's tin shop . . . J. A. Sigwalt is a hustler in the creamery business at his factory in Elk Grove. He shipped a large lot of butter and cheese to Chicago, Tuesday . . . Village of Arlington Heights appropriated for the current fiscal year the sum of $4,800.64.

50 YEARS AGO,
JUNE 9, 1911

Arlington Heights: A large number of North Western patrons went to Chicago Sunday to see the grand new Madison St. depot which was opened for business June 4 for the first time. It is the most modern and second largest railway station in the world . . . 60 YEARS AGO— JUNE 8, 1901

Palatine: Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Vogt celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home Saturday, June 1. They were married fifty years ago at the old Vehe farm in Palatine . . . For low down meanness we have found nothing so bad as the taking of flowers and flags from the graves since Decoration Day . . . Mr. H. C. Matthei has been appointed postmaster for another four year term.

Wheeling: Our local hotels are aware that summer is at hand. Tourists and bicyclists are in at all hours of the day and night for meals . . . The roads in and about Wheeling are in the best condition possible. Automobiles pass through every day. They should travel at a lower rate of speed than they do.

Quentin Corners: There was a family reunion at J. Sturm, Jr. last Sunday. Lots of callers. Clay pipes, cigars, games, and comical yarns to kill time . . . Albert Sauer called at the Corners recently. He is now a commercial man and carries a grip for C. H. Henderson's great shoe house, Chicago.

Schaumburg: The first automobile ran through Schaumburg last Sunday. The horseless carriage is a sure thing here at last . . . The wedding of Mr. August Grever and Miss Clara Freise, Thursday, was a grand affair. About 1,000 people celebrated the event.

Mount Prospect: Wm. Kirchhoff has a nice crop of rye. It is headed out and stands five feet tall . . . Geo. Meier, who recently sold his farm to his brother John, has bought the Clark A. Cooley farm of 148 acres at $95 an acre and 8 acres of woodland at $60.00 an acre . . . The farmers about here have been busy this week hauling material for the new Lutheran parochial school house. 40,000 brick have been hauled from Des Plaines; also five cars of dimension and cut stone from here. They have yet to haul 20,000 red face brick from Roselle and 60 loads of Cary sand from here. They cheerfully do all this and contribute nearly $3,000 beside, to build a suitable school house in which to educate their children, according to their religious faith in both the German and English languages.

Arlington Heights: J. A. Kennicott and Geo. Schmidt have completed E. N. Berbecker's barn and have now gone to build a large granary on Mrs. Mary Kennicott's farm . . . Herman Maul has been hauling malt this week at $1.00 a load for Geo. Kirchhoff. He says he can make $4.00 a day. Herman is a hustler when there is big pay in a job. Don't you forget it . . . W. T. Kellogg is painting the roof of G. H. Allison's building, occupied by Emil Taege's tin shop . . . J. A. Sigwalt is a hustler in the creamery business at his factory in Elk Grove. He shipped a large lot of butter and cheese to Chicago, Tuesday . . . Village of Arlington Heights appropriated for the current fiscal year the sum of $4,800.64.

Series of Organ Parties Planned at Music Studios

A series of unique "organ parties" will begin Friday under the sponsorship of Roy Baumann of Roy Baumann Music Studios, 24 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights.

"Depending on the demand, we hope to sponsor these parties every week," Baumann said.

He explained residents of the area will be invited to the studios to listen to organists play a wide variety of "concert type" number and request tunes. The first party will be held Friday at 8 p.m.

FEATURED Friday will be the music of Len Pabich, a professional organist. Pabich will also be on hand from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday for those who cannot attend the Friday party, Baumann noted.

The parties will be staged in the newly-decorated studio party room, which contains a kitchen and seats more than 60 persons. Baumann has spent about $10,000 remodeling the studio since it opened last December.

The Baumann Studios offer lessons at the piano and organ, with lessons on other instruments expected to be started soon. The firm also sells Thomas and Baldwin organs and Gulbransen pianos.

This year Baumann, of 421 E. Orchard, Arlington Heights, celebrates his tenth year in business in the village and his thirty-fifth year in the organ, piano and furniture business.

CURRENTLY using the studio for 13 weeks is the piano class from the Arlington high school evening session. The class will continue throughout the summer, using the studios free of charge.

Baumann, 58, patented the original base reflex speaker in 1929. It is acknowledged as one of the finest tone systems devised and is in wide use today.

He sells stereophonic components and component consoles in his Arlington Heights and Chicago places of business.

He is proud of the "family-social" atmosphere he has created at the soundproof and air - conditioned Northwest hwy. studios. (A

Q. My fiance has four good friends whom he'd like to serve as ushers at our wedding. The thing is, I'm having only a maid-of-honor. Is it proper to have four ushers when there are no bridesmaids?

A. This is quite all right. It is not at all necessary that the number of ushers match that of the bridesmaids.

Eastwood Events

High school graduations and their attendant celebrations were in the limelight this past weekend. John Cullison, Jack Mutti, Lenore Radosti, Frank Soprano and Sharon Stewart were members of the graduating class from Arlington high school last Friday night.

John Cullison's grandmother, Mrs. Jacob Wilkins, came from Gary for the occasion. Saturday celebration plans for a cookout were changed to an inside party when the rains came. John's aunt and uncle and three cousins, the W. G. Wilkins from Crown Point, were guests at the party. After all the school and family affairs, John and three of his friends, Robert Bolas, Bill Thompson and John Newhard, are now fishing and sail boating at Lake James in Indiana. The boys left Sunday for their several days camping trip to Angola.

The family gathering at the Radosti's Sunday was really a triple celebration. Besides Lynn, her sister, Lenore, also shared graduation honors — from Miner junior high on Monday night. Third big occasion is Mr. and Mrs. Radosti's 25th wedding anniversary on June 20. So as to be present for all these memorable occasions, Mrs. Radosti's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hagelauer, are visiting here from Pompano Beach, Fla. They plan to spend a month in Arlington.

Jack Mutti is also relaxing from the strain of finals and graduation ceremonies. He left early Monday morning with two friends for a week's campout at Big Foot camp near Lake Geneva. Before Jackie left, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mutti, honored him with a buffet supper on Sunday for 36 relatives and friends.

Since Sharon Stewart gave an open house for many of her friends before the Arlington prom at Chevy Chase, her graduation was celebrated quietly.

Best wishes for speedy recoveries are extended to two neighborhood convalescents who are back at home again after short stays in hospitals. Mrs. Evelyn Lavan spent several days at Swedish Covenant and Paul Petersen has returned from Northwest Community.

MRS. LEON McKnight has returned home after two visit-filled weeks in her home-town of Seattle. Accompanied by her daughter, Claudia Hammond of Prospect Heights, the trip was an occasion of several "firsts" — their first jet ride and Claudia's first visit back home in 16 years. They visited with Mrs. McKnight's parents, Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre, who are in their 80's, and Mr. McKnight's father, James C. McKnight, who is 92 and is still practicing law.

Former residents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Loewenstien and their daughter, Nora, now of Rockford, were visitors for several days at 302 N. Beverly, their former home, and now occupied by Mrs. Loewenstien's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scharlau.

Among the 30 guests at the Robert Scotts on Sunday were the Bill Voids of Rockford and the Jim Scotts of Los Angeles. The celebration was in honor of dual graduates, Marie from St. Pat's academy and Jean from Marquette University. While Jean had finished her schooling in January and has been working in Denver, she returned home a week ago Sunday to receive her diploma at the summer commencement exercises. (A

A series of unique "organ parties" will begin Friday under the sponsorship of Roy Baumann of Roy Baumann Music Studios, 24 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights.

"Depending on the demand, we hope to sponsor these parties every week," Baumann said.

He explained residents of the area will be invited to the studios to listen to organists play a wide variety of "concert type" number and request tunes. The first party will be held Friday at 8 p.m.

FEATURED Friday will be the music of Len Pabich, a professional organist. Pabich will also be on hand from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday for those who cannot attend the Friday party, Baumann noted.

The parties will be staged in the newly-decorated studio party room, which contains a kitchen and seats more than 60 persons. Baumann has spent about $10,000 remodeling the studio since it opened last December.

The Baumann Studios offer lessons at the piano and organ, with lessons on other instruments expected to be started soon. The firm also sells Thomas and Baldwin organs and Gulbransen pianos.

This year Baumann, of 421 E. Orchard, Arlington Heights, celebrates his tenth year in business in the village and his thirty-fifth year in the organ, piano and furniture business.

CURRENTLY using the studio for 13 weeks is the piano class from the Arlington high school evening session. The class will continue throughout the summer, using the studios free of charge.

Baumann, 58, patented the original base reflex speaker in 1929. It is acknowledged as one of the finest tone systems devised and is in wide use today.

He sells stereophonic components and component consoles in his Arlington Heights and Chicago places of business.

He is proud of the "family-social" atmosphere he has created at the soundproof and air-conditioned Northwest hwy. studios. (A

Q. My fiance has four good friends whom he'd like to serve as ushers at our wedding. The thing is, I'm having only a maid-of-honor. Is it proper to have four ushers when there are no bridesmaids?

A. This is quite all right. It is not at all necessary that the number of ushers match that of the bridesmaids.

Eastwood Events

High school graduations and their attendant celebrations were in the limelight this past weekend. John Cullison, Jack Mutti, Lenore Radosti, Frank Soprano and Sharon Stewart were members of the graduating class from Arlington high school last Friday night.

John Cullison's grandmother, Mrs. Jacob Wilkins, came from Gary for the occasion. Saturday celebration plans for a cookout were changed to an inside party when the rains came. John's aunt and uncle and three cousins, the W. G. Wilkins from Crown Point, were guests at the party. After all the school and family affairs, John and three of his friends, Robert Bolas, Bill Thompson and John Newhard, are now fishing and sail boating at Lake James in Indiana. The boys left Sunday for their several days camping trip to Angola.

The family gathering at the Radosti's Sunday was really a triple celebration. Besides Lynn, her sister, Lenore, also shared graduation honors — from Miner junior high on Monday night. Third big occasion is Mr. and Mrs. Radosti's 25th wedding anniversary on June 20. So as to be present for all these memorable occasions, Mrs. Radosti's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hagelauer, are visiting here from Pompano Beach, Fla. They plan to spend a month in Arlington.

Jack Mutti is also relaxing from the strain of finals and graduation ceremonies. He left early Monday morning with two friends for a week's campout at Big Foot camp near Lake Geneva. Before Jackie left, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mutti, honored him with a buffet supper on Sunday for 36 relatives and friends.

Since Sharon Stewart gave an open house for many of her friends before the Arlington prom at Chevy Chase, her graduation was celebrated quietly.

Best wishes for speedy recoveries are extended to two neighborhood convalescents who are back at home again after short stays in hospitals. Mrs. Evelyn Lavan spent several days at Swedish Covenant and Paul Petersen has returned from Northwest Community.

MRS. LEON McKnight has returned home after two visit-filled weeks in her home-town of Seattle. Accompanied by her daughter, Claudia Hammond of Prospect Heights, the trip was an occasion of several "firsts" — their first jet ride and Claudia's first visit back home in 16 years. They visited with Mrs. McKnight's parents, Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre, who are in their 80's, and Mr. McKnight's father, James C. McKnight, who is 92 and is still practicing law.

Former residents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Loewenstien and their daughter, Nora, now of Rockford, were visitors for several days at 302 N. Beverly, their former home, and now occupied by Mrs. Loewenstien's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scharlau.

Among the 30 guests at the Robert Scotts on Sunday were the Bill Voids of Rockford and the Jim Scotts of Los Angeles. The celebration was in honor of dual graduates, Marie from St. Pat's academy and Jean from Marquette University. While Jean had finished her schooling in January and has been working in Denver, she returned home a week ago Sunday to receive her diploma at the summer commencement exercises. (A

The children's branch library at Pioneer park opens Monday, June 19, for the summer vacation weeks under the direction of Miss Kathy Haynesworth. Hours will be from 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Activities at the branch will include a story hour at 10 a.m. each morning, Monday through Friday. Children may also sign up there for the reading program which is open for those entering first grade in September to those entering eighth grade.

The satisfactory completion of the reading of 10 books will make a child eligible for a party at the end of the summer.

ALSO, JUNE 19 children may register at the main library, 112 N. Belmont, for the reading clubs, which will be under the direction of Miss Julie Zimmerman. Many new books as well as old favorites will be available at both libraries to help make the summer days both enjoyable and worthwhile.

The facilities of the library are free to all residents of Arlington Heights. People who live outside the village limits are required to pay $7 per year per family.

"If you do not have a library card, this would be a good summer to apply for one and investigate the abundance of fascinating reading material on the shelves of your public library," said Miss Edith Lindsey, children's librarian.

MARIAN HARRIS

Comes my time to get at the typewriter and give notice that Father's Day is just around the corner — as a matter of fact, this Sunday. What better place to shop for Dad than Harris Pharmacy.

There you'll find cigars, cigarettes, lotions, pipes tobacco and many other items to please the man in your life. It seems that Father's Day does not carry the impetus that Mother's Day does, but that just isn't right. It's up to us gals to see that our man is remembered, and that it doesn't turn out to be just another Sunday in your home. To be sure, Mom is the hub around which the family revolves, but old DAD is always there in trying times, and he is always out trying to make an honest buck — so gals, let all of us rally 'round the festive board and make it a great day for Dad.

Make it a One-Stop shopping spree; pick up the family needs at Harris Pharmacy, as well as that ever lovin' gift for Dad. George and I wish each and every Father an exceptionally nice day. 'Bye now.

Hospital Emergencies

Golf, Baseball, Mowers Prove Menace to Citizens

Golf, baseball and lawnmowers proved to be real suburban menaces this week.

This triple-threat to suburban safety was the major cause of accidents treated at the emergency room of Northwest Community hospital.

Sixteen-year-old John Stofsner, 82 Woodcrest lane, Elk Grove Village, was hit on the top of the head with a golf club. The head laceration was sutured.

A DISLOCATED finger was the result of playing baseball for Kenneth Mikolajczyk, 9, of 220 N. Fairview, Mt. Prospect. Stephen Lane, 10, of 923 N. Race, Arlington Hts., fractured his little finger while playing baseball. Larry Piekarski, 10, of 4006 Eagle lane, Rolling Meadows, was hit on the head with a baseball. He was released by the emergency room after examination and x-rays.

A five-inch cut on her right leg was sutured and dressed in the hospital emergency room for Mrs. Bernice Frey, 1572 S. California, Palatine. The cut was caused by a lawnmower throwing an object with great speed against her leg.

Russell Benson, 413 S. Cedar, Palatine, received a severe crushing injury of his left hand from a lawnmower. The injury required many sutures and a tetanus toxoid shot was given.

Walter Krysher, 1415 W. Baldwin rd., Palatine, amputated the tip of one finger in a lawnmower accident. Repair was made in the emergency room, followed by a tetanus shot.

A LAWNMOWER accident landed Robert B. Shaffer, 13, of 326 Long Acres lane, Palatine, in Northwest Community hospital. The youth broke two toes, received lacerations and cut a tendon on his left foot in the accident. His condition was reported as good following treatment.

Playtime proved to be danger time for a group of suburban youngsters.

Arthur McAteer, 13, of 142 Illinois, Hoffman Estates spent the night in the hospital for observation after falling from a bicycle.

Running into a wall with a popsicle in her mouth brought five-year-old Laurie Evanger of 436 Forrest, Arlington Heights, to the hospital for treatment. Rig Stier, 11, of 12 N. Maple, Mt. Prospect, fell from a tree while playing. The boy broke his right arm and is now wearing a cast from the emergency room.

ADMITTED to the hospital for x-rays and observation Noel Bauler, 10, of 3301 St. James st., Rolling Meadows. The boy fell at school, badly cutting his chin and finger.

Two Palatine children were injured on the school playground last week. They were Linda Miles, 9, of 1457 Anderson dr., and Michael Donnelly, 13 of 1817 Dunham dr., Palatine. Linda fell from the monkey bars, injuring her right leg and she is now walking with crutches. Michael fell on the ground, cutting his face. The wound was sutured and dressed and the boy was released.

Vernon Newcomb, 9, of 119 N. Prospect Manor, Mt. Prospect, fell from a swing. The boy was kept in the hospital overnight for observation.

Work as well as play can be the cause of accidents, particularly for adults.

PLINNEY Ritter, 1519 N. Karlov, Chicago, cut his forehead while working at wrecking a building. The wound was treated and a tetanus shot given to the Chicagoan. Tetanus toxoid shot and treatment of a foot wound was given to George Nazzeffi, 1916 N. Oakley blvd., Chicago, when he stepped on a nail at work.

A table saw was the cause of accidents for Lawrence Dieter and Frank Moore last week. Moore of 1401 N. Illinois, Arlington Heights, cut his hand. Dieter of 209 Navajo trail, Buffalo Grove, cut his index finger.

Admitted to the hospital for observation was Eddie Bacon 6310 S. Cottage Grove, Chicago. Bacon hit his head on an overhead object, receiving head injuries. Sidney Jenkins 2405 Gustoff, Melrose Park, cut his index finger on a piece of steel. The wound was dressed in the emergency room.

A ROCK SENT Peter Halbreiter, 16, of 228 S. Cedar, Palatine, to the hospital emergency room. The youth was hit on the back of the head with the rock. Emergency room attendants sutured and dressed the laceration he received.

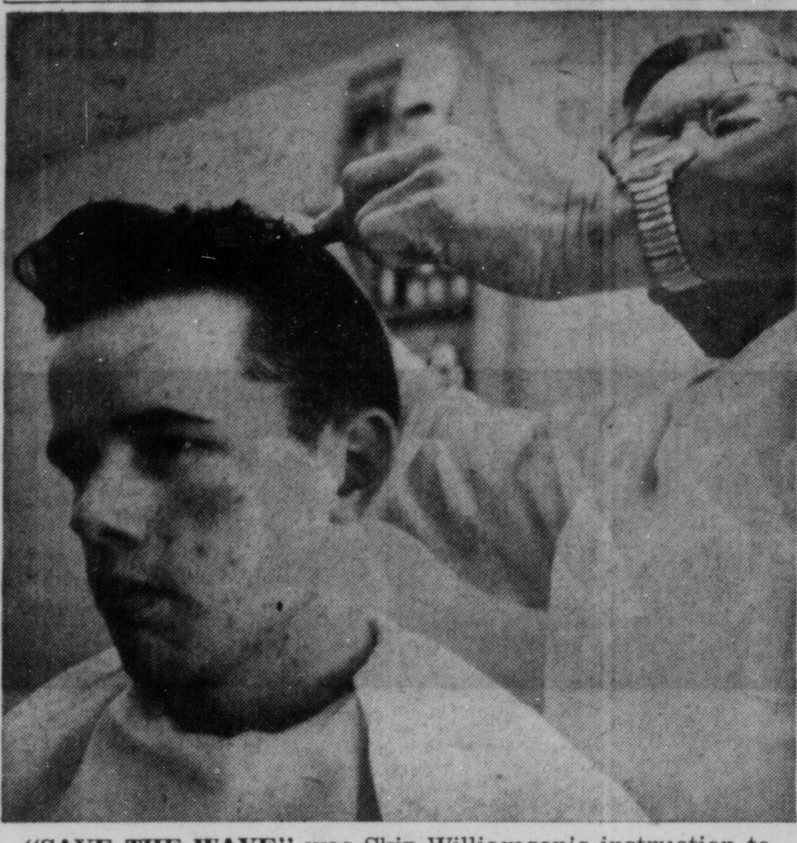
Treatment for bee stings was the emergency room action for Mrs. Katherine Kopecky, 313 E. Algonquin rd., Arlington Heights.

Several very young children found they could not resist unique taste tests. Carol Stueber, 2, of 414 N. Beverly, Arlington Heights, had her stomach washed after she drank insect spray. It was baby aspirin which brought a stomach washing to Kimberly Blake, 3½, of 1626 N. Mitchell Arlington Heights. Two-year-old Scott Sillman of Rt. 2, Barrington, had his stomach washed after he drank hydrogen peroxide.

OTHE VERY young children landed in the emergency room for a variety of treatments. Diane Sansone, 4½, of 341 Bernard dr., Buffalo Grove, was treated for dog bite. A cut on his forehead brought five-year-old John Buckles, of 152 Arlington, Hoffman Estates, to the emergency room for treatment. William Decker, 3, of 237 Hatlen, Mt. Prospect, received two deep lacerations of his left forearm when he put his arm through a glass door. The wounds with several other less serious cuts, were cleaned, sutured and dressed and a tetanus toxoid shot was given.

The most serious accident of the week has a nine-year old boy remaining in the hospital with his condition described as serious. Carl Severinghous, of 130 Western st., Roselle, fell through a storm door Sunday. The boy badly cut his right underarm. Rushed to the emergency room, he was admitted for surgery. (A-14



"SAVE THE WAVE" was Skip Williamson's instruction to the barber when he had his hair cut last week at the Yankee Clipper, 7 E. Miner st., Arlington Heights. Skip lives at 505 S. Edward st., Mount Prospect, and attends Prospect high school.

Boys More Conservative?

Grotesque Haircuts Are No Longer Popula r with Teens

by STEVE FRANZMEIER

Someone ought to write a book entitled, "The Social Science of Boys' Haircuts."

The book could answer such questions as: Is there a correlation between hair style and personality? Do haircuts create attitudes? Does the group pressure of a boy's "crowd" force him to get a haircut similar to that worn by his companions? Are so-called "wild" boys likely to wear outlandish haircuts?
on to cut a number of hair

BARBERS ARE called styles for teen-age boys; but few of them today are as strange as the Mohawk which made the rounds of high schools after World War II. A narrow strip of hair extended from neck to forehead. The rest of the scalp was shaved bald.

The "ducktail" probably is the most unique haircut favored by a significant segment of teenage boys today. It's a regular request at Louie's barber shop in Mt. Prospect. An ample growth of hair is curled into a furrow at the back of the head.

But Paul Selley, owner of Paul's Barber Shop in Palatine, says that even the ducktail is going out of fashion.

Usually, young boys wear the "butch" haircut which is shorter than the "crewcut" favored by boys 10 to 14 years old, says Pete Tirjer of Yankee Clipper barber shop in Arlington Heights. Boys age 15 and older turn to the "ivy-league" style, also called the Boston and Detroit. The ivy-league essentially is a long crewcut which can be brushed down.

One boy asked for a Kennedy cut recently, said Selley; but he couldn't give it to him, for the boy's current hair style was not adaptable to it.

BOTH THE Commander Shepard haircut—a "round flattop," as Tirjer describes it—and the President Kennedy cut with the loose lock dangling over the forehead are popular in the east, judging by recent television publicity. But, their influence does not seem to have reached the midwest.

There are exceptions to the rule that peculiar haircuts are out of style in the northwest suburbs. Tirjer said he saw a teenager with long hair combed up from each side of his head in swirls and parted in the middle. Then, there's the shaved-neck style.

One reason for the demise of the Mohawk and other attention-getting boys' hair styles hereabouts is the common opposition of suburban high school administrations to them. They observed that boys who are disciplinary problems often wore their hair in peculiar styles. They classify duck tails in the same category with motorcycle boots and tight-fitting blue jeans.

LAKE PARK high school, Medinah, has an unwritten rule against duck tails that all students are aware of.

A student at Arlington high school remarked, as his hair was being cut at the Yankee Clipper, that the school does not punish boys who wear eye-catching cuts, but it does discourage them.

Judges in juvenile courts also seem to look with disdain upon duck tails and similar styles. One Chicago judge orders crew cuts for all duck-tailed juveniles who appear in his court.

An Arlington Heights boy who crashed into a police car while speeding was brought to the Yankee Clipper by his father for removal of his duck tail the day before he was scheduled to appear in court. The wise father understood that the judge probably would be influenced by the fact the boy did not wear a duck tail, often associated with delinquency.

BARBERS agree that teenage boys either are fastidious or sloppy about their hair. Either they primp and preen for a half hour before a mirror or they don't even own a comb.

But, whether their hair is well-groomed or not groomed at all, teenage boys in the northwest suburbs seem almost to have abandoned, by choice or otherwise, the grotesque haircuts once so fashionable. (A14

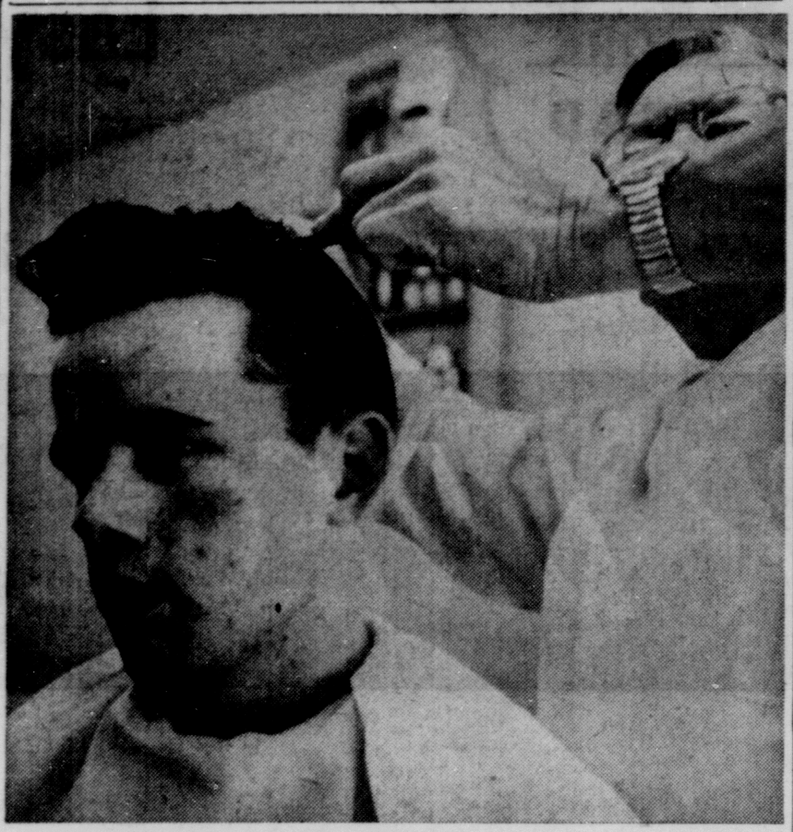
Treatment for bee stings was the emergency room action for Mrs. Katherine Kopecky, 313 E. Algonquin rd., Arlington Heights.

Several very young children found they could not resist unique taste tests. Carol Stueber, 2, of 414 N. Beverly, Arlington Heights, had her stomach washed after she drank insect spray. It was baby aspirin which brought a stomach washing to Kimberly Blake, 3½, of 1626 N. Mitchell Arlington Heights. Two-year-old Scott Sillman of Rt. 2, Barrington, had his stomach washed after he drank hydrogen peroxide.

OTHE VERY young children landed in the emergency room for a variety of treatments. Diane Sansone, 4½, of 341 Bernard dr., Buffalo Grove, was treated for dog bite. A cut on his forehead brought five-year-old John Buckles, of 152 Arlington, Hoffman Estates, to the emergency room for treatment. William Decker, 3, of 237 Hatlen, Mt. Prospect, received two deep lacerations of his left forearm when he put his arm through a glass door. The wounds with several other less serious cuts, were cleaned, sutured and dressed and a tetanus toxoid shot was given.

The most serious accident of the week has a nine-year old boy remaining in the hospital with his condition described as serious. Carl Severinghous, of 130 Western st., Roselle, fell through a storm door Sunday. The boy badly cut his right underarm. Rushed to the emergency room, he was admitted for surgery. (A-14



"SAVE THE WAVE" was Skip Williamson's instruction to the barber when he had his hair cut last week at the Yankee Clipper, 7 E. Miner st., Arlington Heights. Skip lives at 505 S. Edward st., Mount Prospect, and attends Prospect high school.

Boys More Conservative?

by STEVE FRANZMEIER

Someone ought to write a book entitled, "The Social Science of Boys' Haircuts."

The book could answer such questions as: Is there a correlation between hair style and personality? Do haircuts create attitudes? Does the group pressure of a boy's "crowd" force him to get a haircut similar to that worn by his companions? Are so-called "wild" boys likely to wear outlandish haircuts?
on to cut a number of hair

BARBERS ARE called styles for teen-age boys; but few of them today are as strange as the Mohawk which made the rounds of high schools after World War II. A narrow strip of hair extended from neck to forehead. The rest of the scalp was shaved bald.

The "ducktail" probably is the most unique haircut favored by a significant segment of teenage boys today. It's a regular request at Louie's barber shop in Mt. Prospect. An ample growth of hair is curled into a furrow at the back of the head.

But Paul Selley, owner of Paul's Barber Shop in Palatine, says that even the ducktail is going out of fashion.

Usually, young boys wear the "butch" haircut which is shorter than the "crewcut" favored by boys 10 to 14 years old, says Pete Tirjer of Yankee Clipper barber shop in Arlington Heights. Boys age 15 and older turn to the "ivy-league" style, also called the Boston and Detroit. The ivy-league essentially is a long crewcut which can be brushed down.

One boy asked for a Kennedy cut recently, said Selley; but he couldn't give it to him, for the boy's current hair style was not adaptable to it.

BOTH THE Commander Shepard haircut—a "round flattop," as Tirjer describes it—and the President Kennedy cut with the loose lock dangling over the forehead are popular in the east, judging by recent television publicity. But, their influence does not seem to have reached the midwest.

There are exceptions to the rule that peculiar haircuts are out of style in the northwest suburbs. Tirjer said he saw a teenager with long hair combed up from each side of his head in swirls and parted in the middle. Then, there's the shaved-neck style.

One reason for the demise of the Mohawk and other attention-getting boys' hair styles hereabouts is the common opposition of suburban high school administrations to them. They observed that boys who are disciplinary problems often wore their hair in peculiar styles. They classify duck tails in the same category with motorcycle boots and tight-fitting blue jeans.

LAKE PARK high school, Medinah, has an unwritten rule against duck tails that all students are aware of.

A student at Arlington high school remarked, as his hair was being cut at the Yankee Clipper, that the school does not punish boys who wear eye-catching cuts, but it does discourage them.

Judges in juvenile courts also seem to look with disdain upon duck tails and similar styles. One Chicago judge orders crew cuts for all duck-tailed juveniles who appear in his court.

An Arlington Heights boy who crashed into a police car while speeding was brought to the Yankee Clipper by his father for removal of his duck tail the day before he was scheduled to appear in court. The wise father understood that the judge probably would be influenced by the fact the boy did not wear a duck tail, often associated with delinquency.

BARBERS agree that teenage boys either are fastidious or sloppy about their hair. Either they primp and preen for a half hour before a mirror or they don't even own a comb.

But, whether their hair is well-groomed or not groomed at all, teenage boys in the northwest suburbs seem almost to have abandoned, by choice or otherwise, the grotesque haircuts once so fashionable. (A14

Ridge Park–Sherwood

FROM SHERWOOD

June found many Sherwood families engrossed in graduation exercises and the partying that goes with it. Among those who graduated from South junior high Monday night were Mary Ehrke, Jean De Wilde and Sheryl Seyfert.

At another graduation Sunday at St. John Military academy in Delafield, Wis., three Arlington Heights boys came off with top honors in military science and tactics, two of them being from Sherwood. Ronald Kovalik was awarded a medal for highest grades in MST in the four years he attended St. John's, Rob House for his three years there and Terry Conner for two years.

Terry's grandmother, Mrs. Ceil Franz, and his aunt, Frances Peters, came up from Pompano Beach, Fla. to be here in time for his graduation. The former Sherwood residents plan to stay here about three weeks to the delight of their immediate family and one-time Sherwood neighbors. Terry and his family, the Herb Conners, live at 1117 W. Burgoyne.

The William Rosengrens came all the way from Sarasota, Fla., to attend grandson Rob House's graduation at St. John's. Mr. Rosengren went up with Rob's family, the Don Houses, 1120 N. Harvard, for the three days, while the rest of the family, Mrs. Rosengren, the James Pooles and Nancy Criswell drove up Sunday for the actual graduation. The program started Friday and was mostly military. Saturday was "old boys day" when the alumni coming back and many of the dads, and Don House was among them, having lunch with their sons.

Sunday the Carl Palmers, 1023 W. Burgoyne, joined Our Savior Lutheran church, Mrs. C. Livingston acting as sponsor for Jeff and Miss Leona Bartelt for Ricky. The sponsors joined the family for an outdoor barbecue afterward.

DAN DeWILDE came home last week from Haverford college. The son of the R. M. De Wildes, 1102 Burgoyne, just completed his freshman year.

Mrs. Carl E. Schmitz, 1300 Clarendon, just returned from a 3-week visit with her daughter and family, the John S. Hodgsons of Montgomery, Ala., when she received an urgent call stating that John's mother had died. She left immediately for a week's stay and has again returned.

Friends and neighbors of the G. A. Martins, 1409 N. Yale, don't like it that they are moving to Wellesley, Mass., Friday. The move is the result of Mr. Martin changing positions — he is now connected with Radio Radio Shack corporation. When he returned here Wednesday night there was a neighborhood party for them at the Lepkowskis'. The explorer scouts wanted to express their thanks for all his hard work as adviser to their group and did so when they gave the family a party at the Bredehofts'. Mrs. Martin's bridge clubs have bid her goodbye reluctantly too. The Martins leave with mixed emotions — they feel they will enjoy living in the east, but they wonder if they could possibly enjoy it half so much as Sherwood. The Fred De Rangos of Bloomfield Hills, Mich. will move into the Martin house.

FROM RIDGE PARK

Ridge Park celebrated graduations too numerous to mention individually. Congratulations go to all, however.

There was a dinner party for Susan Schmidt Friday night before her graduation from Arlington high. Her grandmother, Mrs. Charles Schmidt came from Edison Park, and her cousin, Karen Krueger, and Ed Gliot came from Palatine to congratulate her. Her aunt, Mrs. Joe Barrows and her uncle. Elmer Krueger, joined them at the school for the commencement exercises, as did friends and the Oscar Ekdahls. They all returned to the Schmidt home, 736 N. Ridge, afterward. She plans to work this summer and enter business college in the fall.

Going back to Muncie, Ind. this weekend turned out to be somewhat of a family reunion for the James Kunnens, 1016 N. Fernandez. Her parents, the J. E. Maxwells, opened their home to the family, which included a daughter and her family from El Paso, Texas. Mrs. Kunnen hadn't seen her Texas relatives in five years. Her grandmother was there from another section of Indiana, as were her brother and his family.

ELLEN LEE'S relatives came from Chicago, Des Plaines, Wheeling and Northlake to watch her receive her diploma at Arlington high school Friday night. After the exercises, they returned to her home, 1012 N. Ridge, for a buffet supper. Ellen is the daughter of the William Lees.

There was an open house at 1004 N. Ridge, at the Werner Beckers', after Marlene's graduation from the high school Friday night. Ronnie could not be here, but he sent her a corsage from Whidbey Island, Wash., where he is stationed with the navy.

The Jerry Mockenhaupt family, 818 N. Harvard, went to Champaign-Urbana Friday afternoon for Doug's wedding. Tuesday, Ann's sister and brother-in-law, the William Porches of Summitt, N. J., paid them a visit after attending Doug's wedding and doing some additional visiting in southern Illinois. Doug and his bride, the former Connie Barcus, also came up from Champaign Tuesday so that Connie can stay with the Mockenhaupts while Doug makes a quick business trip to Sacramento.

When the Bill Rudys, 822 N. Princeton, planned to have dinner at the Drake with the Frank Psotas Friday night, it was with the sole purpose of going to see "Gone With the Wind" afterward.

Lee and Herman Koeneman, 908 N. Fernandez, had planned to go down to Louisville to bring Sharon back from the university, so when the doorbell rang Saturday and Sharon was standing at the door they were surprised and pleased. Sharon missed her sister Karen's graduation from Arlington high by one night. Although Kenny and Kevin didn't graduate, they have been doing some celebrating on their own since school is out and went up to Eagle River, Wis. with Uncle Tom Johnson and the speedboat.

WHEN MARY Alice Wojtkiewicz was christened in St. James Catholic church Sunday, Father Emmanuel officiated and neighbors Joan and Jim Hahn acted as godparents. Joan and George hosted the Hahn family at a buffet supper after the ceremony. Three generations were represented at the party in Mary Alice's honor: her grandparents, great grandmother (and the guest of honor), plus her Aunt Marge, Uncle Jack, Aunt Virginia and Uncle Wally.

There was a double celebration in the John Morrison family, 803 N. Harvard, and they went to Des Plaines to the home of their son and his family, the junior John Morrisons, for the party Sunday. Grandson Johnny Morrison graduated from grammar school in Des Plaines and grandson Bobby Cagle in Palatine.

The Robert Balfours, 1208 Northwest hwy., spent two days celebrating Donna's graduation from south junior high Monday evening. Saturday evening they entertained friends at a dinner party and Sunday they took Anita's brother and his family, the Joseph Valvos and Maureen, to dinner at the Sweden House in Elgin. Maureen shared honors with Donna Sunday, as she graduated recently from Our Lady of the Wayside school.

Kathy Barnes will be in a dance recital June 24 and the whole family will be on hand — both sets of grandparents — just as they were for Susan when she was in a piano recital at St. James May 21. The girls are daughters of Norma and Gene Barnes, 1016 N. Kaspar.

The weatherman cooperated Sunday when the Elmer Carlsons, 1711 Oakton, entertained 25 people at a buffet supper honoring Richard, who graduated from Arlington high Friday night. Guests came from Hinsdale, Chicago, Roselle and Downers Grove to congratulate Richard who won a 4-year scholarship to the University of Illinois.

BECAUSE Kathy Chapman was 2 a week ago Sunday, her Grandparents Chapman thought it only fitting that she should have her own party. And she did, in their home in Deerfield. Her parents, Jean and Jerry Chapman, 903 N. Kaspar, and her brothers, Johnny and George, were on hand for the festive occasion.

After Wally Friker, 713 N. Patton, graduated from Arlington high Friday night, friends and relatiives of Dorothy and Gene Friker came to congratulate Wally who stayed just long enough to greet everyone before he took off for a party himself. Wally is leaving this week for Camp Eaglecrest, near Eagle River, Wis., where he will work until the time he enters Northern Illinois university in the fall. His brother, Kenny, is transferring to Northern this fall and the two boys are looking forward to being on the same campus.

The table was spread for a buffet supper at the home of the John A. Millers, 915 N. Fernandez, Friday night after Peggy graduated from Arlington high. Several relatives came to congratulate her.

The rain didn't dampen the spirits of Eleanor and Bill Frost, 1225 W. Oakton, Saturday evening, nor did it affect their 12 guests who had come to help them celebrate their wedding anniversary. Eleanor just changed her menu.

Patty Gleason was 8 June 10, but celebrated the occasion early when she had a birthday party at her bluebird meeting.

Patty's sister, Chris, shares birthday honors with her — Chris was 12 the same day. The girls are the daughters of the Ed Gleasons, 911 N. Princeton.

GOING TO the art fair at Old Town Sunday was like going back home for the Stanley Juhls, 831 N. Salem. They once lived in that neighborhood and have many friends who still do. They took friends from Park Ridge with them and the two families had dinner at Twin Acres. This reporter went to that fair the day before with the Ray Kirks and left when the first drop of rain fell. She did manage to go on the garden walk, and enjoy the folk singing and the Ken Nordine band before leaving and came away with ideas about fixing up her own back yard.

Debbie Klippert's graduation from South junior high Monday night had a special meaning for her because her aunt and uncle, the Bob Helds, came all the way from Pittsburgh to see her receive her diploma. The C. A. Klipperts, 1003 N. Fernandez, held open house afterward for their daughter.

Dorothy and Harold Jacobs, 931 N. Patton, hosted 50 people Sunday at a buffet supper honoring Craig's graduation from South junior high the following night. Strictly a family affair, some came all the way from Burlington, Wis.

Arden went home with his aunt and uncle to Burlington and plans to catch up on some swimming, as they live right on Bohner's lake.

Both sets of grandparents came from Des Plaines to see Hank Wiegel get his diploma from South junior high Monday night. His Aunt Jo and Uncle Abe, his young Aunt Hermina and Aunt Ruth, Uncle Bill and cousins were there for the graduation and the party afterward in his home, 724 N. Kennicott. Hak is the son of the junior H. W. Wiegels.

Marguerite Seaman celebrated her graduation from South junior high with relatives at a party after the exercises. She is the daughter of the Ed Seamans, 919 N. Fernandez.

Dawn Bless' graduation party began with supper before the exercises Monday evening. Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Christ, came out from Chicago for the occasion and her former schoolmate, Kathy Coffey, joined the family for dinner. Kathy would have graduated with Dawn's class from South had she not moved to Long Grove a year ago. Dawn has enrolled in the summer school typing class at the high school. (A

Q. Is it proper to abbreviate the name of the month on the date line of a business letter?

A. No. Neither the month nor the name of the state of the addressee is abbreviated —even of the states of Mississippi or Pennsylvania. It is considered better form to write them out.

Q. Does a woman ever take the aisle seat when she is attending the theatre with a man?

A. Never. She always enters the row first, and her escort takes the aisle seat.

Q. Is it proper to abbreviate the name of the month on the date line of a business letter?

A. No. Neither the month nor the name of the state of the addressee is abbreviated —even of the states of Mississippi or Pennsylvania. It is considered better form to write them out.

Q. Does a woman ever take the aisle seat when she is attending the theatre with a man?

A. Never. She always enters the row first, and her escort takes the aisle seat.

'School's Out' Sighs Caused Storm, Not Pressure Area

Saturday afternoon's sudden storm that INverted several outdoor parties was not caused by a low pressure area, no matter what the weatherman says. It was actually set off by the release of a collective "school's out" sigh of relief from teachers as well as students Similar storms mistakenly blamed on the autumnal equinox, are note in September when school reconvenes and Moms sigh happily. Graduation parties over the weekend gave special emphasis to a lot of the school's-out business.

Joan Driscoll's celebration with fellow graduates Saturday afternoon was representative of most such parties that day. It was a "cook-out, eat-in" barbecue supper, with the eating-in part as sudden a development as the storm that caused it. Eight Arlington high school alumni had fun anyway in the basement at 728 S. Vail. This fall Joan will attend Coe college in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

A Saturday evening dinner party for 31 local and Chicago friends celebrated Judy Eriksen's eighth grade graduation which became official Monday night at the ceremonies in Arlington high school. Judy, daughter of the Peter Eriksens, 5 W. Orchard, received her diploma from South Junior high school.

ONE OF THE last of the colleges dismissing for the summer is Carroll college in Waukesha where Robin Posselt has just finished her sophomore year. Robin came home to 302 W. Maple Saturday.

Cheryl Patterson, 1011 S. Dunton, was graduated Sunday from Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic school and received the congratulations of 25 suburban and Chicago relatives at a dinner in her home following the graduation.

At 1037 S. Dunton Patty Dralle, also newly graduated from Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic school, was honored by 22 family friends and relatives of the Chicago area. Among the dinner guests was Patty's grandmother, Mrs. Lawrence J. Probst of Chicago, and former neighbors from Berwyn, the Dralles'-home before moving here.

Ingrid Soyat, 16 N. Dunton, was hostess at an open house "signing of the year book" party Thursday night following the graduation in Arlington high school of her 70 guests and herself. The celebration also afforded her classmates a chance to say goodbye to their hostess who leaves with the family this week for a new home in Quonset Point, R.I.

To thoroughly and unforgettably say goodbye, 11 of Ingrid's girl friends remained for a slumber party that climaxed the happy-sad evening. No slumber party worthy of the name includes much time for sleeping and a graduation - farewell - slumber party of course eliminates all sack time in order to allow maximum sociability effort.

INGRID WILL begin her studies at Barry college in Miami, Fla. this fall at about the same time her father, a navy commander, leaves for the South Pole and "Operation: Deep Freeze." At the time of this writing and of the family's packing, otherwise known as "Operation: Steam Cabinet," "Operation: Deep Freeze" sounds intriguing to all concerned. Cmdr. Soyat's duty will be of 14 months duration, however, a long time to be deep frozen.

A wedding-day breakfast in the Milk Pail, Dundee, will climax a round of showers and pre-nuptial parties that began in April for Miss Judy Grose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Grose, 115 W. Euclid, and her fiance, Frank Hollister Mabley of Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

On that day Miss Grose, Mr. Mabley, their attendants and immediate family members will be guests of Mrs. Arthur McDonald of Howell, Mich., a long-time friend of the Mabley family. Mr. Mabley and Miss Grose will be married June 24 in the First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights.

In April Miss Grose was presented to 100 friends of her fiance's family at a tea in her honor given by the groom's mother, Mrs. T. H. Mabley in her Bloomfield Hills home. In Detroit May 20 Miss Grose was feted by Mrs. Mabley's friends at a linen shower for 20 given by Mrs. Laurance VanTuyl.

LOCAL entertaining in Miss Grose's honor began May 29 when two separate groups showered her with gifts at pre-nuptial parties. The first was given by students of Miss Grose who teaches a third grade class at Rupley school, Elk Grove village. The party was completely planned and executed by the children and Miss Grose had no reason to doubt they were 100 per cent in charge; their surprise shower supplanted an afternoon of classes.

There were delicious refreshments and games just right for entertaining teachers and best of all, the presentation of a decorative clock to the bride-to-be.

On the evening of the school shower, 12 local friends of Miss Grose showered her with miscellaneous gifts at a pre-nuptial party in the McHenry home of a longtime friend, Mrs. Wayne Malzahn. Twenty friends of Mrs. Grose next feted her daughter at a kitchen and miscellaneous shower given last Friday evening by Mrs. Fred W. Siegel and Mrs. H. J. Gregg in the Siegel home, 316 E. Park.

MISS GROSE leaves today for Ann Arbor where she will attend the graduation Saturday afternoon of her fiance from the University of Michigan's 5-year school of engineering. Saturday morning she will witness the joint commissioning ceremony of the army, navy and air force ROTC in which Mabley will receive his navy commission.

Also on the weekend's schedule is a picnic to be given tomorrow evening for the bridal couple by one of Miss Grose's attendants, and a former University of Michigan classmate, Miss Sally Lease of Ann Arbor. Miss Grose is an alumni of the university and the couples party will reunite her with several college friends who will at the same time be fare-welling Mabley.

THREE pre-nuptial parties in late May feted the former Patricia Konchar, daughter of the George Konchars, 314 N. Pine, who was married Saturday to Jack Zenner of Oak Park. Thirty-eight local family friends honored the bride-to-be May 21 at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Thomas Thackery III, 612 S. Bristol.

In Lake Zurich where Miss Konchar lived and worked before her marriage, 20 friends of that area showered her with miscellaneous gifts at a party May 24. May 28 the groom's sister was hostess at a pre-nuptial shower in Libertyville for her future sister-in-law at which 25 members of the Zenner family feted Miss Konchar.

A reception in the home of the bride followed the wedding in the Lutheran Church of Libertyville. Mr. and Mrs. Zenner will make their home in Lake Zurich.

Jerry Blum was among St. Peter Lutheran grade school graduates receiving a diploma last week and a small family party marked the occasion in the then Blum home, 615 S. Evergreen. This week the Myron Blum address is 1337 N. Highland and preparations for their move to the north side Monday prevented the traditional celebration for the graduate.

VISITORS Sunday in the William Knight home, 735 N. Dunton, were Mrs. Knight's aunt and uncle, the William Andersons of Joliet. Joining the Andersons here for dinner with the Knights were the hostess' father, Bert Venard of Chicago, and her brother, Bert Jr. and his family of Park Ridge.

Jane, who will teach this fall in a local school, returned home with the family and shared in the excitement of sister Carol's high school graduation Friday night. Next morning Mr. and Mrs. Bedingfield left for the west coast.

The high school graduation Friday of Robert Hansen, 730 S. Mitchell, brought his grandparents and a cousin here from Minneapolis to share the family pride. Arriving a week ago Tuesday were Bob's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Harlin, Grandmother Hansen and cousin, Judy Hansen, who are enjoying an extended visit here.

SOUTHERN Methodist university coed Miss Joy Tolleson of Houston, left here Sunday after a 2-week visit in the Howard West home, 837 S. Highland. Miss Tolleson arrived with the Wests' son, John, a junior at SMU, as the school year ended at the Dallas university.

Fifty local and Chicago area friends and relatives were guests Sunday evening at a buffet supper in the Robert Pagliai home, 905 S. Evergreen, to honor the Pagliais' son, Robert, after his graduation from Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic school. Among the guests were the graduate's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Piemont of Elmwood Park and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Pagliai of Chicago.

Miss Karen Williams, Miss Trish Crockett and Jerry Hawkins hosted their fellow Arlington high school graduates Friday night at an open house in the Williams home, 633 N. Highland, following their commencement exercise. Invitations went out to all graduating seniors and about 200 were able to attend the outdoor buffet supper party.

Mrs. Williams is still aglow with pride in her daughter's guests, all of whom, she reports, were delightful opposites to the teenagers making current headlines with their post - graduate misdeeds. "I've never been so proud of any group of kids - pardon me, I mean ladies and gentlemen - as I was of ours last Friday night. They should make the headlines.'

A DINNER party for 40 friends and relatives was a triple celebration Sunday in the Aldon Shea home, 606 W. Elm, where twins, John and James, are recent St. Peter Lutheran grade school graduates and Paul is an Arlington high school graduate. Just to be sure, everything was properly observed, the twins received extra congratulations on their recent confirmation in St. Peter Lutheran church. Adding her blessings and best wishes to all the boys was their Grandmother Shea of Calumet City.

A graduation celebration with 60 friends and relatives in the Walter Moehling home, 316 W. Douglas, Friday night was shared by the hosts' son, Dean, and Dean's cousin, Gene, son of Kurt Moehling, Algonquin rd. Both young men were graduated that evening from Arlington high school.

Out of town visitors included Walter's and Kurt's sister and family, the Ken Maitlands of Moline, and Mrs. Moehling's sister and family, the Gus Geistfelds, here from Burlington, Wis. for the occasion. Long distance congratulations were phoned to the boys Friday night from Dean's sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Friedrichs of Seattle. Adding their long distance greetings were Dean's brother and sister-in-law, air force Lt. and Mrs. Wayne Moehling of Charleston, S. C.

An aunt and cousins, Mrs. Clarence Fehrman and children, also of St. Paul, are remaining with the Alms for an indefinite visit.

Miss Susie Boyd, 1057 S. Dunton, was guest of honor Saturday afternoon at a farewell luncheon given by nine neighborhood girl friends in the Charles Mallon home, 1041 S. Dunton. Leaving this week with Susie for a new home in Kansas City will be the gift of remembrance presented her by the co-hostesses. Monday night Susie graduated from South junior high school.

MRS. RICHARD Best, 412 N. Dunton, was the guest Saturday afternoon of six local friends at a bon voyage luncheon at Plentywood Farm, Bensenville. No one expected John Martin Maves' early arrival in Northwest Community hospital June 1, least of all the neighbors and friends who had planned a surprise shower for his mother, Mrs. Gordon Maves, 530 N. Walnut. But his unexpected early birth date left no doubt as to the gift colors guests would choose for the June 7 shower.

'School's Out' Sighs Caused Storm, Not Pressure Area

Sidelights
Of Arlington Heights

Arlington Heights, Scarsdale & Estates, Stonegate

Dorothy Meyer, CL 3-2298 Elsie Jedd, CL 3-5982

Saturday afternoon's sudden storm that INverted several outdoor parties was not caused by a low pressure area, no matter what the weatherman says. It was actually set off by the release of a collective "school's out" sigh of relief from teachers as well as students Similar storms mistakenly blamed on the autumnal equinox, are note in September when school reconvenes and Moms sigh happily Graduation parties over the weekend gave special emphasis to a lot of the school's-out business.

Joan Driscoll's celebration with fellow graduates Saturday afternoon was representative of most such parties that day. It was a "cook-out, eat-in" barbecue supper, with the eating-in part as sudden a development as the storm that caused it. Eight Arlington high school alumni had fun anyway in the basement at 728 S. Vail. This fall Joan will attend Coe college in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

A Saturday evening dinner party for 31 local and Chicago friends celebrated Judy Eriksen's eighth grade graduation which became official Monday night at the ceremonies in Arlington high school. Judy, daughter of the Peter Eriksens, 5 W. Orchard, received her diploma from South Junior high school.

ONE OF THE last of the colleges dismissing for the summer is Carroll college in Waukesha where Robin Posselt has just finished her sophomore year. Robin came home to 302 W. Maple Saturday.

Cheryl Patterson, 1011 S. Dunton, was graduated Sunday from Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic school and received the congratulations of 25 suburban and Chicago relatives at a dinner in her home following the graduation.

At 1037 S. Dunton Patty Dralle, also newly graduated from Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic school, was honored by 22 family friends and relatives of the Chicago area. Among the dinner guests was Patty's grandmother, Mrs. Lawrence J. Probst of Chicago, and former neighbors from Berwyn, the Dralles'-home before moving here.

Ingrid Soyat, 16 N. Dunton, was hostess at an open house "signing of the year book" party Thursday night following the graduation in Arlington high school of her 70 guests and herself. The celebration also afforded her classmates a chance to say goodbye to their hostess who leaves with the family this week for a new home in Quonset Point, R.I.

To thoroughly and unforgettably say goodbye, 11 of Ingrid's girl friends remained for a slumber party that climaxed the happy-sad evening. No slumber party worthy of the name includes much time for sleeping and a graduation - farewell - slumber party of course eliminates all sack time in order to allow maximum sociability effort.

INGRID WILL begin her studies at Barry college in Miami, Fla. this fall at about the same time her father, a navy commander, leaves for the South Pole and "Operation: Deep Freeze." At the time of this writing and of the family's packing, otherwise known as "Operation: Steam Cabinet," "Operation: Deep Freeze" sounds intriguing to all concerned. Cmdr. Soyat's duty will be of 14 months duration, however, a long time to be deep frozen.

A wedding - day breakfast in the Milk Pail, Dundee, will climax a round of showers and pre-nuptial parties that began in April for Miss Judy Grose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Grose, 115 W. Euclid, and her fiance, Frank Hollister Mabley of Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

On that day Miss Grose, Mr. Mabley, their attendants and immediate family members will be guests of Mrs. Arthur McDonald of Howell, Mich, a long-time friend of the Mabley family. Mr. Mabley and Miss Grose will be married June 24 in the First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights.

In April Miss Grose was presented to 100 friends of her fiance's family at a tea in her honor given by the groom's mother, Mrs. T. H. Mabley in her Bloomfield Hills home. In Detroit May 20 Miss Grose was feted by Mrs. Mabley's friends at a linen shower for 20 given by Mrs. Laurance VanTuyl.

LOCAL entertaining in Miss Grose's honor began May 29 when two separate groups showered her with gifts at pre-nuptial parties. The first was given by students of Miss Grose who teaches a third grade class at Rupley school, Elk Grove village. The party was completely planned and executed by the children and Miss Grose had no reason to doubt they were 100 per cent in charge; their surprise shower supplanted an afternoon of classes.

There were delicious refreshments and games just right for entertaining teachers and best of all, the presentation of a decorative clock to the bride-to-be.

On the evening of the school shower, 12 local friends of Miss Grose showered her with miscellaneous gifts at a pre-nuptial party in the McHenry home of a longtime friend, Mrs. Wayne Malzahn. Twenty friends of Mrs. Grose next feted her daughter at a kitchen and miscellaneous shower given last Friday evening by Mrs. Fred W. Siegel and Mrs. H. J. Gregg in the Siegel home, 316 E. Park.

MISS GROSE leaves today for Ann Arbor where she will attend the graduation Saturday afternoon of her fiance from the University of Michigan's 5-year school of engineering. Saturday morning she will witness the joint commissioning ceremony of the army, navy and air force ROTC in which Mabley will receive his navy commission.

Also on the weekend's schedule is a picnic to be given tomorrow evening for the bridal couple by one of Miss Grose's attendants, and a former University of Michigan classmate, Miss Sally Lease of Ann Arbor. Miss Grose is an alumni of the university and the couples party will reunite her with several college friends who will at the same time be fare-welling Mabley.

THREE pre-nuptial parties in late May feted the former Patricia Konchar, daughter of the George Konchars, 314 N. Pine, who was married Saturday to Jack Zenner of Oak Park. Thirty-eight local family friends honored the bride-to-be May 21 at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Thomas Thackery III, 612 S. Bristol.

In Lake Zurich where Miss Konchar lived and worked before her marriage, 20 friends of that area showered her with miscellaneous gifts at a party May 24. May 28 the groom's sister was hostess at a pre-nuptial shower in Libertyville for her future sister-in-law at which 25 members of the Zenner family feted Miss Konchar.

A reception in the home of the bride followed the wedding in the Lutheran Church of Libertyville. Mr. and Mrs. Zenner will make their home in Lake Zurich.

Highland, following their commencement exercise. Invitations went out to all graduating seniors and about 200 were able to attend the outdoor buffet supper party.

Mrs. Williams is still aglow with pride in her daughter's guests, all of whom, she reports, were delightful opposites to the teenagers making current headlines with their post - graduate misdeeds. "I've never been so proud of any group of kids - pardon me, I mean ladies and gentlemen - as I was of ours last Friday night. They should make the headlines.'

Record Budget Set For Township Roads

Highway Commissioner Oscar Everson this week pledged to support his all-time high budget request by putting Wheeling township roads in "top shape."

The promise came as a preface to a public hearing on the 1961-62 road and bridge fund budget scheduled for Monday, June 26.

The budget, now available for the public's inspection at the township hall, 1818 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights, estimates expenditures for the year at $176,400, a record sum.

LAST YEAR'S disbursements for road maintenance totaled $67,420. Everson says he can justify the 165 per cent increase indicated in the new budget.

"Roads in the township's unincorporated areas are in terrible shape," he explained. "The job, as I see it, is to take the funds available and put these roads in good condition."

According to the proposed budget, receipts this year will total $176,780. Everson believes he can make use of all but $380 of this income.

Chief criticism of Everson's predecessor in office, Barney Runge, was that the latter did not use available funds to keep roads in adequate condition. In fact, residents claim Runge often attributed his failure to repair roads by saying funds were not available.

EVERSON HAS hired four full-time employees to assist him in tending to the roads. He has also transferred all his records to the township hall, taken an inventory of equipment, and arranged to take calls through the township office, CL 9-3551.

Likely to be questioned at the June 26 hearing is Everson's estimate that he'll need $3,500 for legal services. Last year, legal fees amounted to $695.

In a conversation with the Herald Wednesday, Everson said he budgeted the $3,500 for "protection," pointing out that five cases of litigation are now pending and that it would be difficult to determine their exact cost.

The budget hearing will begin at 8 p.m. in the township hall. (ACM

Teenagers Must Obtain Social Security Cards

•Teenagers, are you planning to work this summer? Do you have a social security card? If you plan to work and you don't have a social security card, you should apply for one without delay, according to a reminder issued this week by the social security administration.

Usually, the administration says, a prospective employer wants to see an applicant's social security card before he hires. He needs to copy the information on it to report your earnings properly and to satisfy government requirements.

IF YOU'VE had a social security card and lost it, ask for another card with your original number. Even if you don't know your number, the social security administration can find out what it is. Having more than one number causes confusion, delay and loss in later years.

If you never had a social security card or if you had a card and lost it, visit your nearest social security office.

Cardinal Meyer Dedicates New Holy Family Hospital

The Most Reverend Albert Cardinal Meyer, Archbishop of Chicago, officiated in ceremonies dedicating the new Holy Family hospital, June 9.

He was assisted by a guard of honor composed of members of the Des Plaines, Glenview, Arlington Heights, and Wheeling Councils of the Knights of Columbus.

The 204 bed hospital, located at 100 N. River rd., Des Plaines, was open for public inspection Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

FOLLOWING the blessing of the building, the Cardinal addressed the guests in the hospital lobby. Solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was celebrated by Cardinal Meyer.

Cardinal Meyer stated during dedication services "The ceremony that we have just completed in blessing this building gives emphasis to the place of God in the thoughts of the Sisters who are responsible for bringing this hospital into existence."

The Rev. John A. McLoraine, pastor of St. Emily parish, Mount Prospect served as a sub-deacon for the ceremonies.

The new hospital is sponsored by the sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth. It is open to all faiths.

SISTER M. Altisima, administrator said "this hospital is planned to build in the future, a resident building for more than 500 doctors, nurses and other personnel staffing the hospital when it is in full operation."

The new hospital, of contemporary design, was built at a cost of $5.5 million. The chapel is located in a wing at the rear of the hospital. The altar is made of Italian marble.

All rooms face on the outside of the hospital giving a view of the forest preserve.

New County Flag Raised by Duffy

John J. Duffy, president of the board of commissioners of Cook county, raised for the first time Cook county's newly created flag on Tuesday, June 13, one day ahead of Flag Day.

It is being flown alongside the U. S. and Chicago flags over the County Building's east entrance on Clark st.

The new flag was provided for in a county board resolution introduced by the late board president, Dan Ryan, and adopted March 14.

This first flag is handmade, although duplicates which later will be flown at the county's institutions, including County and Oak Forest hospitals, will be factory made.

PORTIONS OF the flag's design were patterned after Frank Wenderski's prize winning Cook county seal design, adopted as the seal last June 27.

Wenderski, 17, an art major, is finishing his junior year at Mather high school in Chicago.

Final draft of the flag design, including coloration, was made by Clarence C. Higgins, a county highway map department cartographer and artist.

The flag's colors are blue, maroon, and gold, with a white background. In its center is an outline of the map of Cook county, showing township lines.

Across the face of the map is a scroll bearing the inscription "January 1831," designating the month and year in which Cook county was created by the Illinois legislature.

Mounted on a blue band encircling the central design are 38 small stars, representing the 30 townships within Cook county outside of the city of Chicago, and the eight townships within Chicago. At the apex of the circle is a 39th star, slightly larger than the others, representing Chicago, the county's seat of government. (B8

Q. I am always uncertain about the lettuce on which a salad is served. I like lettuce but wonder if it is really proper to eat it.

A. Since the lettuce is as much a part of the salad as any other of the ingredients, it is perfectly proper for you to eat it.

Q. When a person who is making an introduction does not speak a name clearly, and it is very important that you know the name, of whom do you ask that the name be repeated?

A. Ask the person introduced, not the one who has made the introduction.

Q. Even if the wedding is to be a very small and informal one, would it be all right for the bride to wear a white bridal veil?

A. Yes, provided, of course, that it is not her second marriage.

Q. When one has a serious illness in one's family, and a friend says, "I am sorry," what should one's response be?

A. "Thank you" is sufficient.

Cardinal Meyer Dedicates New Holy Family Hospital

The Most Reverend Albert Cardinal Meyer, Archbishop of Chicago, officiated in ceremonies dedicating the new Holy Family hospital, June 9.

He was assisted by a guard of honor composed of members of the Des Plaines, Glenview, Arlington Heights, and Wheeling Councils of the Knights of Columbus.

The 204 bed hospital, located at 100 N. River rd., Des Plaines, was open for public inspection Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

FOLLOWING the blessing of the building, the Cardinal addressed the guests in the hospital lobby. Solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was celebrated by Cardinal Meyer.

Cardinal Meyer stated during dedication services "The ceremony that we have just completed in blessing this building gives emphasis to the place of God in the thoughts of the Sisters who are responsible for bringing this hospital into existence."

The Rev. John A. McLoraine, pastor of St. Emily parish, Mount Prospect served as a sub-deacon for the ceremonies.

The new hospital is sponsored by the sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth. It is open to all faiths.

SISTER M. Altisima, administrator said "this hospital is planned to build in the future, a resident building for more than 500 doctors, nurses and other personnel staffing the hospital when it is in full operation."

The new hospital, of contemporary design, was built at a cost of $5.5 million. The chapel is located in a wing at the rear of the hospital. The altar is made of Italian marble.

All rooms face on the outside of the hospital giving a view of the forest preserve.

New County Flag Raised by Duffy

John J. Duffy, president of the board of commissioners of Cook county, raised for the first time Cook county's newly created flag on Tuesday, June 13, one day ahead of Flag Day.

It is being flown alongside the U. S. and Chicago flags over the County Building's east entrance on Clark st.

The new flag was provided for in a county board resolution introduced by the late board president, Dan Ryan, and adopted March 14.

This first flag is handmade, although duplicates which later will be flown at the county's institutions, including County and Oak Forest hospitals, will be factory made.

PORTIONS OF the flag's design were patterned after Frank Wenderski's prize winning Cook county seal design, adopted as the seal last June 27.

Wenderski, 17, an art major, is finishing his junior year at Mather high school in Chicago.

Final draft of the flag design, including coloration, was made by Clarence C. Higgins, a county highway map department cartographer and artist.

The flag's colors are blue, maroon, and gold, with a white background. In its center is an outline of the map of Cook county, showing township lines.

Across the face of the map is a scroll bearing the inscription "January 1831," designating the month and year in which Cook county was created by the Illinois legislature.

Mounted on a blue band encircling the central design are 38 small stars, representing the 30 townships within Cook county outside of the city of Chicago, and the eight townships within Chicago. At the apex of the circle is a 39th star, slightly larger than the others, representing Chicago, the county's seat of government. (B8

Q. I am always uncertain about the lettuce on which a salad is served. I like lettuce but wonder if it is really proper to eat it.

A. Since the lettuce is as much a part of the salad as any other of the ingredients, it is perfectly proper for you to eat it.

Q. When a person who is making an introduction does not speak a name clearly, and it is very important that you know the name, of whom do you ask that the name be repeated?

A. Ask the person introduced, not the one who has made the introduction.

Q. Even if the wedding is to be a very small and informal one, would it be all right for the bride to wear a white bridal veil?

A. Yes, provided, of course, that it is not her second marriage.

Q. When one has a serious illness in one's family, and a friend says, "I am sorry," what should one's response be?

A. "Thank you" is sufficient.

Noted Organist Guest Performer

Lynn Lakin, well-known organist and teacher, was the guest artist of the Northwest chapter of the Hammond Organ society Tuesday at the Lyon and Healy store, 708 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights.

A resident of Arlington Heights for many years, Lakin performed at the dedication of the American Legion hall and at the opening of the Lyon and Healy store in Arlington Heights. He now teaches at East Maine Township and West Maine Township high schools.

Music has been the predominating factor in his life since he was eight years old, his mother being a concert pianist. He received his degree of music from Franklin college, Indiana.

LAKIN WAS among the earliest enthusiasts for the rendition of popular music at the organ and has long been affiliated with Hammond Organ company and Lyon and Healy.

Currently on the market, "Organ—Audio and Visual" by Lakin, is a self-explanatory book that included a record with his songs that have been previously published.

Hope, Humor, Creativity

Mankind's Needs Are Cited by Graduates

Hope, humor and creativity were the three virtues pointed out to Arlington high school graduates last Friday in commencement ceremonies at the school.

The speakers were not school officials, leading laymen, businessmen, educators or clergy. The three main program speakers were graduating students Michael Gould, Claudia Griesbach and Louis Garner Simmons.

Gould praised a "sense of humor" as an "almost magical thing." He told classmates humor "helps give one a balanced, stabilized attitude towards life" but warned while life should not be looked upon as "too black or too serious" neither should it be viewed as "all white or on continuous escapade." He noted a sense of humor "keeps us from going to extremes in either direction."

THE STUDENT speaker climaxed his speech with the poem, "This world is not so bad a world, As some would like to make it; Though whether good or whether bad, Depends on how we take it."

Simmons titled his speech "Beneficiaries of the Future." He told his fellow graduates that while they had been called the generation of the future they were now the "beneficiaries of the present." He pointed out the problems abroad in the world today but stressed that there is "hope to aid man."

"We must never lose sight of that hope," Simmons said, "for the man who has life has hope; and the man who has hope has everything."

The only girl of the speaker trio, Miss Griesbach stressed "the world is full of unlimited opportunities for him who has the eyes to see them." She told the audience their first challenge "lies within ourselves." Emphasizing that "each one is different and useful in his own way," Miss Griesbach said "creativity includes all." By "operating as creative individuals" the new generation could "write the greatest poem, build the best railroad and think of the perfect state" she noted.

THE CLOSING statement made by Miss Griesbach summarized the tone of advice given to graduates across the country, "We make our world —and there we live."

Diplomas were distributed to the graduates by Daryl B. Oldaker and John A. Hass, president and secretary of Arlington-Prospect district 214 high school board of education. The names of the graduates were announced by Arlington Principal E. Eugene Oliver and Assistant Principal Bruno W. Waara.

The class was presented to the school board by Superintendent Harold L. Slichenmyer. The introduction was acknowledged in a brief speech by Oldaker.

Nike Base To Observe Anniversary

Wednesday the United States Army celebrated its 186th anniversary.

The 45th Artillery Brigade (Air Defense), with headquarters in Arlington Heights, celebrated the anniversary Wednesday with the baking and consuming of a huge cake in honor of a 186-year-old Army. Troops were invited to have the cake at the 45th Brigade mess hall during coffee call.

The Army's birthday, June 14, also happens to be a nationally observed day of even greater significance, Flag Day. In pledging their allegiance to the flag of their country, communities all across the Nation held parades and programs to honor the flag.

ARLINGTON Heights and surrounding communities held flag day observances Sunday. For the third consecutive year, these observances were conducted by the Arlington Heights Elks lodge 2048.

The program consisted of a parade with ceremonies following. Headquarters, 45th Artillery Brigade, was represented in the parade with a marching unit of troops, drum and bugle corps, color guard and a mobile missile display.

Following the parade, ceremonies were held at Recreation park in Arlington Heights. The address of the day at the ceremonies was given by Brig. Gen. K. L. Davis, the new commanding general of the 45th Artillery Brigade.

Another good reason for Confidence in a growing America

YOUR FUTURE RIDES HIGH ON THIS CURVE!

If you're uncertain about what lies ahead, take a good look at the white line. It represents America's past production rate and economists' estimates of future production, with the peaks and valleys smoothed out. Over the long pull the curve keeps rising.

In fact, American production more than doubles every 20 years.

You can expect even faster growth during the Sixties. Because at the present rate, the $12 billion a year we're spending on research and development may well reach $22 billion by 1971. The outpouring of new products and processes will be in proportion. Research is the fountainhead of progress. Ready now are such innovations as foods preserved by radiation, cleaning with sound waves, machines that can translate foreign languages, and solid radio sets without wires. And many more are on the way.

Judging by past experience, two million more businesses will be established to make and distribute our growing production during the next 25 years. Whole industries will emerge to turn out the new products that are coming from the laboratories. America has a brilliant future but to realize it fully, we must all work together for the common good.

Infant Receives Colorful Orthordox Rites

Unusual Service Performed Here

by HELENE BRISTOL

Nikolay Vasilevich Senofsky was christened last week.

Nikolay Vasilevich also was confirmed and took his first communion last week.

Nikolay Vasilevich is six months old.

Heir to the colorful pageantry and elaborate ceremonial liturgy of the Eastearn Orthodox church, Nikolay is one of the newest members of the Russian Orthodox Greek Catholic Church of America with 755,000 members.

The double sacrament service of baptism and confirmation was performed last Thursday, June 8, by the baby's grandfather, The Very Rev. Archpriest Nicholas V. Senofsky of St. Michael's Russian Orthodox church, Wilmington, Del.

THE SERVICE was held in the Rolling Meadows home of the baby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William N. Senofsky of 4100 Jay lane.

On Sunday, the infant received his first holy communion in the Russian Orthodox cathedral in Chicago.

Eastern Orthodox custom differs sharply from the practices of other Christian churches in the administration of the sacrament of communion to infants. When a family attends church the entire group partakes of Holy Communion with children of all ages, including babes in arms, approaching the altar together.

The christening - confirmation service for Nicholas William (as he will be known) was witnessed by more than 30 friends and family members. Almost the entire service was sung by Fr. Senofsky in a rich bass voice, with his wife singing harmony liturgical responses.

AT THE CLOSE of the service the lavish champagne dinner was served, with the Russian custom of singing enthusiastically carried on to the early morning hours.

Godparents for the christening were Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Bristol, 4105 Jay lane, Rolling Meadows. Although not Eastern Orthodox church members their membership in the Episcopal church, which has inter-communion with the Orthodox church, permitted them to act as sponsors. The godmother holds the child during the service on her right arm until the actual baptism is performed. At that point the baby is transferred to the right arm of the godfather for the major part of the service.

The altar is decorated with candles and the godparents hold a candle during most of the ceremony. According to Fr. Senofsky the "pure flame of the candle signifies the purity of heart of the faithful."

During the baptismal service the child is annointed with oil blessed by the priest. The oil is placed on the forehead and chest, both ears, both hands and the soles of the feet. This is accompanied by prayers commending the child "Unto the healing of soul and body and the hearing of faith." The prayers note that God's hands have made him and fashioned him and ask that the child may walk in the way of the commandments.

A repetition of this annointing takes place during the "confirmation" portion of the service. The oil used in this instance is special myrrh blessed by several Orthodox bishops and untouched by female hands.

THE MYRRH used for young Nicholas William is more than 45 years old and was made in Russia during the time of the czar. It was made in one of the leading monasteries in the Moscow area and was prepared by a group of Russian bishops, with each adding special scents and flowers to the mixture. A very limited amount of this special oil remains. Fr. Senofsky saved a small lot for the christening services of his seven grandchildren.

Chance of receiving more myrrh fom Russia is very slight today. The Russian Orthodox church in the United States does not recognize the current Patriarch, or church head, in Moscow, since the church in Russia is under communist control. The American synod of the Russian church is governed by a council of bishops here "temporarily," according to Fr. Senofsky, "until the church in Russia is free."

The last Moscow Patriarch recognized by the church in the United States was Patriarch Thikon. He had served as an archbishop of the American church for several years before his elevation as patriarch. As head of the Russian church he was slain by the communists in 1917. The split with the American Russian churches followed.

A bishop appointed by the so-called church authorities in Russia took over St. Nicholas cathedral in New York in 1926, ousting the Americans from their head cathedral. Litigation for more than 30 years followed, with final possession of the cathedral given to the Soviet bishop. A new cathedral has now been established by the American church on Second st. in New York following the use of one of Trinity Episcopal chapels as a temporary cathedral.

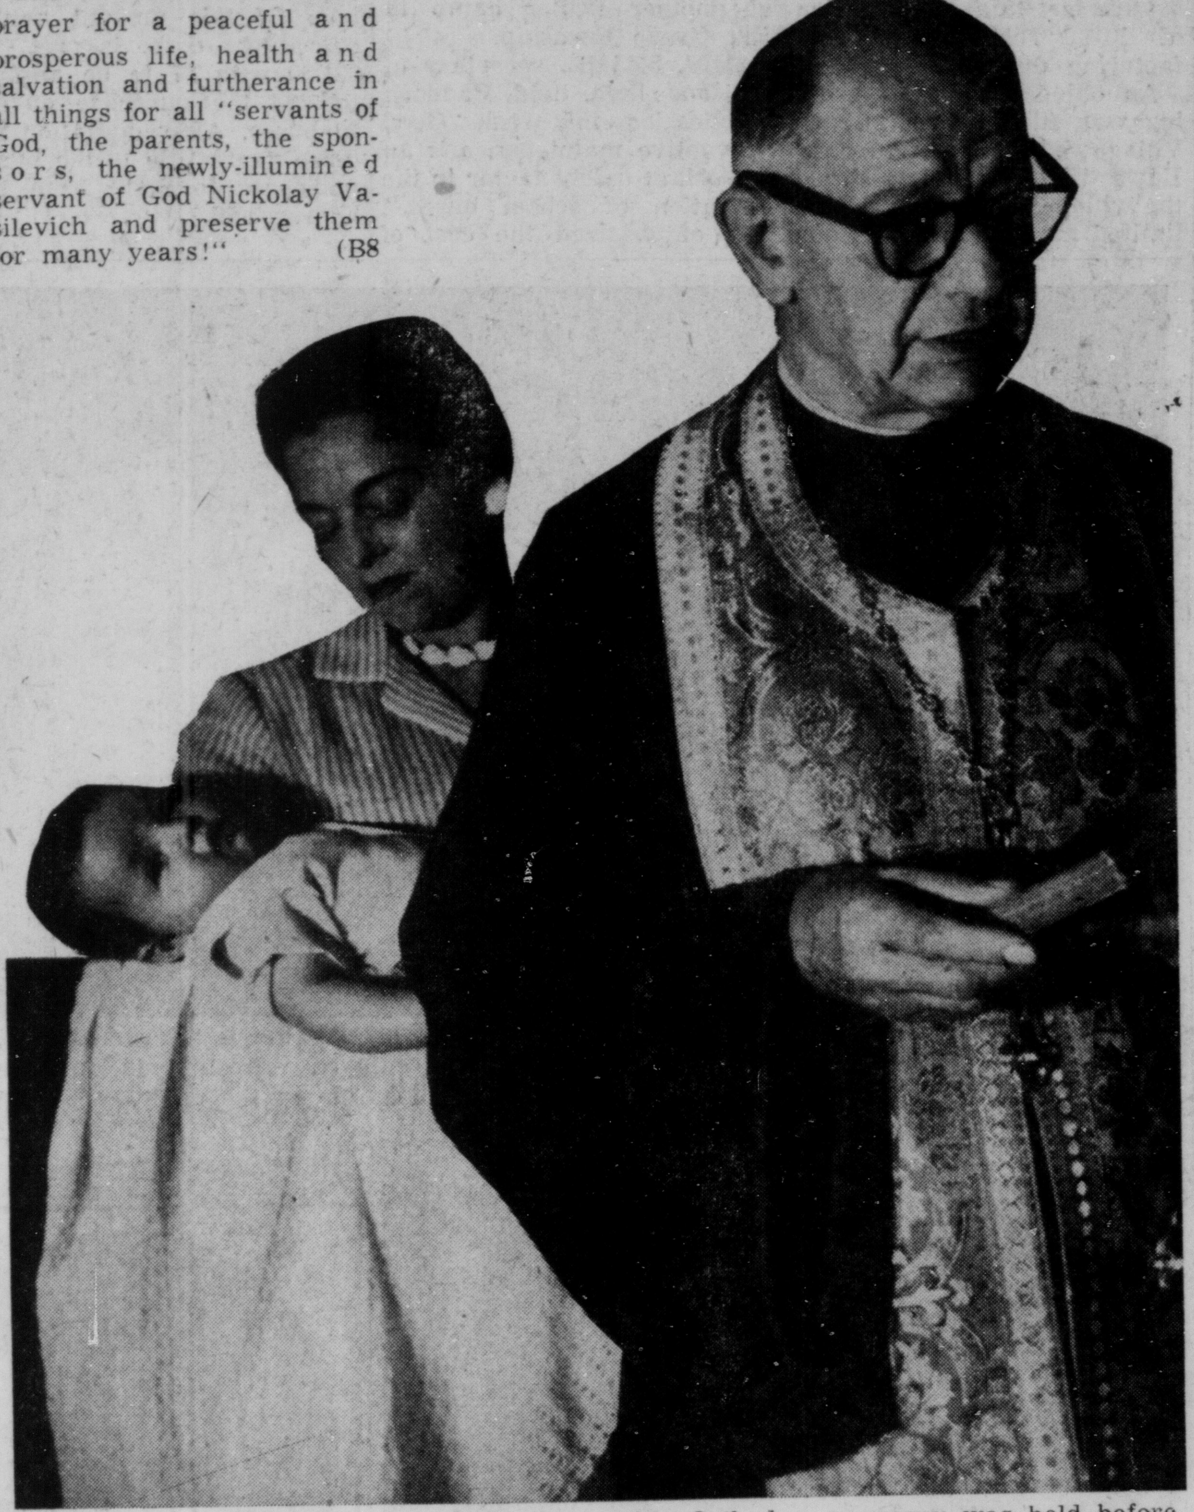
THE ORTHODOX church is known for its colorful ceremonial liturgy. In addition to the annointing during the christening several other symbolic acts are included. The godparents are asked three times if they renounce Satan, if they subject themselves to Christ and if they believe in Christ. The godfather is asked three times if he has given himself to Christ and if he bows to Christ. In most Christian churches a single question on the Godparents' belief is asked.

The priest, godparents and baby walk around the altar three times in a circle as a symbol of the world without end for the child: "As he is baptized in Christ so shall he live forever in Christ."

The baby's hair is cut three times in the "Name of the Father, Son and Holy Spirit," as a demonstration of his servitude to God.

CUSTOM dictates in many Orthodox churches that the Godfather buy a new set of clothes for the baby. The godfather or godmother supplies at least a white shawl or length of white linen or fine cotton. This is wrapped around the child immediately following the baptism with the words, "The servant of God Nickolay Vasilevich is clothed with the robe of righteousness in the Name of the Father, and the Son, and the Holy Spirit." The response summarizes the feeling of the whole service — "Vouchsafe unto me the Robe of Light, O Thou Who clothest Thyself with light as with a garment, Christ Our God, plenteous in mercy."

The service closes with a prayer for a peaceful and prosperous life, health and salvation and furtherance in all things for all "servants of God, the parents, the sponsors, the newly-illumined servant of God Nickolay Vasilevich and preserve them for many years!" (B8



NIKOLAY VASILEVICH Senofsky, six months, was calm and peaceful during the long combination christening and confirmation ceremony performed by his grandfather The Very Rev. Archpriest Nicholas V. Senofsky. The candle-lit Russian Orthodox ceremony was held before a group of more than thirty at the home of Nikolay's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William N. Senofsky, 4100 Jay lane, Rolling Meadows. Godmother was Mrs. Robert J. Bristol, Rolling Meadows. (B8 CLAD IN PURPLE ROBE with a richly embroidered sto around his neck, The Very Rev. Archpriest Nicholas V. Senofsky of St. Michael's Russian Orthodox church, Wilmington, Del., performed the baptism and confirmation of his grandson and namesake, Nikolay Vasilevich, last week. The rank of Archpriest is similar to that of monsignor in the Roman Catholic church. The altar set up in the Rolling Meadows home of the baby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William N. Senofsky, included flowers, decorated candles and an icon of Christ blessed during their marriage ceremony in Fr. Senofsky's church. The heavy gold cross worn by Fr. Senofsky is an antique gold cross made Russia and is the only one of its design still in existence. (B8

Legal Needs Aired

Trustees Nix Plan For BOLI Attorney

Arlington Heights trustees Monday voiced disagreement with one of four recommendations made March 17 by a committee appointed to study legal needs of the village.

In a poll o ftrustees taken by Village President John G. Woods, sentiment was 3-1 against the committee's suggestion that the board of local improvements be given authority to hire its own attorney.

"I'd like to see the board of trustees keep the power to retain and discharge legal counsel for the board of local improvements," Woods said.

HE INDICATED trustees should maintain responsibility for hiring the BOLI attorney because "it gives the village board the means of control necessary for policy continuity."

Taking exception to Woods' view was Trustee Eugene Schlickman, one of three board members who prepared the committee report.

Schlickman said he felt giving the BOLI authority to retain an attorney would clearly separate it from the board of trustees, reasoning the two bodies should be separated.

Agreeing with Woods were Trustees William Moore, William Sauer and Norval Stephens. Absent from the informal board meeting were Trustees Richard Glantz and Samuel Wit.

SCHLICKMAN, Wit and former trustee Melvin Kurtz formed the legal committee. They recommended the BOLI be allowed to hire its own counsel for special assessment projects, they said, because of the BOLI's dissatisfaction with the services of the present village attorney.

At a joint meeting of the BOLI and trustees in March, Harold Klingner, improvement board president, asked trustees' permission to hire another attorney.

He said the village attorney "apparently doesn't have the time" to properly serve the BOLI. Cited as an example of the attorney's lack of time was the Miner st. improvement project, which has been in the works since 1957. (A

SCHLICKMAN, Wit and former trustee Melvin Kurtz formed the legal committee. They recommended the BOLI be allowed to hire its own counsel for special assessment projects, they said, because of the BOLI's dissatisfaction with the services of the present village attorney.

At a joint meeting of the BOLI and trustees in March, Harold Klingner, improvement board president, asked trustees' permission to hire another attorney.

He said the village attorney "apparently doesn't have the time" to properly serve the BOLI. Cited as an example of the attorney's lack of time was the Miner st. improvement project, which has been in the works since 1957. (A

High School Buses Still Need a 'Home'

Buses for Arlington-Prospect high schools are still without a "home."

Cook county board of commissioners last Monday concurred in the recommendation of the zoning board of appeals to deny an application for rezoning which would have permitted the school bus operator to erect a maintenance garage and provide parking space for the buses.

Lee A. Stahl, high school bus operator since September, presently parks the school buses on the Prospect high school parking lot. Preventive maintenance is done in the open even during winter weather.

THE FOUR-ACRE property owned by Stahl for the proposed bus depot and garage is located on the west side of Busse rd. approximately 1250 feet south of the intersection of Busse and Algonquin rds. in Elk Grove township.

The zoning board recommended that the zoning change be denied since it was a case of "spot zoning," which it defined as a classification of small, detached areas different from classifications accorded adjoining lands.

Stahl had sought rezoning from R-4 single family residence on lots of 10,000 square feet to a classification of M-1 restricted manufacturing district.

An objection to the rezoning was filed by Elk Grove Village by Village Attorney Edward Hofert. Hofert stated the village was afraid the limited manufacturing zoning might lead to establishment of another trailer camp in Elk Grove township.

MRS. STAHL, secretary of the bus firm, told Paddock Publications this week "Good preventive maintenance is an important safety factor in the operation of school buses." She emphasized the cost of property already zoned for industry was "prohibitive" for a school bus firm which is dependent on local and state school funds for its operation.

Stahl was the successful low bidder for the operation and purchase of the Arlington - Prospect high school buses last fall. His operating bid was $28.50 per day per bus. Of this amount actual operating cost is set at $21.50 with $7 to be applied toward the purchase of the 30 buses. After operation for three years title to the buses will pass to Stahl from the high school.

THE SCHOOL district purchased 30 new Superior body-Chevrolet chassis buses last year when the former bus operator went out of business.

At the time the contract was signed by Stahl and the school district it was stated the principal problem in the current operation of the buses is the location of a suitable terminal and maintenance garage. The parking site must be as close to the schools as practical and local zoning regulations have limited the selection of property.

LITTLE LADIES dressed up in mothers' clothes display the prizes they won recently in the Arlington Heights park district's Little Madames tea party. Prizes were awarded for the best dressed gals, who also enjoyed refreshments and the viewing of a film at the party. (A

THE SAVING WAY

Teach Thrift to Your Children

Charles W. Gleason, president of the Savings Bank Association of New York State, interviewed by Sylvia Porter, newspaper financial columnist, gave this five-point program for teaching children how to save:

1. Start when the child seems ready. Most children, psychologists tell us, are ready to learn the savings habit around the age of eight. Delaying too long makes the habit more difficult to acquire.
2. Be sure the money is earned money. Encourage odd jobs as a source of earnings, or give your youngster an allowance in return for help with household tasks. Only when the money is earned will he learn that honest effort is needed to gain rewards.
3. Set up a percentage figure, and have the youngster set aside that percentage regularly out of all income.
4. Help your child to plan his purchases out of savings and use the purchases to illustrate the difference between cash and credit buying. Example: Show him what carrying charges will add to the cost of a bicycle, and suggest that by saving the full amount he'll be that much money ahead.
5. Have your child open a savings account. It's safe, interest makes savings grow faster, and it teaches the child the adult way to handle money.

United Brethren Church Meeting Slated in Olney

Six hundred ministers and laymen, representing 300 Evangelical United Brethren churches in Illinois, will gather at Olney June 20 to 22 for the 117th annual session of the Illinois Conference.

Bishop Harold R. Heininger, the episcopal official of the church's northwest area, with headquarters in Minneapolis, Minn., will convene the conference. Delegates from local churches include Pastor Fred L. Fanthorpe, ministerial delegate, Church of Our Lord, Arlington Heights, and Robert Schalk, lay delegate.

One of the keynote speakers for the conference session will be Bishop Voight of Springfield, a bishop of the Methodist church. Other speakers include Nicholas Hood of Detroit, Mich., and Bishop Heininger, who will bring the major portion of the meditations.

One of the high points anticipated in this year's conference will be a frank and open discussion by the delegates of the conference of a proposed merger of the Methodist and the Evangelical United Brethren churches.

ALL CONFERENCES of the denomination, at the request of the Commission on Church Federation and Union, have placed this question on their agenda.

A full review and consideration of the "Faith at Work" program, which was initiated in 1960, will also be carried out by the members of the council. The program secured financial resources for the conference of $70,000, in addition to its former established budget. The program is being carried through in 1961, and the anticipation is for even greater success.

These additional resources have made it possible for the conference to establish a superintendent of missions, a program of group insurance for ministers, financial support for North Central college in Naperville, and for Indiana Central college in Indianapolis. (A

Highlights of the convention were the annual parade in downtown Rockford Saturday afternoon, and the colorful pageant of drums in Beyer stadium Saturday evening.

Those attending from the local auxiliary were Shirley McDougall, Margaret Heidemann, Elsie Doyle, Hester Kopplin and Anne Heinemann. (A

Shirt Sleeve Supper for Church

The Men's chapter of the Arlington Heights First Presbyterian church will hold its final meeting of the season Monday with an informal shirt sleeves dinner at 6:45 p.m.

The evening's program will feature N. R. Swartwout, nationally - known chalk artist, who will present his picture story, "God's Cathedral."

Through the use of chalks, colored filter lights and black light, and with a background of sacred music and appropriate narration, he will offer a moving and unusual evening.

THIS IS A hobby which Swartwout perfected in the spring of 1945. He makes some of his own chalks because they are not commercially available.

He draws two pictures at once and achieves the effect of one fading and the other glowing brilliantly through his use of lights and filters. Swartwout has appeared before Kiwanis, Rotary, women's clubs and churches of many denominations in more than 20 states.

All men of the church and the community are invited. Reservations may be made at the church before Monday.

NOW...a Sure Cure for WALL-CRACKS!

For generations, folks have been trying to repair wall-cracks by filling them, but always give up in despair. And no wonder. Walls constantly expand and contract with temperature and humidity changes. Brittle crack-fillers compress or pull apart, and open-up or fall out. Until Tuff-Kote, the only way to make a permanent repair was replacing the entire wall.

CRACKS DISAPPEAR FOREVER

Now, however, this problem is solved once and for all by a simple application of Tuff-Kote that spans cracks with a thin, pliable, high-strength patch, instead of filling them. This convenient repair is invisible when painted, stronger that the wall itself, and does the job forever. No chipping, no wire mesh, no fuss or muss. There has never been anything like it. Outstanding advantages for many other home uses, too, indoors and out. Everyone is an expert with Tuff-Kote!

St. Paul Federal Savings and Loan Association of Chicago will celebrate the formal grand opening of its enlarged, block-long quarters Saturday, and continuing through July 15.

The $1.5 million addition at 6700 W. North avenue, represents a space increase of 143 per cent, from 31,500 to 76,700 square feet. All space in the additional two floors and full basement will be devoted to St. Paul operations, in contrast to the rental of the original second floor as a medical center.

SPECIAL activities during the celebration will include appearances by well-known entertainers, free contests for both adults and youngsters, gifts for savings accounts and daily prizes. A 1961 automobile will be the first prize in the adult contest.

The first day, June 17, will feature a colorful parade through the neighborhood beginning at 9 a.m. This will be followed by ribbon-cutting ceremonies, with high officials of Chicago and suurban communities attending. Concluding the morning's activities will be posting of the colors in the center lobby of the association.

With over $125,000,000 of assets, St. Paul is now the fifth largest savings and loan in Illinois and 59th among all associations nationally. It has been in business for over 72 years and moved to North avenue in December 1953. Prior to that time, it had been located at 2116 W. 22nd st.

All departments have been expanded, and new vault space, office area and conference rooms have been added. There are 32 teller windows including three for drive-in customers, one for youngsters, and a walk-up window for service after regular hours. A customer lounge section and new children's savings center with Kiddie theater have been installed in the main savings lobby.

A DATA processing center on the second floor has the latest electronic equipment for accurate, fast and efficient account handling. This room contains 2,000 square feet of space, is completely soundproofed and its floor is raised and cushioned to provide the necessary resiliency for the super-sensitive devices. (BB

What Makes Building Expensive?

Economic Survey Pinpoints Cost of Home Construction

What makes a home cost so much?

Ten per cent of the builder members of Home Builders Association of Chicagoland have been surveyed by the Builders Economic Council of NAHB, as well as 700 builders throughout the nation, in an attempt to pinpoint the reasons for high home costs.

Chicago single-family house starts are up 2 per cent over last year, while other large cities are showing drops. Eighty per cent of the building permits issued in May were for private construction.

Yet, inventories of unsold new homes stand much higher than one year ago, according to the Council, indicating that the potential home buyer is and will remain price conscious. In spite of a lowered interest rate from 5½ per cent to 5¼ per cent, the lowering has not resulted in an increased volume of sales.

UNNECESSARY home construction costs concern the members of HBAC who do not wish to see the home price-tag go any higher. Don Dise, president of the association, states, "The builder finds himself in a spot with the home costing more and more due to the increased cost of taxes, increased cost of money, increased labor costs, municipal fees, and, of course cost of complying with code requirements and zoning restrictions."

Ralph Finitzo of Finitzo Brothers, an HBAC builder, says, "We could cut the cost of a home 10 per cent if we could use the latest materials and techniques such as copper plumbing, aluminum, prefabrication, or component parts, yet codes in some municipalities forbid these cost-saving features."

Conflicts in building - code interpretations raise the home cost still more.

Albert E. Riley, president of the Hasbrook corporation now developing 532 homes in Arlington Heights, says, "We wanted to use the cost-saving trusses in the Hasbrook Home development in Arlington Heights. Since this was not specifically provided for in the building code, we had to obtain special permission from the village board for their use. We spent one year accomplishing this [illegible] which time we were forced to build 100 houses w[illegible] truss members instead of the normally acceptable 2 x 4 truss members at an estimated additional excess cost to us of, approximately, $10,000. A new builing commissioner recently caused a re-examination of the truss design to be made and emloyed an outside engineering consultant to make the analysis. He now wishes to bill us for the cost and has threatened to stop the job unless we pay for the engineering consulting service. In view of the fact that we have been using these trusses for four years and they are a nationally known truss design acceptable to FHA and VA, we feel that this re-appraisal constitutes an unwarrented harassment. This typifies a prime example of the burden of inadequate codes and code administration placed upon the builder."

SHOULD the extravagance created by obsolete codes relax, the home cost is raised from another direction: raising labor costs. When a 17 cents an hour wage increase became effective June 1, carpenters wages rose to $4.08 an hour, plumbers to $4.20, bricklayers to $4.40, painters to $3.82½, and roofers to $4.32.

"This wage increase will add another 2 per cent to the cost of a home," says Erie Jones, executive vice president, of HBAC.

Labor regulations regarding installation can increase the cost still more by approving only certain methods of application. Finitzo maintains "If we could apply dry wall our way and labor would withdraw their objections, we could save the home owner money. We could also cut the cost if labor would give us more freedom in the electrical and plumbing fields."

Future home costs could become still higher from another direction: taxes. A tax bill adding a 3½ per cent tax to all materials which go into a home is now being considered by the State Legislature

Previously, the home price did not contain any tax items on materials for two reasons. The owner was eliminated because his tax contribution was already made in the form of property taxes. Taxing the materials used in the construction of his home would have resulted in the ownet paying a double tax load on the same property.

THE BUILDER, himself, did not have to include sales tax on the construction materials in the final price because the courts rule that the contractor is not a retailer.

At present, with the legislature considering extending the 3½ sales tax to businesses not now covered, the building contractor will be charged a sales tax on all materials used.

"Materials comprise, approximately, 50 per cent of the cost of the home," says Kimball Hill, developer of Rolling Meadows and chairman of the legislative committee of HBAC. He adds, "If this is passed, it will accordingly apply to the construction industry and will apply to the materials that go into a home so that a $20,000 home must be sold for $20,350 to include the 3½ per cent sales tax charged the builder on the $10,000 worth of construction supplies."

The Home Builders Association of Chicagoland vigorously opposes this sales tax to the contractor because the 3½ per cent raise starts a chain reaction in which the homeowners would pay taxes taxed upon a tax-caused increase. The owner bears the 3½ per cent sales tax in his initial purchase. The higher purchase price results in a greater amount of interest paid to the lending agencies to cover the tax-inflated price. The increased price tag resulting from the sales tax leads to a higher property tax. The owner thus pays an unjust compound tax on his purchase.

A special group of Chicago builders are meeting with legislators next week to present the viewpoint of the association regarding this proposed tax bill. (BB

Newspapers Top Ad Medium for Supers

Newspapers continue to be the advertising medium most used by super markets, a survey of the membership of Super Market Institute, representing more than 16,000 retail food outlets, has revealed.

Virtually all (97 per cent) of the SMI members responding to a survey conducted by Curt Kornblau, research director of the trade association, report they advertised in newspapers. Some 90 per cent of the super market companies spent more money with newspapers than in any other medium; 81 per cent spent more on newspapers than on all other media combined, and 52 per cent spent more than three-quarters of their total advertising budget on newspapers.

THE CURRENT survey showed that 62 per cent of the super market companies used radio, 60 per cent printed and distributed handbills, and 32 per cent advertised on television. Three years ago, when this subject was last investigated by SMI's research division, 96 per cent of the companies used newspapers, 58 per cent radio, 49 per cent handbills and circulars, and 27 per cent television.

Thursday is still the most popular day of super advertisers, as 66 per cent of the companies advertise on that day. (BB

Completing a 7-week southern cruise in the Pacific aboard the seventh fleet heavy cruiser USS Saint Paul when she returned to Yokosuka, Japan, May 22, was Ray G. Gerharz, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence G. Gerharz, 37 N. Elmwood, Palatine.

Highlighting the cruise was the crossing of the equator, the legendary domain of King Neptune. While in these waters, 550 of the crew "polliwogs"—sailors who have never crossed the equator—were subjected to various trials and tests of endurance in determination of their eligibility to enter Neptune's realm. The traditional rites were performed as the heavy cruiser steamed along the equator for 40 miles in a downpour of intermittent equatorial showers.

During the cruise the Saint Paul visited Okinawa, Taiwan, Hong Kong, British North Borneo, Malaya and the Philippines.

8 Pastel Gowned Attendants At Marilyn Heidt's Wedding

A large wedding party attired in formal wear attended the former Marilyn Adele Heidt of Palatine and Robert Sturlini of Arlington Heights as they became man and wife on May 13 in Immanuel Lutheran church of Palatine.

Eight bridal attendants wearing rainbow hues approached the altar for the 7 o'clock ceremony performed by Rev. Robert Sauer. Their escorts were all dressed in white formal jackets and black tuxedo trousers, including the two pages who lit the candelabra preceding the rites.

The pages were Phillip Heidt, the bride's brother, and Ronnie Enstrom of Deerfield, a cousin of the bridegroom.

COMING DOWN the aisle in a pink lace over organza full-length dress was flower girl Corinne Heidt, 6-year-old cousin of the bride. With her was 4-year-old Jackie Olsen of Palatine as ring bearer.

All of the bride's attendants wore identical gowns, each in a different rainbow color, with matching picture hat, shoes and lace gloves. Each carried a colonial bouquet of carnations dyed to match her gown, and each wore a string of pearls and earrings, a gift of the bride.

MATRON OF honor was the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Carol Ann Heidt of Rolling Meadows. She was completely attired in yellow, her ballerina length dress fashioned with a lace bodice and organza skirt over tiers of net.

The four bridesmaids were Jan Nelson in orchid, Cindy Bolliger in turquoise, Kathy Schlau in shrimp and Lynette Schroeder in nile green. Miss Nelson and Miss Schroeder are from Arlington Heights, and Miss Schlau and Miss Bolliger are from Rolling Meadows.

Two junior bridesmaids were both gowned in pale blue to match the others. They were both cousins of the bride, Diane Reiber of Rolling Meadows and Linda Baldocchi of Palatine.

(Jenart

THE BRIDE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris J. Heidt, 938 S. Benton st., Palatine, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a rosepoint lace wedding gown which fell into a chapel train and a fingertip veil held by a 6-point diamond crown. Her gown had a scooped neckline edged with sequins, long pointed sleeves and a hoop skirt. The back of the skirt was trimmed with [illegible] and lace roses going down to the train. The bride's bouquet was of stephanotis.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Margaret Sturlini, 1231 N. State rd., Arlington Heights, had the bride's brother, Chris A. Heidt, as his best man. Ushers were the bride's brother, William Heidt; Bud Milbrantz of Arlington Heights, a cousin of the bridegroom; Johnny Marsala of Palatine and Tony Fermann of Glenview.

Paul Leimer was organist for the ceremony, and Mrs. Irene Ohlrich sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

A WHITE runner at the center aisle of the church was complemented at each pew by bouquets of ferns tied with satin ribbon. The altar was decorated with vases of gladioli and carnations for the double ring rites.

A reception for 400 guests took place in the Wheeling Amvet hall after the ceremony. There was a buffet supper served and dancing to an orchestra. The bride's mother greeted guests in a 2-piece light blue faille sheath dress and jacket, a blue flowered cloche hat, white shoes and gloves. Mrs. Sturlini was dressed in an orchid sheath and matching jacket, a flowered hat, white gloves and shoes. Both mothers had pink carnation corsages.

The newlyweds are employed by the Jewel Tea company, Mr. Sturlini as a butcher in the Wheeling store and his bride as a cashier in Rolling Meadows. They are both back to work following a 2-week honeymoon to Niagara Falls and Canada. They are now residing at 37 S. Smith st., Palatine.

The new Mrs. Sturlini is a graduate of Palatine high school. Her husband was graduated from Arlington high school and then served two years with the U. S. Marines before continuing civilian life.

Benefit Group to Stage Posh Party at Post and Paddock

Among the first to hobnob in the posh Classic club, the newest addition to the exclusive Post and Paddock at Arlington Park, will be members and friends of the Arlington Heights center of the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago, who on Friday, June 30, are staging a benefit at this swankiest of clubs.

The benefit, a "Turf and Terrace Party," will be a buffet dinner dance beginning with cocktails at 6:30 p.m. in the Classic club, followed by dinner in the Post and Paddock at 8:30 p.m. Dancing to the music of Frankie Masters and his 12-piece orchestra will be from 9:30 to 12:30. A combo from the orchestra will also play during the cocktail hours.

THE BUFFET, planned by the Post and Paddock maitre d', Emile, is reported to be a fabulous array of both hot and cold gourmet foods. Also included in the menu will be an impressive selection of the club's famous desserts.

Attendance at the fashionable benefit is by invitation from Infant Welfare members and so far the guest list includes a munber of prominent villagers, fun-loving couples of all ages and a group of famous jockeys who will be riding daily when the track opens next Monday.

Although dress is optional, many of the party-goers are planning to go formal in keeping with the plush atmosphere of the Post and Paddock. Others will be more casual, having attended the last few races at the track.

This is one of the first times the Post and Paddock has been opened to a benefit group. Tickets, limited to 400 persons, were nearly sold out weeks ago with Infant Welfare members holding a few for guests who are finding it necessary to switch vacation and other plans to attend the "Turf and Terrace Party." Japanese Bonsai Tree Is Garden Club Topic Monday

Amateur and professional gardeners, as well as plant lovers, will have an opportunity to get some tips and see a demonstration on the ancient art of Bonsai growing at a special meeting of the Arlington Heights Garden club Monday evening June 19 at 8:15, in Pioneer Park field house, Arlington Heights.

Gay R. Laubsch, who is in charge of sales and Bonsai promotion at the D. Hill Nursery Co., Dundee, will be guest speaker.

Due to the unusual interest in the Japanese arts and the little published material on Bonsai culture, Mr. Gay will bring along actual plants for demonstration. His plant-loving audience will be able to get first-hand knowledge of the ancient art that started long before Columbus came to America.

MR. GAY first learned about the interest in the growing of miniature trees at his many speaking engagements at garden clubs and businessmen's meetings. Mr. Gay said, "Many a Japanese has started a Bonsai tree to be enjoyed by his grandson 50 years later.

The original Bonsai trees were brought to the United States by the D. Hill Nursery in 1921 as an experiment. D. Hill made arrangements with a Japanese nursery to send four experts to this country with specimen plants to train Hill employees in the culture.

These original dwarf trees have been propagated all this time until sufficient stock was ready for the general public. Now for the first time, a limited quantity is ready for the market. (S

Bride's Mother Bakes Twin Cakes for May 20 Nuptials

An attractive focal point at the May 20 wedding reception of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Probst held in Salt Creek country club, Itasca, was a 6-tiered wedding cake made by the bride's mother, Mrs. Henry A. Bock, who decorated the tower of delicacy with bells, bows, and sprigs of lily of the valley.

Wrapped in small white beribboned boxes and placed in a large basket for guests to take home were portions of the groom's cake, made from Mrs. Bock's favorite fruit cake recipe. A memory candle centerpiece, flanked by white carnations and chrysanthemums, decorated the satin skirted table, from which 400 guests selected an array of buffet foods.

A SHORT time before in a candlelight ceremony in Immanuel United Church of Christ, Hanover township, Elgin, Miss Darlene Bock, daughter of the Henry A. Bocks of Elgin, exchanged rings with Ronald Wayne Probst, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Probst, 976 W. Kenilworth, Palatine, at 7 p. m., with Rev. Peter Beecken officiating.

Candelabra and two vases of white gladioli and chrysanthemums adorned each side of the altar as Frank Holden of Elgin sang "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by organist, Duane Ackmann.

LILIES OF the valley were again used in the bridal bouquet, fashioned with mixed blooms in a cascade. Of silk organza, Miss Bock's wedding dress had a molded bodice embroidered with small seed pearls and white sequins, jewel trimmed portrait neckline and long tapered sleeves.

Her bouffant skirt was scattered with sheer self fabric roses centered with pearl trim and was styled with fullness at the sides extending into a full chapel sweep. An imported crown of pearlized orange blossoms, highlighted with sprays of Aurora Borealis, secured the 3-tier veil of illusion.

ALL SEVEN attendants were identically gowned in silk organza dresses of mint green and carried contrasting bouquets. In pale yellow with a cascade of light blue carnations was the matron of honor, Jeanette Tauch of Chicago. Others were Mrs. Lois Kamin and Donna Probst of Palatine; Joan Mitana and Margot Heine, Barrington; and the bride's two cousins, Mardelle Covey, Elgin; and Mrs. Joan Fielitz, Keeneyville.

White accessories complemented their gowns, styled with scoop necklines, cap sleeves and full skirts, trimmed at the waist with cummerbunds and back bows. Headpieces were half hats of imported Swiss braid with pearls and circular maline veils.

DRESSED IN the same manner as attendants were flower girls, Ursula Steinmaier of Elgin, 6 years, and Cynthia Fielitz, 2, who wore yellow flowers in their hair and carried baskets of mixed pastel carnations. Ring bearer was Billy Probst, 5-year-old nephew of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Bock selected a willow green sheath dress of silk organza with matching shoes, hat and green cymbidium corsage. Mrs. Probst wore a pink ensemble of schiffli embroidered silk organza with matching cymbidium orchids.

(Community Camera

A GRADUATE of Barrington high school, the new Mrs. Probst also attended the University of Illinois and is now employed at Pure Oil Co., Palatine. Her groom is with Illinois Bell and completed studies at Palatine high. Honeymoon destination was a resort in Poconos, Pa. by jet.

Just Around the Corner from Patty McArdle

A Repeat Triumph

Dear Peg:

I believe there is nothing a Brownie troop would rather do than put on a program—come to think of it this is true of most 8-10 year olds. Our third grade has done more entertaining this year than any of the other grades and has thoroughly enjoyed it. Bridget is fortunate in having an energetic and imaginative leader for her Brownie troop. This first year is so important in the field of scouting. A good leader is absolutely necessary if the interest of the girls is to be great enough to bring them back for the second year.

"Moppets of 1961" opened with the entire group singing several traditional Brownie songs—"Hello," "I Have a Little Secret" and a couple of rounds. Each Brownie belonged to a certain group of five or six girls who performed a special number. Dressed in black leotards and black tights, the first group were "beatniks." They danced a real "beat" dance to some way out music (which like all the numbers was a record played in the wings of the stage). The second group of six girls did a cute little boy-girl dance to the tune "With Your Toe You Tap, Tap, Tap" —from the operetta "Hansel and Gretel." A polka, danced with partners, followed and then a modern number including a chorus line and soloist singing and dancing to "Hello My Baby." These girls were dressed in black shorts, white shirts and black top hats. And, oh yes, they carried silvery canes!

Bridget's group did a dance and sang "I'm An Old Cowhand." Since Bridget had learned a tap dance to this tune while she was taking lessons at the recreation center, her leader asked her to do her little dance first, then she was joined by the rest of her group for the song and a group dance. Almost all of the costumes were made out of crepe paper and were quite effective and very colorful. The girls in the "Cowhand" number wore their own skirts but had rows of shirred crepe paper sewn around them to resemble cowgirl skirts.

The final number was "Millie the Moth." The girls wore white shorts and white shirts and had big red and white wings and little red caps with antennas. The little girl who did a solo dance and song number with them wore bright red leotards and tights and red chiffon wings.

The entire program was well done and very obviously fun for all the girls.

My love,
Patty

She wore a rosepoint lace wedding gown which fell into a chapel train and a fingertip veil held by a 6-point diamond crown. Her gown had a scooped neckline edged with sequins, long pointed sleeves and a hoop skirt. The back of the skirt was trimmed with [illegible] and lace roses going down to the train. The bride's bouquet was of stephanotis.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Margaret Sturlini, 1231 N. State rd., Arlington Heights, had the bride's brother, Chris A. Heidt, as his best man. Ushers were the bride's brother, William Heidt; Bud Milbrantz of Arlington Heights, a cousin of the bridegroom; Johnny Marsala of Palatine and Tony Fermann of Glenview.

Paul Leimer was organist for the ceremony, and Mrs. Irene Ohlrich sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

A WHITE runner at the center aisle of the church was complemented at each pew by bouquets of ferns tied with satin ribbon. The altar was decorated with vases of gladioli and carnations for the double ring rites.

A reception for 400 guests took place in the Wheeling Amvet hall after the ceremony. There was a buffet supper served and dancing to an orchestra. The bride's mother greeted guests in a 2-piece light blue faille sheath dress and jacket, a blue flowered cloche hat, white shoes and gloves. Bride's Mother Bakes Twin Cakes for May 20 Nuptials

An attractive focal point at the May 20 wedding reception of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Probst held in Salt Creek country club, Itasca, was a 6-tiered wedding cake made by the bride's mother, Mrs. Henry A. Bock, who decorated the tower of delicacy with bells, bows, and sprigs of lily of the valley.

Wrapped in small white beribboned boxes and placed in a large basket for guests to take home were portions of the groom's cake, made from Mrs. Bock's favorite fruit cake recipe. A memory candle centerpiece, flanked by white carnations and chrysanthemums, decorated the satin skirted table, from which 400 guests selected an array of buffet foods.

A SHORT time before in a candlelight ceremony in Immanuel United Church of Christ, Hanover township, Elgin, Miss Darlene Bock, daughter of the Henry A. Bocks of Elgin, exchanged rings with Ronald Wayne Probst, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Probst, 976 W. Kenilworth, Palatine, at 7 p. m., with Rev. Peter Beecken officiating.

Candelabra and two vases of white gladioli and chrysanthemums adorned each side of the altar as Frank Holden of Elgin sang "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by organist, Duane Ackmann.

LILIES OF the valley were again used in the bridal bouquet, fashioned with mixed blooms in a cascade. Of silk organza, Miss Bock's wedding dress had a molded bodice embroidered with small seed pearls and white sequins, jewel trimmed portrait neckline and long tapered sleeves.

Her bouffant skirt was scattered with sheer self fabric roses centered with pearl trim and was styled with fullness at the sides extending into a full chapel sweep. An imported crown of pearlized orange blossoms, highlighted with sprays of Aurora Borealis, secured the 3-tier veil of illusion.

ALL SEVEN attendants were identically gowned in silk organza dresses of mint green and carried contrasting bouquets. In pale yellow with a cascade of light blue carnations was the matron of honor, Jeanette Tauch of Chicago. Others were Mrs. Lois Kamin and Donna Probst of Palatine; Joan Mitana and Margot Heine, Barrington; and the bride's two cousins, Mardelle Covey, Elgin; and Mrs. Joan Fielitz, Keeneyville.

White accessories complemented their gowns, styled with scoop necklines, cap sleeves and full skirts, trimmed at the waist with cummerbunds and back bows. Headpieces were half hats of imported Swiss braid with pearls and circular maline veils.

DRESSED IN the same manner as attendants were flower girls, Ursula Steinmaier of Elgin, 6 years, and Cynthia Fielitz, 2, who wore yellow flowers in their hair and carried baskets of mixed pastel carnations. Ring bearer was Billy Probst, 5-year-old nephew of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Bock selected a willow green sheath dress of silk organza with matching shoes, hat and green cymbidium corsage. Mrs. Probst wore a pink ensemble of schiffli embroidered silk organza with matching cymbidium orchids.

A GRADUATE of Barrington high school, the new Mrs. Probst also attended the University of Illinois and is now employed at Pure Oil Co., Palatine. Her groom is with Illinois Bell and completed studies at Palatine high. Honeymoon destination was a resort in Poconos, Pa. by jet.

Japanese Bonsai Tree Is Garden Club Topic Monday

Amateur and professional gardeners, as well as plant lovers, will have an opportunity to get some tips and see a demonstration on the ancient art of Bonsai growing at a special meeting of the Arlington Heights Garden club Monday evening June 19 at 8:15, in Pioneer Park field house, Arlington Heights.

Gay R. Laubsch, who is in charge of sales and Bonsai promotion at the D. Hill Nursery Co., Dundee, will be guest speaker.

Due to the unusual interest in the Japanese arts and the little published material on Bonsai culture, Mr. Gay will bring along actual plants for demonstration. His plant-loving audience will be able to get first-hand knowledge of the ancient art that started long before Columbus came to America.

MR. GAY first learned about the interest in the growing of miniature trees at his many speaking engagements at garden clubs and businessmen's meetings. Mr. Gay said, "Many a Japanese has started a Bonsai tree to be enjoyed by his grandson 50 years later.

The original Bonsai trees were brought to the United States by the D. Hill Nursery in 1921 as an experiment. D. Hill made arrangements with a Japanese nursery to send four experts to this country with specimen plants to train Hill employees in the culture.

These original dwarf trees have been propagated all this time until sufficient stock was ready for the general public. Now for the first time, a limited quantity is ready for the market. (S

Just Around the Corner from Patty McArdle

A Repeat Triumph

Dear Peg:

I believe there is nothing a Brownie troop would rather do than put on a program—come to think of it this is true of most 8-10 year olds. Our third grade has done more entertaining this year than any of the other grades and has thoroughly enjoyed it. Bridget is fortunate in having an energetic and imaginative leader for her Brownie troop. This first year is so important in the field of scouting. A good leader is absolutely necessary if the interest of the girls is to be great enough to bring them back for the second year.

"Moppets of 1961" opened with the entire group singing several traditional Brownie songs—"Hello," "I Have a Little Secret" and a couple of rounds. Each Brownie belonged to a certain group of five or six girls who performed a special number. Dressed in black leotards and black tights, the first group were "beatniks." They danced a real "beat" dance to some way out music (which like all the numbers was a record played in the wings of the stage). The second group of six girls did a cute little boy-girl dance to the tune "With Your Toe You Tap, Tap, Tap" —from the operetta "Hansel and Gretel." A polka, danced with partners, followed and then a modern number including a chorus line and soloist singing and dancing to "Hello My Baby." These girls were dressed in black shorts, white shirts and black top hats. And, oh yes, they carried silvery canes!

Bridget's group did a dance and sang "I'm An Old Cowhand." Since Bridget had learned a tap dance to this tune while she was taking lessons at the recreation center, her leader asked her to do her little dance first, then she was joined by the rest of her group for the song and a group dance. Almost all of the costumes were made out of crepe paper and were quite effective and very colorful. The girls in the "Cowhand" number wore their own skirts but had rows of shirred crepe paper sewn around them to resemble cowgirl skirts.

The final number was "Millie the Moth." The girls wore white shorts and white shirts and had big red and white wings and little red caps with antennas. The little girl who did a solo dance and song number with them wore bright red leotards and tights and red chiffon wings.

The entire program was well done and very obviously fun for all the girls.

My love,
Patty

THE BRIDE'S sister, Ethel Erber of Des Plaines, was matron of honor and 3-year-old Jill Erber was flower girl. Both were in pink silk organza. Mrs. Erber carried a crescent bouquet of pastel tinted daisies and ivy and Jill carried a nosegay of the same flowers. Both wore daisy wreaths in their hair.

Another sister of the bride, Patricia Schiavone, and her sister-in-law, Aurora Koeppen, both of Des Plaines, and the groom's sister, Marjorie Hames of Mt. Prospect, were bridesmaids. Junior bridesmaid was the groom's niece, Janice Frost of Elgin.

All wore gowns styled identically to the matron of honor's gown which featured a full skirt, scooped neckline and three-quarter sleeves. All wore matching head bands of daisies and carried crescents of pastel daisies and ivy. Their gowns were in orchid, blue, aqua and yellow.

A PALE ORCHID embroidered silk organza sheath was chosen by Mrs. Koeppen, who complemented her ensemble with a purple-throated white orchid. Mrs. Kiehl chose a blue silk shantung sheath with short jacket and a white orchid.

Robert Kiehl of Palatine was his brother's best man and ushers were Andy Butenschoen and Roy Wente of Palatine, the bride's brother-in-law, Gene Schiavone of Des Plaines and the groom's nephew, Donald Kiehl of Wisconsin. Donald was junior usher.

St. Hubert's First Wedding Unites Hoffman Estates Pair

The first wedding to take place in the new St. Hubert Catholic church, Hoffman Estates, was held June 3 when Miss Irene M. Dickelman and John Shedore, both of Hoffman Estates, were married in noon-time rites. The bride, who makes her home with her brother, Paul Dickelman, 126 Navajo, and his family, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Friedo of Marengo. The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Lillian Shedore of Chicago, makes his home at 281 Westview, Hoffman Estates.

The service was followed by a reception for 200 guests at the Buggy Whip lounge in Schaumburg, where the bride is employed. Following the reception, Mr. Shedore took his bride on a honeymoon into northern Wisconsin and upper Michigan. They also planned to tour into Canada and then back through lower Michigan.

REV. LEE Wincek officiated at the service during which another brother of the bride, Raymond Dickelman of Merrill, Wis., gave her in marriage.

The bride chose a gown of chantilly lace and nylon tulle over taffeta. The bodice and long, tapered sleeves of the lace were detailed with embroidery of irridescent sequins as was the sabrina neckline. Her full nylon tulle overskirt was detailed with an applique of matching lace at the hemline and beneath the overskirt, cascaded a series of nylon tulle ruffles which swept into a short sweep.

Her fingertip veil was of nylon and was held in place with a rhinestone tiara. Her bouquet was of white roses and snapdragons centered with an orchid.

MATRON OF honor was Mrs. Frank Ceariso of Streamwood and bridesmaid was Mrs. George Steele of Hoffman Estates. Mr. Ceariso was best man and Mr. Steele, groomsman. Ushers were the couple's brothers, Paul Dickelman and Carl Shedore.

Both Mrs. Ceariso and Mrs. Steele wore orchid ballerina taffeta dresses with nylon net overskirts. They also wore matching headpieces of nylon lace and carried orchid-tinted carnations with matching lace.

Also in the wedding party was the bride's niece, Debbie Dickelman, who was flower girl, and the groom's nephew, Bobby Shedore of Franklin Park, who was ring bearer. Debbie's dress was of white nylon, ballerina length, and her ensemble was completed with a headpiece of orchid lace and a basket of rose petals.

THE BRIDE'S mother chose a flower print nylon taffeta in royal blue with matching duster and a corsage of white carnations with red roses. Mrs. Shedore also wore a blue flower print nylon with a corsage of white carnations and red roses.

The bridegroom is employed at the Coleman Floor Co., Hoffman Estates. (S

Reveal Edgewater Beach Playhouse's New Season

The Edgewater Beach Playhouse opens a new season Tuesday, June 20, with Steve Allen and Jayne Meadows co-starring in "The Fourposter." Other productions will star Mae West, Eve Arden, Al Hirt and Zero Mostel.

In their first appearance together on the stage, the famed TV stars—Steve Allen and Jayne Meadows—will be seen in their own hilarious version of the warm and human comedy about marriage, directed for the Edgewater by Paul A. Foley, who directed "The Fourposter" on its "Playhouse 90" TV presentation.

THE COMEDY runs two weeks, June 20 through July 2, and it is likely that Steve and Jayne will do a capsule version of their night club review after each performance with Steve at the piano as both sing. It ought to be a high spot of the entire year!

Other entries in Edgewater's calendar are:

—Mae West, "High Priestess of Sex," appears in the world premiere of her comedy about five ex-husbands, "Sexette" July 4-16.

—Eve Arden, "Our Miss Brooks," in the clever comedy, "Marriage - Go-Round," July 18-30.

—Al Hirt will bring his flaming, sensational music to Edgewater for one week only, August 1-6.

FINALLY, August 8 - September 3, Zero Mostel in Ionesco's "Rhinoceros," the most exciting comedy of 1961 on Broadway. It returns to Broadway after the four weeks at the Edgewater. Zero Mostel offers the most talked-about performance of the year as he turns into a rhinoceros in front of the audience!

Playhouse changes this season will eliminate Monday performances, with two at 7 and 10 p.m. on Fridays, as well as two at 7 and 10 p.m. on Saturdays. The First Nighter opening night subscriptions, with after-theatre parties joined by the stars and casts, will continue as in previous years. There has been no advance in admission prices. The Playhouse telephone for information is LOngbeach 1-6308. (Bill

A Noble Cause

Women of the world, unite. United, we can dictate fashion. Divided, we will continue to wear anything the fashion idiots care to cough up for us. I, for one, am united as this time THEY have gone too far.

We held out against the chemise and the sack. They died a horrible death. Then, just when waistlines were getting so they were where the waistline is, along comes our first lady who wears what they are pleased to call the casual waistline. They can call it a casual waistline all they want to. To me it is a waistline that seems to have slipped a couple of notches. And, like it or not, they are edging right back to the chemise. Probably had some left over.

However, this I can combat by sewing my own stuff and pooh to them. But, did you know that they have done away with red? They are even trying to do away with the combination of red, white and blue. And, I thought they were here to stay. Doing away with it seems to me to be downright unpatriotic. Since I was a small child when I had a red, white and blue sailor dress, I have thought the combination both good and permanent.

Thus thinking, I proceeded to make number three daughter a navy and white print dress planning on dressing it up with some red jewelry. I thought finding the red jewels would be the easiest part of the project. Not only was it not easy, it was impossible. They aren't making it. I canvassed every store in and out of the area.

Finally, in desperation, I asked the jewelry buyer in one store what ever had happened to red. She informed me, rather unhappily, that it just wasn't being made any more. Which is the most ridiculous thing I ever heard. So, I fooled them. I dyed some white pearls red. They aren't particularly pretty but, boy, are they red. So there.

The Christian Way

By Rev. Don L. Jones, Pastor, The Christian Church of Arlington Heights

Much uncertainty in religious belief results from the neglect of simple religious practices. A man who has not prayed for years should not be surprised when he finds it hard to believe in God. The person who has not attended public worship regularly will surely question the value of the church.

Admittedly, much religious practice becomes routine. So do many methods in science and art and commerce. They do not thereby lose their value.

There is a meaningful as well as a meaningless routine. The wise person cultivates the former in his religious life and finds it a source of inspiration and strength.

Join us this Sunday at Miner Junior High School, Miner & Dryden. Church school 9:45 a.m., Worship 10:45 a.m. Phone CLearbrook 9-4155.

men would not attempt to construct the mechanical wonders of our age. Why attempt to build your life apart from God's plan for you? Christ died to give your life purpose and meaning. The Sin of INDIFFERENCE

A noted leader recently remarked, "We are living in a world in which multitudes of people regard the Gospel neither as good news nor as bad news To them it is NO news. They do not reject it; they merely ignore it."

That is the sin of our day—indifference. Indifference to the message that "God was in Christ reconciling the world unto Himself."

Many of the millions of Americans who have neglected membership in the Christian Church have never consciously rejected the Christian Gospel; they have simply decided to forget about it.

And yet Christ says, "He that is not with Me is against Me."

If you have been indifferent to the claims of Christ and the message of His Gospel, now is the time to give them a hearing.

We invite you to attend our services and Bible classes. Bring the children to our Sunday School. You and your family are always welcome.

Urge Spiritual Alertness by All

Greater spiritual alertness is needed to meet the unprecedented challenges and opportunities presented by the tremendous upheaval in the world today, The Christian Science Board of Directors said.

In a special message to the annual meeting of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, held in Boston recently, the directors called for renewed vigilance on the part of all who cherish freedom, brotherhood, and truth.

In our own age, material limitations are yielding to the freedom-giving power of God, infinite Spirit, the directors maintained.

"Humanity is crying out," they said, "for freedom. Peoples are clamoring for liberty; nations are being born; the barriers of time and space are crumbling . . . In the fields of religion, government, education, discovery, invention, industry, and medicine, matter is slowly yielding o Spirit."

IN HER KEYNOTE address, the new president, Mrs. Mary Lee Gough Nay, said that release from the frustrations and inequalities of materiality can come to all through spiritual awakening.

"Basically, mankind needs awakening from the nightmare of belief in living matter and intelligent evil, from its confidence that matter can give satisfaction, that it holds the solution for all the diseases, iniquities, and inequalities of the human family," she declared. (B8

WITHOUT A PLAN

men would not attempt to construct the mechanical wonders of our age. Why attempt to build your life apart from God's plan for you? Christ died to give your life purpose and meaning. The Sin of INDIFFERENCE

A noted leader recently remarked, "We are living in a world in which multitudes of people regard the Gospel neither as good news nor as bad news To them it is NO news. They do not reject it; they merely ignore it."

That is the sin of our day—indifference. Indifference to the message that "God was in Christ reconciling the world unto Himself."

Many of the millions of Americans who have neglected membership in the Christian Church have never consciously rejected the Christian Gospel; they have simply decided to forget about it.

And yet Christ says, "He that is not with Me is against Me."

If you have been indifferent to the claims of Christ and the message of His Gospel, now is the time to give them a hearing.

We invite you to attend our services and Bible classes. Bring the children to our Sunday School. You and your family are always welcome.

Urge Spiritual Alertness by All

Greater spiritual alertness is needed to meet the unprecedented challenges and opportunities presented by the tremendous upheaval in the world today, The Christian Science Board of Directors said.

In a special message to the annual meeting of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, held in Boston recently, the directors called for renewed vigilance on the part of all who cherish freedom, brotherhood, and truth.

In our own age, material limitations are yielding to the freedom-giving power of God, infinite Spirit, the directors maintained.

"Humanity is crying out," they said, "for freedom. Peoples are clamoring for liberty; nations are being born; the barriers of time and space are crumbling . . . In the fields of religion, government, education, discovery, invention, industry, and medicine, matter is slowly yielding to Spirit."

IN HER KEYNOTE address, the new president, Mrs. Mary Lee Gough Nay, said that release from the frustrations and inequalities of materiality can come to all through spiritual awakening.

"Basically, mankind needs awakening from the nightmare of belief in living matter and intelligent evil, from its confidence that matter can give satisfaction, that it holds the solution for all the diseases, iniquities, and inequalities of the human family," she declared. (B8

Flowers Speak

Life is full of silent speeches.
A handclasp, a friendly nod, a pat on the shoulder . . . don't they speak volumes?
And so with the floral tribute. Because flowers speak words of comfort, we know their importance and give them the special care your gesture deserves.

Epicurian Barbecue Treat Cranberry Franks 'n Beans

If you never thought that traditional baked beans and frankfurters cooked barbecue-style could taste like a gourmet creation, you obviously haven't tried this recipe for Cranberry Dogs with Savory Baked Beans.

Originated by John J. Barron of North Abington, Mass., he submitted the recipe in last year's annual Kaiser "Cook-Off" and promptly won a pri-

THE STIMULATING flavor of curry powder, cardamon, ginger, vinegar, molasses and worchestershire sauce combines with the cranberry sauce to make a tantalizing baste for the frankfurters.

The canned beans are flavorfully transformed by the addition of chopped onion, salad oil, molasses, catsup and a bit of garlic salt.

Franks and beans are ideal for outdoor cooking. Before building the fire, the firebox is lined with quilted cooking foil which not only makes for a neat fire, but also serves to reflect the greatest degree of heat.

ANY AMATEUR chef with an original recipe may submit it during the coming summer. The winning finalists will then be flown to Hawaii for the big "Cook-Off" next spring, where the prize winners will be selected.

FRANKS 'N BEANS get the gourmet treatment. The frankfurters are cooked with a delicious cranberry sauce baste that also features curry, cardamon, ginger, vinegar, molasses and Worcestershire sauce for pungent flavor.

CRANBERRY DOGS

2 pounds frankfurters (8 per pound)
1 (1-lb.) can jellied cranberry sauce
½ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons curry powder
1 teaspon ground cardamon
¼ teaspoon ground ginger
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup cider vinegar
2 tablespoons molasses
Kaiser Quilted Cooking Foil

In 2½ quart saucepan, combine all ingredients except frankfurters. Heat to boiling and simmer five minutes. Remove from heat and beat with rotary beater until thoroughly blended.

Line firebox with Kaiser Quilted Cooking Foil. When coals are red hot, place Savory Baked Beans on grill.

Make three diagonal cuts in frankfurters. Just before beans are ready to serve, place "dogs" on grill. Cook for about seven minutes, frequently turning and basting with sauce. Serve hot. Makes six servings.

SAVORY BAKED BEANS

2 (1-lb.) cans baked beans
1 medium onion, coarsely chopped
2 tablespoons salad oil
¼ cup molasses
½ cup catsup
½ teaspoon garlic salt

Saute onions in oil until tender and golden. In 1-quart beanpot or casserole, combine all ingredients. Bake uncovered for about one hour on grill. (Or, bake in oven at 350°F. for 30 minutes.)

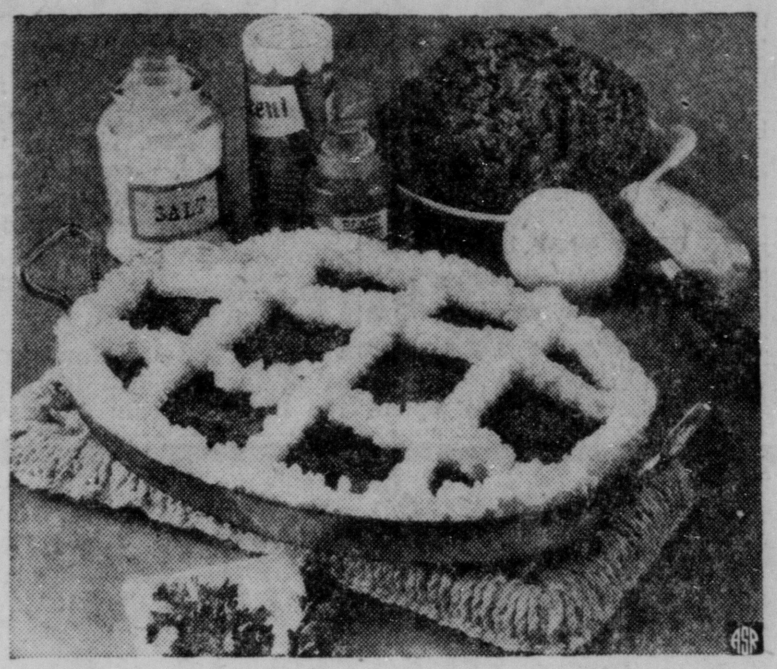
Cook's Lucky Find Golden Nugget Pie



Golden Nugget Pie is a recipe to treasure and to use often, as wealth should always be used. It's such a delicious combination of favorite foods — ground beef, cheese, and potatoes — that the family is almost guaranteed to call for more.

GROUND BEEF is mixed with seasonings and cubes of American cheese, the "golden nuggets." Evaporated milk, eggs, and bread crumbs add extra nourishment and texture to the meat loaf base.

Ac'cent brings out all the juiciness and good beef flavor. It also blends the flavors of beef, cheese, and spices, for a real "baked-in" taste.

GOLDEN NUGGET PIE

2 teaspoons Ac'cent
2 pounds ground beef
1 cup evaporated milk
2 cups soft bread crumbs
2 eggs
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons dry mustard
½ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon thyme
½ cup minced onion
4 ounces process American cheese, cut in cubes
1 envelope instant mashed potatoes

Sprinkle Ac'cent over beef in mixing bowl. Add remaining ingredients except instant potatoes. Mix with fork until blended. Turn into a 10-inch pie plate or shallow baking dish.

BAKE IN A moderate oven (350°F.) 50 minutes. Remove from oven. Increase heat to hot (450°F.). While meat is baking, prepare potatoes according to package directions.

Put through pastry tube in lattice design on top of meat. Dot with butter. Return to oven and bake 10 minutes longer. Yield: 8 servings.

Lasagna Recipe From 'Cooking With Spirits' Book Is Superb

High "Spirits" and an adventurous attitude toward cooking can result in gustatory delights!

Such is the belief of Mrs. Elmer B. Nelson of Palatine, who has two recipes appearing in Ruth V. Neumann's new and exciting cook book, "Cooking with Spirits."

"Ruth and I have been friends for almost 20 years," exclaimed Margaret Nelson, "and she originally introduced me to cooking with spirits. She always served such delicious meals, all with spirits in them, that I, too, started experimenting. Now I wouldn't cook any other way."

IN HER NEW book Mrs. Neumann pioneers the idea that almost any viand or dish is given increased zest as well as a haunting, intriguing flavor by adding a shot of spirituous liquor or a cup of fine wine or a growler of boiling beer. And Mrs. Nelson, who is thoroughly converted to this idea, heartily agrees.

"Spirits can be added to anything — salads, vegetables, meat, desserts, even pancakes. It can spike the flavor of tasteless lamb, give bland vegetables distinction and turn an ordinary dessert into a sparkling conversation piece."

ASSEMBLED in layers, lasagna consists of the pasta, a ricotta cheese mixture, Mozzarella cheese and a savory herb-flavored tomato sauce. Red Chianti, a dry Italian wine, is used as the "spirit" in this dish.

Coupled with a nippy tossed salad and hot garlic-buttered French bread, this tempting dinner would please the most discriminating gourmet.

It is perfect for buffet-style suppers and Mrs. Nelson, who does a good deal of outdoor entertaining on one or the other of her two lovely patios, finds it is ideal for this purpose, too.

For dessert she suggests a Chocolate Icebox Cake made from an old, old recipe which belonged to her mother-in-law.

"ORIGINALLY non-spirited, I added the ale to this recipe," admitted Mrs. Nelson. She melts German sweet chocolate in this spirit before combining it with the eggs, sugar, nuts and whipped cream.

Assembled in a loaf pan, this chocolate mixture is alternated with layers of lady fingers and chilled for 24 hours. It has a fascinating flavor and is a delightful dessert treat.

These two excellent recipes may encourage you to tipple a bit with cooking, and even the timid cook may find the idea quite intoxicating. But the result, we hasten to add, will be quite harmless because the alcoholic content of liquors evaporates in cooking as well as flaming, leaving only the flavor behind.

IN ADDITION to being a capable cook, Mrs. Nelson is also a busy and experienced career woman. Formerly associated with a loop advertising agency as assistant to the director of media, Mrs. Nelson also sold radio time and produced radio shows for station WNMP in Evanston.

She is now a saleswoman for Rodewald Realty Co. in Arlington Heights and is a member of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson moved from Wilmette to their home at 436 N. Benton in Palatine six years ago. They are members of St. Theresa Catholic church.

SAVORY LASAGNA and a delicious chocolate icebox cake are two of Mrs. Elmer B. Nelson's "spirited" recipes which appear in a new and exciting cook book, "Cooking With Spirits." Here, this expert Palatine cook is shown serving her tempting lasagna to the author of this excellent book, Mrs. Ruth Vendley Neumann. Both women advocate the use of alcoholic beverages in cooking for giving foods increased flavor and zest. (SH

LASAGNA PASTA:

½ pound lasagna pasta
1 tablespoon celery salt

Cover lasagna with boiling salted water. Boil gently until just tender, not mushy. Drain well and arrange one-third of the cooked lasagna in a buttered, 2-quart baking dish. Over this, place a layer of Ricotta mixture.

RICOTTA MIXTURE:

1 pound Ricotta (dry cottage cheese)
½ cup chopped parsley
2 eggs, beaten well
1 teaspoon celery salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
½ pound Mozzarella cheese, thinly sliced

Combine all ingredients excepting Mozzarella cheese. Spread one-third of Ricotta mixture on top of lasagna. Over this, arrange a layer of Mozzarella cheese slices. Then pour a layer of sauce over all.

SAUCE:

1 8-ounce can tomato paste
2½ cups canned tomatoes, crushed
3 tablespoons butter
3 beef bouillon cubes, crushed
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup Chianti
Few dashes Tabasco
2 teaspoons sugar
½ teaspoon rosemary
2 teaspoons oregano
¼ teaspoon baking soda
¼ cup chopped parsley
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Mix all ingredients together except cheese. Cover and simmer one hour. Pour one-third of this sauce over Mozzarella cheese. Alternate layers until mixtures are all used up, with a sauce layer last. Sprinkle Parmesan cheese over the top and bake in a 350 degree oven for 40 minutes.

Serves 8.

CHOCOLATE ICEBOX CAKE

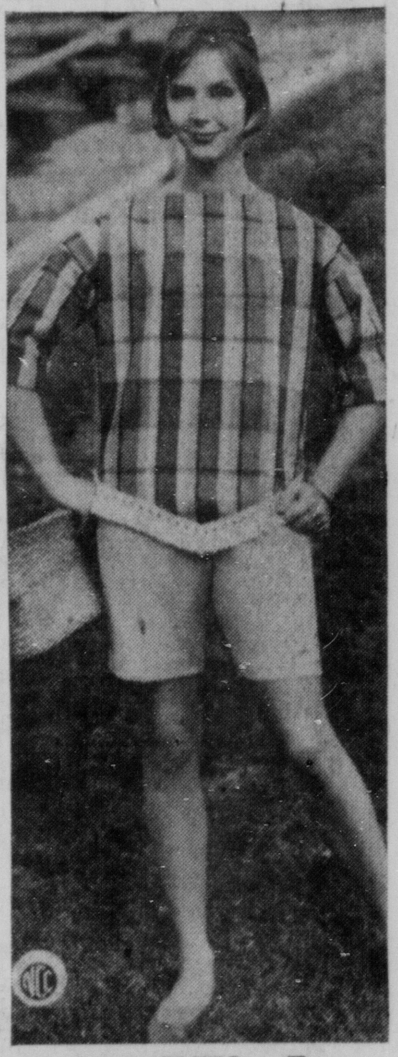
2 cups German sweet chocolate, chopped
1½ cups ale
4 eggs, separated
3 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons chopped walnuts
1 cup whipping cream, whipped
30 lady fingers

Melt chocolate with ale. Cool. Add egg yolks, one at a time, beating constantly. Add sugar and nuts; blend well.

Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into mixture. Fold in whipped cream.

Split lady fingers and line a greased standard loaf pan with them; then spread a layer of chocolate mixture on top. Next, another layer of lady fingers, then more chocolate and finally, top with lady fingers. Chill in refrigerator for 24 hours before serving.

Serves 8 to 12.



PLAID PONCHO - From "South of the Border" comes the inspiration of this poncho of washable cotton denim in a gay plaid accented with white cotton fringe. The poncho by Turner Togs may be coordinated with cotton gabardine shorts in bright colors. (SH

Olive-Cheese Pie New 'Snack' Idea

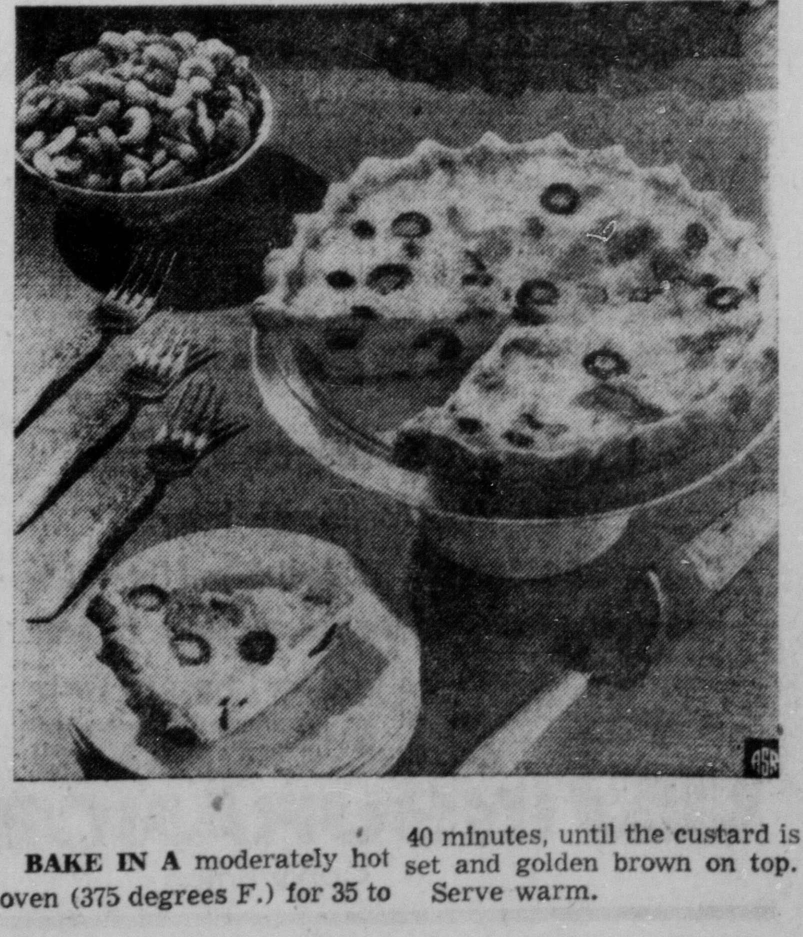
For a delicious late evening snack, instead of the usual sweets, serve up "Ripe Olive and Swiss Cheese Pie." Meaty ripe olives and smoky crisp bacon fleck the custard-like Swiss cheese filling.

Assemble the ingredients in advance, but fill the shell and bake this enticing pie at the last minute so you can serve it in all its golden beauty still warm from the oven.

RAW VEGETABLE relishes are good accompaniments, and you might follow up with mixed nuts and Tokay grapes.

Cut six slices bacon into 1-inch pieces and broil or pan-fry until crisp; drain well. Drain and slice one cup pitted ripe olives. Cover unbaked 9-inch pastry shell with overlapping layers of bacon, olives and ½ pound shredded or thinly-sliced Swiss cheese.

Beat together four eggs, one tablespoon flour, one teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon nutmeg, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, two cups light cream and one tablespoon melted butter. Pour over bacon, olives and cheese.



BAKE IN A moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) for 35 to 40 minutes, until the custard is set and golden brown on top. Serve warm.

Lasagna Recipe From 'Cooking With Spirits' Book Is Superb

High "Spirits" and an adventurous attitude toward cooking can result in gustatory delights!

Such is the belief of Mrs. Elmer B. Nelson of Palatine, who has two recipes appearing in Ruth V. Neumann's new and exciting cook book, "Cooking with Spirits."

"Ruth and I have been friends for almost 20 years," exclaimed Margaret Nelson, "and she originally introduced me to cooking with spirits. She always served such delicious meals, all with spirits in them, that I, too, started experimenting. Now I wouldn't cook any other way."

IN HER NEW book Mrs. Neumann pioneers the idea that almost any viand or dish is given increased zest as well as a haunting, intriguing flavor by adding a shot of spirituous liquor or a cup of fine wine or a growler of boiling beer. And Mrs. Nelson, who is thoroughly converted to this idea, heartily agrees.

"Spirits can be added to anything — salads, vegetables, meat, desserts, even pancakes. It can spike the flavor of tasteless lamb, give bland vegetables distinction and turn an ordinary dessert into a sparkling conversation piece."

Being of Italian descent, Mrs. Nelson has a particular fondness for Italian dishes as well as an expert approach to their preparation. Her original recipe for Lasagna appears on page 135 of "Cooking with Spirits" under her maiden name, Marge Di Marco.

ASSEMBLED in layers, lasagna consists of the pasta, a ricotta cheese mixture, Mozzarella cheese and a savory herb-flavored tomato sauce. Red Chianti, a dry Italian wine, is used as the "spirit" in this dish.

Coupled with a nippy tossed salad and hot garlic-buttered French bread, this tempting dinner would please the most discriminating gourmet.

It is perfect for buffet-style suppers and Mrs. Nelson, who does a good deal of outdoor entertaining on one or the other of her two lovely patios, finds it is ideal for this purpose, too.

For dessert she suggests a Chocolate Icebox Cake made from an old, old recipe which belonged to her mother-in-law.

"ORIGINALLY non-spirited, I added the ale to this recipe," admitted Mrs. Nelson. She melts German sweet chocolate in this spirit before combining it with the eggs, sugar, nuts and whipped cream.

Assembled in a loaf pan, this chocolate mixture is alternated with layers of lady fingers and chilled for 24 hours. It has a fascinating flavor and is a delightful dessert treat.

These two excellent recipes may encourage you to tipple a bit with cooking, and even the timid cook may find the idea quite intoxicating. But the result, we hasten to add, will be quite harmless because the alcoholic content of liquors evaporates in cooking as well as flaming, leaving only the flavor behind.

IN ADDITION to being a capable cook, Mrs. Nelson is also a busy and experienced career woman. Formerly associated with a loop advertising agency as assistant to the director of media, Mrs. Nelson also sold radio time and produced radio shows for station WNMP in Evanston.

She is now a saleswoman for Rodewald Realty Co. in Arlington Heights and is a member of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson moved from Wilmette to their home at 436 N. Benton in Palatine six years ago. They are members of St. Theresa Catholic church.

Give Old Favorite New Supreme Twist

Family food favorites can be and should be repeated often. However, give them a new twist so they don't become monotonous.

Tuna Noodle Casserole Supreme — a favorite of long standing takes on a surprising new look when you use one of the myriad of shapes of versatile noodles and a tasty new flavor when sauced with canned condensed soup.

CREAM OF vegetable soup sauces this variation. It adds smoothness, color, and added nutrition because of the vegetable content.

A mixed green salad—crisp lettuce and curly endive with an oil and vinegar dressing goes so well with this tempting casserole. Dessert — a sparkling fruited lemon gelatin accompanied by fancy cookies gives supper a "spring-like" air.

TUNA NOODLE SUPREME

2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed cream of vegetable soup
1 cup cooked tomatoes (or one 8-ounce can)
3 cups cooked bow noodles (about 5 ounces uncooked)
1 can (7 ounces) tuna, drained and flaked

Cook onion and parsley in butter until onion is tender. Stir in soup and tomatoes; combine with noodles and tuna in a 1½-quart casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) for 30 minutes.

Makes four servings.

Blueburgers Will Score On Father's Day Sunday

If your family is typical, Dad probably will want to cook out on Father's Day instead of going out to a fancy restaurant. This is one meal out of the year that he probably will insist on planning from start to finish, although he may need hel pto carry out his plans.

One of the best food combinations, according to men who enjoy cooking and eating, is beef and blu cheese. This duo can be combined in an outdoor treat by grilling the family delicious blueburgers, which are beef patties topped with crumbled American blue cheese.

THE LOW-CALORIE blue cheese is put on top of the burgers just before they are removed from the grill. Pungent blue cheese gives the beef a very special flavor—one that will make a big hit with Dad and the rest of the family.

Dad may even want to make himself a super blueburger—two thin patties with blue cheese in the middle. This double blueburger must be cooked longer, of course, but it is just right for "he-man" appetites.

MAKE SURE that the edges of the patties are pinched together so that the chees will not come out during cooking.

Blueburgers are delicious with baked potatoes, which Dad can wrap in foil and cook o nthe grill ,or potato salad. Someone in the family can give him a hand with the potato salad and a large tossed green salad.

Add Dd's favorite outdoor beverage and you have the basics for a successful Father's Day meal right in your own back yard.

Blueburgers Will Score On Father's Day Sunday

If your family is typical, Dad probably will want to cook out on Father's Day instead of going out to a fancy restaurant. This is one meal out of the year that he probably will insist on planning from start to finish, although he may need hel pto carry out his plans.

One of the best food combinations, according to men who enjoy cooking and eating, is beef and blu cheese. This duo can be combined in an outdoor treat by grilling the family delicious blueburgers, which are beef patties topped with crumbled American blue cheese.

THE LOW-CALORIE blue cheese is put on top of the burgers just before they are removed from the grill. Pungent blue cheese gives the beef a very special flavor—one that will make a big hit with Dad and the rest of the family.

Dad may even want to make himself a super blueburger—two thin patties with blue cheese in the middle. This double blueburger must be cooked longer, of course, but it is just right for "he-man" appetites.

MAKE SURE that the edges of the patties are pinched together so that the chees will not come out during cooking.

Blueburgers are delicious with baked potatoes, which Dad can wrap in foil and cook o nthe grill ,or potato salad. Someone in the family can give him a hand with the potato salad and a large tossed green salad.

Add Dd's favorite outdoor beverage and you have the basics for a successful Father's Day meal right in your own back yard.

Its Timeless Lessons

The Outdoor Classroom

by DICK HOFFMANN

This classroom includes a river which wanders along with an apparent indifference to direction; it exhibits a host of wonders from Burdock root and Fleabane to Addler's Tongue and Mandrake.

It's lessons are timeless, yet have always inspired an awe and mysticism even among its most academic beholders; its instructor is celebrated in the poet's lyrics, embodied in some religious thought, and attended with reverence by biologists.

It is the River Trail Nature center, located three miles south of Wheeling on the west side of Milwaukee ave., wedged into the triangle of land formed with River rd., where Mother Nature holds classes.

Here, Cook county forest preserve personnel have created an outdoor laboratory that is the delight of youngsters and teachers. The graphic lessons that nature conveys are marked along trails which wind under a canopy of foilage near the Des Plaines River.

One brightly illustrated sign along the trail bears a warning of poisonous mushrooms. One would think its author was the poet, John Milton. It points out the deceptive and dangerous lures of such woodland Lorelei as "Death Cap" and "Destroying Angel."

Another sign whose author was moved to eloquence states, "Like a spreading system of ancient aqueducts, these thirsty maple roots pump water and minerals by way of the trunk to food-making green leaves." It adds the observation that the exposed roots develop trunk-like bark for protection.

"The trail stories are changed with the seasons," Roland Eisenbeis, superintendent of conservation for the forest preserve district, explained. Exhibits in the nature center building are also subject to revision. Currently, in the center school children can marvel over activity conducted in a bee hive (although Eisenbeis confided that a virus sweeping through the bee colony will require obtaining another exhibit); they can view the construction of a birch bark canoe, press a button to illuminate a screen which shows microscopic pond life, or watch the hypnotic undulations of lake fish in the center's aquariums.

"Between 600 and 700 people visit the center and walk the trails daily," Eisenbeis volunteered. Weekend numbers he wouldn't even venture to estimate.

Surrounding the center is a herb garden, where catnip, bitter nightshade and heal-all are sprouting; nearby, is an exhibit of herb medicines, with walnut leaves, bittersweet twigs, poultices, tonics and balms, along with a faded copy of "The Herbalist."

A modest weather station, a pollen count station and bird attraction methods are also exhibited around the center. Just down the wood chip trail is the "Nassawaogan," the conical bark tepee which was stylish with Great Lakes Indian tribes.

"We raise Indian corn, squash and pumpkins the same way the Indians did, just mounding the earth instead of extensively cultivating the crop," Eisenbeis noted. Explanation is also offered at this exhibit of what an Indian feast entailed, including such delicacies as bear's feet and beaver's tail.

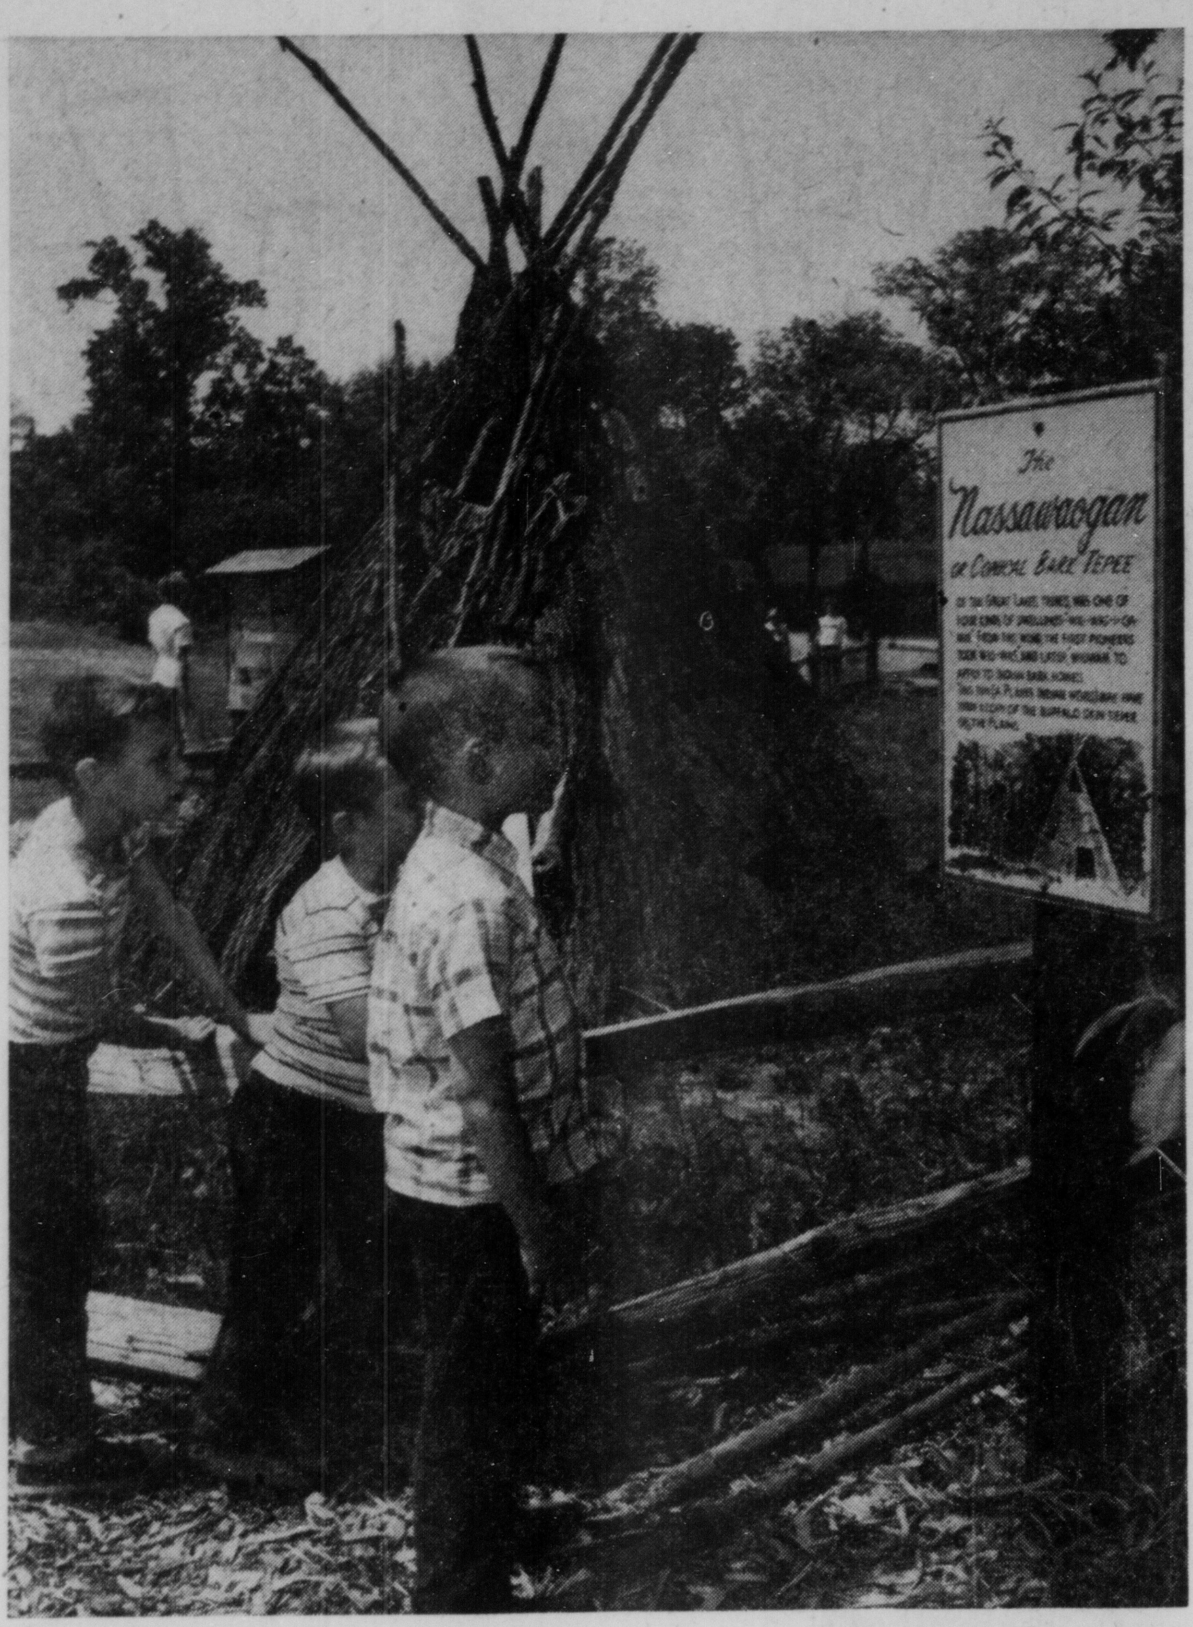
An old, weathered log, hollowed out by time, is wired with the modern convenience of a tape recorder to recount the Indians who had passed by "If this log could talk."

At a point in the river where it forms an almost perfect ox-bow, Eisenbeis says a photographer's blind will be installed. The still waters of the ox-bow are an invitation to ducks, Heron and Bittern. "We want to put in a small dam, though, to create more of a pond; the water's not deep enough now," the conservationist pointed out.

The nature center has three of the larger animals to be found in the forest preserve confined to outdoor cages, with the raccoon, opossum and fox wards of the forest preserve. "But I doubt if we'll get any more; we're trying to discourage turning this place into a zoo."

Eisenbeis added that County Board President John J. Duffy has suggested that the forest preserve district mark out a farm as they have the nature center since this is also a slice of Americana disappearing from Cook county.

The categorizing and cataloging which the forest preserve district does lends emphasis to the workings of nature. But one of the most impressive sights in the nature center woods bears no label. It is a group of towering red oak trees which look like narrow, resilient spikes which have been flung from heaven to impale the earth. Like arrows from the blue, their leaves lend to the impression of shafts which have been driven from the tension of a bow. But as if violence has been spent, they form a cathedral of green cover from reminders of the outside world.



THE NASSAWAOGAN, or conical bark tepee, was in style when Great Lakes tribes roamed the area. Here youngsters visiting the River Trail Nature center learn that the word wigwam evolved from "Wig-Was-I-Gamig." First pioneers abbreviated this to "Wig-Was" and later "Wigwam."

HOW TO MEASURE A TREE
(VOLUME IN BOARD FEET)
1. FIND THE DIAMETER (SEE INSTRUCTIONS ON TREE).
2. SIGHT FROM TOP OF THIS BOARD TO BOTTOM MARKER, THEN UP TRUNK TO A POINT WHERE YOU THINK THE TREE WILL GIVE NO MORE STRAIGHT LOGS. YOUR LINE OF SIGHT CUTS THE SCALE MARKED "NUMBER OF 12' LOGS."
3. THE RIGHT HAND BOTTOM SCALE IS USED TO MEASURE BOARD FEET. MATCH THE DIAMETER OF THE TREE WITH THE LENGTH OF 12' LOGS—A 24" DIAMETER TREE OF 3-12' LOGS GIVES 460 BOARD FEET.

Banner Athletic Campaign for Knights

Prospect High Concludes Another Outstanding Year

Two League Crowns for PHS Squads

(Last week Paddock Publications presented a rundown of Arlington high school's 1960-61 athletic year. Prospect high has also terminated its athletic campaign and a review of that outstanding year follows).

By BOB FRISK

It was another big year for athletics at Prospect high school.

On a percentage basis Prospect won 75 per cent of its encounters for all levels of competition.

On a varsity level the Knights picked off two Interim league championships and were state ranked in both football and basketball.

Football guard Jeff Rogers and basketball forward George Pomey gained All-State honors, and Bill Zadel was a near-miss in both sports. The school boasted 20 all-conference selections in the five sports that pick all-star teams.

ONCE AGAIN, football and basketball played major roles in building the Prospect name among the elite in state high school circles.

Coach Bill Beckman's gridiron powerhouse rolled over eight opponents and picked off the loop crown with ease. In the season windup the Knights belted defending champion Glenbrook 46-0.

Prospect boasted eight all-league football players with ends Dennis "Dutch" Leonard and Mel Aukamp, tackle Jim Minikel, guard Jeff Rogers, center Bill Zadel, and backs Fred Lussow, Tom Petrosino, Keith Voigt, and Bruce Andrise.

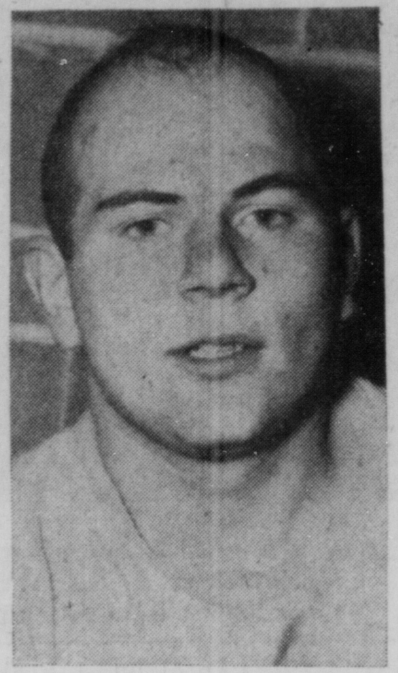
PETROSINO, a hard-running halfback, was the top ground-gainer with 561 yards and a 5.6 per carry average, and he and Keith Voigt tied for the Interim league scoring crown with seven touchdowns each.

Coach Dick Kinneman's varsity cagers enjoyed a brilliant campaign with 25 victories in 27 games, a regional championship, and crowns in the Geneva and Kankakee holiday tournaments.

Only an overtime loss to fired-up Crystal Lake kept the Knights from a sectional title shot and possible state tourney berth.

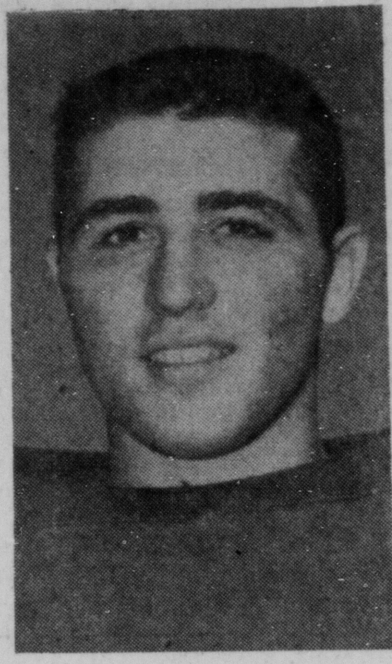
POMEY WAS the individual standout although each member of the squad played an important role in its success. However, the 6-4 forward topped the squad in scoring, boasted a share of the school scoring record for a single game, and earned All-State and All-Interim recognition.

BILL ZADEL



DARRYL PHILLIPS

GEORGE POMEY



TOM PETROSINO

George popped in 492 points for the season and finished second behind East Leyden's Jim Rodgers in the battle for the league scoring title. Zadel finished third in the Interim scoring derby, and Palmer also figured in some offensive heroics with 32 points against Maryville Academy in the regional opener.

Prospect had an 11-1 Interim record as it rolled to the crown with its only loss a 62-60 thriller to Wheaton's Tigers.

Joining Pomey and Zadel on the all-star team were guards Fred Lussow and Fred Empkie.

FOOTBALL and basketball were the big headline-makers but you can't overlook the seven other sports in an examination of the Prospect high school story for 1960-61.

Coach Ken Arneson's varsity cross country team finished third in the conference run with Rog Luedke coming home with a tenth for the top local place. Brad Blair was 16th, Cliff Stock 20th, George Renner 25th, and Jim Freyer 27th. The frosh-sophs picked off the crown in the league run with a winning total of 71 points.

Highlight of the varsity gymnastics season was a tie for second in the rough Northern Illinois Invitational. Coach Rick Farris' Knights finished with a sixth in the state test and had four all-league selections.

MAKING THE all-star team were Ray Strobel on the Trampoline, Dave Price in the all-around and on the horizontal bar, Bill Palmer on the parallel bars, and Dan Malloy on the still rings.

Coach Dick Mudge's varsity wrestling unit came in with a creditable 5-3 league mark, good for third place, and landed two spots on the loop's all-star team with Capt. Bob Trausch at 120 and Darryl Phillips at heavyweight.

Trausch and Phillips earned trips downstate to the state finals as both boys won district and sectional crowns. Doug Vaughan also journeyed to Champaign-Urbana when an injury sidelined one sectional finalist.

TRAUSCH WAS 19-5 over the season with 12 straight wins before bowing in state competition. Phillips was 21-3 and dropped his second match in Champaign.

The varsity tennis squad, under the direction of Rick Farris, made quite a bit of noise in the spring sports campaign with a solid second in Interim competition after a disappointing cellar finish in 1960.

Vaughn Kirchoff copped the No. 2 singles crown in the league and runnerup slots were claimed by the doubles teams of John Heuer and Tom Gewecke and Gordon Hunt and Newell Krogmann and singles players Lothar Hanson and Jerry Gehrke.

HIGHLIGHT of the varsity baseball season was a district championship and runnerup spot in the regional tournament. Coach Chuck Aldrich's squad was 7-10 overall and 3-7 in league firing.

Southpaw Mark Thorne and Mike Francek were all-league selections with Thorne boasting an impressive 0.53 earned run average for 65 innings of work. Francek hit .346 as a third baseman.

Coach Frank Wright's varsity linksmen finished 6-2 in Interim duals and tied for fourth in the conference meet. Top boy in the Interim firing was Jim Palmer with an 80 and in district competition Prospect's golfers finished six strokes out of first with Jeff Louthain's 79 leading the way.

BACKING Louthain's 79 in the district test at Golden Acres were 81s by Reg Hawkinson and Byron Wilson and an 83 by Palmer.

Two juniors earned trips downstate in track and Coach Bob Scott's varsity thinclads picked off a fourth in the Interim league meet. Shot putter Jim Peters and pole vaulter Tom Flynn qualified for the state finals at the Evanston district but neither placed in the cinder spectacular.

Peters picked up a second in the shot and Darryl Phillips a second in the discus for the top varsity finishes in the Interim meet. Prospect placed sixth in the Class A competition of the Palatine Relays with Flynn tying for first in the pole vault at 12-1.

The future is promising with the frosh-soph cindermen claiming a strong second in the loop test.

IT WAS ANOTHER big year for athletics at Prospect high school.

The future is clouded with uncertainty as a tremendous group of athletes departed with the June graduation.

Prospect will miss its Lussows, Pomeys, Empkies, Zadels, Rogers, Thornes, et al., but there's a promising group of youngsters ready to step into the important varsity positions.

Prospect has reason to be proud of its past two years of interscholastic athletics. Few schools have ever opened up with such pronounced success.

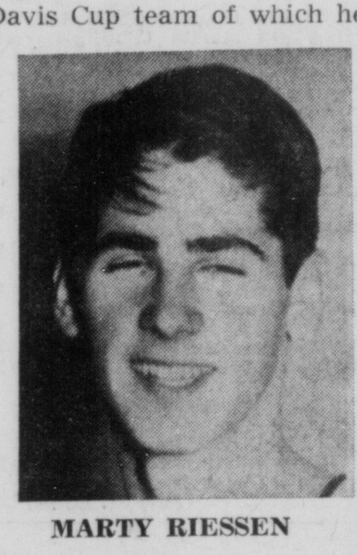
KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB FRISK

MR. TENNIS in West Suburban and state circles for four straight years will compete in both the Wimbledon and Queen's tennis tournaments in England late this month, a report from Hinsdale indicates.

Marty Riessen, a freshman at Northwestern University who won four straight state singles championships while playing for Hinsdale high school, was scheduled to leave today (Thursday) and return on July 6.

Following his return from England, he will compete in the trials for the United States Davis Cup team of which he has been a member for the past three years.



MARTY RIESSEN

In addition to picking off four straight state singles championships, Marty also took four West Suburban crowns. He paced Hinsdale to three state and four league titles.

In sweeping to his remarkable fourth state singles title Riessen also achieved the almost incredible distinction of not having lost even one set in four years of district and state final competition.

Riessen was also quite a basketball player at Hinsdale and he earned his frosh numerals in the hardwood sport this past winter at Northwestern. Mary was involved in the tremendous individual battle for the West Suburban scoring crown during the 1959-60 season with Arlington's George Bork finally emerging as titlist with a five-point margin over the Hinsdale standout.

TAKING OVER YORK HIGH'S varsity basketball team next winter will be Dick Campbell, frosh-soph head for two years at the Elmhurst school.

In six years of coaching basketball Campbell has compiled a 96-38 record. In his first year at York he coached the frosh-soph squad to the West Suburban championship and last year his Barons finished 16-5 during the campaign.

Campbell played five years of professional baseball in the Philadelphia Phils organization and was a member of the United States Army team that won the National Amateur baseball title at Wichita, Kan., in 1953.

With the recent announcement that Glenbard West's Bob Metcalf has resigned to take over a position with University high school in Normal, Ill., the West Suburban conference will now have four new varsity basketball coaches next winter at Arlington, York, Riverside, and Glenbard.

HOW TIMES CHANGE DEPARTMENT . . . Three men on the dining circuit the other night in Chicago got to looking back to Windy City sports some 16 years ago . . . Bill Bell, Bud Booth and Richie Ashburn. Bill and Bud, both with that "where have I seen you before" look, discovered that they at that time had stood together outside in the cold waiting for those prized front row second balcony seats at the Chicago Stadium for hockey games. They learned they'd become charter members of the first Black Hawk fan club, the Standbys, at a time when the hockey team was the worst. At this point, Ashburn, the Chicago Cub departed the scene as he perhaps recalled that it was back 16 years ago that the Cubs won a pennant. Today, of course, the Hawks are the world champs and the Cubs . . . well, let's not go into that.

DON BRAGG BELIEVES pole vaulting records should be divided into two classes for those using fibre-glass poles and those who use metal poles. Bragg's world record was tumbled by Oklahoma State soph George Davis recently, and Davis used a fibre-glass which has the whip of a casting rod.

"I believe 16-0 to 16-1 can be reached with metal poles, but it could be 16-6 with the glass job," he remarked.

Winterbauer's 175-5½ Toss Still Tops State in Discus

An Arlington high school product still holds Illinois' top discus throw in history, according to the official listing this week of the all-time best track and field marks in the state.

Dick Winterbauer, a 1954 graduate of Arlington, tossed the discus 175-5½ in the Riverside Relays and that standard still ranks as the top throw in the state's history.

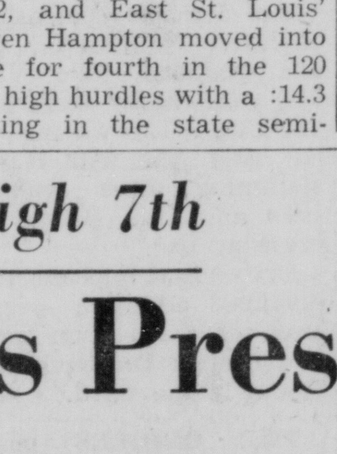
Four boys have topped the 170 mark with East St. Louis' Cloyd Webb turning the trick twice in 1959. Webb, holder of the state record at 172-3, got off a 173-10 toss in his senior year.

ARLINGTON'S Bill Palmer and Dave Schimmel just missed berths on the select listing. Palmer has the Illinois state high jump record at 6-5¼, and Schimmel owns a :19.4 clocking in the 180 yard lows, both marks close but not able to crack the top five or six in history.

Several boys made the list this spring as the state enjoyed one of its biggest years in track and field. Aided by the wind, Zion-Benton's Theo Cox made both the 100 and 220 yard dash rankings with impressive efforts in the Evanston district test.

The top three clockings in the 440 yard dash were turned in this year. Urbana's Thom Walters boasts the top two at :48.4 and :48.7 although Rock Island's Tommy Thomas also recorded a snappy :48.7. Walters' marks are the top newcomers to the list although New Trier's Chuck Mercein has the four best winning efforts in the shot put, all over 60 feet.

HIGHLAND PARK'S Jim Weinert moved into second in the mile run when he reeled off his 4:16.2 in winning the state. The fourth and fifth best mile standards were also registered this spring.



DICK WINTERBAUER

Chicago (Taft) took over the lead in the 880 yard relay when the quartet raced to a 1:28.2, and East St. Louis' Warren Hampton moved into a tie for fourth in the 120 yard high hurdles with a :14.3 clocking in the state semi-finals. York's Gaylord Morse now boasts a fourth in the low hurdles with his :19.1 achieved in the Morton district.

LaGrange's Tom Atkinson and Rock Island's Jeff Tyler have spots in their specialties, the broad jump and high jump respectively, and Palatine's Andy Merutka is sixth in the shot put.

LaGrange has the President's Cup again after yielding the coveted trophy last year to Hinsdale.

The powerful Lions breezed to their 13th title in the past 14 years with seven West Suburban championships for the 1960-61 school year, five on a frosh-soph level.

Last year Hinsdale captured the Cup with an aggregate 48 points for 16 divisions. LaGrange was second with 54½. The Lions won this year with 40 markers and a 21½ point bulge over runnerup Hinsdale.

The President's Cup is a traveling trophy—although it's spent most of its time at LaGrange—awarded annually to the school with the best composite record in all West Suburban sports except gymnastics. The composite rankings of the schools are determined by adding together the numbers of the place standings of each school in each of the sports. The school with the lowest total gains the Cup.

LaGRANGE HAD won the title every year since 1948 until Hinsdale broke the domination during the 1959-60 campaign. Only a tie with Hinsdale in '52 had marred an otherwise perfect mark. Since the Cup originated in 1924, six schools have claimed the title with only Arlington and Downers Grove missing a crown.

Arlington high school, a fifth place finisher last year, dropped to seventh this season although its frosh-soph squads ranked fourth in the overall ranking. The varsity units placed seventh.

Arlington didn't boast any conference champions but did own seconds in frosh-soph baseball and varsity tennis and a tie for second in frosh-soph tennis. In addition, the Cards had thirds in frosh-soph cross country and varsity wrestling.

LaGRANGE'S seven championships, tying the total Hinsdale claimed last year, came in frosh-soph cross country, frosh-soph wrestling, frosh-soph basketball, varsity baseball, varsity track, frosh-soph track, and frosh-soph tennis.

Hinsdale managed to pick up five West Suburban crowns in 1960-61 in varsity and frosh-soph football, varsity and frosh-soph golf, and varsity tennis. Maine won championships in varsity basketball and frosh-soph baseball and tied for the top in varsity wrestling.

Arlington, York, and Riverside-Brookfield were the only schools that failed to win at least one conference title although York's state champion gymnasts would have ruled that sport if it were recognized in the league.

Plan Unveiling Of Classic Club

Beautiful Arlington Park, more than ever the showplace of American thoroughbred racing with its ultramodern, glass-enclosed trackside restaurant, The Classic Club, ready for unveiling, opens the longest season, 67 days, in its colorful history Monday with the $15,000 added Meadowland Turf Handicap.

The Meadowland touches off an overall program of $3,500,000 in stakes and purses to be distributed during the spectacular 11-week season which doesn't close until Labor Day, Sept. 4. The 67-day run embraces 11 Saturdays, also Fourth of July as well as the climactic Labor Day bill.

First post Monday will be 2:30 — as it will be every Wednesday. Post time for the first race on Saturdays and holidays has been set for 2 p.m.

Management will throw open its gates Sunday (June 18) for a special "open House" ceremony, permitting Chicago race-goers an "early-bird" look-see at the spanking new, three-terraced Classic Club, plus multiple other improvements and additions.

A NEW PADDOCK structure with colorful covered stalls for saddling purposes, plus a semi-circular new winner's circle area are "newest look" for 1961. A new clubhouse entrance, plus Arlington Park's new one mile chute extension off the backstretch also will get their first use Monday.

Chicago and North Western Railroad has scheduled its complete train service to fit the Arlington post-time run-off. In addition to its regular track specials, it will service patrons with its new air-conditioned, double-decker Diesel trains every hour on the half-hour.

Motorists will have an easy time of it, too, now that the Northwest Expressway-Tollway has been completed, bringing Arlington Park to within 30 minutes of the Loop.

BEFORE THE summer season is over, such important headliners as the "twin" $200,000-plus Arlington and Washington Park Futurities for two-year-olds; the $75,000 Arlington Classic and $100,000 Washington Park Handicap for older horses will have commanded national interest.

The red-hot duel between jockey greats, Bill Hartack and John Sellers, will be a daily highlight—they'll soon be joined by Braulio Baeza and William Shoemaker.

The horse colony will take a back seat to none—what with Carry Back, Crozier, Bass Clef, Oink, Indian Maid, Ridan, Obey, Matthias, Sherluck, Equifun, Heroshogala and Flutterby, among others, set for appearances in one or more of the 21 stakes punctuating the 67-day meeting.

An invasion of California stables is expected shortly, with Rex C. Ellsworth's Santa Anita Handicap champion, Prove It, and Alberta Ranches' Santa Anita Derby winner, Four-and-Twenty, due to join the local backstretch colony.

THREE STAKES will highlight opening-week activity. Monday's Meadowland at 5½ furlongs on the turf is shaping up as a slam-bang contest. William S. Miller's Clang hero, Matthias, and Harkins-Bellardi's speed-inspired Benedicto, which holds the world speed mark for a grass sprint, will meet.

Other Meadowland possibilities are Vern Lea Farm's Noholme, George H. Willis' Will Ye, Fred W. Hooper's Alhambra and the Kennedy-Veale Stable's Vital Force, among others.

Wednesday's mid-week headliner will be the 49th running of the $15,000 added Hyde Park Stakes, 5½ furlongs dash for two-year-olds, which should bring together Mrs. Moody Jolley's unbeaten Ridan and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Herffs' highly-regarded Obey, among others.

ON SATURDAY, Arlington's first week of sports roars to a close with the Laurance Armour Memorial, $30,000 1 1/8 miles tour for three-year-olds and upward, occupying the spotlight.

The Armour should lure Jacnot Stable's Oink, who already sports stakes triumphs in the Round Table and Citation Handicaps this spring at Washington Park. Alamode Farm's Mail Order, I. J. Collins' Derrick and Natjolee Stable's Cactus Tom are definite starters.

Team pictures of Mt. Prospect Little League teams will be taken this Saturday morning, June 17, starting at 9 o'clock at Lions Park.

Prospect High Concludes Another Outstanding Year

Two League Crowns for PHS Squads

(Last week Paddock Publications presented a rundown of Arlington high school's 1960-61 athletic year. Prospect high has also terminated its athletic campaign and a review of that outstanding year follows).

By BOB FRISK

It was another big year for athletics at Prospect high school.

On a percentage basis Prospect won 75 per cent of its encounters for all levels of competition.

On a varsity level the Knights picked off two Interim league championships and were state ranked in both football and basketball.

Football guard Jeff Rogers and basketball forward George Pomey gained All-State honors, and Bill Zadel was a near-miss in both sports. The school boasted 20 all-conference selections in the five sports that pick all-star teams.

ONCE AGAIN, football and basketball played major roles in building the Prospect name among the elite in state high school circles.

Coach Bill Beckman's gridiron powerhouse rolled over eight opponents and picked off the loop crown with ease. In the season windup the Knights belted defending champion Glenbrook 46-0.

Prospect boasted eight all-league football players with ends Dennis "Dutch" Leonard and Mel Aukamp, tackle Jim Minikel, guard Jeff Rogers, center Bill Zadel, and backs Fred Lussow, Tom Petrosino, Keith Voigt, and Bruce Andrise.

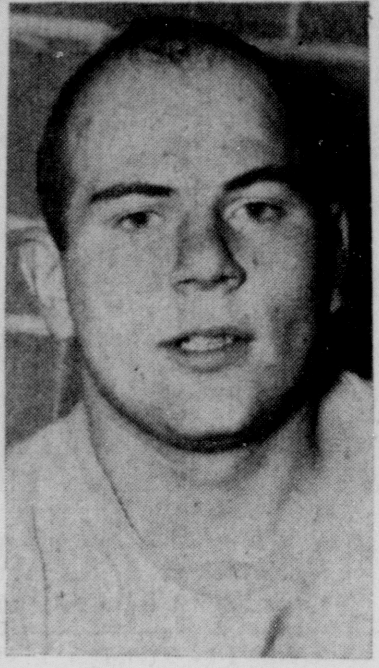
PETROSINO, a hard-running halfback, was the top ground-gainer with 561 yards and a 5.6 per carry average, and he and Keith Voigt tied for the Interim league scoring crown with seven touchdowns each.

Coach Dick Kinneman's varsity cagers enjoyed a brilliant campaign with 25 victories in 27 games, a regional championship, and crowns in the Geneva and Kankakee holiday tournaments.

Only an overtime loss to fired-up Crystal Lake kept the Knights from a sectional title shot and possible state tourney berth.

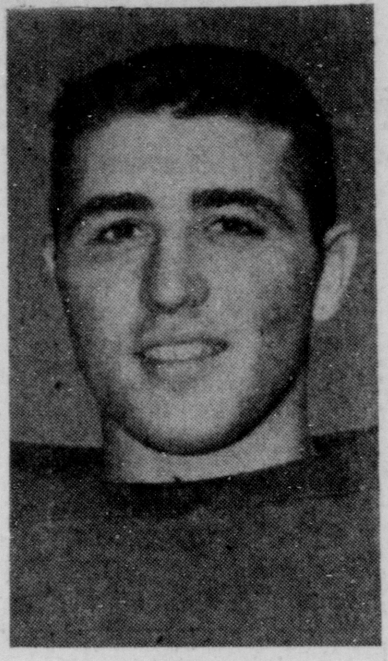
POMEY WAS the individual standout although each member of the squad played an important role in its success. However, the 6-4 forward topped the squad in scoring, boasted a share of the school scoring record for a single game, and earned All-State and All-Interim recognition.

BILL ZADEL



DARRYL PHILLIPS

GEORGE POMEY



TOM PETROSINO

George popped in 492 points for the season and finished second behind East Leyden's Jim Rodgers in the battle for the league scoring title. Zadel finished third in the Interim scoring derby, and Palmer also figured in some offensive heroics with 32 points against Maryville Academy in the regional opener.

Prospect had an 11-1 Interim record as it rolled to the crown with its only loss a 62-60 thriller to Wheaton's Tigers.

Joining Pomey and Zadel on the all-star team were guards Fred Lussow and Fred Empkie.

FOOTBALL and basketball were the big headline-makers but you can't overlook the seven other sports in an examination of the Prospect high school story for 1960-61.

Coach Ken Arneson's varsity cross country team finished third in the conference run with Rog Luedke coming home with a tenth for the top local place. Brad Blair was 16th, Cliff Stock 20th, George Renner 25th, and Jim Freyer 27th. The frosh-sophs picked off the crown in the league run with a winning total of 71 points.

Highlight of the varsity gymnastics season was a tie for second in the rough Northern Illinois Invitational. Coach Rick Farris' Knights finished with a sixth in the state test and had four all-league selections.

MAKING THE all-star team were Ray Strobel on the Trampoline, Dave Price in the all-around and on the horizontal bar, Bill Palmer on the parallel bars, and Dan Malloy on the still rings.

Coach Dick Mudge's varsity wrestling unit came in with a creditable 5-3 league mark, good for third place, and landed two spots on the loop's all-star team with Capt. Bob Trausch at 120 and Darryl Phillips at heavyweight.

Trausch and Phillips earned trips downstate to the state finals as both boys won district and sectional crowns. Doug Vaughan also journeyed to Champaign-Urbana when an injury sidelined one sectional finalist.

TRAUSCH WAS 19-5 over the season with 12 straight wins before bowing in state competition. Phillips was 21-3 and dropped his second match in Champaign.

The varsity tennis squad, under the direction of Rick Farris, made quite a bit of noise in the spring sports campaign with a solid second in Interim competition after a disappointing cellar finish in 1960.

Vaughn Kirchoff copped the No. 2 singles crown in the league and runnerup slots were claimed by the doubles teams of John Heuer and Tom Gewecke and Gordon Hunt and Newell Krogmann and singles players Lothar Hanson and Jerry Gehrke.

HIGHLIGHT of the varsity baseball season was a district championship and runnerup spot in the regional tournament. Coach Chuck Aldrich's squad was 7-10 overall and 3-7 in league firing.

Southpaw Mark Thorne and Mike Francek were all-league selections with Thorne boasting an impressive 0.53 earned run average for 65 innings of work. Francek hit .346 as a third baseman.

Coach Frank Wright's varsity linksmen finished 6-2 in Interim duals and tied for fourth in the conference meet. Top boy in the Interim firing was Jim Palmer with an 80 and in district competition Prospect's golfers finished six strokes out of first with Jeff Louthain's 79 leading the way.

BACKING Louthain's 79 in the district test at Golden Acres were 81s by Reg Hawkinson and Byron Wilson and an 83 by Palmer.

Two juniors earned trips downstate in track and Coach Bob Scott's varsity thinclads picked off a fourth in the Interim league meet. Shot putter Jim Peters and pole vaulter Tom Flynn qualified for the state finals at the Evanston district but neither placed in the cinder spectacular.

Peters picked up a second in the shot and Darryl Phillips a second in the discus for the top varsity finishes in the Interim meet. Prospect placed sixth in the Class A competition of the Palatine Relays with Flynn tying for first in the pole vault at 12-1.

The future is promising with the frosh-soph cindermen claiming a strong second in the loop test.

IT WAS ANOTHER big year for athletics at Prospect high school.

The future is clouded with uncertainty as a tremendous group of athletes departed with the June graduation.

Prospect will miss its Lussows, Pomeys, Empkies, Zadels, Rogers, Thornes, et al., but there's a promising group of youngsters ready to step into the important varsity positions.

Prospect has reason to be proud of its past two years of interscholastic athletics. Few schools have ever opened up with such pronounced success.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

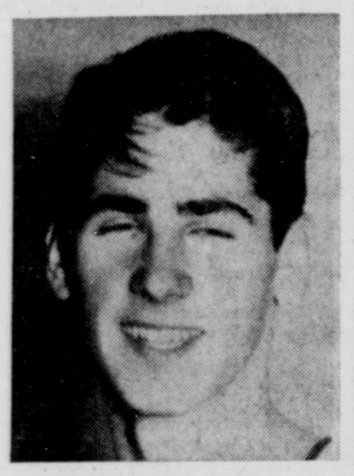
MR. TENNIS in West Suburban and state circles for four straight years will compete in both the Wimbledon and Queen's tennis tournaments in England late this month, a report from Hinsdale indicates.

Marty Riessen, a freshman at Northwestern University who won four straight state singles championships while playing for Hinsdale high school, was scheduled to leave today (Thursday) and return on July 6.

Following his return from England, he will compete in the trials for the United States Davis Cup team of which he has been a member for the past three years.



MARTY RIESSEN

In addition to picking off four straight state singles championships, Marty also took four West Suburban crowns. He paced Hinsdale to three state and four league titles.

In sweeping to his remarkable fourth state singles title Riessen also achieved the almost incredible distinction of not having lost even one set in four years of district and state final competition.

Riessen was also quite a basketball player at Hinsdale and he earned his frosh numerals in the hardwood sport this past winter at Northwestern. Mary was involved in the tremendous individual battle for the West Suburban scoring crown during the 1959-60 season with Arlington's George Bork finally emerging as titlist with a five-point margin over the Hinsdale standout.

TAKING OVER YORK HIGH'S varsity basketball team next winter will be Dick Campbell, frosh-soph head for two years at the Elmhurst school.

In six years of coaching basketball Campbell has compiled a 96-38 record. In his first year at York he coached the frosh-soph squad to the West Suburban championship and last year his Barons finished 16-5 during the campaign.

Campbell played five years of professional baseball in the Philadelphia Phils organization and was a member of the United States Army team that won the National Amateur baseball title at Wichita, Kan., in 1953.

With the recent announcement that Glenbard West's Bob Metcalf has resigned to take over a position with University high school in Normal, Ill., the West Suburban conference will now have four new varsity basketball coaches next winter at Arlington, York, Riverside, and Glenbard.

HOW TIMES CHANGE DEPARTMENT . . . Three men on the dining circuit the other night in Chicago got to looking back to Windy City sports some 16 years ago . . . Bill Bell, Bud Booth and Richie Ashburn. Bill and Bud, both with that "where have I seen you before" look, discovered that they at that time had stood together outside in the cold waiting for those prized front row second balcony seats at the Chicago Stadium for hockey games. They learned they'd become charter members of the first Black Hawk fan club, the Standbys, at a time when the hockey team was the worst. At this point, Ashburn, the Chicago Cub departed the scene as he perhaps recalled that it was back 16 years ago that the Cubs won a pennant. Today, of course, the Hawks are the world champs and the Cubs . . . well, let's not go into that.

Booth, by the way, is former Paddock Publications associate editor, now in public relations. Bell writes the CBS-TV serial, "As the World Turns." His wife is popular Lee Phillip of CBS.

DON BRAGG BELIEVES pole vaulting records should be divided into two classes for those using fibre-glass poles and those who use metal poles. Bragg's world record was tumbled by Oklahoma State soph George Davis recently, and Davis used a fibre-glass which has the whip of a casting rod.

"I believe 16-0 to 16-1 can be reached with metal poles, but it could be 16-6 with the glass job," he remarked.

Winterbauer's 175-5½ Toss Still Tops State in Discus

An Arlington high school product still holds Illinois' top discus throw in history, according to the official listing this week of the all-time best track and field marks in the state.

Dick Winterbauer, a 1954 graduate of Arlington, tossed the discus 175-5½ in the Riverside Relays and that standard still ranks as the top throw in the state's history.

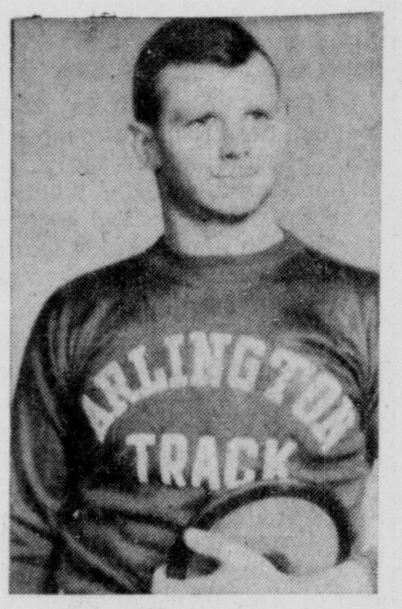
Four boys have topped the 170 mark with East St. Louis' Cloyd Webb turning the trick twice in 1959. Webb, holder of the state record at 172-3, got off a 173-10 toss in his senior year.

ARLINGTON'S Bill Palmer and Dave Schimmel just missed berths on the select listing. Palmer has the Illinois state high jump record at 6-5¼, and Schimmel owns a :19.4 clocking in the 180 yard lows, both marks close but not able to crack the top five or six in history.

Several boys made the list this spring as the state enjoyed one of its biggest years in track and field. Aided by the wind, Zion-Benton's Theo Cox made both the 100 and 220 yard dash rankings with impressive efforts in the Evanston district test.

The top three clockings in the 440 yard dash were turned in this year. Urbana's Thom Walters boasts the top two at :48.4 and :48.7 although Rock Island's Tommy Thomas also recorded a snappy :48.7. Walters' marks are the top newcomers to the list although New Trier's Chuck Mercein has the four best winning efforts in the shot put, all over 60 feet.

HIGHLAND PARK'S Jim Weinert moved into second in the mile run when he reeled off his 4:16.2 in winning the state. The fourth and fifth best mile standards were also registered this spring.



DICK WINTERBAUER

Chicago (Taft) took over the lead in the 880 yard relay when the quartet raced to a 1:28.2, and East St. Louis' Warren Hampton moved into a tie for fourth in the 120 yard high hurdles with a :14.3 clocking in the state semifinals. La Grange Cops President's Cup for 1960-61 Campaign

LaGrange has the President's Cup again after yielding the coveted trophy last year to Hinsdale.

IN RECENT YEARS basketball players from certain suburban schools have attended certain summer camps where well-known coaches have given instruction in basketball. These schools have been so successful that information about this fact has leaked out and has been investigated by the State High School Association. Since practice in football and basketball and attendance at coaching clinics is prohibited to high school athletes in the summer by state rule, the attendance at such camps violates eligibility rules and athletes risk loss of one year of playing.

This matter has been discussed with high school principals by the state officials and plans are being made to more effectively curb this practice. If allowed to continue a situation would arise where the athletes of a school would feel they had to go to a summer camp to successfully compete with neighbors who did so.

It also would be felt by some parents that if their boy was to make the team, he must go to an expensive camp and get special instruction to compete with boys from the same school who did go to camp. All this places athletics in jeopardy as school activities and without a doubt would eventually kill high school sports. Any coach who encourages boys to attend athletic summer camps is placing his job in jeopardy as well as risking eligibility of his athletes.

A letter from Al Willis, Executive Secretary of the Illinois high school association to principals of the state should be read by every parent of a teenage athlete. For that reason we are publishing the letter as follows:

Attendance of High School Athletes at Summer Camps

One of the most difficult problems that has confronted the IHSA Board of Directors in recent years relates to the attendance of high school athletes at summer camps.

The problem stems from the fact that in the fall of 1936, the members of the IHSA adopted a rule (By-law A-I-21) which states that a high school boy "shall be ineligible for a period of one year after having attended a regular coaching school in this or any other state." This rule was designed to prevent the circumvention of a rule which had been adopted in 1925 prohibiting practice for high school football teams during the summer vacation months. Apparently, after the adoption of the latter rule, coaching schools became increasingly popular and large numbers of high school players and coaches began to attend them for the purpose of receiving instruction in one or more sports from college coaches and in some instances for carrying on organized practice.

For more than twenty years after the adoption of the coaching school rule, few if any high school athletes attended schools or summer camps which emphasized coaching in one or more sports primarily because principals and coaches advised them that such attendance would cause them to lose a year of eligibility. However, during the past few years, some summer camps which are advertised as "athletic" or "sports" camps and others that are advertised as "recreation" camps have begun to feature coaching and instruction in certain sports and in some instances, coaches have reportedly encouraged their players to attend them.

Summer camps and camping programs vary in proportion to the number of existing camps. In other words, there are almost as many types of programs as there are camps. Furthermore, the amount of coaching that takes place in the camps varies from practically none to several hours each day. The time spent in practice and in intra-camp games also varies from short periods for each of several sports to long sessions of intensive scrimmage in one or two sports. To further complicate the problem, it must also be kept in mind that there are hundreds of summer camps in operation and it is simply impossible for the Board to know or to find out what type of program is carried on at each camp.

THIS MATTER WAS GIVEN careful consideration at a recent meeting of the IHSA Board. It was the decision of the Board that no penalty should or would be imposed against high school boys for attending summer camps which are organized and conducted for purely recreational purposes. However, boys who attend camps which emphasize coaching or specialized instruction in one or more sports will endanger their high school eligibility.

It was the further decision of the Board that the attendance of large numbers of football or basketball squad members from a given school at the same summer camp may involve the school in a violation of the rules which prohibit preseason practice in these sports.

It is not possible for the Board to draw up a list of the camps which boys may or may not attend without endangerin gtheir eligibility. When an alleged violation of the "coaching their eligibility. When an alleged violation of the "coachful consideration and the Board will render a decision on the basis of the available information. This means that boys who attend summer athletic or sports camps will be doing so at their own risk.

Because most camps have already employed their supervisory staffs and have accepted registrations for the coming summer, the Board will in all probability exercise some leniency in dealing with alleged violations for this year. However, unless By-law A-I-21 is amended next fall, the Board will attempt to rigidly enforce the rule in the future regarding the attendance of high school athletes at "coaching schools."

Giants, Lancers, Sox Boast Top Little League Records

The Giants, Lancers, and Sox are red-hot!

That's the best way to describe the performances thus far of these three high-flying baseball squads.

The Giants rolled to seven victories in their first seven games in the National league and the Lancers and Sox have copped six straight in the extensive Arlington Heights summer program.

Two other leagues boast unbeaten leaders, but action just got under way in those divisions.

The Giants posted an impressive 18-7 victory over the Angels and backed that with a 9-2 conquest of the Cardinals. Jerry Donahue worked on the mound in the latter contest and turned in another solid performance for the league leaders.

IN HIS FIRST two starts this summer Donahue had twirled shutouts and yielded only three hits. He fanned 23 in stopping the Pirates and Cubs.

The Pirates scored four runs in the fourth frame and bumped the Dodgers 7-3 with Conley the winner, and the Cubs and Joe Nastal stopped the Pirates 7-1 in a game cut short because of rain. Gumz rapped a homer and triple in the latter contest.

The Pirates exploded for a 19-3 conquest of the Angels, and the Twins hit the Dodgers with nine runs in the first inning and coasted in with a 10-6 victory. Jack Finch got the win and Tom Lundstedt slammed a homer with the sacks jammed in the fifth.

IN A WELL-played contest the Braves stopped the Cubs 3-1 with Vetter besting Martin. Saflarski cracked a homer for the winners.

In the North West Intermediate league the Lancers are moving along at a 6-0 pace with big victories over the Saints and Broncs.

The pace-setters bombed the Saints 16-2 with Harvell getting the mound decision and also rapping a homer. Janis also worked on the mound for the victors. The Lancers backed this win with an impressive 9-3 victory over the Broncs as Stocking bested Ross.

THE REDBIRDS scored ten runs in the first three innings and breezed to a 13-7 victory over the Celtics as Taylor got the win, and the Comets blanked the Celtics 15-0 as Seaman and Osterberg combined talents for the shutout. Abbott turned in a terrific defensive game for the winners and also rapped out three straight hits.

The Comets scored in the top half of the fifth inning and bumped the Broncs 1-0 with Strait getting the decision over Streitlow in a pitchers' duel.

In the North East Juniors league the Sox racked up two more victories and now lead the pack by two full games.

IN A GAME abbreviated by rain the Sox stopped the Blues 5-1 with Mike Needleman the winner. Tommy Sullivan blasted a homer for the victors.

Dave Glantz twirled a nifty two-hitter as the loop leaders pasted the Larks 17-0.

Scoring in every inning, the Millers pounded the Larks 13-4 with Tim Hogan on the mound, and the Blues came up with six runs in the home half of the fourth stanza in a 14-13 thriller over the Badgers.

Chris Leet had four straight hits for the Blues.

A HERCULEAN performance by Kent McNamara sent the Millers past the Gulls 9-7. McNamara turned in a solid effort as a relief pitcher and cracked out a grand slam homer in the sixth to win the game for the Millers.

Mike Basak rapped a first inning homer and Helm had a two-run double for other key blows.

Exploding for 16 runs in the first inning, the Gulls rocked the Badgers 16-0 with Mark Kreymborg claiming the decision.

IN THE SENIOR league the Indians picked up their second and third straight victories with conquests of the Redlegs and Lions.

Murphy twirled a five-hit shutout as the Indians bumped the Redlegs 2-0, and the leaders came back with a 6-5 decision over the Lions thanks to a three-run homer by this same young man.

Bruce Colvin had a two-run triple in the latter encounter.

The Lions won a 3-1 game from the Bears with the proceedings halted in the sixth because of darkness. Meyn pitched a steady game, walking one and fanning seven.

FITZ-PATRICK bested Frase as the Bears stopped the Redlegs 3-1 with Chaiser rapping a double and Haiduke a triple for the winners.

In final action from this league the Browns erupted with eight runs in the seventh frame and a 10-3 victory over the Redlegs. Ted Staahl got the win and Roland Oberg the loss with Kushner and Skarren slamming triples.

In the Varsity league the Rams posted an impressive 6-0 victory over the Raiders, scoring four runs in the first two stanzas thanks to four errors, three stolen bases, and two singles. Borgen hurled a strong game, fanning 14 and yielding only three hits, two by Terrance Radcliffe.

THE GENERALS and Orioles put on a real donneybrook with the former pulling out a 13-12 decision. Gerlack had two doubles and Carroll was the winning pitcher.

The Falcons unleashed an explosive offensive attack and pounded the Vikings 23-0 with Mader turning in a one-hitter. The winners played long ball with Ray Dix slamming three round-trippers and Jim Brophy also cracking one.

Dix's effort was the top individual offensive performance of the season and he and Brophy had back-to-back clouts in the third.

THE ORIOLES punched across six runs in the sixth and posted a 10-4 victory over the Eagles as Whiteman got the win and G. Schneider rocked a homer. The Rams registered a 6-4 triumph over the Generals.

In the American league the Athletics used two big innings in handling the Red Sox 11-9, scoring five runs in the first and six in the third behind Terry Townley. Paul Douglas had a homer for the Athletics and Tom Baness hit one for the Red Sox.

Homers by Gary Bozee and Mike Grant paced the rampaging Tigers to a 10-1 decision over the Yankees with Tom LeStarge getting the win over Doug Fink.

LESTARGE WAS at his best with 16 strikeouts and a neat five hitter. Bozee also rapped a double and Jay Kenny had three singles.

Jon Keys hurled the Yankees back into undisputed possession of first place in the American league when he fired a no-hit, 7-0 shutout at the White Sox. The winners broke open a pitching duel with five runs in the fifth. Mark Schueneman slapped a homer for the Yanks.

With Gary Bozee working on the mound the Tigers bumped the Athletics 5-2. Bozee fanned 16 and drove in the decisive runs with a bases loaded triple.

IN THE NORTH East Intermediate the Bruins showed their power as they overwhelmed the Mounties 18-7. Larson had a homer and Cordova was the winning pitcher thanks to an 18-hit attack.

The Hornets had a ten-run second inning and leveled the Bruins 16-9 with Thurman toiling on the mound and also slapping out two homers for the victors.

The Mohawks were blanked in the first two segments but rallied with ten runs in the final three and stopped the Doves 10-3. Ronnie Hull hit his seventh homer of the season.

IN A KEY battle the Mohawks edged the Hornets 12-8 and took over undisputed first place. Hull had a grand-slammer in the fourth and Balinski and Thurman also homered in this one.

A three-run homer by Koss keyed the Mounties to a 6-4 victory over the Colonels with Daly the winning pitcher after four innings of work.

In the South Intermediate division the Rangers rocked the Solons 15-2 on a no-hitter by Theroux, and the Terriers handled the Dons 12-8 as Wadzita cracked out two homers.

THE HUSKIES edged the Barons 8-6 although Bahnfleth hit a four-bagger for the losers, and the Stars stopped the Marlins 10-8 behind Clark. The Huskies got by the Marlins 7-6 with Puckett the winner.

A three-run triple by Don Hall was the big blow for the Ravens as they pounded the Stars 14-8. Scott Anderson delivered a homer for the losers.

In other games from this league the Terriers edged the Seals 5-4 behind Merkle, the Seals bumped the Rangers 10-4 as Whittier received credit for the decision.

IN THE NORTH West Juniors league the Gophers needed only nine hits in a 21-3 rout of the Robins as Adkins had a homer and triple.

Nichols fanned 11 in four innings as the Bees humbled the Bisons 10-1. The winning pitcher and Frase teamed up for successive homers in a nine-run second.

Jim Bokelmann fanned 13 as the Chicks outlasted the Owls 5-4 with Tom Lutsch's double driving in the tying and winning runs in the home half of the sixth.

MICHON DROVE in six runs and collected a single, double, and triple as the Bees racked the Gophers 13-7. Adkins had a homer for the Gophers.

Bokelman's homer wasn't enough as the Robins bounced the Chucks 7-5 on Alan Sowka's mound stint, and the Owls rolled to a 13-4 victory over the Bisons with Jim Hines blasting a homer and Scott McKay a triple.

In the South East Juniors division the Oaks whipped the second place Colts 9-3 on a great pitching effort by Dawson. He allowed only four hits and hurled shutout ball after the first frame.

THE SPARTANS and Gems battled to a 2-2 tie in a game called after four because of rain, and the Wrens stopped the Beavers 13-7 with Gary Gratzer besting Renz.

The Wrens registered only one hit but were given nine walks and a hit batsman in a 5-3 victory over the Spartans.

Despite an 11-run first inning by the Colts, the Gems managed to pull out a 17-all deadlock with a four-run fourth inning. Todd Behrens had a three-run homer in that big fourth.

IN THE SOUTH West Juniors division the Stags scored a pair of runs in both the fourth and fifth and stopped the Padres 4-1. Brodnan was the winner with Ricky Roeing in relief in the sixth.

Rallying with five runs in the fourth, the Atoms dumped the Jays 8-5. O'Berry hit a three-run homer in the fourth to put the Atoms on top.

Burkett tossed a one-hitter and the Jets got by the Stags 3-0 in a game called after 3½ innings because of rain, and the Buckeyes bounced the Jays 9-2 with Anderson besting Schoepke.

Squad Holds Lead

One third of the season has passed for the Arlington Hts. Twilight golf league. Still in first place is City Welding Sales Co team. They took over first after the fourth night and have now increased the lead to 3½ points. Still within easy reach are Arlington Structural Steel and Lohr's Pill Rollers, who are tied for second place.

Individually there has been some fine golf so far this year. Two weeks ago, Lou Hasz had a fine bird on number nine. Friday night saw Ed Koops have his best round with a 43. This also gave him low net 31. Gordon Otto had his usual fine round, posting the low gross score of the evening with a 37.

Chuck Staadt ran into a "buzzsaw" when he was matched with Alternate Bill Appleby. Bill carded a fine 42, which gave him a low net of 32, which was second low for the evening. Chuck had a nice round himself with a 44.

Birds were made by Roy Anderson and Ralph Panek on the 9th, Hank Styczykowski on the 11th, and Bill Schoepke on number 13.

100-Lap Spring Championship at O'Hare Saturday

The first extra distance race of the season Saturday night will feature NASCAR late model stock cars in a 100-lap Spring championship at O'Hare Stadium, Mannheim and Irving Park rds.

Joining current point leaders Roy Czach and Eric Johnson as favorites to take top honors will be Fred Lorensen, two-time national champ recognized as one of the top drivers in the nation today. The full program Saturday will also offer O'Hare's torrid Cadets.

The NASCAR late models and Cadets are also now in action at O'Hare every Wednesday night. Midwest Speedways' modified stock cars run every Friday with mighty JARA midgets on the highly banked O'Hare speedway every Sunday night. First race is always at 8:30 p.m.

Four big nights of racing excitement are on tap for the July 4 weekend at O'Hare Stadium. In addition to regular cars Friday (modifieds) and Saturday (late models, Cadets), the midgets will be in action in a 100-lap Midseason Championship Sunday night and on Tuesday, July 4, there will be a specia stock car racing card with O'Hare's annual fireworks spectacle.

Rozinski Claims Feature; Strom Injured in Race

Before the season's largest crowd of some 2,850 persons, Ted Rozinski of West Allis captured the 25 lap main event for the modified stocks Sunday night at the Waukegan Speedway. Rozinski, the current point leader at the track, took the lead from Dale Koehler of Glendale on the 15th lap and went on for the victory averaging 49.04 m.p.h.

The event was stopped on lap 23 due to an accident which seriously injured last week's feature winner, Bill Strom of West Allis. Involved in the accident with Strom was Eddie Stillman of Milwaukee, the Waukegan track champion of 1958 and 1959. Stillman was running fourth on the 22nd lap when engine trouble stalled him near the end of the main straight-away.

Strom, who had been running fifth, moved up into the fourth place spot, and a lap later, roaring down the main chute, apparently did not see Stillman's stalled machine and plowed into him full bore. The impact knocked the entire rear axle, wheels and all from Stillman's machine and flipped Stillman's car over on its top. Strom was rushed to St. Theresa Hospital where it was determined that he lost several teeth and there was a possibility of a fractured jaw. Stillman was uninjured.

Area Legion Outfits In Friday Headliner

Arlington and Mt. Prospect will square off Friday evening at 6 o'clock at Recreation Park in the week's American Legion baseball headliner.

Right hander John Lane will work on the mound for Coach Lloyd Meyer's Arlington nine with the Mt. Prospect slab selection a question-mark pending the outcome of Wednesday's opener with Palatine.

The Pro Sport Center of Mt. Prospect, coached by Gus Holzrichter, was slated to kick off its summer schedule Wednesday against Claude Bailey's Palatine nine, an easy winner in its opener with Hoffman Estates.

A BUSY schedule faces both area outfits with Arlington hosting Edison Park Sunday at 12:30 p.m. at Recreation Park, Des Plaines Monday at 6 p.m., and then traveling to Northlake next Wednesday, June 21, for another district test.

In addition to Friday's game with Arlington, Mt. Prospect will travel to Northlake Saturday for a 2 p.m. encounter and then host Hoffman Estates on Monday and Park Ridge on Wednesday.

Fernstroms Storage and Van of Arlington got off to a slow start in league firing Monday evening when it was handcuffed by a no-hitter in a 7-0 loss to Park Ridge and southpaw Frank Machac.

MACHAC FACED 23 batters in the seven frames, fanning 11 and catching the side in the final inning. He retired the last 15 batters after Ray Miller got on via an error to open the third.

Park Ridge collected 11 hits off right hander Greg Beckway and scored its first run in the second. The hosts punched over a pair in the third with four hits, including a double by Len Eichin the sixth with Wayne Rigler. Four more came across in the sixth with Wayne Rigby's three-run triple the big blow.

Dave Hamman, Eichler, and Maroc each had two hits for the winners and only catcher Ted Hood failed to come up with at least one base knock.

Arlington could get only one ball out of the infield, a fifth inning fly by catcher Ross Retterer.

Mac Says

G. A. McELROY

IN RECENT YEARS basketball players from certain suburban schools have attended certain summer camps where well-known coaches have given instruction in basketball. These schools have been so successful that information about this fact has leaked out and has been investigated by the State High School Association. Since practice in football and basketball and attendance at coaching clinics is prohibited to high school athletes in the summer by state rule, the attendance at such camps violates eligibility rules and athletes risk loss of one year of playing.

This matter has been discussed with high school principals by the state officials and plans are being made to more effectively curb this practice. If allowed to continue a situation would arise where the athletes of a school would feel they had to go to a summer camp to successfully compete with neighbors who did so.

It also would be felt by some parents that if their boy was to make the team, he must go to an expensive camp and get special instruction to compete with boys from the same school who did go to camp. All this places athletics in jeopardy as school activities and without a doubt would eventually kill high school sports. Any coach who encourages boys to attend athletic summer camps is placing his job in jeopardy as well as risking eligibility of his athletes.

A letter from Al Willis, Executive Secretary of the Illinois high school association to principals of the state should be read by every parent of a teenage athlete. For that reason we are publishing the letter as follows:

Attendance of High School Athletes at Summer Camps

One of the most difficult problems that has confronted the IHSA Board of Directors in recent years relates to the attendance of high school athletes at summer camps.

The problem stems from the fact that in the fall of 1936, the members of the IHSA adopted a rule (By-law A-I-21) which states that a high school boy "shall be ineligible for a period of one year after having attended a regular coaching school in this or any other state." This rule was designed to prevent the circumvention of a rule which had been adopted in 1925 prohibiting practice for high school football teams during the summer vacation months. Apparently, after the adoption of the latter rule, coaching schools became increasingly popular and large numbers of high school players and coaches began to attend them for the purpose of receiving instruction in one or more sports from college coaches and in some instances for carrying on organized practice.

For more than twenty years after the adoption of the coaching school rule, few if any high school athletes attended schools or summer camps which emphasized coaching in one or more sports primarily because principals and coaches advised them that such attendance would cause them to lose a year of eligibility. However, during the past few years, some summer camps which are advertised as "athletic" or "sports" camps and others that are advertised as "recreation" camps have begun to feature coaching and instruction in certain sports and in some instances, coaches have reportedly encouraged their players to attend them.

Summer camps and camping programs vary in proportion to the number of existing camps. In other words, there are almost as many types of programs as there are camps. Furthermore, the amount of coaching that takes place in the camps varies from practically none to several hours each day. The time spent in practice and in intra-camp games also varies from short periods for each of several sports to long sessions of intensive scrimmage in one or two sports. To further complicate the problem, it must also be kept in mind that there are hundreds of summer camps in operation and it is simply impossible for the Board to know or to find out what type of program is carried on at each camp.

THIS MATTER WAS GIVEN careful consideration at a recent meeting of the IHSA Board. It was the decision of the Board that no penalty should or would be imposed against high school boys for attending summer camps which are organized and conducted for purely recreational purposes. However, boys who attend camps which emphasize coaching or specialized instruction in one or more sports will endanger their high school eligibility.

It was the further decision of the Board that the attendance of large numbers of football or basketball squad members from a given school at the same summer camp may involve the school in a violation of the rules which prohibit preseason practice in these sports.

It is not possible for the Board to draw up a list of the camps which boys may or may not attend without endanger-in gtheir eligibility. When an alleged violation of the "coaching their eligibility. When an alleged violation of the "coachful consideration and the Board will render a decision on the basis of the available information. This means that boys who attend summer athletic or sports camps will be doing so at their own risk.

Because most camps have already employed their supervisory staffs and have accepted registrations for the coming summer, the Board will in all probability exercise some leniency in dealing with alleged violations for this year. However, unless By-law A-I-21 is amended next fall, the Board will attempt to rigidly enforce the rule in the future regarding the attendance of high school athletes at "coaching schools."

The Giants rolled to seven victories in their first seven games in the National league and the Lancers and Sox have copped six straight in the extensive Arlington Heights summer program.

Two other leagues boast unbeaten leaders, but action just got under way in those divisions.

The Giants posted an impressive 18-7 victory over the Angels and backed that with a 9-2 conquest of the Cardinals. Jerry Donahue worked on the mound in the latter contest and turned in another solid performance for the league leaders.

IN HIS FIRST two starts this summer Donahue had twirled shutouts and yielded only three hits. He fanned 23 in stopping the Pirates and Cubs.

The Pirates scored four runs in the fourth frame and bumped the Dodgers 7-3 with Conley the winner, and the Cubs and Joe Nastal stopped the Pirates 7-1 in a game cut short because of rain. Gumz rapped a homer and triple in the latter contest.

The Pirates exploded for a 19-3 conquest of the Angels, and the Twins hit the Dodgers with nine runs in the first inning and coasted in with a 10-6 victory. Jack Finch got the win and Tom Lundstedt slammed a homer with the sacks jammed in the fifth.

IN A WELL-played contest the Braves stopped the Cubs 3-1 with Vetter besting Martin. Saflarski cracked a homer for the winners.

In the North West Intermediate league the Lancers are moving along at a 6-0 pace with big victories over the Saints and Broncs.

The pace-setters bombed the Saints 16-2 with Harvell getting the mound decision and also rapping a homer. Janis also worked on the mound for the victors. The Lancers backed this win with an impressive 9-3 victory over the Broncs as Stocking bested Ross.

THE REDBIRDS scored ten runs in the first three innings and breezed to a 13-7 victory over the Celtics as Taylor got the win, and the Comets blanked the Celtics 15-0 as Seaman and Osterberg combined talents for the shutout. Abbott turned in a terrific defensive game for the winners and also rapped out three straight hits.

The Comets scored in the top half of the fifth inning and bumped the Broncs 1-0 with Strait getting the decision over Streitlow in a pitchers' duel.

In the North East Juniors league the Sox racked up two more victories and now lead the pack by two full games.

IN A GAME abbreviated by rain the Sox stopped the Blues 5-1 with Mike Needleman the winner. Tommy Sullivan blasted a homer for the victors.

Dave Glantz twirled a nifty two-hitter as the loop leaders pasted the Larks 17-0.

Scoring in every inning, the Millers pounded the Larks 13-4 with Tim Hogan on the mound, and the Blues came up with six runs in the home half of the fourth stanza in a 14-13 thriller over the Badgers.

Chris Leet had four straight hits for the Blues.

A HERCULEAN performance by Kent McNamara sent the Millers past the Gulls 9-7. McNamara turned in a solid effort as a relief pitcher and cracked out a grand slam homer in the sixth to win the game for the Millers.

Mike Basak rapped a first inning homer and Helm had a two-run double for other key blows.

Exploding for 16 runs in the first inning, the Gulls rocked the Badgers 16-0 with Mark Kreymborg claiming the decision.

IN THE SENIOR league the Indians picked up their second and third straight victories with conquests of the Redlegs and Lions.

Murphy twirled a five-hit shutout as the Indians bumped the Redlegs 2-0, and the leaders came back with a 6-5 decision over the Lions thanks to a three-run homer by this same young man.

Bruce Colvin had a two-run triple in the latter encounter.

The Lions won a 3-1 game from the Bears with the proceedings halted in the sixth because of darkness. Meyn pitched a steady game, walking one and fanning seven.

FITZ-PATRICK bested Frase as the Bears stopped the Redlegs 3-1 with Chaiser rapping a double and Haiduke a triple for the winners.

In final action from this league the Browns erupted with eight runs in the seventh frame and a 10-3 victory over the Redlegs. Ted Staahl got the win and Roland Oberg the loss with Kushner and Skarren slamming triples.

In the Varsity league the Rams posted an impressive 6-0 victory over the Raiders, scoring four runs in the first two stanzas thanks to four errors, three stolen bases, and two singles. Borgen hurled a strong game, fanning 14 and yielding only three hits, two by Terrance Radcliffe.

THE GENERALS and Orioles put on a real donneybrook with the former pulling out a 13-12 decision. Gerlack had two doubles and Carroll was the winning pitcher.

The Falcons unleashed an explosive offensive attack and pounded the Vikings 23-0 with Mader turning in a one-hitter. The winners played long ball with Ray Dix slamming three round-trippers and Jim Brophy also cracking one.

Dix's effort was the top individual offensive performance of the season and he and Brophy had back-to-back clouts in the third.

THE ORIOLES punched across six runs in the sixth and posted a 10-4 victory over the Eagles as Whiteman got the win and G. Schneider rocked a homer. The Rams registered a 6-4 triumph over the Generals.

In the American league the Athletics used two big innings in handling the Red Sox 11-9, scoring five runs in the first and six in the third behind Terry Townley. Paul Douglas had a homer for the Athletics and Tom Baness hit one for the Red Sox.

Homers by Gary Bozee and Mike Grant paced the rampaging Tigers to a 10-1 decision over the Yankees with Tom LeStarge getting the win over Doug Fink.

LESTARGE WAS at his best with 16 strikeouts and a neat five hitter. Bozee also rapped a double and Jay Kenny had three singles.

Jon Keys hurled the Yankees back into undisputed possession of first place in the American league when he fired a no-hit, 7-0 shutout at the White Sox. The winners broke open a pitching duel with five runs in the fifth. Mark Schueneman slapped a homer for the Yanks.

With Gary Bozee working on the mound the Tigers bumped the Athletics 5-2. Bozee fanned 16 and drove in the decisive runs with a bases loaded triple.

IN THE NORTH East Intermediate the Bruins showed their power as they overwhelmed the Mounties 18-7. Larson had a homer and Cordova was the winning pitcher thanks to an 18-hit attack.

The Hornets had a ten-run second inning and leveled the Bruins 16-9 with Thurman toiling on the mound and also slapping out two homers for the victors.

The Mohawks were blanked in the first two segments but rallied with ten runs in the final three and stopped the Doves 10-3. Ronnie Hull hit his seventh homer of the season.

IN A KEY battle the Mohawks edged the Hornets 12-8 and took over undisputed first place. Hull had a grand-slammer in the fourth and Balinski and Thurman also homered in this one.

A three-run homer by Koss keyed the Mounties to a 6-4 victory over the Colonels with Daly the winning pitcher after four innings of work.

In the South Intermediate division the Rangers rocked the Solons 15-2 on a no-hitter by Theroux, and the Terriers handled the Dons 12-8 as Wadzita cracked out two homers.

THE HUSKIES edged the Barons 8-6 although Bahnfleth hit a four-bagger for the losers, and the Stars stopped the Marlins 10-8 behind Clark. The Huskies got by the Marlins 7-6 with Puckett the winner.

A three-run triple by Don Hall was the big blow for the Ravens as they pounded the Stars 14-8. Scott Anderson delivered a homer for the losers.

In other games from this league the Terriers edged the Seals 5-4 behind Merkle, the Seals bumped the Rangers 10-4 as Whittier received credit for the decision.

MICHON DROVE in six runs and collected a single, double, and triple as the Bees racked the Gophers 13-7. Adkins had a homer for the Gophers.

Bokelman's homer wasn't enough as the Robins bounced the Chucks 7-5 on Alan Sowka's mound stint, and the Owls rolled to a 13-4 victory over the Bisons with Jim Hines blasting a homer and Scott McKay a triple.

In the South East Juniors division the Oaks whipped the second place Colts 9-3 on a great pitching effort by Dawson. He allowed only four hits and hurled shutout ball after the first frame.

THE SPARTANS and Gems battled to a 2-2 tie in a game called after four because of rain, and the Wrens stopped the Beavers 13-7 with Gary Gratzer besting Renz.

The Wrens registered only one hit but were given nine walks and a hit batsman in a 5-3 victory over the Spartans.

Squad Holds Lead

One third of the season has passed for the Arlington Hts. Twilight golf league. Still in first place is City Welding Sales Co team. They took over first after the fourth night and have now increased the lead to 3½ points. Still within easy reach are Arlington Structural Steel and Lohr's Pill Rollers, who are tied for second place.

Individually there has been some fine golf so far this year. Two weeks ago, Lou Hasz had a fine bird on number nine. Friday night saw Ed Koops have his best round with a 43. This also gave him low net 31. Gordon Otto had his usual fine round, posting the low gross score of the evening with a 37.

Chuck Staadt ran into a "buzzsaw" when he was matched with Alternate Bill Appleby. Bill carded a fine 42, which gave him a low net of 32, which was second low for the evening. Chuck had a nice round himself with a 44.

Birds were made by Roy Anderson and Ralph Panek on the 9th, Hank Styczykowski on the 11th and Bill Schoepke on number 13.

100-Lap Spring Championship at O'Hare Saturday

The first extra distance race of the season Saturday night will feature NASCAR late model stock cars in a 100-lap Spring championship at O'Hare Stadium, Mannheim and Irving Park rds.

Joining current point leaders Roy Czach and Eric Johnson as favorites to take top honors will be Fred Lorensen, two-time national champ recognized as one of the top drivers in the nation today. The full program Saturday will also offer O'Hare's torrid Cadets.

The NASCAR late models and Cadets are also now in action at O'Hare every Wednesday night. Midwest Speedways' modified stock cars run every Friday with mighty JARA midgets on the highly banked O'Hare speedway every Sunday night. First race is always at 8:30 p.m.

Four big nights of racing excitement are on tap for the July 4 weekend at O'Hare Stadium. In addition to regular cars Friday (modifieds) and Saturday (late models, Cadets), the midgets will be in action in a 100-lap Midseason Championship Sunday night and on Tuesday, July 4, there will be a specia stock car racing card with O'Hare's annual fireworks spectacle.

Rozinski Claims Feature; Strom Injured in Race

Before the season's largest crowd of some 2,850 persons, Ted Rozinski of West Allis captured the 25 lap main event for the modified stocks Sunday night at the Waukegan Speedway. Rozinski, the current point leader at the track, took the lead from Dale Koehler of Glendale on the 15th lap and went on for the victory averaging 49.04 m.p.h.

The event was stopped on lap 23 due to an accident which seriously injured last week's feature winner, Bill Strom of West Allis. Involved in the accident with Strom was Eddie Stillman of Milwaukee, the Waukegan track champion of 1958 and 1959. Stillman was running fourth on the 22nd lap when engine trouble stalled him near the end of the main straight-away.

Strom, who had been running fifth, moved up into the fourth place spot, and a lap later, roaring down the main chute, apparently did not see Stillman's stalled machine and plowed into him full bore. The impact knocked the entire rear axle, wheels and all from Stillman's machine and flipped Stillman's car over on its top. Strom was rushed to St. Theresa Hospital where it was determined that he lost several teeth and there was a possibility of a fractured jaw. Stillman was uninjured.

Area Legion Outfits In Friday Headliner

Right hander John Lane will work on the mound for Coach Lloyd Meyer's Arlington nine with the Mt. Prospect slab selection a question-mark pending the outcome of Wednesday's opener with Palatine.

The Pro Sport Center of Mt. Prospect, coached by Gus Holzrichter, was slated to kick off its summer schedule Wednesday against Claude Bailey's Palatine nine, an easy winner in its opener with Hoffman Estates.

A BUSY schedule faces both area outfits with Arlington hosting Edison Park Sunday at 12:30 p.m. at Recreation Park, Des Plaines Monday at 6 p.m., and then traveling to Northlake next Wednesday, June 21, for another district test.

In addition to Friday's game with Arlington, Mt. Prospect will travel to Northlake Saturday for a 2 p.m. encounter and then host Hoffman Estates on Monday and Park Ridge on Wednesday.

Fernstroms Storage and Van of Arlington got off to a slow start in league firing Monday evening when it was handcuffed by a no-hitter in a 7-0 loss to Park Ridge and southpaw Frank Machac.

MACHAC FACED 23 batters in the seven frames, fanning 11 and catching the side in the final inning. He retired the last 15 batters after Ray Miller got on via an error to open the third.

Park Ridge collected 11 hits off right hander Greg Beckway and scored its first run in the second. The hosts punched over a pair in the third, including a double by Len Eichler. Four more came across in the sixth with Wayne Rigby's three-run triple the big blow.

Dave Hamman, Eichler, and Maroc each had two hits for the winners and only catcher Ted Hood failed to come up with at least one base knock.

Arlington could get only one ball out of the infield, a fifth inning fly by catcher Ross Retterer.

Loop Leaders Battle to Tie In Golf Play

Mt. Prospect Electric Construction Co. continued to hold first place in the Tuesday division of the Mt. Prospect Twilight golf league by a slim half point margin as it withstood the challenge of second place Wille Lumber and Fuel and battled to a 5-5 tie.

Wille, champions of the Tuesday division for the last two seasons and developing into a serious threat again this year, might have been in first place except for the heavy handicap placed on "A" player Jim Driscoll who had to give away 12 strokes in nine holes in his match with alternate Ray Projahm and lost match and medal and two points. Roy Hawkinson, "B" player for Wille's, evened things by taking two points from Hank Baylis of the Electricians. Lloyd Johnson and Hy Gieseke split their match 1-1.

In the final match Walt Kadlec took "Whispering" Red Barrow for 1½ points to Red's ½ point. The team nets were identical but Projahm's 48-18 net 30 was good for one point which tied up the match 5-5.

THE TUESDAY division seems to be the most evenly matched it has been in several years with the first nine teams only four points apart. Keefer's Pharmacy, for instance, in seventh place a week ago, jumped up to third place because it was able to turn in a 7½-2½ victory over Carl's Food Shop while the six higher teams lost or tied their matches.

Kersting's Garden Center, early season leaders, dropped to fourth place as it lost its second successive match 7-3 to Vern's Pure Oil.

Best team performance of the evening was Kirchhoff Insurance 8-2 victory over Golden's Food Shop. Low individual score was Jim Driscoll's 40 scored over the back nine.

Birdies were reported by R. Becker No. 3, C. Bracken No. 3, W. Double No. 11, W. Kadlec, No. 13, R. Projahm No. 13, and E. Stofft No. 13.

Strass Ladies Apparel Gains In MP League

The St. Raymond's golf league completed its fifth week of play last Thursday at the Mt. Prospect country club with many of the men finding the range again with low scores.

Up to now Spooner Engineering in League No. 1 had things pretty much their own way. However, after last week's play they find themselves hanging on to a slim one-point lead.

Bob Reynolds sparked the Strass Ladies Apparel team to a 10½ point victory by winning both match and medal play and also getting one point for low individual net of 30. Moran Furs came through with another solid performance, winning 11 points to anchor down third spot just 2½ points off the pace.

IN LEAGUE NO. 2 the standings were re-shuffled once again, producing a new leader. Illinois Range, by winning 10 points, three by Ed Graham, took over the top spot. Keefers moved up from third to second and Kruse's dropped from first to third; winning just two points after their sweep of 12 the previous week.

Holding their newly awarded trophies are Alice Nichols, Fran Altergott, Vi Douglas and Marg Calkins, with Country Lanes owner Herb Lohman holding the grand award. Bonnie Kuhn, top average bowler of the league (182) and anchor of the team, was accidentally cut out of the picture by the photographer.

The high-flying leaders leveled each club in decisive fashion to keep up their torrid pace in the National division.

Collecting 11 hits and scoring four times in the first and last frames, the Lions routed the Senators 11-5. Ellenberger bested Robinson on the mound, and Mueller had a double, triple, and homer for the victors.

The Lions had another easy time of it against the Giants with six runs in the first two frames as they coasted to a 10-5 victory. Ellenberger got the win and was helped by the extra base swatting of Bob Anderson and Kohbrust.

In a tight pitchers' duel the Senators edged the Indians 3-2. A two-run homer in the third inning by third baseman John Phillips decided the contest for relief pitcher Zeile.

LARRY Leicht drove in the tying and winning runs in the sixth inning with a triple as the Indians came from behind to stop the Tigers 7-6. Crawford got the win.

In the American League the Dodgers posted two impressive victories, stopping the Yankees and Cardinals.

Mike Erbach worked on the mound in the 8-4 victory over the Yanks and Bob Stephen was tagged with the loss. Danny Klingberg twirled a neat three-hitter and stopped the Cards 8-0.

IN MINOR league action from Mt. Prospect the Athletics routed the Phillies 19-5, and the Red Sox blasted the Knights 13-6. Bill Layden sparked the winners in the latter contest with two doubles and a triple, and Jim Carroll pitched six-hit ball for five innings. Blaser rapped out a single and homer for the losers.

The Indians racked up four straight victories over the Panthers, Cardinals, Phillies, and Athletics.

Trailing 6-5 in the last half of the last inning, the Indians erupted with two runs thanks to Bruce Busse's clutch triple and picked up a 7-6 victory over the Panthers. Busse also got the pitching decision in topping Cantiovi. DeJonges had a homer for the Panthers.

IN A GAME of walks the Indians slipped by the Cardinals 15-14. The teams combined for only five safeties and had no extra base blows in the contest. Hickey was the winner and Bahlig the loser.

In the season opener the Indians had pummeled the Phillies 28-4 with a 14-run fifth inning. Hickey had two of his three homers in that explosive fifth.

Another big inning sent the Indians past the Athletics, 17-10, with the winners tallying eight in the sixth. The A's held a 10-9 lead heading into the last frame. Costello slapped out a homer for the losing squad.

Loop Leaders Battle to Tie In Golf Play

Mt. Prospect Electric Construction Co. continued to hold first place in the Tuesday division of the Mt. Prospect Twilight golf league by a slim half point margin as it withstood the challenge of second place Wille Lumber and Fuel and battled to a 5-5 tie.

Wille, champions of the Tuesday division for the last two seasons and developing into a serious threat again this year, might have been in first place except for the heavy handicap placed on "A" player Jim Driscoll who had to give away 12 strokes in nine holes in his match with alternate Ray Projahm and lost match and medal and two points. Roy Hawkinson, "B" player for Wille's, evened things by taking two points from Hank Baylis of the Electricians. Lloyd Johnson and Hy Gieseke split their match 1-1.

In the final match Walt Kadlec took "Whispering" Red Barrow for 1½ points to Red's ½ point. The team nets were identical but Projahm's 48-18 net 30 was good for one point which tied up the match 5-5.

THE TUESDAY division seems to be the most evenly matched it has been in several years with the first nine teams only four points apart. Keefer's Pharmacy, for instance, in seventh place a week ago, jumped up to third place because it was able to turn in a 7½-2½ victory over Carl's Food Shop while the six higher teams lost or tied their matches.

Kersting's Garden Center, early season leaders, dropped to fourth place as it lost its second successive match 7-3 to Vern's Pure Oil.

Best team performance of the evening was Kirchhoff Insurance 8-2 victory over Golden's Food Shop. Low individual score was Jim Driscoll's 40 scored over the back nine.

Birdies were reported by R. Becker No. 3, C. Bracken No. 3, W. Double No. 11, W. Kadlec, No. 13, R. Projahm No. 13, and E. Stofft No. 13.

Strass Ladies Apparel Gains In MP League

The St. Raymond's golf league completed its fifth week of play last Thursday at the Mt. Prospect country club with many of the men finding the range again with low scores.

Up to now Spooner Engineering in League No. 1 had things pretty much their own way. However, after last week's play they find themselves hanging on to a slim one-point lead.

Bob Reynolds sparked the Strass Ladies Apparel team to a 10½ point victory by winning both match and medal play and also getting one point for low individual net of 30. Moran Furs came through with another solid performance, winning 11 points to anchor down third spot just 2½ points off the pace.

IN LEAGUE NO. 2 the standings were re-shuffled once again, producing a new leader. Illinois Range, by winning 10 points, three by Ed Graham, took over the top spot. Keefers moved up from third to second and Kruse's dropped from first to third; winning just two points after their sweep of 12 the previous week.

Vernon Hills Gals Capture More Honors

Vernon Hills Restaurant, grand champion of the Paddock Women's Classic traveling league, captured more honors Sunday evening when it claimed the women's division title in the Northwest Suburban Bowling Proprietors' team handicap tournament at Barrington Ten Pin.

The classy entry from Lake Zurich closed fast and recorded an actual 1005 in the third game for the team title. The gals had opened with an 829 and backed that with a 774. With handicap their winning score was 2731.

Bonnie Kuhn, who hit a big 677 to lead the team in the roll-off against Steve's Restaurant for the Paddock crown once again paved the way for Vernon Hills with a fine 633. Bonnie opened with a 214 and followed with a 175 and booming 244.

IN ADDITION to Bonnie's 633, Fran Altergott had a 544, Alice Nichols a 495, Vi Douglas a 482, and Marg Calkins a 454. Fran had the only other 200-plus game with a 213.

In claiming the big trophy and check for $500 Vernon Hills edged runner-up Renault's from Sims by 12 pins. DePue Insurance of Hi-Way in Palatine finished third at 2582.

In the men's tournament Frank G. Hough Co. of Libertyville Lanes took home the big prize with a solid 2992. That was worth $1500 and a team trophy.

MORTON Grove Ins. was second with 2969 and Grand Central Plymouth of Natoma Lanes was third with 2936.

Fourteen hundred and thirty teams competed in the tournament with 978 in the men's division and 452 in the women's class. Semi-final rounds were held at Niles Bowling Lanes and Bowl-Arium.

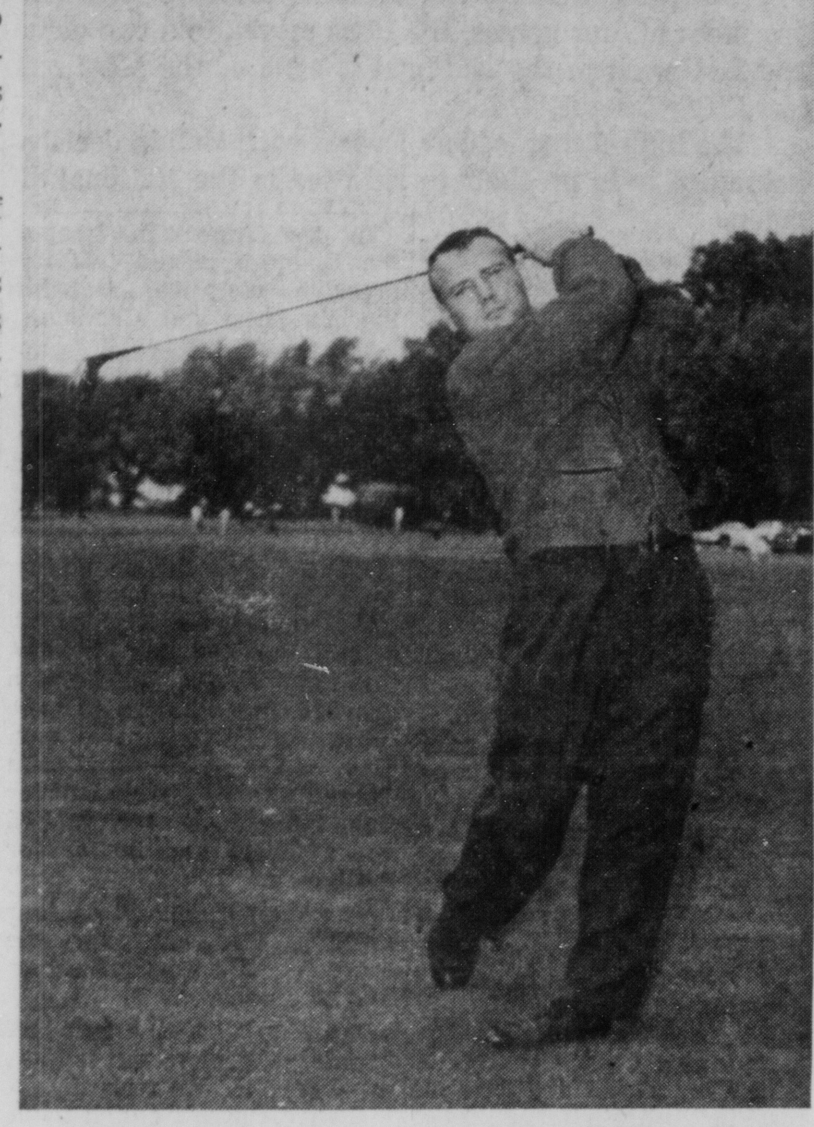
At 26 Pedersen is one of the youngest club professionals in the area, but his age doesn't detract from his recognized ability as an outstanding teacher of the game.



CHUCK PEDERSEN, ROLLING GREEN PRO

A graduate of Arlington high school in 1953, Pedersen has been the pro at Rolling Green country club on Rand rd. in Arlington Heights for three years. He took over for Matt Jans after serving as the latter's assistant for five years.

Chuck owns one impressive record at Rolling Green with a brilliant 30 for the back nine. His best round at his home club is a snappy 66 but he has a 64 to his credit over a Wisconsin layout.

Professionally, he picked off the 1960 pro-member championship at Park Ridge country club and finished in the top ten of the Southern Amateur in Florida. He will vie for honors in the State Open June 26 at North Shore country club in Glenview.

PEDERSEN HAS played with such famous names as George Bayer, Chick Harbert, Julius Boros, Henry Ramson, Don Fairfield, Gene Littler, Marilyn Smith, and Patty Berg, and Patty will make a special appearance at Rolling Green Sunday, June 25, at 1 p.m. for an exhibition and clinic.

Two of Chuck's favorite "pupils" are Ara Parseghian, head football coach at Northwestern university, and Bill Rohr, head basketball coach at NU.

Pedersen is married and the father of two boys. They live at 215 N. Beverly ln. in Arlington Heights.

Roselle State Bank Trounces Higgins Shell

The Roselle State Bank team has started its drive to overtake the leaders in the Hoffman Estates men's league by trouncing Higgins Shell in a contest that was slowed but not stopped by rather heavy rain. Bob Boedicker regained his usual form, turning in a tidy one-over-par gross thirty-seven for a three point sweep of his match. Roy Palmer also won his match as did Bill Tinkle to account for nine of the Bank's thirteen point victory. Tony Manfrin split his match with John Warnock and Veryl Hootman halved his with Lindy Clark to round out the balance of the team's points.

Jack Sheridan's Snyder's Hoffman Drugs team ended up one-half point short of keeping pace with the Roselle Bank with whom they shared tenth place last week. Bob Powell, Jules Swerdlow and Bob Mann each turned in victories to pace their team's twelve and one-half point win over Tony's Sinclair. Captain Sheridan split his match with Joe McGibbon while Art Murphy earned the only match victory for the Sinclair team by taking two points from Vern Bartusch.

Schaumburg Ace Hardware made a little move of their own, taking a ten and one-half point victory over hapless team three. Harold Gillespie, Jack Reedy and Jim Brewner each turned in sterling performances to sweep their matches and contribute nine of their team's point total. Don Specht and Paul Kiczula collaborated to salvage five and one-half points for the losers.

AUGIE PATEL'S team seven maintained their hold on third place by squeezing by Dick Thompson's Hoffman Plaza Liquors team. Augie and Herb Keesee swept three point matches while Ted Pagani added two to the winner's total of nine and one-half. E. A. Cameron and Tom Glessner won matches for the losers to keep them from dropping from the fourth slot.

One match victory and four ties distinguished the contest between the Rainbow Inn and Harve's Food Mart. Bill Ross defeated Frank Marek while Harry Grover, John O'Connell, Bill Hanson and Chuck Davey each halved their matches with Harvey Goetsch, Bob Rivines, Bill Harvey and Bill Borkenhagen. Harve's slim nine-seven victory kept them in second place.

The Roselle Color Center managed an eight-eight split of points to maintain a three and one-half point lead. John Milke and Dick Moon won matches for the Color Center. John Rosenberger was the only victor for Schaumrose Inn in a contest marked by two tied matches.

More about the great Ty Cobb. For 23 consecutive seasons, he batted more than .300. 3 times he hit over .400. Twelve times he won the American League batting championship and nine of them in a row.

His lifetime batting average was .367, the highest in baseball history.

When Ty Cobb retired, he became the richest exballplayer from the investments that he made. At 72, he was still a millionaire, reported to have about $7,000,000.

Bank Exhibits Work Of Suburban Artists

by LUCILE ERNST

Paintings by northwest area artists are being exhibited at the Bank of Arlington Heights. I think you will enjoy seeing them as they are quite representative of the work being done in our area.

Most of the paintings are oil and water color, although William Wimmer exhibits silk batik which, like all his work, is impressive. His "Calliope" somehow gives one the bouncy feeling of calliope music.

Thomas Manley's "Panhandlers" is a piece of art work you won't forget. It reminds me of a Russian icon. For those who like more traditional work, Freida Womeldorf exhibits a charming pair of water colors, "Taluca Market," and "Bird Lady." Aloise Zehner shows an expressionistic still life, "Autumn Bouquet," and Helen Andersen's fresh sparkling realistic water colors would please any water color devotee.

OTHER ARTISTS exhibiting are Arlene Kargacas, Marg Perschke, Hedvic Vlasak, Crystle Hansen, Rosemary Bogaerts, and Carol Komarak.

The Northwest Area Artist show is sponsored by the countryside Art Center and and will be on exhibit until July 10.

Occasionally, I will have to admit, I have been overome by a depressed feeling that interest in art is a thing of the past, that creativity is being channelled elsewhere in the modern world. If you ever feel this way, just hope it hits in June so you can have it dissipated in a hurry.

No one could believe that interest in art is dead or even sick after a visit to the annual Old Town Art Fair. If you missed it this year, promise yourself you won't let it happen again. The Old Town Art Fair is always exciting. There is always so much to see, one feels like a child at a three ring circus. Many people go to art fairs for the circus atmosphere and find to their astonishment that they are art lovers, and didn't know it.

THERE always seems to be a picture you never knew you wanted until you saw it. If you don't buy it, you are haunted.

Many of the paintings and works of art are much less expenive at an art fair than they are if bought through a gallery. This is part of the fascination too.

One year one of the artists at the Old Town Art Fair had one of his paintings marked "Free" so the first person who took the time to really look at all his paintings received one of his best for nothing. I think that one artist increased the depth of observation on the part of the viewing public more than all the lectures on art appreciation.

DO YOU dream in color? Most people who are acutely aware of color are prone to carry over their awareness into their dreams. If you do, did you ever notice the quality of the color? A number of people who have discussed this have noticed that the color of their dreams is much more beautiful than the color one sees in the daytime. Pure blues and clear reds are almost shocking in their intensity. You actually imagine better than reality.

Next time you dream, notice whether it was in color and if it was, you will see color found only in dreams.

Opens Friday at the Des Plaines Theatre.

New Outdoor Theatre Is Small City

The new Cascade Outdoor theatre, now under construction on North avenue, one mile east of route 59, is similar to a small city in many ways.

With the exception of the electric power, all utilities used are supplied by the theatre itself. This includes the sewage disposal facilities, the water supply, and the roads and driveways that service the huge plant. The theatre will have a total land area of over 25 acres, and some of the roads will exceed a half mile in length.

BECAUSE practically all of the surface must be covered, over 15,000 tons of gravel is being spread over the entire area. The entrance and exit ways will then be finished with six inches of macadam, which is applied over 12 inches of gravel.

The Cascade is scheduled to open the latter part of June. (Bill

Misconceptions About Drowning

Drowning victims are not by a long sight just little children or showoff teenagers.

And most victims are not swimming in the water when they fall prey to a killer that takes roughly 6,400 lives a year.

The National Safety Council pointed to those frequently twisted facts as two of the misconceptions many persons have about drownings.

REASON THE Chicago-based safety organization, created in 1913 to prevent accidents of all kinds, is trying to dispel such misconceptions:

"So no one will be lulled by false facts into thinking —over the Fourth of July holiday or any time in the year—that because he's in the prime of life, or just walking near water, he is in no danger of drowning," explained Ralph Kuhli, NSC director of public safety.

Kuhli said many grown persons—nearly 1,500 25-44 years of age alone—drown each year. Four out of five victims are males. And only about 2,400 of the year's 6,400 drownings happen to persons swimming or playing in the water.

The safety man's observations came as the nation was busy preparing for Fourth of July fun. The holiday, which falls on Tuesday this year, will last four days for some persons, one day for others.

IF, DESPITE all your precautions over the holiday, a water emergency should arise, what does Kuhli recommend you do?

—Throw a person struggling in the water anything that will float—a board, branch, large thermos jug.

—Or, hold something out to him—an oar, branch, end of a piece of rope, even a sweat shirt.

Best way to help make sure such emergencies don't occur?

"By learning to swim," Kuhli believes. "Even if you're middle-age, you're certainly not past danger from drowning—and neither is it too late for you to learn to swim," he said.

Letters to the Editor

'Fair Accounting' Is Asked Of Assessment Proceedings

After a year of listening to the discussions of the board of local improvements and the board of trustees regarding the construction of major improvements in Arlington Heights such as streets, sewers, sidewalks and water mains, we feel that it is time for the "pressured" citizens of Arlington Heights to demand a fair accounting from our village official assessment proceedings.

Waking up to the fact that 20 to 30 years of neglect of thorofare improvements and the tremendous growth of the village has found us with "horse and buggy" streets and inadequate drainage, the recent policy of both boards has been aimed at trying to correct these conditions overnight.

The usual decision of our elected trustees has been to approve, though not without question, the recommendations of the board of local improvements regarding width of streets, inclusion of sidewalks, and in general almost every aspect of recent and numerous special assessment proceedings.

And the chief cost of these improvements has been laid at the door of the homeowners directly fronting the installations.

MAJOR arterial streets, such as Campbell, can be financed largely through available motor fuel tax funds. However, in the case of residential streets being improved by special assessment, this is a different story. The homeowners in many cases have attempted to show that 24' streets, especially in residential built-up areas are adequate for their needs. The stand taken by the board of local improvements has been that 28 foot, 32 foot, and 36 foot streets are absolutely essential. Let us ask, in whose interest?

Is it in the residents' interest to create a faster flow of traffic, resulting in a hazard for small children? Is it in the residents' interest to provide street side parking when their own driveways 99 per cent of the time can handle all visiting cars? And most important, is it in the residents' interest to assess them so heavily that living in Arlington Heights becomes no longer a matter of preference but a sheer luxury? The answer is obviously "no."

If it is not in the present residents' interest, then who stands to benefit by these wider streets and full-scale development plans? The answer must be that the village as a whole and the future residents who will not then be assessed (except in the price of their homes—here a matter of choice) gain most by these grandiose plans paid for now by present citizens.

Much time, effort, and tax money has been spent by the plan commission and by private firms to draw up the master plan.

This plan laudably, but belatedly, sets forth the ideal pattern for street development for a community with a contemplated future population of 70,000 people. And if is upon this plan and upon the recommendations of the plan commission that the BOLI almost exclusively rests its every decision for wider streets.

THEN IF it is true that all the residents of the village, present and future, profit most, then they should in all fairness bear the increased cost.

Has this been the case here in Arlington Heights? Has the board of trustees as the policy making body of the village demonstrated any willingness to admit the fact of large public benefit and allot it accordingly? The answer is again "no." And why?—beause they say they don't have the money.

And yet when individuals stoutly maintain that they do not have the money to pay for these improvements, this reason is not considered a valid one. The situation has degenerated to such an extent that homeowners can generate more discussion and get more time and consideration on the merits of saving a few old beautiful trees than if presenting a hardship case of actual financial inability to pay for the assessments.

Is there any solution to this village-wide problem? And it is village-wide, which may come as a surprise to many beleaguered and seemingly friendless people who have faced the BOLI in the past two or three years.

How many residents know that 20 miles out of a 100 miles of streets within the present village limits are now unimproved?

How many people know the scope of the capital improvements projects planned by the village to be put in by special assessment in the next eight years?

Do residents of the village looking for tax relief realize that what they hope will be a panacea for their problems, the annexation of land to the north and south of the village for industrial purposes, will bring along with it hugely aggravated problems of street maintenance?

THE LAST figures that we have obtained show that out of every dollar brought into the village coffers, 31 cents is being spent for streets, sewers and sidewalks—a larger piece of the pie than for any other purpose. We all know that most of the streets to the north and south are unimproved and have well and septic systems. Do you think residents of Arlington Knolls, Lynwood, and especially Forest View would wish to be annexed if they were aware of the high future costs?

We are sure that in the public interest it would be a distinct service to all the residents fronting streets yet to be improved, indeed, to all the citizens of the village, if the Arlington Heights Herald would publish the village manager's report of February 22, 1961, dealing with "Policy for the Determination of the Amount of Public Benefit for Road Improvements."

Mr. Hanson, a professional in the field of city government, outlines past policies of the village as to public benefit, present policies and their ruinous effects on homeowners' pocketbooks, and a possible partial solution to the problem. This report was discussed in a joint informal meeting held in March between members of the BOLI advocating its adoption and the board of trustees.

Informal discussion in this case meant that neither the press nor the public was informed beforehand of its occurrence, its importance, or its place, date, and time.

Unfortunately, due to a disagreement largely over methods of financing, the program was literally talked to death, and no more has been heard of it. At least, not to our knowledge has any further discussion or consideration been given to it.

Mention was made in this meeting also of a study of 50 municipalities in the state of Illinois to determine the amount of public benefit being paid by them under special assessment proceedings. A comparison showed that Arlington Heights would rank near the bottom of the scale. In Des Plaines, even in just sewer and water projects, the city assumes 25 per cent of the cost in public benefit.

IN ORDER to enable our present residents to remain in Arlington Heights, the village must be willing to pay its fair share of the benefits it derives from paving of streets or any other large scale improvement. By law of special assessment, individuals who can afford to contest their share of an assessment cannot be forced to pay more than their home will be worth after the improvements have been installed.

But except in a large scale project where there may be many cases of inequity, what individual can afford to spend a thousand dollars to fight his case in the courts? If a party cannot afford to protest his share and yet these costs are demonstrably exorbitant, then obviously an injustice is being done.

But how can the village afford to defray its share of the benefits derived from major improvements of its streets and upgrading of land values? We are neither accountants nor economists, but when talking with officials of other cities, they have suggested possible avenues to be explored. In many communities, all funds derived from vehicle tax stickers are used for street maintenance, street improvements, etc.

In Arlington Heights this money goes into the general fund. In some cities, they have raised the price of the vehicle stickers to pay for needed improvements. The possibility of a general bond issue, against which future gas tax money is pledged, could be explored. It is a fact that any improved street benefits the whole village.

If a bond issue seems to be the solution for 19 per cent of Arlington Heights residents with flooding problems, then it would not be inequitable to benefit 20 per cent of the village, and in the long haul all of it, in the same manner. However, we are sure that residents facing streets to be improved will be more willing to bear their fair share of their improvements if the village will do the same.

IF THE NEW administration is interested in better communications between the village government and its citizens, here is a good place to start. We plan to bring this matter up for discussion at the regular trustees' meeting in the village hall at 8 p.m. on June 19.

We hope all those interested will plan to attend. It is high time that all the residents of the village are made aware of the scope of this problem in order to seek a solution. Or we will wake up one day to find ourselves living in a gold-plated model community that we can neither afford to pay for nor to live in.

Public Clinic Is Proposed

A recent informative article in a monthly periodical on the subject of a new kind of insurance wherein the author used examples how the victims of on-the-job accidents are being rehabilitated to useful living.

He further suggests that insurance companies apply these same ideas in rehabilitating victims of automobile and other casualty type accidents as a means to retard federal government intervention in this medical aspect.

I will not dwell on the basic histronics of this subject but will mention that the author overlooks that the reason many of the laws that do exist are not the result of initiative or the lack of enthusiasm, but the direct result of misuse of the human being by uncouth employers.

EVEN NOW as well as in the distant future there will be legislative measures incorporated into protective acts for many people. How extensive this will be, will depend upon the type and the character of elected representative the voter does elect.

In other words, the service you are receiving now is what you voted last election.

The recent rescheduling of a zoning hearing of Dr. Oberschneider's petition may be filled with emotional appeal by his clients and friends, but since I am neither his or the other resident doctors' may I be heard.

Dr. Oberschneider is anxious to invest $,000 to $10,000 in office quarters, equipment and other items for the people in Roselle and expects to live long enough to amortize this investment by his fees.

If such medical facilities were available I would judge that he would use them first so as not to upset our grandiose master zoning plan we have here in Roselle. But the truth of the matter is that there are none; methinks that the two places I have in mind are not yet available and would have to be rezoned.

THEREFOR WHAT appears to me as a bystander that if Dr. Oberschneider is pushed out of Roselle, there will be available a ready made clientele for some aspiring new doctor.

Time alone can prove this viewpoint.

I realize that the zoning board is an appointive body of the village president and therefore subservient to him. If he takes the role of a fence straddler, they follow suit thus the impasse.

What Roselle really needs is a clinic wherein five or more doctors could use community-owned facilities voluntary financed, for quicker, better and economical medical service. There also could be had a doctor for night attendance. Thinking people can achieve these things, but then few thinkers in Roselle ever get elected.

And most important, is it in the residents' interest to assess them so heavily that living in Arlington Heights becomes no longer a matter of preference but a sheer luxury? The answer is obviously "no."

If it is not in the present residents' interest, then who stands to benefit by these wider streets and full-scale development plans? The answer must be that the village as a whole and the future residents who will not then be assessed (except in the price of their homes—here a matter of choice) gain most by these grandiose plans paid for now by present citizens.

Much time, effort, and tax money has been spent by the plan commission and by private firms to draw up the master plan.

This plan laudably, but belatedly, sets forth the ideal pattern for street development for a community with a contemplated future population of 70,000 people. And if is upon this plan and upon the recommendations of the plan commission that the BOLI almost exclusively rests its every decision for wider streets.

THEN IF it is true that all the residents of the village, present and future, profit most, then they should in all fairness bear the increased cost.

Has this been the case here in Arlington Heights? Has the board of trustees as the policy making body of the village demonstrated any willingness to admit the fact of large public benefit and allot it accordingly? The answer is again "no." And why?—beause they say they don't have the money.

And yet when individuals stoutly maintain that they do not have the money to pay for these improvements, this reason is not considered a valid one. The situation has degenerated to such an extent that homeowners can generate more discussion and get more time and consideration on the merits of saving a few old beautiful trees than if presenting a hardship case of actual financial inability to pay for the assessments.

Is there any solution to this village-wide problem? And it is village-wide, which may come as a surprise to many beleaguered and seemingly friendless people who have faced the BOLI in the past two or three years.

How many residents know that 20 miles out of a 100 miles of streets within the present village limits are now unimproved?

How many people know the scope of the capital improvements projects planned by the village to be put in by special assessment in the next eight years?

Do residents of the village looking for tax relief realize that what they hope will be a panacea for their problems, the annexation of land to the north and south of the village for industrial purposes, will bring along with it hugely aggravated problems of street maintenance?

THE LAST figures that we have obtained show that out of every dollar brought into the village coffers, 31 cents is being spent for streets, sewers and sidewalks—a larger piece of the pie than for any other purpose. We all know that most of the streets to the north and south are unimproved and have well and septic systems. Do you think residents of Arlington Knolls, Lynwood, and especially Forest View would wish to be annexed if they were aware of the high future costs?

We are sure that in the public interest it would be a distinct service to all the residents fronting streets yet to be improved, indeed, to all the citizens of the village, if the Arlington Heights Herald would publish the village manager's report of February 22, 1961, dealing with "Policy for the Determination of the Amount of Public Benefit for Road Improvements."

Mr. Hanson, a professional in the field of city government, outlines past policies of the village as to public benefit, present policies and their ruinous effects on home owners' pocketbooks, and a possible partial solution to the problem. This report was discussed in a joint informal meeting held in March between members of the BOLI advocating its adoption and the board of trustees.

Informal discussion in this case meant that neither the press nor the public was informed beforehand of its occurrence, its importance, or its place, date, and time.

Unfortunately, due to a disagreement largely over methods of financing, the program was literally talked to death, and no more has been heard of it. At least, not to our knowledge has any further discussion or consideration been given to it.

Mention was made in this meeting also of a study of 50 municipalities in the state of Illinois to determine the amount of public benefit being paid by them under special assessment proceedings. A comparison showed that Arlington Heights would rank near the bottom of the scale. In Des Plaines, even in just sewer and water projects, the city assumes 25 per cent of the cost in public benefit.

IN ORDER to enable our present residents to remain in Arlington Heights, the village must be willing to pay its fair share of the benefits it derives from paving of streets or any other large scale improvement. By law of special assessment, individuals who can afford to contest their share of an assessment cannot be forced to pay more than their home will be worth after the improvements have been installed.

But except in a large scale project where there may be many cases of inequity, what individual can afford to spend a thousand dollars to fight his case in the courts? If a party cannot afford to protest his share and yet these costs are demonstrably exorbitant, then obviously an injustice is being done.

But how can the village afford to defray its share of the benefits derived from major improvements of its streets and upgrading of land values? We are neither accountants nor economists, but when talking with officials of other cities, they have suggested possible avenues to be explored. In many communities, all funds derived from vehicle tax stickers are used for street maintenance, street improvements, etc.

In Arlington Heights this money goes into the general fund. In some cities, they have raised the price of the vehicle stickers to pay for needed improvements. The possibility of a general bond issue, against which future gas tax money is pledged, could be explored. It is a fact that any improved street benefits the whole village.

If a bond issue seems to be the solution for 19 per cent of Arlington Heights residents with flooding problems, then it would not be inequitable to benefit 20 per cent of the village, and in the long haul all of it, in the same manner. However, we are sure that residents facing streets to be improved will be more willing to bear their fair share of their improvements if the village will do the same.

IF THE NEW administration is interested in better communications between the village government and its citizens, here is a good place to start. We plan to bring this matter up for discussion at the regular trustees' meeting in the village hall at 8 p.m. on June 19.

We hope all those interested will plan to attend. It is high time that all the residents of the village are made aware of the scope of this problem in order to seek a solution. Or we will wake up one day to find ourselves living in a gold-plated model community that we can neither afford to pay for nor to live in.

Public Clinic Is Proposed

A recent informative article in a monthly periodical on the subject of a new kind of insurance wherein the author used examples how the victims of on-the-job accidents are being rehabilitated to useful living.

He further suggests that insurance companies apply these same ideas in rehabilitating victims of automobile and other casualty type accidents as a means to retard federal government intervention in this medical aspect.

I will not dwell on the basic histronics of this subject but will mention that the author overlooks that the reason many of the laws that do exist are not the result of initiative or the lack of enthusiasm, but the direct result of misuse of the human being by uncouth employers.

EVEN NOW as well as in the distant future there will be legislative measures incorporated into protective acts for many people. How extensive this will be, will depend upon the type and the character of elected representative the voter does elect.

In other words, the service you are receiving now is what you voted last election.

The recent rescheduling of a zoning hearing of Dr. Oberschneider's petition may be filled with emotional appeal by his clients and friends, but since I am neither his or the other resident doctors' may I be heard.

Dr. Oberschneider is anxious to invest $,000 to $10,000 in office quarters, equipment and other items for the people in Roselle and expects to live long enough to amortize this investment by his fees.

If such medical facilities were available I would judge that he would use them first so as not to upset our grandiose master zoning plan we have here in Roselle. But the truth of the matter is that there are none; methinks that the two places I have in mind are not yet available and would have to be rezoned.

THEREFOR WHAT appears to me as a bystander that if Dr. Oberschneider is pushed out of Roselle, there will be available a ready made clientele for some aspiring new doctor.

Time alone can prove this viewpoint.

I realize that the zoning board is an appointive body of the village president and therefore subservient to him. If he takes the role of a fence straddler, they follow suit thus the impasse.

What Roselle really needs is a clinic wherein five or more doctors could use community-owned facilities voluntary financed, for quicker, better and economical medical service. There also could be had a doctor for night attendance. Thinking people can achieve these things, but then few thinkers in Roselle ever get elected.

The Way We See It

The Public's Stake In 'Right-to-Know'

The question was asked of a leading journalism professor at a recent newswriting clinic held for Paddock Publications' staffers where he would draw the line in the printed presentation of problems.

His answer: "I'm in favor of opening Pandora's box."

Dr. Curtis MacDougall, Northwestern university journalism professor, explained that this was the only way in which people in a democratic society could make sound judgments — on the basis of all available facts.

Thus, when a newspaper prints the sordid details of a juvenile crime or chronicles the unhappy events which lead to the termination of someone's life by his own hand, it is not doing so to spur circulation.

In the first instance, the newspaper, by presenting the facts of a juvenile problem to the public, is alerting it to a situation which begs for solution. But the public cannot solve the problem if it remains in the anonymous care of a police chief who has appointed himself to protect the public against the unhappy circumstances of life.

In the second instance, the professor provided an example of how the suppression of facts of a suicide destroyed a family's name. Dr. MacDougall was editor of a paper whose publisher yielded to the wishes of a prominent family in keeping a husband's suicide out of print. The widow confided later that she had made a grave mistake in requesting that the story not be used; rumors that circulated as to the reason the man took this irrevocable step smeared his character with as much finality.

When a newspaper insists that it be allowed access to meetings and records of tax-supported bodies, it does so not with the intent of beefing up newstand sales. Rather, it is acting as a representative of the public and defending the public's right to know. This right is specifically guaranteed in the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

It is reinforced in Illinois by the "open meeting" or "right to know" law. House Bill 699, passed in 1957, states: "It is the public policy of this state that the public commissions, boards and councils and the other public agencies of this state exist to aid in the conduct of the public's business. It is the intent of this act that their actions be taken openly and that their official deliberations be conducted openly."

Most candidates who ran for municipal and school board offices in the northwest suburbs reiterated as a plank in their platform the right of the public to be kept informed through the medium of open meetings.

But the lag between words and deeds is just now becoming apparent. In Wheeling, for instance, the party installed in power May 1 championed an "Insistence upon holding all meetings of official bodies in full view of the public. No special legislation."

These trustees, however, have held several "unannounced" committee meetings not "in full view of the public." Since the public is not made aware of the fact that a meeting is to be held, however inconsequential or unattended, one begins to suspect the purpose of such gatherings.

There are other governmental bodies in the northwest suburban area against whom similar criticism can be leveled. Conversely, an excellent record of cooperation exists between the suburban press and the Wheeling police department, as well as the law enforcement agencies of Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows.

We applaud the policy adopted by the Mount Prospect board of education to conduct all its business in public with the exceptions permitted by law of land acquisition, and hiring and firing of personnel.

But the majority of "executive sessions" or "informal" gatherings or "off the record" huddles are usually not designed to eliminate time-consuming business details; instead, they serve to hide from public view controversy and questionable action.

What these public bodies that expend the taxpayers' money in the conduct of the public's business should know is that the breaking of the "right to know" law carries with it a fine of $100 or 30 days in the county jail or both.

It was suggested at the first editorial meeting of the Suburban Press Foundation, Inc., of which Paddock Publications is a member, that one of the tasks of the foundation should be to keep a file of such violations of the public trust. This information would then be turned over to the state's attorney's office for appropriate action.

The people's rights must be defended — and even prosecuted — if there is no other recourse. Such action should not be necessary; public officials, if they believe in democracy at all, have the ethical responsibility to preserve its forms in content as well as outline.

As a footnote to ways in which the intent of the "right to know" law is being evaded by public bodies, the General Assembly this year declared in a resolution: "We feel that the public is entitled to know not only the decisions which have been reached but the basis for those decisions . . . Speculation about what goes on behind closed doors usually distorts the action taken and the reason for the action."

The school board meeting in the basement of a board member's home where vital issues are discussed before an audience of plumbing fixtures; the request to keep a prominent name out of print; the police "blotter" that is kept from public scrutiny — all are debris that is swept into the larger stream of governmental duplicity whose tide is rising and eroding our freedoms.

This Is Time for Action

Citizens concerned with the plight of migrant farm workers, both foreign and domestic, have reason to be grateful for the courage and concern of Rep. Marguerite Stitt Church (R-13th).

Despite heavy odds, she continues to fight for reforms in Public Law 78, the measure which permits importation of up to 500,000 Mexican nationals (braceros) to work on U. S. farms.

The bracero program depends for its existence on poverty and unemployment in Mexico and tends to increase poverty and unemployment at home. The plain fact is that the Mexican peasants, desperate and willing to work for low wages and under conditions of bare subsistence, have made peasants of American agricultural workers. This depression is reflected in the conditions of migrant workers in our own northwest suburban area.

Last month, Public Law 78 came before the House in a bill which provided for a two-year extension without any change or reform. During debate, Mrs. Church rose to express the disappointment of many of us: "I am unwilling to accept the fact that we cannot give more protection to the imported Mexican laborers, and particularly more protection to our U. S. migrant farm laborers. Merely to extend this act, without consideration of connected problems that must be faced, is not adequate or responsible action."

Mrs. Church voted with the minority of the House. The bill passed by a vote of 231 to 157. Among those voting in the majority was Rep. Elmer Hoffman (R-14th).

Despite defeat, this was the strongest showing which Mrs. Church and other supporters of reform measures have yet been able to make. Many more Congressmen have come to understand the issues involved in reform of Public Law 78.

The bill is now before the Senate. There is more reason to hope for a reform bill being passed there than there was in the House — providing an aroused citizenry makes its feelings known.

Sen. Eugene McCarthy (D-Minn.) has introduced a bill (S. 1945) which has bi-partisan support. It would amend and reform the Mexican farm labor program and correct the major abuses of the Mexican importation program.

Now is the time to write Sen. Paul H. Douglas and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen to voice support for the reform bill. Their address is Senate Office Building, Washington 25, D. C.

Police Mentality Is Legacy Written by the 'Cold War'

by DICK HOFFMANN

"A primer of Soviet Propaganda," telecast last Wednesday, June 7, over ABC's Channel 7, might better have been titled, "Products of the Cold War."

"Primer" was not convincing in demonstrating that Russia's propaganda is any different from that which it has always ground out. But the program was useful in showing that Russians and Americans have become so inculcated with cold war cliches as to make meaningful communication of ideas near impossible.

Commentator Norman Ross had selected portions of an earlier "Off the Cuff" show at which some Russian journalists were his guests to expose the machinations of Soviet propaganda.

BUT A political scientist from Notre Dame (the show was in black and white, but you could sense his red hair which was bristling when he came on the program) also was an example of how propaganda has created too emotional a climate in which to discuss our differences with the U.S.S.R.

During the course of the program, Ross kept trying to steer his guests to a discussion of those areas of possible agreement rather than dwelling on those problems which divide East and West. He seemed to indicate afterward that there was no common ground to explore.

To me, however, the similarities between Russian and American loomed larger—and more terrifying—than the differences.

It is not just a matter of convenience that both sides always find themselves in agreement with authority; it is becoming an accepted attitude. This has been our long standing criticism of the Soviet system; unfortunately, we in this country have adopted similar enthusiasms for authority.

PUBLIC officials, as spokesmen for the country, hold themselves up as sacrosanct. Attacking their views is like profaning the flag. President Kennedy's plea for "self-discipline" by the press appears a clumsily-cloaked call for carte blanche approval of his programs, however ill-advised or irresponsible.

Both countries spring from revolutionary roots. In our country, the only things that used to be sacred were the rights of man and justice for all; politicians were for roasting. Now, about the only images sanctified are property and the pledge of allegiance.

Whatever reforms the Communists made in Russia in the early days of its revolution have since been devoured by a bureaucracy. The bureaucrats everywhere have multiplied. Administrations in America and Russia change with elections and party purges but the bureaucrats endure. One party passeth and another cometh, but the bureaucrats abideth forever. They occupy the real seats of power.

THIS IS the class that capitalizes on our fears of communism by labeling dissent "communistic" or "communist sympathizer." In Russia, this capitalization and punctuation of fear goes by the name of "capitalist lackey" or "tool of imperialism."

Words are weapons. Thus, capitalism, once categorized as an economic system, is now equated as a Way of Life, the equivalent of the U. S. Constitution and Bill of Rights, while actually it has at times been the enemy of our political democratic forms, with the trend toward monopolistic practices one example of antagonism. Russia extolls the virtues of communism as the best means of distributing goods but practices a form of state capitalism.

There is a worship of materialism, whether embodied in dialectics and hardware space spectaculars or status symbols and bank accounts.

BOTH SIDES admire success—and success alone—no matter the means, whether in Hungary or Cuba (I make the comparison in the degree of hypocrisy, not brutality, exhibited).

Both groups view matters in blacks and whites; shading is for "sympathizers" and "lackeys." Both blocs have marshalled vast arsenals; they impugn their intellectuals, be they Oppenheimer or Pasternak; they persist in the belief that force is the only means by which they shall settle the future, although that force is now greater than "a thousand suns."

The police mentality prevails. As the arms race continues, it threatens to create two prison garrison states, forged by constant tension and mutual suspicion.

This is the legacy being written by the cold war Its products will be the regimented masses. Man will be reduced to matter, which I here differentiate from the mind that can organize the material it perceives into something meaningful — in short, think.

BUT WE are frightened from this task by labels and slogans. Russia and America long ago left the study of propaganda primers; they are now indulging in graduate research on the subject.

It is not Russia or the United States which has consolidated any gains throughout the world; it is the bureaucrats. It looks as if they will enjoy the final laugh, if they weren't so grim. Therefore, the last chuckle belongs to Aldous Huxley who predicted it all long ago in "Brave New World." That is, if he's so inclined.

For Discussion

'Goals' Are Springboard

by MARTIN E. MARTY

Do you want a good program suggestion? Buy "Goals for Americans" (Spectrum, paperback, $1) for the members of your group and discuss it.

I had the experience over the weekend in an interesting setting — and it is a worthwhile experience.

In my instance, it was as part of an assignment to address 90 Administration people and Congressmen who annually gather in June at Gettysburg, under the auspices of all the Lutheran synods in America, to discuss the Church and National Life.

Kenneth Thompson discussed the document from the social scientists' viewpoint (he is with the Rockefeller Foundation) and I from the theologians'. While "Goals" are by no means all they should be, the book provides excellent springboard for discussion.

A PRESIDENTS' Commission of private individuals reporting at the end of the Eisenhower era comment on the nation's inclusive goals and append a series of interesting papers.

From the theological viewpoint, the book leaves much to be desired and perhaps suggests reasons for some of our national predicaments. For instance, discussing "goals at home" there is great stress on the individual, on equality, on the deomocratic process.

But when discussing "goals abroad" it begins "the basic foreign policy of the United States should be the preservation of its own independence and free institutions. And in this section there is not the slightest, not the slightest interest in the individual, in equality, in the democratic process: only an interest in what other nations might mean to our tariffs, our alliances, our protection.

KEEPING America strong is an admirable goal, but it can hardly be expected to be a cause for which to rally Congolese or Indonesians. The trouble is, we are up against an enemy who has a way of implying that his ideology includes the new nations. And we are losing fast to him, lacking a coherent "doctrine of man" that talks about the individual, the democratic process, or equality abroad.

In many respects the document is a product of the Eisenhower Era: somewhat bland, somewhat short-range, genial and generous and hopeful. It is notably short in discussing the means (more controversial) while it dwells more at length on good but somewhat platitudinous ends.

Most of the government officials and employees gathered at Gettysburg were critical of this aspect of the document. They spoke wistfully and with measured hope of a new interest in "means" of securing national goals in the new administration.

BUT THE whole session left little room for optimism. America's goals are ill-defined, hard to project around the world. The new national mood: frustration, relaxed despair, faint hope, occasional desire to "get things going" often showed through.

"Goals" admirably summed up the end of eight years of one way of looking at national life. We do not yet know what the nation will look like in the near future but discussion of purpose, goals, character — all these might help us forget a few expressions when we so direly need them.

Amendments Can Be Legislative Agony

By REP. PAUL SIMON

Something many people who write letters to legislators don't realize is that an amendment can change a measure completely.

If your representative or senator does not give you a definite commitment one way or another on a bill, it may be that he is not afraid to take a position but he does not want to take a definite stand until the bill is in final shape.

A good example is the bill which concerns alcoholic drinking among young people.

At the present time the law in Illinois is that a girl can legally buy a drink if she is 18 and a boy can when he is 21.

SENATE BILL 35 proposed changing it to 21 for both boys and girls, a move a great many of us feel is logical. (The argument used against it is that if you permit a girl to marry at 18, it does not make sense to say she can't have a drink.)

The bill, raising the age limit to 21 for everyone was passed in the Senate overwhelmingly. For a short period I was getting a great deal of mail supporting this measure.

Then in the House committee, the measure was changed, reducing the age for both men and women to 19—doing just the opposite of what the sponsor intended. The result is that the people who originally wrote to me to support the measure I feel confident would want me to oppose it, and those who originally wrote opposing it probably now are for it.

If I had written letters committing myself definitely to support Senate Bill 35, I would have been in a somewhat awkward position. So on some of these matters a legislator simply states his support or opposition to a general principle. Or he indicates his feeling about a measure without pledging a vote. He has to hedge his answers somewhat because it is impossible to know what an amendment will do to a measure.

THIS DOES NOT excuse spinelessness on the part of any legislator, but what appears to be spinelessness may only be caution as to possible amendments on a bill.

Amendments become particularly important in these final weeks of the legislature when action comes so quickly. A "small" amendment can slip in easily which accomplishes something most legislators would not want to do.

The hectic closing days in Springfield are days when important amendments can slip in almost unnoticed.

Those amendments cause legislators agony—and may cause a reply to your letter which is less committed to a bill than you would like.

This information would then be turned over to the state's attorney's office for appropriate action.

The people's rights must be defended — and even prosecuted — if there is no other recourse. Such action should not be necessary; public officials, if they believe in democracy at all, have the ethical responsibility to preserve its forms in content as well as outline.

As a footnote to ways in which the intent of the "right to know" law is being evaded by public bodies, the General Assembly this year declared in a resolution: "We feel that the public is entitled to know not only the decisions which have been reached but the basis for those decisions . . . Speculation about what goes on behind closed doors usually distorts the action taken and the reason for the action."

The school board meeting in the basement of a board member's home where vital issues are discussed before an audience of plumbing fixtures; the request to keep a prominent name out of print; the police "blotter" that is kept from public scrutiny — all are debris that is swept into the larger stream of governmental duplicity whose tide is rising and eroding our freedoms.

This Is Time for Action

Citizens concerned with the plight of migrant farm workers, both foreign and domestic, have reason to be grateful for the courage and concern of Rep. Marguerite Stitt Church (R-13th).

Despite heavy odds, she continues to fight for reforms in Public Law 78, the measure which permits importation of up to 500,000 Mexican nationals (braceros) to work on U. S. farms.

The bracero program depends for its existence on poverty and unemployment in Mexico and tends to increase poverty and unemployment at home. The plain fact is that the Mexican peasants, desperate and willing to work for low wages and under conditions of bare subsistence, have made peasants of American agricultural workers. This depression is reflected in the conditions of migrant workers in our own northwest suburban area.

Last month, Public Law 78 came before the House in a bill which provided for a two-year extension without any change or reform. During debate, Mrs. Church rose to express the disappointment of many of us: "I am unwilling to accept the fact that we cannot give more protection to the imported Mexican laborers, and particularly more protection to our U. S. migrant farm laborers. Merely to extend this act, without consideration of connected problems that must be faced, is not adequate or responsible action."

Mrs. Church voted with the minority of the House. The bill passed by a vote of 231 to 157. Among those voting in the majority was Rep. Elmer Hoffman (R-14th).

Despite defeat, this was the strongest showing which Mrs. Church and other supporters of reform measures have yet been able to make. Many more Congressmen have come to understand the issues involved in reform of Public Law 78.

The bill is now before the Senate. There is more reason to hope for a reform bill being passed there than there was in the House — providing an aroused citizenry makes its feelings known.

Sen. Eugene McCarthy (D-Minn.) has introduced a bill (S. 1945) which has bi-partisan support. It would amend and reform the Mexican farm labor program and correct the major abuses of the Mexican importation program.

Now is the time to write Sen. Paul H. Douglas and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen to voice support for the reform bill. Their address is Senate Office Building, Washington 25, D. C.

Police Mentality Is Legacy Written by the 'Cold War'

by DICK HOFFMANN

"A primer of Soviet Propaganda," telecast last Wednesday, June 7, over ABC's Channel 7, might better have been titled, "Products of the Cold War."

"Primer" was not convincing in demonstrating that Russia's propaganda is any different from that which it has always ground out. But the program was useful in showing that Russians and Americans have become so inculcated with cold war cliches as to make meaningful communication of ideas near impossible.

Commentator Norman Ross had selected portions of an earlier "Off the Cuff" show at which some Russian journalists were his guests to expose the machinations of Soviet propaganda.

BUT A political scientist from Notre Dame (the show was in black and white, but you could sense his red hair which was bristling when he came on the program) also was an example of how propaganda has created too emotional a climate in which to discuss our differences with the U.S.S.R.

During the course of the program, Ross kept trying to steer his guests to a discussion of those areas of possible agreement rather than dwelling on those problems which divide East and West. He seemed to indicate afterward that there was no common ground to explore.

To me, however, the similarities between Russian and American loomed larger—and more terrifying—than the differences.

It is not just a matter of convenience that both sides always find themselves in agreement with authority; it is becoming an accepted attitude. This has been our long standing criticism of the Soviet system; unfortunately, we in this country have adopted similar enthusiasms for authority.

PUBLIC officials, as spokesmen for the country, hold themselves up as sacrosanct. Attacking their views is like profaning the flag. President Kennedy's plea for "self-discipline" by the press appears a clumsily-cloaked call for carte blanche approval of his programs, however ill-advised or irresponsible.

Both countries spring from revolutionary roots. In our country, the only things that used to be sacred were the rights of man and justice for all; politicians were for roasting. Now, about the only images sanctified are property and the pledge of allegiance.

Whatever reforms the Communists made in Russia in the early days of its revolution have since been devoured by a bureaucracy. The bureaucrats everywhere have multiplied. Administrations in America and Russia change with elections and party purges but the bureaucrats endure. One party passeth and another cometh, but the bureaucrats abideth forever. They occupy the real seats of power.

THIS IS the class that capitalizes on our fears of communism by labeling dissent "communistic" or "communist sympathizer." In Russia, this capitalization and punctuation of fear goes by the name of "capitalist lackey" or "tool of imperialism."

Words are weapons. Thus, capitalism, once categorized as an economic system, is now equated as a Way of Life, the equivalent of the U. S. Constitution and Bill of Rights, while actually it has at times been the enemy of our political democratic forms, with the trend toward monopolistic practices one example of antagonism. Russia extolls the virtues of communism as the best means of distributing goods but practices a form of state capitalism.

There is a worship of materialism, whether embodied in dialectics and hardware space spectaculars or status symbols and bank accounts.

BOTH SIDES admire success—and success alone—no matter the means, whether in Hungary or Cuba (I make the comparison in the degree of hypocrisy, not brutality, exhibited).

Both groups view matters in blacks and whites; shading is for "sympathizers" and "lackeys." Both blocs have marshalled vast arsenals; they impugn their intellectuals, be they Oppenheimer or Pasternak; they persist in the belief that force is the only means by which they shall settle the future, although that force is now greater than "a thousand suns."

The police mentality prevails. As the arms race continues, it threatens to create two prison garrison states, forged by constant tension and mutual suspicion.

This is the legacy being written by the cold war Its products will be the regimented masses. Man will be reduced to matter, which I here differentiate from the mind that can organize the material it perceives into something meaningful — in short, think.

BUT WE are frightened from this task by labels and slogans. Russia and America long ago left the study of propaganda primers; they are now indulging in graduate research on the subject.

It is not Russia or the United States which has consolidated any gains throughout the world; it is the bureaucrats. It looks as if they will enjoy the final laugh, if they weren't so grim. Therefore, the last chuckle belongs to Aldous Huxley who predicted it all long ago in "Brave New World." That is, if he's so inclined.

For Discussion

'Goals' Are Springboard

by MARTIN E. MARTY

Do you want a good program suggestion? Buy "Goals for Americans" (Spectrum, paperback, $1) for the members of your group and discuss it.

I had the experience over the weekend in an interesting setting — and it is a worthwhile experience.

In my instance, it was as part of an assignment to address 90 Administration people and Congressmen who annually gather in June at Gettysburg, under the auspices of all the Lutheran synods in America, to discuss the Church and National Life.

Kenneth Thompson discussed the document from the social scientists' viewpoint (he is with the Rockefeller Foundation) and I from the theologians'. While "Goals" are by no means all they should be, the book provides excellent springboard for discussion.

A PRESIDENTS' Commission of private individuals reporting at the end of the Eisenhower era comment on the nation's inclusive goals and append a series of interesting papers.

From the theological viewpoint, the book leaves much to be desired and perhaps suggests reasons for some of our national predicaments. For instance, discussing "goals at home" there is great stress on the individual, on equality, on the deomocratic process.

But when discussing "goals abroad" it begins "the basic foreign policy of the United States should be the preservation of its own independence and free institutions. And in this section there is not the slightest, not the slightest interest in the individual, in equality, in the democratic process: only an interest in what other nations might mean to our tariffs, our alliances, our protection.

KEEPING America strong is an admirable goal, but it can hardly be expected to be a cause for which to rally Congolese or Indonesians. The trouble is, we are up against an enemy who has a way of implying that his ideology includes the new nations. And we are losing fast to him, lacking a coherent "doctrine of man" that talks about the individual, the democratic process, or equality abroad.

In many respects the document is a product of the Eisenhower Era: somewhat bland, somewhat short-range, genial and generous and hopeful. It is notably short in discussing the means (more controversial) while it dwells more at length on good but somewhat platitudinous ends.

Most of the government officials and employees gathered at Gettysburg were critical of this aspect of the document. They spoke wistfully and with measured hope of a new interest in "means" of securing national goals in the new administration.

BUT THE whole session left little room for optimism. America's goals are ill-defined, hard to project around the world. The new national mood: frustration, relaxed despair, faint hope, occasional desire to "get things going" often showed through.

"Goals" admirably summed up the end of eight years of one way of looking at national life. We do not yet know what the nation will look like in the near future but discussion of purpose, goals, character — all these might help us forget a few expressions when we so direly need them.

Amendments Can Be Legislative Agony

By REP. PAUL SIMON

Something many people who write letters to legislators don't realize is that an amendment can change a measure completely.

If your representative or senator does not give you a definite commitment one way or another on a bill, it may be that he is not afraid to take a position but he does not want to take a definite stand until the bill is in final shape.

A good example is the bill which concerns alcoholic drinking among young people.

At the present time the law in Illinois is that a girl can legally buy a drink if she is 18 and a boy can when he is 21.

SENATE BILL 35 proposed changing it to 21 for both boys and girls, a move a great many of us feel is logical. (The argument used against it is that if you permit a girl to marry at 18, it does not make sense to say she can't have a drink.)

The bill, raising the age limit to 21 for everyone was passed in the Senate overwhelmingly. For a short period I was getting a great deal of mail supporting this measure.

Then in the House committee, the measure was changed, reducing the age for both men and women to 19—doing just the opposite of what the sponsor intended. The result is that the people who originally wrote to me to support the measure I feel confident would want me to oppose it, and those who originally wrote opposing it probably now are for it.

If I had written letters committing myself definitely to support Senate Bill 35, I would have been in a somewhat awkward position. So on some of these matters a legislator simply states his support or opposition to a general principle. Or he indicates his feeling about a measure without pledging a vote. He has to hedge his answers somewhat because it is impossible to know what an amendment will do to a measure.

THIS DOES NOT excuse spinelessness on the part of any legislator, but what appears to be spinelessness may only be caution as to possible amendments on a bill.

Amendments become particularly important in these final weeks of the legislature when action comes so quickly. A "small" amendment can slip in easily which accomplishes something most legislators would not want to do.

The hectic closing days in Springfield are days when important amendments can slip in almost unnoticed.

Those amendments cause legislators agony—and may cause a reply to your letter which is less committed to a bill than you would like.

Illinois Farmers' Outlook

Expert Predicts Results of Idling Fourth of Feed Land

by L. H. SIMERL

Farmers are going big for the Feed-Grain Program. They have signed up to idle about 24 per cent of their corn and grain sorghum land. What will be the results?

The acreage retired may be less than the acreage signed up. The signup involved only a sort of option to divert corn and sorghum grain land to nonproductive uses. Some farmers will decide not to participate. Others will retire less than the maximum number of acres listed. But the drop-out seems likely to be fairly small.

Suppose that at least 20 per cent of the corn acreage is retired. This would not mean that production would be reduced 20 per cent. There are several reasons: (1) The retired acreage will be the lower yielding land. (2) Some nonparticipating farmers will increase their corn acreages. (3) Some farmers, whether or not they participate, will use more fertilizer and adopt other yield-boosting practices.

FARMERS HAVE harvested about 83 million acres of corn in each of the two years since acreage allotments were dropped. If they harvest 20 per cent less this fall, they will be taking corn from 66.2 million acres.

Average yield on the harvested acres (which will be better than average land) seems likely to be two bushels higher than the 53-bushel average posted last year. That would produce about 3,640 million bushels.

Disappearance (domestic use and export) totaled about 4,000 million bushels last year and seems likely to run to 4,100 million bushels this marketing year.

WE KNOW that disappearance varies with price changes; more corn is used when the price is low. Disappearance increased by one-third (1,000 million bushels) when the price was reduced from about $1.50 in the early 1950s to $1.12 in 1959-60. The price this year may average about $1.03, counting the grain "sold" to Uncle Sam at the support level of $1.06.

We might guess that disappearance of corn in the 1961-62 marketing year will total around 4,000 million bushels. Increases in numbers of livestock and poultry to be fed may be largely offset by a reduction in use on account of the price increase.

In this case the 1961 crop would be about 360 million bushels short of needs. CCC sales of corn would make up the difference. Actual sales of CCC corn will probably exceed 360 million bushels. But farmers will have around 1,000 million bushels of new corn eligible for price support. Most of them will not sell at prices much below the support level. The more corn the CCC sells, the more farmers will put under price support. Thus the market price seems likely to rise to near the support level.

LET'S MAKE some more guesses: If our carryover this fall is 2,000 million bushels and if the crop is around 3,640 million as we expect, our total supply for 1961-62 will be 5,640 million bushels. Subtract 4,000 million for use and export, and we would still have 1,640 million bushels for carryover on October 1, 1962. That would be more corn than we carried over in any year before last fall. Cite Dairy Herd Replacement Plan

Whether to buy or raise dairy herd replacements is a problem that each Illinois dairyman should solve for himself, according to J. G. Cash, University of Illinois extension dairyman.

If you have plenty of feed, labor and housing, you can raise replacements as cheaply as you can buy them. But costs of raising dairy herd replacements will vary with each situation and with different levels of management.

If your dairy operation is intensive, you may want someone else to raise heifers from your top cows on contract.

EITHER raising your own replacements or having them raised on contract is usually better than buying them. Cash lists four reasons why this is true:

1. Disease is less likely to enter your herd.
2. You can select the sire and dam.
3. You have more opportunity to grow out heifers.
4. You can breed heifers to fit your herd and the markets.

If your main interest is breeding cattle and improving your herd, raising your own replacements may be best for you, Cash concludes.

Taking care of the maintenance chores on your tractor will increase its efficiency and life. The important items are the spark plugs, battery, air cleaner, oil, crankcase breather and valve clearance. To keep your tractor performing efficiently, inspect these items systematically and keep a record of the maintenance chores.

If your gasoline storage is located in the sun, a pressure cap will decrease evaporation losses. Tests show that evaporation losses may amount to as much as 11 gallons in 30 days from typical farm storage tanks.

Have you checked your sump pump in the basement this spring? Is the float still buoyant—do the controls work easily? A little oil and removal of rust will help. Check the pump's inlet to make sure it's free of lint and trash.

A STUDY OF THE FARM RECORDS of 62 tenant operators in central Illinois shows that farm income did not keep pace with farm expenses during the fifties. These tenants averaged $361 less net income per farm for the 1957-60 period than for 1951-54. Comparisons of living costs of Illinois farm families keeping home accounts show $1,271 more average cost per family for 1957-60 than for 1951-54.

The body temperature of University of Illinois milking cows kept in the sun rose to 7½ degrees above normal on hot, midsummer days. They panted and showed severe discomfort. Milk production dropped drastically. If your cows cannot get under trees or in the barn on hot days, build an artificial sun shade for them.

Locking your dog in the family car for a couple of hours or longer may prove fatal, warn University of Illinois veterinarians. Dogs, like people, are susceptible to heatstroke if kept in a hot, unventilated car or an unshaded yard for any length of time. The results: death, severe brain damage or internal injuries.

You can protect your home and pets from an all-out invasion of fleas and ticks by examining the animals several times a week. At the first sign of a flea or tick, give Rover a medicated shampoo or a dusting with flea powder.

4-H Clubs Slate 'Fit' Field Days

4-H club members from throughout Cook county will be attending the Keeping Fit field days.

Two specialists from the University of Illinois will be administrating the tests so that the 4-Her's can tell how fit they are. They will be given a growth chart that will show whether they are growing according to schedule. They will also be given a pulse recovery and breathing capacity test. Health is one of the four H's of the 4-H club emblem.

This is one phase of the 4-H club health activity. They will be instructed on how to improve their fitness and also be coached in tumbling. Members can enter their scores in the health activity record, so that they may get an improvement award. Members and parents at the Keeping Fit field day will receive a participation pin.

ON JUNE 16 at 9 a.m. 4-H club members in North Cook county will hold their field day at the Miner Junior high school playground on Miner st., Arlington Heights.

Members should come dressed in light weight clothes and shoes. They should not eat too much before the event and should have a good night's sleep.

Members are encouraged to bring a sack lunch as it will take from 4 to 6 hours to carry out the program. (FM

Propose Dual Grading of Beef Cattle

"Chain store beef is choice, but not all choice beef is chain store beef." That's the way a meat packer recently summed up the wide range of retail cutout values within each of our present United States Department of Agriculture beef grades.

According to B. C. Breidenstein, associate professor of meats at the University of Illinois, we need a change in order to provide further incentive for producers to raise the kind of beef everyone wants. The new dual-grading system may be a partial answer to this problem.

ON TODAY'S market the poorer steers usually bring producers the same price as the better ones. Furthermore high-quality meat-type steers receive no extra recognition and no price bonus. Of the animals slaughtered today, only a minority meet the requirements for the chain store or restaurant and hotel trade.

Two main factors determine the value of a beef carcass. First is quality, or palatability, of the lean meat. Second is cutability, or percentage of the carcass available for sale as trimmed retail cuts. Under today's grading standards, buyers weigh these two factors in selecting a carcass for their specific use.

Breidenstein points out that the dual-grading system under study by the U.S.D.A. would give the carcass two identifications, one for meat quality and the other for cutability. The Dual system would continue to use the present grade names to indicate quality and would introduce 10 numerical classifications, or yield grades, to denote differences in cutability.

ACCORDING to Breidenstein, U.S.D.A. studies show that more than 80 per cent of the value of the beef carcass is in the round, loin, rib and chuck. With the new grading system, packers would be able to accurately indicate the proportions of these trimmed retail cuts in a carcass. (FM

Hints To Home Owners

James Fizzell

Assistant Farm Advisor

Alert Homeowners: Dial daily 392-3060.

Some of the most attractive and most easily grown garden perennials are the Hemerocallis or Daylily.

Their attractiveness and color make them very desirable, and in addition they require almost no care and have few insects or diseases.

The name Hemerocallis is derived from the Greek and means "beautiful for a day." This name is somewhat misleading for although individual flowers last only a day, the flower stalks are beautiful for weeks as the flowers open.

DAYLILIES grow best in a medium-heavy loam. They have been raised with considerable success, however, in soils ranging from the lightest sandy types to the heaviest clays, and under widely varying climatic conditions. To get the soil into good physical condition, spade it deep and work in generous amounts of well-rotted manure, compost, leaf-mold or peat. This organic matter helps to maintain good tilth, aids in holding moisture, and act as a storehouse for plant nutrients. Sandy soils are especially benefited by applications of organic matter.

The daylily does well under a wide range of moisture conditions. While certain varieties will grow satisfactorily in extremely dry and also in excessively wet areas, most daylilies prefer good drainage and moderate moisture. In gardens with poor drainage, mounding up the beds is a practical solution to the moisture problem.

Since the daylily is so undemanding in its needs, little attention has been given to its pH requirements. A slightly acid or near neutral reaction is considered best. However, the soil may apparently be somewhat acid (pH below 7.0) or alkaline (pH about 7.0) without much affecting growth. It is reported that daylilies become pale or yellow-green where the soil is highly alkaline.

FOR TOP performance the daylily should be planted where it receives full sunlight most of the day. Many varieties grow quite well, however, if they receive only morning sun and are partially shaded during the afternoon. The light shade from a distant tree or mottled sunlight, such as found in open woodland is ideal.

Daylilies can be moved anytime during the season but do best if dug just after blooming and replanted so that a good root system can be established before winter. The plants should be spaced about two feet apart as they multiply rapidly. The roots should be planted with the crown about one inch below the surface of the soil. Deep planting causes loss or vigor and poor bloom.

Most people are familiar with the old fashioned daylily or lemon lilies which although attractive were a pest because of their spreading habit.

MOST MODERN varieties lack this weedy character.

4-H Members Demonstrate At Home Bureau Open House

Mount Prospect Home Bureau held open house at its May 17 meeting in the VFW hall. Both visitors and members were greeted and served refreshments by hostesses for the day, Mrs. Louis Hasz, Mrs. H. D. Croon, Mrs. E. J. Worely and Mrs. G. B. Henneberg.

The president, Mrs. Robert Maxwell, in her welcoming address introduced Mrs. J.E. Lockhart, council president, and Mrs. W. J. Ryan, who each gave a resume of what Home Bureau is and does.

Mrs. Kenneth Olsen, 4-H chairman of Mount Prospect units, told about the purpose and work of these young people, and demonstrations were presented by outstanding members of four clubs: Happy Helpers, represented by Pat Pryzinski, who showed how to make a layer cake "from the beginning"; Baste and Taste, brownies by Cindy Benson.

Busy Fingers and Stitch and Mix presented a style show exhibiting their accomplishments, narrated by Mary Ann Holmblad. Models were Carol Anderson, Marion Crowley, Patricia O'Keefe, Karen Petersen and Pat Ryan.

June was to be local Achievement day for 4-H groups at the VFW hall with all welcome. May 24 a beehive for completing fluffy poodles was held at Lois Longwell's home.

The June meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. F. J. Liebrich. "You Are An Important Person" is the subject to be given by Violet Olsen and Martha Maxwell.

In July the unit has been invited to a cookout at Lockies Acres, the country home of Mrs. J. E. Lockhart in Wauconda. (FM

June Best Time For Hog Market

Farmers can receive up to $5 more a hundredweight for hogs marketed in June than in November and December. Seasonal price trend studies made in 1959 and 1960 suggest this difference in prices for 1961, according to E. E. Broadbent, University of Illinois agricultural economist.

Farmers generally get the best prices for all weights of hogs in June. Also, prices for various weight classes differ more in June than at any other time of the year, according to Broadbent. Hogs weighing 200 to 220 pounds receive the top price. Those weighing more than 250 pounds may bring as much as a dollar a hundred less than top price, and those weighing less than 200 pounds may be discounted as much as two dollars a hundred.

HOG PRICES are usually lowest in November and December. In these two months hogs sold before they reach 240 pounds usually bring the best prices. Farmers receive the greatest price discount for heavy hogs during these two months. This discount makes November and December an especially poor time to sell fat hogs.

All hog prices normally drop during February and September because of the heavy marketing. Prices differ little between 190- and 260-pound hogs in these months. Farmers interested in short-run gains will normally find it best to sell heavier weight hogs during September and February. But this kind of marketing will not help the swine industry get a better pork market, according to Broadbent. Fat pork discourages consumers from eating pork. (Fm

by L. H. SIMERL

Farmers are going big for the Feed-Grain Program. They have signed up to idle about 24 per cent of their corn and grain sorghum land. What will be the results?

The acreage retired may be less than the acreage signed up. The signup involved only a sort of option to divert corn and sorghum grain land to nonproductive uses. Some farmers will decide not to participate. Others will retire less than the maximum number of acres listed. But the drop-out seems likely to be fairly small.

Suppose that at least 20 per cent of the corn acreage is retired. This would not mean that production would be reduced 20 per cent. There are several reasons: (1) The retired acreage will be the lower yielding land. (2) Some nonparticipating farmers will increase their corn acreages. (3) Some farmers, whether or not they participate, will use more fertilizer and adopt other yield-boosting practices.

FARMERS HAVE harvested about 83 million acres of corn in each of the two years since acreage allotments were dropped. If they harvest 20 per cent less this fall, they will be taking corn from 66.2 million acres.

Average yield on the harvested acres (which will be better than average land) seems likely to be two bushels higher than the 53-bushel average posted last year. That would produce about 3,640 million bushels.

Disappearance (domestic use and export) totaled about 4,000 million bushels last year and seems likely to run to 4,100 million bushels this marketing year.

WE KNOW that disappearance varies with price changes; more corn is used when the price is low. Disappearance increased by one-third (1,000 million bushels) when the price was reduced from about $1.50 in the early 1950s to $1.12 in 1959-60. The price this year may average about $1.03, counting the grain "sold" to Uncle Sam at the support level of $1.06.

We might guess that disappearance of corn in the 1961-62 marketing year will total around 4,000 million bushels. Increases in numbers of livestock and poultry to be fed may be largely offset by a reduction in use on account of the price increase.

In this case the 1961 crop would be about 360 million bushels short of needs. CCC sales of corn would make up the difference. Actual sales of CCC corn will probably exceed 360 million bushels. But farmers will have around 1,000 million bushels of new corn eligible for price support. Most of them will not sell at prices much below the support level. The more corn the CCC sells, the more farmers will put under price support. Thus the market price seems likely to rise to near the support level.

LET'S MAKE some more guesses: If our carryover this fall is 2,000 million bushels and if the crop is around 3,640 million as we expect, our total supply for 1961-62 will be 5,640 million bushels. Subtract 4,000 million for use and export, and we would still have 1,640 million bushels for carryover on October 1, 1962. That would be more corn than we carried over in any year before last fall. Cite Dairy Herd Replacement Plan

Whether to buy or raise dairy herd replacements is a problem that each Illinois dairyman should solve for himself, according to J. G. Cash, University of Illinois extension dairyman.

If you have plenty of feed, labor and housing, you can raise replacements as cheaply as you can buy them. But costs of raising dairy herd replacements will vary with each situation and with different levels of management.

If your dairy operation is intensive, you may want someone else to raise heifers from your top cows on contract.

EITHER raising your own replacements or having them raised on contract is usually better than buying them. Cash lists four reasons why this is true:

1. Disease is less likely to enter your herd.
2. You can select the sire and dam.
3. You have more opportunity to grow out heifers.
4. You can breed heifers to fit your herd and the markets.

If your main interest is breeding cattle and improving your herd, raising your own replacements may be best for you, Cash concludes.

Taking care of the maintenance chores on your tractor will increase its efficiency and life. The important items are the spark plugs, battery, air cleaner, oil, crankcase breather and valve clearance. To keep your tractor performing efficiently, inspect these items systematically and keep a record of the maintenance chores.

If your gasoline storage is located in the sun, a pressure cap will decrease evaporation losses. Tests show that evaporation losses may amount to as much as 11 gallons in 30 days from typical farm storage tanks.

Have you checked your sump pump in the basement this spring? Is the float still buoyant—do the controls work easily? A little oil and removal of rust will help. Check the pump's inlet to make sure it's free of lint and trash.

A STUDY OF THE FARM RECORDS of 62 tenant operators in central Illinois shows that farm income did not keep pace with farm expenses during the fifties. These tenants averaged $361 less net income per farm for the 1957-60 period than for 1951-54. Comparisons of living costs of Illinois farm families keeping home accounts show $1,271 more average cost per family for 1957-60 than for 1951-54.

The body temperature of University of Illinois milking cows kept in the sun rose to 7½ degrees above normal on hot, midsummer days. They panted and showed severe discomfort. Milk production dropped drastically. If your cows cannot get under trees or in the barn on hot days, build an artificial sun shade for them.

Locking your dog in the family car for a couple of hours or longer may prove fatal, warn University of Illinois veterinarians. Dogs, like people, are susceptible to heatstroke if kept in a hot, unventilated car or an unshaded yard for any length of time. The results: death, severe brain damage or internal injuries.

You can protect your home and pets from an all-out invasion of fleas and ticks by examining the animals several times a week. At the first sign of a flea or tick, give Rover a medicated shampoo or a dusting with flea powder.

Propose Dual Grading of Beef Cattle

"Chain store beef is choice, but not all choice beef is chain store beef." That's the way a meat packer recently summed up the wide range of retail cutout values within each of our present United States Department of Agriculture beef grades.

According to B. C. Breidenstein, associate professor of meats at the University of Illinois, we need a change in order to provide further incentive for producers to raise the kind of beef everyone wants. The new dual-grading system may be a partial answer to this problem.

ON TODAY'S market the poorer steers usually bring producers the same price as the better ones. Furthermore high-quality meat-type steers receive no extra recognition and no price bonus. Of the animals slaughtered today, only a minority meet the requirements for the chain store or restaurant and hotel trade.

Two main factors determine the value of a beef carcass. First is quality, or palatability, of the lean meat. Second is cutability, or percentage of the carcass available for sale as trimmed retail cuts. Under today's grading standards, buyers weigh these two factors in selecting a carcass for their specific use.

Breidenstein points out that the dual-grading system under study by the U.S.D.A. would give the carcass two identifications, one for meat quality and the other for cutability. The Dual system would continue to use the present grade names to indicate quality and would introduce 10 numerical classifications, or yield grades, to denote differences in cutability.

ACCORDING to Breidenstein, U.S.D.A. studies show that more than 80 per cent of the value of the beef carcass is in the round, loin, rib and chuck. With the new grading system, packers would be able to accurately indicate the proportions of these trimmed retail cuts in a carcass. (FM

James Fizzell

Assistant Farm Advisor

Alert Homeowners: Dial daily 392-3060.

Some of the most attractive and most easily grown garden perennials are the Hemerocallis or Daylily.

Their attractiveness and color make them very desirable, and in addition they require almost no care and have few insects or diseases.

The name Hemerocallis is derived from the Greek and means "beautiful for a day." This name is somewhat misleading for although individual flowers last only a day, the flower stalks are beautiful for weeks as the flowers open.

DAYLILIES grow best in a medium-heavy loam. They have been raised with considerable success, however, in soils ranging from the lightest sandy types to the heaviest clays, and under widely varying climatic conditions. To get the soil into good physical condition, spade it deep and work in generous amounts of well-rotted manure, compost, leafmold or peat. This organic matter helps to maintain good tilth, aids in holding moisture, and act as a storehouse for plant nutrients. Sandy soils are especially benefited by applications of organic matter.

The daylily does well under a wide range of moisture conditions. While certain varieties will grow satisfactorily in extremely dry and also in excessively wet areas, most daylilies prefer good drainage and moderate moisture. In gardens with poor drainage, mounding up the beds is a practical solution to the moisture problem.

Since the daylily is so undemanding in its needs, little attention has been given to its pH requirements. A slightly acid or near neutral reaction is considered best. However, the soil may apparently be somewhat acid (pH below 7.0) or alkaline (pH about 7.0) without much affecting growth. It is reported that daylilies become pale or yellow-green where the soil is highly alkaline.

FOR TOP performance the daylily should be planted where it receives full sunlight most of the day. Many varieties grow quite well, however, if they receive only morning sun and are partially shaded during the afternoon. The light shade from a distant tree or mottled sunlight, such as found in open woodland is ideal.

Daylilies can be moved anytime during the season but do best if dug just after blooming and replanted so that a good root system can be established before winter. The plants should be spaced about two feet apart as they multiply rapidly. The roots should be planted with the crown about one inch below the surface of the soil. Deep planting causes loss or vigor and poor bloom.

Most people are familiar with the old fashioned daylily or lemon lilies which although attractive were a pest because of their spreading habit.

MOST MODERN varieties lack this weedy character.

Any homeowner can receive a great deal of pleasure from daylilies with a minimum of time and effort.

4-H Clubs Slate 'Fit' Field Days

4-H club members from throughout Cook county will be attending the Keeping Fit field days.

Two specialists from the University of Illinois will be administrating the tests so that the 4-Her's can tell how fit they are. They will be given a growth chart that will show whether they are growing according to schedule. They will also be given a pulse recovery and breathing capacity test. Health is one of the four H's of the 4-H club emblem.

This is one phase of the 4-H club health activity. They will be instructed on how to improve their fitness and also be coached in tumbling. Members can enter their scores in the health activity record, so that they may get an improvement award. Members and parents at the Keeping Fit field day will receive a participation pin.

ON JUNE 16 at 9 a.m. 4-H club members in North Cook county will hold their field day at the Miner Junior high school playground on Miner st., Arlington Heights.

Members should come dressed in light weight clothes and shoes. They should not eat too much before the event and should have a good night's sleep.

Members are encouraged to bring a sack lunch as it will take from 4 to 6 hours to carry out the program. (FM

4-H Members Demonstrate At Home Bureau Open House

Mount Prospect Home Bureau held open house at its May 17 meeting in the VFW hall. Both visitors and members were greeted and served refreshments by hostesses for the day, Mrs. Louis Hasz, Mrs. H. D. Croon, Mrs. E. J. Worely and Mrs. G. B. Henneberg.

The president, Mrs. Robert Maxwell, in her welcoming address introduced Mrs. J.E. Lockhart, council president, and Mrs. W. J. Ryan, who each gave a resume of what Home Bureau is and does.

Mrs. Kenneth Olsen, 4-H chairman of Mount Prospect units, told about the purpose and work of these young people, and demonstrations were presented by outstanding members of four clubs: Happy Helpers, represented by Pat Pryzinski, who showed how to make a layer cake "from the beginning"; Baste and Taste, brownies by Cindy Benson.

Busy Fingers and Stitch and Mix presented a style show exhibiting their accomplishments, narrated by Mary Ann Holmblad. Models were Carol Anderson, Marion Crowley, Patricia O'Keefe, Karen Petersen and Pat Ryan.

June was to be local Achievement day for 4-H groups at the VFW hall with all welcome. May 24 a beehive for completing fluffy poodles was held at Lois Longwell's home.

The June meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. F. J. Liebrich. "You Are An Important Person" is the subject to be given by Violet Olsen and Martha Maxwell.

In July the unit has been invited to a cookout at Lockies Acres, the country home of Mrs. J. E. Lockhart in Wauconda. (FM

June Best Time For Hog Market

Farmers can receive up to $5 more a hundredweight for hogs marketed in June than in November and December. Seasonal price trend studies made in 1959 and 1960 suggest this difference in prices for 1961, according to E. E. Broadbent, University of Illinois agricultural economist.

Farmers generally get the best prices for all weights of hogs in June. Also, prices for various weight classes differ more in June than at any other time of the year, according to Broadbent. Hogs weighing 200 to 220 pounds receive the top price. Those weighing more than 250 pounds may bring as much as a dollar a hundred less than top price, and those weighing less than 200 pounds may be discounted as much as two dollars a hundred.

HOG PRICES are usually lowest in November and December. In these two months hogs sold before they reach 240 pounds usually bring the best prices. Farmers receive the greatest price discount for heavy hogs during these two months. This discount makes November and December an especially poor time to sell fat hogs.

All hog prices normally drop during February and September because of the heavy marketing. Prices differ little between 190- and 260-pound hogs in these months. Farmers interested in short-run gains will normally find it best to sell heavier weight hogs during September and February. But this kind of marketing will not help the swine industry get a better pork market, according to Broadbent. Fat pork discourages consumers from eating pork. (Fm

WHY FISH AROUND?

You'll never find experienced anglers just "FISHIN' AROUND" aimlessly, hoping for a lucky catch. Fishermen soon learn that certain exact spots usually produce consistent catches and these spots are hard to find. In fact, they amount to only a small percentage of the so-called "FISHIN' WATER" that meets the eye.

BUT THAT'S WHERE THE FISH ARE

Something like looking for a good home. Experienced shoppers don't go "FISHIN' AROUND" aimlessly hoping for a lucky catch. Wise shoppers go to DOVENMUEHLE . . . The one "HOT SPOT" which is a consistent producer of good values at maximum savings, they've had proof that DOVENMUEHLE gives them the limit in Savings—Every day of the week. DOVENMUEHLE CHANGES "LUCK" INTO CERTAINTY!!

WHY FISH AROUND?

You'll never find experienced anglers just "FISHIN' AROUND" aimlessly, hoping for a lucky catch. Fishermen soon learn that certain exact spots usually produce consistent catches and these spots are hard to find. In fact, they amount to only a small percentage of the so-called "FISHIN' WATER" that meets the eye.

BUT THAT'S WHERE THE FISH ARE

and that's why fishermen, once they've had proof that the spot is a "HOT ONE" always return to the same place.

Something like looking for a good home. Experienced shoppers don't go "FISHIN' AROUND" aimlessly hoping for a lucky catch. Wise shoppers go to DOVENMUEHLE . . . The one "HOT SPOT" which is a consistent producer of good values at maximum savings, they've had proof that DOVENMUEHLE gives them the limit in Savings—Every day of the week. DOVENMUEHLE CHANGES "LUCK" INTO CERTAINTY!!

OFTEN MISUSED

NUMBER may take either a singular or plural verb, according to the sense intended. When the total is meant, NUMBER is treated as singular. When the individual units are referred to, NUMBER takes a plural verb. Thus: "The number of pages in the book IS two hundred." "A number of pages ARE illustrated."

Do not use TRANSPIRE in the sense of "happen." TRANSPIRE means to come to light; to become known. Thus: "The news of the battle did not transpire until several days after it had been fought."

INDEXES is the English plural, while INDICES is the Latin plural. The latter form is used chiefly in mathematics and other sciences.

Do not say, "I forbid you from entering the house." Say, "I forbid you TO ENTER the house."

OFTEN MISUSED

NUMBER may take either a singular or plural verb, according to the sense intended. When the total is meant, NUMBER is treated as singular. When the individual units are referred to, NUMBER takes a plural verb. Thus: "The number of pages in the book IS two hundred." "A number of pages ARE illustrated."

Do not use TRANSPIRE in the sense of "happen." TRANSPIRE means to come to light; to become known. Thus: "The news of the battle did not transpire until several days after it had been fought."

INDEXES is the English plural, while INDICES is the Latin plural. The latter form is used chiefly in mathematics and other sciences.

Do not say, "I forbid you from entering the house." Say, "I forbid you TO ENTER the house."

Demand Makes Plaza Must: Chamber Head

Suburban communities must offer the public conveniences they have commonly been identified with — good transportation, shopping facilities, recreation.

And while Palatine has all of these, the once basic rural community is undergoing a transformation in which a growing populace is making greater demand on existing facilities.

Ernest Coe, president of the Palatine National bank and head of the Chamber of Commerce, said the Palatine Plaza shopping center is much needed in this immediate area.

BETTY DeMUTH, owner and operator of the Mode O'Day Frock Shop, will be among the merchants hosting the public at Palatine Plaza's grand opening.

"Things like this are expected by a suburban community. There are none close by and this will be an incentive for builders to be attracted to this area."

Speaking as head of the Chamber, Coe said "We certainly welcome the new center into the community as fellow merchants. Their being here will offer a competitive situation that is bound to be good for the community as a whole.

Palatine Plaza, located in a community of nearly 12,000, will serve patrons in a three-county area: Cook, Lake and DuPage. Parking facilities include spaces for over 1,000 autos.

Creation of the shopping center also has led to clearing up of a longtime traffic bottleneck at the junction of highways 14 and 53. This has been done with installation of traffic lights and safety islands, and widening of rt. 14 in front of the Plaza. Southbound traffic on 53 is also being re-routed. (SS

To Give Away Car Each Week During Opening

Three "second cars" will be given to Palatine Plaza visitors by the shopping center's merchants association during the three weeks of the grand opening.

There will be three different occasions when one car will be given away each week from June 14 to July 1. The cars are from S & H Rambler of Palatine.

No purchase is necessary, and there is nothing to do except to sign your name and address on one of the entry blanks distributed by all stores at Palatine Plaza, and drop it in one of the boxes placed in the stores for this purpose.

In addition to the three cars, there are gifts and door prizes of all kinds contributed by the individual merchants for both adults and children. Many special values are promised at the gala opening on June 14, 15, 16 and 17; the celebration will continue through July 1.

PRESIDENT CHARLES N. Schieb of Western Land corp., firm promoting development of Palatine Plaza shopping center, has been engaged during the last nine years in establishing retail stores. He has been affiliated with national and regional retail and real estate organizations.

Kravitt Brings 22 Years Experience With Finance

J. J. Kravitt, who has had 22 years experience in the business of finance and knows what the public wants in a currency exchange, operates the new Palatine Currency exchange at Palatine Plaza shopping center.

Kravitt has exchanges in a number of suburban locations, including Mt. Prospect, Morton Grove and Niles. He states, "I believe in the great future of the northwest suburban areas and the strategic location of Palatine Plaza."

The new Palatine Currency exchange at 247 W. Northwest hwy. offers many time-saving services in addition to cashing checks. They will obtain your auto license and driver's license for you, take care of utility bill payments, traveler's checks and money orders and furnish photostats and notary public service.

Prairie has given way to a 30-store complex at the intersection of Routes 53 and 14 in Palatine. Conferring before the new Palatine Plaza which opened June 14 are (left) Lester W. Lincke, secretary-treasurer of Western Land Corp., shopping center owners, and Richard R. Scher, the original developer.

Kresge Adds 768th Store

Answers the Needs Of Entire Family

When Palatine Plaza, the Northwest suburbs' newest shopping center, opened June 14, it included the 768th store in the S. S. Kresge line.

The new Palatine Plaza Kresge store is modern and convenient, with many up-to-the-minute improvements to make shopping more comfortable.

There are from 12,000 items in the typical Kresge store of 12,000 feet to over 45,000 in a store of 50,000 feet.

M. L. Merten, manager of the Kresge store at Palatine Plaza, has great faith in the whole organization. He says, "Kresge is widening its lines to answer the requirements of the entire family, the garden and the home, and we have good reason to expect better business than ever before."

Merten comes to Palatine from Chicago, where he managed another Kresge store. Born in Louisville, Kentucky, he joined the organization in 1950 as a stockman. He entered the employ of Kresge's in Chicago, and was later transferred to Muskegon, Mich., where he was made assistant manager.

Other assistantships were in Newport, Ky., Aurora and Chicago. Merten was appointed manager of a Chicago store in 1958 and transferred as manager to his last Chicago store in 1959. He graduated from Xavier University in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1950.

Working closely with Merten in preparing the Kresge store in Palatine Plaza is Samuel G. Leftwich, district manager of Kresge stores in this area.

Planners to Break Up Bottleneck

Parking facilities for over 1,000 autos will create a traffic load for the Palatine Plaza shopping center that has not gone unnoticed by planners.

A traffic bottleneck at the junction of rtes. 14 and 53 will be cleared up with construction of traffic lights, islands and widening Rt. 14 in front of Palatine Plaza.

State highway engineers plan to cut southbound traffic on Rt. 53 straight south. fic on Rt. 53 around a Shell Oil station on Rt. 14, instead of continuing straight south.

Powder Puff Salon Features Air-Conditioned Hair Dryers

Beauty care for milady will be well taken care of at Palatine Plaza. The Powder Puff Salon de Coiffure, managed by Frank De Licco, is operated by experienced and highly skilled beauty technicians.

The decorative motif of the new salon is unusual, beginning with an attractive circular reception area in which a fountain display sets the tone for the design and color scheme of bone-white, coral, brown and gray.

The services offered here include hair cutting and setting, permanent waving, tinting, bleaching and manicuring. There is no discomfort for the ladies under the hair dryers at the Powder Puff. They are air conditioned.

ERNEST SECCO, who is president of the Powder Puff organization, has given the construction, fixtures and decoration of the Palatine Plaza shop his personal supervision. In the hairdressing field he is well known as "Mr. Anthony."

Manager Frank De Licco is a member of the National, Illinois and Chicago Hairdressers Associations. He worked at Marshall Field and Company for four years and with the Powder Puff organization for two years. He lives with his wife and child in Arlington Heights at 519 Evanston.

Tax Relief

Revenue Hike Near $60,000 Anticipated

Suburban communities throughout the country are striving to encourage development of shopping centers in order to broaden the tax base in their areas and provide a measure of tax relief as well as shopping convenience.

And when Palatine Plaza raises its banners and opens its doors, developers estimate it will mean some $60,000 in additional revenue because of the half cent municipal sales tax.

A more conservative Village government, less likely to speculate on the prosperity of the times in order to schedule appropriations for the budget, has set income from the plaza tentatively at $15,000.

The budget is now in the process of being evaluated and revised to meet village needs, and village officials have indicated that revisions in next year's budget can be made should income from plaza sales tax prove higher.

Who's Boss?

The new Kroger supermarket at Palatine Plaza, which opened June 14, has incorporated many features suggested by housewives. The store will continue to solicit the opinions and suggestions of the women, and plans many new services for them. The Kroger store at Palatine Plaza has a floor area of 19,648 square feet.

MRS. BETTY DEMUTH, owner and operator of Mode O'Day frock shop, Palatine Plaza, studies advance literature publicizing grand opening June 14. William Little, manager of J and S Men's and Boys' wear store, which also opened June 14, looks on.

ARCHITECT'S CONCEPTION OF HOW THE Palatine Plaza which opened June 14 will look when completed is shown above. Thirty stores will eventually ring the parking lot which will accommodate 1,000 cars.

Set in the Heart Of a Growing Area

The Chicago area's newest community shopping center—Palatine Plaza at the junction of U.S. 14 and Illinois 53

Palatine Plaza, in the heart of the area's fastest-growing section, is the first of a nationwide network of shopping centers and other commercial properties planned by a group of executives from nationally-known retail firms, including several from the Chicago business community.

While workmen are grading and paving the parking areas, installing lighting, finishing exteriors and putting the final decorators' touches on interiors, many of the merchants are already moving in stock in preparation for the grand opening of Palatine's first shopping center.

Store hours during the opening period will be the same as those for regular business: 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Mondays through Fridays and 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Saturdays.

THE 25 STORES will provide "the finest shopping conveniences in the region," according to Charles N. Schieb, president of Western Land Corp., Minneapolis-headquartered firm that owns and operates the center.

Several major national chains will open stores in Palatine—S. S. Kresge Co., the Kroger Co., Mode O'Day, Montgomery Ward, National Tea Co., Sherwin-Williams Co., Shoe Corp. of America, Standard Oil Co. and Western Tire Auto Stores, Inc.

Kresge has the largest space in the center, 24,000 feet of floor area. Kroeger is next with 19,648, while third in line is National Tea's 15,070 square feet.

Locally-known retailers who will occupy space in the 113,000 square feet of retail selling area include Andes Candies, Inc., Byhring Jewelry, Currency Exchange, Des Plaines, Jupiter Cleaners, J & S Men's and Boys', Pankau Pharmacies, Inc., Powder Puff Salon de Coiffure, and Scher Laundromat.

Tenant representatives on the steering committee, which is drawing plans for opening of the Plaza, are S. G. Leftwich, Kresge district manager, Marvin Goldsmith, Kroger advertising manager; F. A. Pankau, president of Pankau Pharmacies; Joseph Hubert, Shoe Corp. district manager, and Charles Sostrin, J & S partner.

Also on the steering committee are Robert Betten of Chicago, shopping center consultant, and Ellsworth Johnson of Minneapolis, Western Land's operating manager.

Schieb, an attorney whose business background includes executive positions with Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. and Montgomery Ward, said that the principal aim of Western Land is to acquire sites and to construct, develop, manage and promote shopping centers and other commercial properties to specifications that fit the requirements of qualified merchants and retailing chain organizations.

Palatine Plaza is the first property acquired by Western Land.

Still less than a year old, Western Land "plans to offer retail operations a new opportunity for long-range success," Schieb explained.

"Selection of sites and accomplishment of all the various phases of development will be based on the retailers' immediate needs and expansion plans," he continued.

"The chaos produced by simply reacting to superficial business conditions will therefore be erased.

"Western Land, in effect, becomes an additional corporate arm of the expanding economy—an arm that is in constant touch with sound potential and the method of turning it into progress and profit."

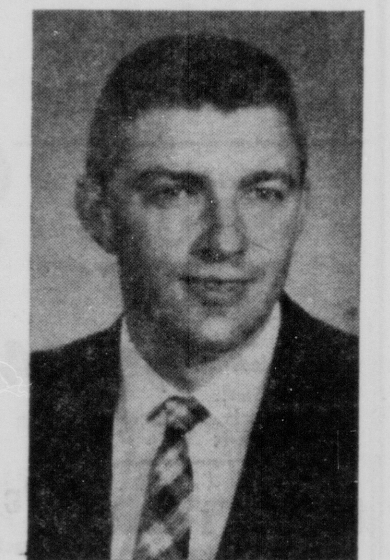
Chicago-related executives in Western Land besides Schieb are Chairman of the Board Leslie F. Crews, Secretary-Treasurer Lester W. Lincke and Director Robert A. Seidel.

Crews, senior vice president of Gamble-Skogno, Inc., Minneapolis, and president of Gamble-Skogmo Acceptance Corp. (the financing company for more than 2,200 retail stores) spent 21 years with Montgomery Ward, where he was vice president and director of research. He also formerly owned a Chicago management consulting firm.

LINCKE HAS been in the chain store field a quarter century and was comptroller for the J and R Motor Supply Company when that firm operated 55 retail stores in the Chicago area. He, too, was an executive of Wards, being engaged in the planning, selection and development of retail store locations.

Seidel, who resigned January 1 as executive vice president of Radio Corporation of America (RCA), is a former executive of Wards and W. T. Grant Co., another nationwide retailing chain.

Other officers are Vice President Paul J. McCann, Director Robert W. Brezina, Henry A. Chandler, financial consultant, and Horace R. Hansen, assistant secretary and general counsel.



JOHN E. Arnold will be managing the Sherwin Williams co. paint store when Palatine Plaza officially opens its doors to the public.

Family of Pharmacists

Pankau Clan Has Six Stores Now

Many unusual features are to be found at the new Pankau Pharmacy at Palatine Plaza shopping center.

One is the 140-foot greeting card department. Another is the optometry section with a doctor of optometry in attendance, and still another is the story of the manager, Francis E. Pankau, and his family.

There are four Pankau brothers and a sister. All four boys are pharmacists, and the girl worked in the family drug store until she was married.

But the story goes back farther than that. The father of the present generation was a pharmacist. He graduated in 1913. Ronald, the last brother, graduated in 1951. Francis Pankau was born above the family's first drug store in Chicago. Now he is first vice president of the chain of six stores, as well as manager of the newest at Palatine Plaza.

He has managed the Pankau Pharmacies in Elmhurst and Villa Park, and the attractive Palatine Plaza store is the realization of a dream of many years.

THIS NEW store is modern in decor, and features rich walnut panelling throughout. There is an extensive cosmetic bar under the supervision of an expert cosmetician, a complete magazine and newspaper section, a wine and liquor department and several features, which Pankau says will be a pleasant surprise to his customers, 'regardless of how many drug stores they may have visited before.''

Ward Stock Complete As Its Catalog

The stock at Montgomery Ward's at Palatine Plaza is as complete as that in the pages of the enormous Ward catalog, for it is another one of the company's catalog order stores, where Mrs. G. H. Hahn, the manager, gives you the benefit of her years of experience with the Ward organization, and where you will have a world of merchandise at your finger tips.

Mrs. Hahn lives at 138 Janice lane, Addison.

Varied Skills Required to Build Center

CONTRACTORS for Palatine Plaza are Irving M. Karlin & associates, architect; Hess & Son, excavation, concrete, masonry and carpentry; Johnston Iron Works, structural steel; David Architects - Metals, miscellaneous iron; Charles Conrick company, plumbing & sewerage; Glimn-Temp, inc., heating, ventilation and air conditioning; McCura Brothers, lath and plastering; Barry Electric company, electric wiring and fixtures.

National Tea Marks Another Milestone Here

A super-sized National Tea company store will be an important part of the new Palatine Plaza Shopping Center, which opened June 14 on the Northwest hwy. It will occupy 15,070 feet.

"We are proud to join the stores of this important new shopping center,'' said Norman A. Stapelton, president of National. ''Our new Palatine Plaza store is another milestone in our program to bring the most progressive grocery and supermarket service within convenient reach of more Chicago area people.''

Mode O'Day Has Double Floor Space

Women will find a wide range of fashions at the Mode O'Day shop at Palatine Plaza.

So efficiently planned is this smart style shop that its 839 square feet offer more variety than [illegible] usually found in areas twice the size.

Their buyers have been rushing like mad, says Mrs. Betty De Muth, manager, to get a complete and up-to-the-minute stock into the Palatine Plaza store in time for the opening.

Mrs. De Muth promises ''lovely clothes to please the fashion - conscious woman at prices low enough to make any budget happy.''

Mode O'Day is one of the pioneers in California's fashion industry. The chain now boasts more than 650 shops in the United States, Hawaii and Alaska.

Originally started as an inexpensive house dress operation, Mode O'Day now designs dresses, blouses, lingerie and sportswear, and manufactures them in nine large plants on the west coast and in the midwest, making fresh shipments of merchandise weekly. Its fashions are nationally known for smart styling, design innovations, brilliance of color, year round wearability and high fashion at a low price, Mrs. De Muth says.

THE SYSTEM of distribution is unique. Each Mode O'Day owner is an independent local merchant, investing his own money, managing his own affairs, making his own place in the community. Mode O'Day merchandise is sold exclusively by these local merchants, and savings are passed along to the customer . . . on an unconditional and unlimited money back guarantee on all merchandise.

Survey Prediction

Buying Power, Roads Point to Good Year

"Money for shopping center construction is higher," says Ellsworth L. Johnson, manager of Palatine Plaza the new center which opened on the Northwest hwy. in Palatine on June 14, "But those founded on a sound basis in good locations are booming, and we expect an excellent first year."

This prediction is based on:

1. Surveys of buying power (spendable income) in the area.

2. Accessibility of the center to major highways and toll roads.

3. Variety of goods and services offered by the stores at Palatine Plaza.

''Such surveys were not available a few years ago,'' said Johnson, ''The developers, tenants and financing institutions had to experiment. Soon they learned that conducting business in a shopping center is far different from conducting business in a city, suburban or small town store. Now we have files of facts and figures for reference, and new marketing, promotional and administrative problems are being solved by merchants' associations.''

THE TENANTS of the new Palatine Plaza include Kroger's, S. S. Kresge, Andes Candies, Sherwin-Williams, National Tea, Montgomery Ward, Western Tire Auto Stores, Byhring Jewelry, Mode O'Day Frocks, Powder Puff Salon de Coiffure, Pankau Pharmacies, R & S Shoes, J & S Men's and Boys' Wear and Clean City, which contains the Coin Cleaners, Coin Launderette and Jupiter Cleaners.

Three ''Second Cars'' from S & H Rambler Motors will head the list of many gifts and prizes to be given away at the Grand Opening celebration.

Shop Center Idea Grows

''The shopping center idea is growing fast,'' says Ellsworth L. Johnson of Western Land Corporation, manager of the new Palatine Plaza.'' Nevertheless those built in good locations and founded on the sound basis of proper research are booming, and we have good reason to expect an excellent first year at Palatine Plaza.''

Johnson's optimism is based upon the accessibility of the shopping center to major highways and toll roads; the need for a complete center in this area; surveys of spendable income in this section and the variety of merchandise and services offered by Palatine Plaza's stores.

One is the 140-foot greeting card department. Another is the optometry section with a doctor of optometry in attendance, and still another is the story of the manager, Francis E. Pankau, and his family.

There are four Pankau brothers and a sister. All four boys are pharmacists, and the girl worked in the family drug store until she was married.

But the story goes back farther than that. The father of the present generation was a pharmacist. He graduated in 1913. Ronald, the last brother, graduated in 1951. Francis Pankau was born above the family's first drug store in Chicago. Now he is first vice president of the chain of six stores, as well as manager of the newest at Palatine Plaza.

He has managed the Pankau Pharmacies in Elmhurst and Villa Park, and the attractive Palatine Plaza store is the realization of a dream of many years.

THIS NEW store is modern in decor, and features rich walnut panelling throughout. There is an extensive cosmetic bar under the supervision of an expert cosmetician, a complete magazine and newspaper section, a wine and liquor department and several features, which Pankau says will be a pleasant surprise to his customers, 'regardless of how many drug stores they may have visited before.''

Ward Stock Complete As Its Catalog

The stock at Montgomery Ward's at Palatine Plaza is as complete as that in the pages of the enormous Ward catalog, for it is another one of the company's catalog order stores, where Mrs. G. H. Hahn, the manager, gives you the benefit of her years of experience with the Ward organization, and where you will have a world of merchandise at your finger tips.

Mrs. Hahn lives at 138 Janice lane, Addison.

Varied Skills Required to Build Center

Creation of a modern shopping center is a phenomena that requires the coordinated skills of countless related and unrelated skills.

The Palatine Plaza, to open June 14, is the result of efforts of hundreds of tradesmen and technicians.

CONTRACTORS for Palatine Plaza are Irving M. Karlin & associates, architect; Hess & Son, excavation, concrete, masonry and carpentry; Johnston Iron Works, structural steel; David Architects - Metals, miscellaneous iron; Charles Conrick company, plumbing & sewerage; Glimn-Temp, inc., heating, ventilation and air conditioning; McCura Brothers, lath and plastering; Barry Electric company, electric wiring and fixtures.

National Tea Marks Another Milestone Here

A super-sized National Tea company store will be an important part of the new Palatine Plaza Shopping Center, which opened June 14 on the Northwest hwy. It will occupy 15,070 feet.

"We are proud to join the stores of this important new shopping center,'' said Norman A. Stapelton, president of National. "Our new Palatine Plaza store is another milestone in our program to bring the most progressive grocery and supermarket service within convenient reach of more Chicago area people.''

Mode O'Day Has Double Floor Space

Women will find a wide range of fashions at the Mode O'Day shop at Palatine Plaza.

So efficiently planned is this smart style shop that its 839 square feet offer more variety than [illegible] usually found in areas twice the size.

Their buyers have been rushing like mad, says Mrs. Betty De Muth, manager, to get a complete and up-to-the-minute stock into the Palatine Plaza store in time for the opening.

Mrs. De Muth promises "lovely clothes to please the fashion - conscious woman at prices low enough to make any budget happy.''

Mode O'Day is one of the pioneers in California's fashion industry. The chain now boasts more than 650 shops in the United States, Hawaii and Alaska.

Originally started as an inexpensive house dress operation, Mode O'Day now designs dresses, blouses, lingerie and sportswear, and manufactures them in nine large plants on the west coast and in the midwest, making fresh shipments of merchandise weekly. Its fashions are nationally known for smart styling, design innovations, brilliance of color, year round wearability and high fashion at a low price, Mrs. De Muth says.

THE SYSTEM of distribution is unique. Each Mode O'Day owner is an independent local merchant, investing his own money, managing his own affairs, making his own place in the community. Mode O'Day merchandise is sold exclusively by these local merchants, and savings are passed along to the customer . . . on an unconditional and unlimited money back guarantee on all merchandise.

Survey Prediction

Buying Power, Roads Point to Good Year

"Money for shopping center construction is higher," says Ellsworth L. Johnson, manager of Palatine Plaza the new center which opened on the Northwest hwy. in Palatine on June 14, "But those founded on a sound basis in good locations are booming, and we expect an excellent first year."

This prediction is based on:

1. Surveys of buying power (spendable income) in the area.

2. Accessibility of the center to major highways and toll roads.

3. Variety of goods and services offered by the stores at Palatine Plaza.

"Such surveys were not available a few years ago,'' said Johnson, "The developers, tenants and financing institutions had to experiment. Soon they learned that conducting business in a shopping center is far different from conducting business in a city, suburban or small town store. Now we have files of facts and figures for reference, and new marketing, promotional and administrative problems are being solved by merchants' associations.''

THE TENANTS of the new Palatine Plaza include Kroger's, S. S. Kresge, Andes Candies, Sherwin-Williams, National Tea, Montgomery Ward, Western Tire Auto Stores, Byhring Jewelry, Mode O'Day Frocks, Powder Puff Salon de Coiffure, Pankau Pharmacies, R & S Shoes, J & S Men's and Boys' Wear and Clean City, which contains the Coin Cleaners, Coin Launderette and Jupiter Cleaners.

Three "Second Cars'' from S & H Rambler Motors will head the list of many gifts and prizes to be given away at the Grand Opening celebration.

Shop Center Idea Grows

"The shopping center idea is growing fast,'' says Ellsworth L. Johnson of Western Land Corporation, manager of the new Palatine Plaza.'' Nevertheless those built in good locations and founded on the sound basis of proper research are booming, and we have good reason to expect an excellent first year at Palatine Plaza.''

Johnson's optimism is based upon the accessibility of the shopping center to major highways and toll roads; the need for a complete center in this area; surveys of spendable income in this section and the variety of merchandise and services offered by Palatine Plaza's stores.

New Shop Center Is First of Kind Here

PALATINE PLAZA appears deserted as workmen, who have finished shop exteriors, make last minute interior adjustments in preparation for the June 14 grand opening. Fifteen stores will participate in the opening, with other shops to open soon after.

Palatine Plaza, the first shopping center of its kind in the immediate Palatine area, opened with holiday-like festivities Wednesday, June 14.

The 30-store shopping center at rts. 14 and 53 has 113,000 feet and, according to developers, is expected to eventually bring $60,000 to the village revenue till.

SOME 15 of 30 shops were expected to be stocked and prepared for opening day festivities, the others to be opened soon afterwards.

Thousands of flags decorated the Palatine Plaza, featuring the Avenue of Flags where symbols of the principal countries of the world will be displayed. A color guard in full dress uniform from Glenview Naval Air Station provided an official touch to the national holiday observance.

Executives of the Western Land corp. invited village officials to be on hand and participate in the opening ceremonies at 9 a.m.

Three automobiles will be given away during the three-week opening. Other prizes in the weekly drawings, for which no purchase is necessary, are bicycles, radio and television receivers, baskets of groceries and other items.

ELLSWORTH Johnson, manager of the center for Western Land corp., said his company gave much serious consideration to sites all over the west and southwestern portions of the country before choosing the Palatine area.

The main purpose of the recently-organized company, according to Johnson, is the development of shopping centers in the western half of the United States.

Central offices of the developing firm are in Minneapolis. Western Land is negotiating for other centers in the Twin Cities, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Denver, Dallas and elsewhere to add to Palatine Plaza.

STORES OPENING in Palatine Plaza include Kroger's Sherwin - Williams, Montgomery Ward, J and S Men's and Boy's Wear, Western Tire and Auto, Kresge, Powder Puff Beauty Salon, Palatine Currency Exchange, R & S Shoe Store, Mode O'Day Fashions, Andes, Candies Byhring Jewelry, Pankau Pharmacy, National Tea and Clean City, which will contain the Coin Cleaners, Coin Launderette and Jupiter Cleaners.

Palatine's president Wilbur Harris states: "I regret that a prior business engagement, which is impossible for me to cancel, prevented me from attending the opening; for I would like to welcome the Plaza to Palatine. We are very happy to have it."

Western Land Firm National Venture

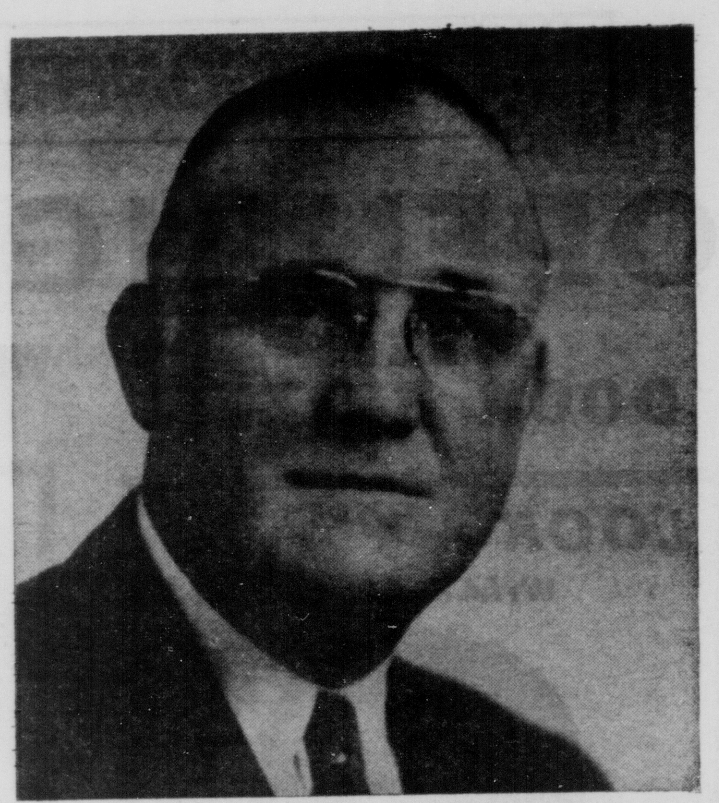
Palatine Plaza symbolizes one of the many new enterprizes being undertaken by Western Land Corporation, Minneapolis, Minn.

Organized on January 11, 1960, Western Land corp. describes its primary purpose as the acquisition of sites "for and to construct stores and shopping centers to secifications to fit the requirements of qualified merchants and retailing chain or organizations. . . . ."

Leslie F. Crews, chairman of the board, Charles N. Schieb, president, Lester W. Lincke, secretary - treasurer, and Robert A. Seidel, director, have had considerable experience in national retailing, in site selection for retail stores.

The investment firm has recognized Palatine and the surrounding area as a fast-growing suburban community offering financial possibilities.

Their evaluations are made on a national basis.



LESLIE F. CREWS, chairman of the board for Western Land corp., heads operations for firm that has been guiding opening preparations for Palatine Plaza shopping center. New center is one of numerous projects being undertaken by the Minneapolis firm. (SS

List Endless at New Jewelry Store

Rings, earrings, necklaces, bracelets, watches from all over the world!

The list is endless at the new Byhring Jewelry store at Palatine Plaza, and the shop's personnel is more than helpful in finding what you want.

Featured are diamond rings by J. R. Woods, a complete line of Hamilton watches and Wallace Sterling.

The Byhring store hasn't neglected the important watch repair part of the business, either. The equipment used is amazing in the precision and accuracy it builds into every watch repaired there.

Theodore H. Byhring is official watch inspector for the Chicago and North Western, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Minneapolis and Pennsylvania railroads. (SS

Most Complete

The new R & S Shoe store which opened at Palatine Plaza shopping center June 14 will be one of the most modern and complete in the company's chain, according to Joseph Hupert, district manager for the Shoe Corporation of America. William Schwartz is manager of the new store.

Sebastian Kresge

Dime Store Founder Aspired To Teach Instead of Farm

The 62-year-old S. S. Kresge variety-department store operation, extending activities to Palatine Plaza, is the story of the life of its founder, Sebastian Kresge.

Kresge, 94, left the Bald Mount, Pa. farm where he was born because he wanted to be a school teacher rather than a farmer.

Tiring of the two-mile walk to the country school where he taught for $22 a month, Kresge went to Scranton in the fall of 1887 where he received an additional six dollars as grocery clerk.

Although Kresge always returned to help his parents with spring planting chores, he gave up farming for good. As a salesman, Kresge observed how five and ten cent store pioneers survived the panic of economic crises during the late 1890s.

In 1897 he purchased his first store with a partner in Memphis, Tenn. He gave up half interest in the Memphis store for entire stock in a Detroit store — and the Kresge chain's first link was forged.

Today there are 769 Kresge stores in the United States, 96 in Canada and two in Puerto Rico.

THE FIRST Kresge store opened with a staff of 18 employees. There now are 40,000 employees and 34,000 stockholders. And the stores no longer carry household necessities restricted to the "under ten cents" prices.

Such items as hi-fi sets, power lawn mowers and furniture now can be found in the displays.

A key figure in the dynamic expansion of merchandising techniques is president Harry B. Cunningham, associated with firm 32 years.

Prizes Galore

Gifts and prizes will be the order of the day at Palatine Plaza's grand opening, with awards being handed out to visitors from June 14 to July 1.

In addition to the three "second cars," one of which will be given away each week, the main items will include a 17-inch portable television receiver from Pankau's pharmacy, five pairs of shoes from R & S store, a $29.95 wagon-type outdoor barbecue grill from Kresge's, a 26-inch deluxe bicycle from National Tea, a transistor radio from Palatine Currency Exchange, a basket of groceries from Kroger's, a radio receiver from J & S Men's and Boys' Wear, "any dress in the store" from Mode O'Day, a five-foot step ladder from Sherwin-Williams a $49.95 Ward's Garden Mark power mower, from Montgomery Ward, and many others. There will also be door prizes at individual stores.

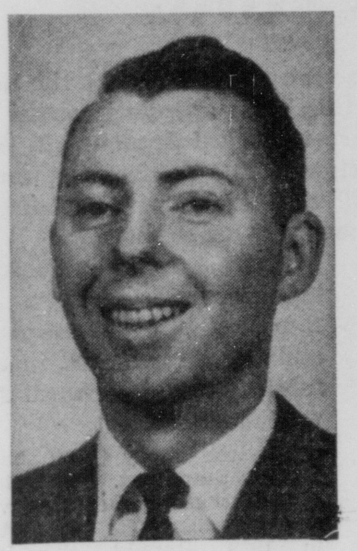
Easy-to-See Display Is Store Mark

Residents of the Palatine Plaza area will find J & S Men's and Boys' Wear store a fine version of the modern concept of open display.

It features easy-to-see arrangements of merchandise with America's best brands from head to foot in a large assortment of sizes and styles.

Charles Sostrin, president, says, "We've tried to make the Palatine Plaza store our most beautiful shop because of our complete confidence in this outstanding shopping center location." William Little is manager of the store.

Little of 16 N. Bothwell st., Palatine, has managed J & S stores for six years. Little's home town is Barnum, Minn. He attended the University of Minnesota at Duluth and served in the navy for two years. He is married and has a one-year-old daughter.



WILLIAM LITTLE

THE NEW J & S STORE has over 2500 square feet of sales space and a thirty-foot frontage. The fixtures are in limed oak. There will be six employees to serve customers. J & S has been in downtown Palatine for three years, and has grown considerably in size and service. Little says, "The same personnel will operate the Plaza store. We believe the additional sales space, free parking and better store layout will work to the mutual benefit of all our regular customers and the J & S management."

The Palatine Plaza store will carry complete furnishings, sports wear and work clothes for men and boys, and will feature a Boy Scout Trading Post. They promise tailoring service and on-the-spot trouser cuffing. Among the leading name brands of clothing will be Arrow shirts, McGregor and Revere sportswear, Cooper underwear, Citation hats, Swank jewelry, Paris belts, Tom Sawyer, Kaynee and Rob Roy shirts for boys, David Copperfield and Farah trousers.

Shopping At Night In Vogue

Night shopping, newest habit trend among American families, will be in vogue at Palatine Plaza shopping center. The International Council of Shopping Centers has found that more than 60 per cent of all shopping in the nation is done after 6 p. m.

The biggest reason for this new phenomenon is that most families actually enjoy shopping together.

Additions to and furnishings for the home, yard and garden as well as personal attire can be decided upon and acquired all in a one-stop trip at a complete shopping center.

Palatine Plaza will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Monday through Friday and on Saturday from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Sherwin Williams will open at 7:30 a. m. five days a week and 8 a. m. on Saturdays. There is plenty of free customer parking, with space available for more than 1,000 cars.

Jupiter Cleaners will be open from 9 a. m. to 6:30 p. m., and Pankau Pharmacy from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m., seven days a week.

'Shopper-Keyed'

Customer Back Talk Policy of Krogers'

"Shopper-Keyed," that's how the new Palatine Kroger Store was designed, explains L. R. Musselman, Vice President of the retail food company's Chicago division which operates stores in this area.

Kroger has, for some time, had a policy of letting the customer "talk back," he points out. Company executive and store management have gone directly to the homemakers who do most of the family shopping for their opinions — actually going from house to house, ringing doorbells, and asking the women what they like—and don't like—in supermarkets.

Says Musselman: "Shoppers are paying guests in our stores and we feel an obligation to make their visit as pleasant and easy as possible."

At the new store, you step on a magic-carpet to open the doors automatically. Then wheel your bascart past aisles of food and non-food items—approximately 6,000—from around the world.

Foods receive "extra loving care" at the new store, Musselman points out. He cites the new upright dairy cases with "invisible doors" of continuously-flowing currents of air past the front of the case. This means the temperature inside is always exactly right, since the air acts as a buffer between refrigerated temperature inside and room temperature outside.

There's a crushed ice manufacturing machine right in the store to help keep fresh fruits and vegetables at peak quality. The ice isn't really "crushed" in the usual sense—ice forms around a cylinder and is shaved off by a blade as it revolves slowly. But homemakers have often commented that it would be a very handy machine to have around the house during a party.

THAT DELECTABLE odor would be the Burny Bros. Bakery or the delicatessen right inside the store. You can order decorated and personalized cakes for special occasions from Burny Bros. or get a fully barbecued chicken for dinner tonight at the delicatessen.

One of the "secret wishes" of homemaker-shoppers is for easier bottle returns and the new store has the answer to that one too. Customers do not need to trundle bottles through the store—they just place them on a rack by the door—and it's all on the honor system; to receive credit, customers just report the number of bottes they have returned to the cashier as they are checked out.

Speedier checkouts get an assist, too. Wheel your cart past the "double conveyor" checkouts—they're much faster than the regular kind. Then take it to the front of the store where a clerk will hold it at the parcel pick-up station until you collect your automobile from the center's 700 car parking lot. He'll load it in your car—no tip expected—to complete your experience in quick-and-easy shopping. Manager Don Redmond will be waiting to greet and meet his new friends when the doors opened on June 14.

Redmond, 3411 Bob-O-Link lane, Rolling Meadows, formerly manager of the Kroger store at Northbrook, will be in charge of the new Palatine Plaza Kroger store.

A graduate of De Paul, Redmond joined Kroger in 1958 as a management trainee, and one year later toured a number of stores as co-manager. Active in civic affairs, he is a member of St. Colette Holy Name Society, and VFW club.

Redmond has for the past year been receiving special training to prepare him for his present responsibilities. The Kroger store managers' training program is planned to give a thorough background in every phase of retail food store work, Musselman explained.

Don's training, for example, has taken him through each job in the store, in addition to added training sessions at the branch office and warehouse in the Chicago division. In addition, he spent one year as an assistant grocery buyer.

The program is planned to give prospective store managers a complete understanding not only of the manager's job but of every position in his store.

48-Hour Delivery At Catalog Store

Montgomery Ward & Company opened a catalog store at Palatine Plaza on June 14, district general manager of both retail and catalog stores in this area announced.

The store will have displays of merchandise such as appliances, women's apparel, and hardware, and samples of fabrics, rugs, paint colors and various other items.

Salespeople will assist persons who wish to order from the catalog and will also handle orders by telephone. In most cases the customer's purchases will be ready for pick-up at the store within 48 hours, unless the customer specifies home delivery by parcel post, freight or express.

Catalogs available in the new store will include not only the big general book, but special catalogs on photography, farming, gardening, fishing and hunting.

Free copies of Wards general catalog will be offered to all visitors on the opening day. Wards originated the catalog store and is currently engaged in an expansion program that will bring its total of these units to about 585 by the end of 1960. Wards also has 550 retail stores.

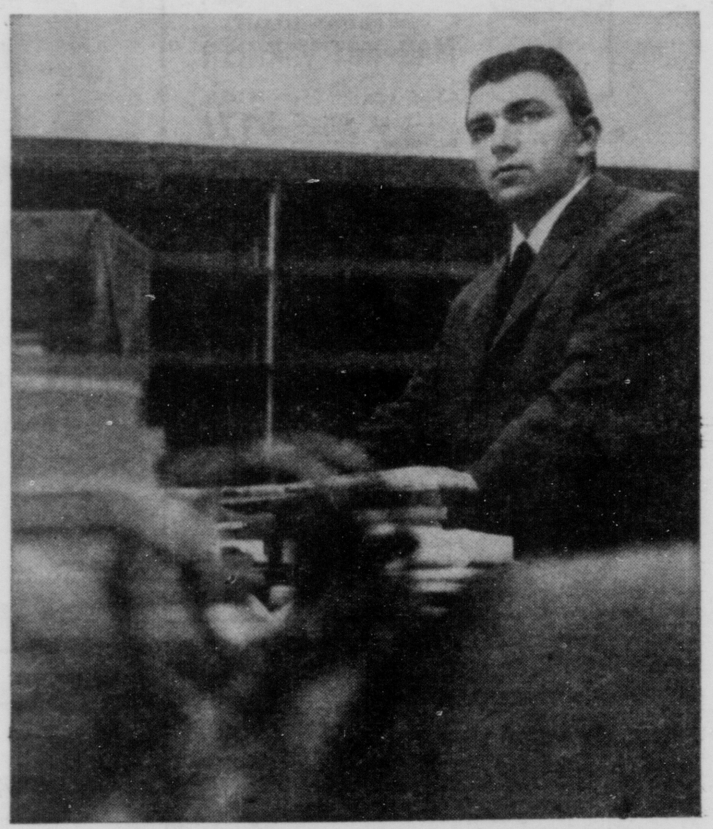
Clean City 2 Shops in One Setting

When Palatine Plaza shopping center opened on June 14, Clean City will make things sparkle with quick efficient service.

The title "Clean City" embraces two shops in one. They are the plaza's Coin Launderette and Coin Dry Cleaning and Jupiter Cleaners.

This is the third Jupiter shop in the northwest suburbs. The other two are in Hoffman Estates and Des Plaines. All are owned by Art Schiling.

Paint Firm Aims At Total Market



JOHN E. ARNOLD, manager for the Palatine Plaza Sherwin Williams paint store, finds paper work important process in filling empty shelves with stock. Arnold readies store for plaza grand opening June 14.

The Sherwin-Williams Company will swing wide the doors to one of the most modern paint outlets in the state when Palatine Plaza holds its grand opening, according to John E. Arnold, branch manager.

He said: "From our extensive stock we are able to fill the paint and color requirements of homemakers, painting contractors, commercial establishments and industrial firms.

"This Sherwin - Williams branch at Palatine Plaza functions both as a retail and wholesale outlet. Our large selection of paints and allied products is also a convenient source of supply for Sherwin-Williams dealers in the area. We carry a full line of finishes, painting accessories and wallpaper for all needs. In addition, we provide specialized finishes for local industries."

Arnold has been a painting contractor in the western suburbs for a number of years, so he is qualified to give competent help with painting and finishing problems.

Sherwin - Williams will be open at 7:30 a.m. five days a week and at 8 a.m. on Saturdays.

'Shopper-Keyed'

"Shopper-Keyed," that's how the new Palatine Kroger Store was designed, explains L. R. Musselman, Vice President of the retail food company's Chicago division which operates stores in this area.

Kroger has, for some time, had a policy of letting the customer "talk back," he points out. Company executive and store management have gone directly to the homemakers who do most of the family shopping for their opinions — actually going from house to house, ringing doorbells, and asking the women what they like—and don't like—in supermarkets.

Says Musselman: "Shoppers are paying guests in our stores and we feel an obligation to make their visit as pleasant and easy as possible."

At the new store, you step on a magic-carpet to open the doors automatically. Then wheel your bascart past aisles of food and non-food items—approximately 6,000—from around the world.

Foods receive "extra loving care" at the new store, Musselman points out. He cites the new upright dairy cases with "invisible doors" of continuously-flowing currents of air past the front of the case. This means the temperature inside is always exactly right, since the air acts as a buffer between refrigerated temperature inside and room temperature outside.

There's a crushed ice manufacturing machine right in the store to help keep fresh fruits and vegetables at peak quality. The ice isn't really "crushed" in the usual sense—ice forms around a cylinder and is shaved off by a blade as it revolves slowly. But homemakers have often commented that it would be a very handy machine to have around the house during a party.

THAT DELECTABLE odor would be the Burny Bros. Bakery or the delicatessen right inside the store. You can order decorated and personalized cakes for special occasions from Burny Bros. or get a fully barbecued chicken for dinner tonight at the delicatessen.

One of the "secret wishes" of homemaker-shoppers is for easier bottle returns and the new store has the answer to that one too. Customers do not need to trundle bottles through the store—they just place them on a rack by the door—and it's all on the honor system; to receive credit, customers just report the number of bottes they have returned to the cashier as they are checked out.

Speedier checkouts get an assist, too. Wheel your cart past the "double conveyor" checkouts—they're much faster than the regular kind. Then take it to the front of the store where a clerk will hold it at the parcel pick-up station until you collect your automobile from the center's 700 car parking lot. He'll load it in your car—no tip expected—to complete your experience in quick-and-easy shopping. Manager Don Redmond will be waiting to greet and meet his new friends when the doors opened on June 14.

Redmond, 3411 Bob-O-Link lane, Rolling Meadows, formerly manager of the Kroger store at Northbrook, will be in charge of the new Palatine Plaza Kroger store.

A graduate of De Paul, Redmond joined Kroger in 1958 as a management trainee, and one year later toured a number of stores as co-manager. Active in civic affairs, he is a member of St. Colette Holy Name Society, and VFW club.

Redmond has for the past year been receiving special training to prepare him for his present responsibilities. The Kroger store managers' training program is planned to give a thorough background in every phase of retail food store work, Musselman explained.

Don's training, for example, has taken him through each job in the store, in addition to added training sessions at the branch office and warehouse in the Chicago division. In addition, he spent one year as an assistant grocery buyer.

The program is planned to give prospective store managers a complete understanding not only of the manager's job but of every position in his store.
